A former University of Illinois vice president has pleaded innocent to charges of stealing more than $600,000 from the school. The ex-vice president, Robert Parker, pleaded innocent to 157 counts of theft yesterday during a court hearing in Urbana.

Two student reporters at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb have been cleared of wrongdoing for allegedly writing an expose of drug-dispensing practices at a student health center. University officials said that insufficient evidence resulted in the charges being dropped against two of the five female students. However, the University still plans action against the other three charged with "lying to a University official."

A federal grand jury in Springfield has indicted a man who held up the Peoria Commercial National Bank last week. Police say that Thomas Reed walked into the bank last week and handed the teller a note demanding money and then walked out with $1,200. When Reed stopped outside the bank, apparently to decide where to run, a bank official convinced him to come back in and turn over the money. Reed came back inside and was promptly arrested.

In Washington Park, Illinois, almost all of the employees of the city police department are continuing to call in sick in protest against the layoff of a patrolman. Authorities say there has been no loss of police protection in the town. St. Clair county officers have been assisting in patrolling the streets. No major incidents have been reported since the officers began calling in sick last Friday.

Three suspended Chicago Police officers will be back in court every day this week. They're charged with murder in the beating death of a CTA passenger. In court on Monday, Belinda Caldwell testified she saw the officers "beat, kick, and stomp on" 51-year-old Richard Ramey on a rapid transit platform while his hands were cuffed behind his back. Caldwell said she heard Ramey yell "help me! They're going to kill me!" Ramey was arrested on July 6, 1980, on a CTA rapid transit train for allegedly putting up a fight when the plainclothes officers asked him to stop smoking. He died several hours later at a local hospital. The Cook County medical examiners ruled Ramey's death a homicide. Doctors said he had two broken legs, a neck fracture and broken ribs. The prosecution maintains the defendants used "excessive force" when they murdered Ramey for smoking on the train.

Japanese officials say an industrial robot, one of thousands that brought a technological revolution to Japan, became the first robot to kill a human being last July. The accident occurred in an automobile plant when a worker was crushed by a robot he was trying to fix.

Board discusses possible tuition rise

by Terri Mayer

A possibility of raising tuition rates was discussed at the Dec. 7 meeting of the Parkland Board of Trustees.

At present, tuition rates are $16 per credit hour, with an activity fee of 75 cents/credit hour and 25 cents registration fee per credit hour. It was proposed to increase tuition to $18.50/credit hour, with the activity fee raising to $1 and registration fee 50 cents per credit hour. This would take place in the 1983-84 school year if approved.

President William Staerkel pointed out that this would be the first tuition hike since 1976. He added that there was no big rush to raise the rates but that he wanted to give students plenty of advance notice.

The Board also swore in their new member Robert Campbell and chose Richard O'Dell to fill the vacancy left by John Mathews. The Board elected Harold Miller as chairman, John S. Albin as vice-chairman, and Ronald Z. Hood as secretary. These are the same three that held the positions previously. They will serve a one-year term.

President William Staerkel reported that the state may not be able to pay for the veteran's scholarships this year, and, if it doesn't, it will leave the college with a $120,000 enrollment bill to pick up. Other state community colleges are having the same problem, he said.

Pres. Staerkel also mentioned that Parkland's enrollment is 32 percent ahead of what it was last year at this time. If this rate continues, he said, the enrollment for next semester could be 400 to 500 more than this semester. Applications for next fall semester are above normal too. Staerkel cautioned, however, that it's still early and many things could change.

In other business, the Board recognized the resignation of Dr. Susan Kelly, Chairperson of the Life Science Division.

Music groups plan Christmas shows

Music groups and organizations here at Parkland College have several appearances scheduled during the holiday season in Champaign-Urbana.

December 10 the Parkland Swing Choir and Parkland Community Band will present "From Nashville to Broadway" and a selection of holiday music from 7 to 8:15 p.m. at Market Place Mall, Champaign.

The Madrigal Singers will perform from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Champaign County Historical Museum (Wilbur Mansion), on University Avenue just east of Prospect Avenue. This program is set for Saturday, Dec. 12.

Parkland Choral Union will participate in the Community Christmas Choral Festival at Market Place Mall from 6 to 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 12.

Champaign's First United Methodist Church, Church and

State Streets, has invited the Parkland Choral Union to participate in the Messiah "Sing Along" on Dec. 14. The performance begins at 7:30 p.m.

Concluding the schedule is the Dec. 18 performance of the Parkland Swing Choir at the Champaign Vintage Mall on Dec. 18, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Parkland's weekly calendar will list other holiday events not available to the Prospectus at press time Tuesday morning.

Debating the radio issue

The Student Senate unanimously passed a money-motion to spend $268 plus any installation costs to purchase and install a receiver and six five inch speakers out of student activities moneys for the purpose of broadcasting WPCD (88.7 FM) in a part of the college center.

The speakers would be installed in the ceiling of the vending machine area, directly across from Hardees II (at the west end of the college center) in a (approximately) ten square foot space.

The receiver would be located behind the information desk with the volume and broadcast time controlled under the direction of the security department.

The plan, proposed by Jim Hillary, Student Government Vice President, has not gained approval of all of the departments involved yet, due to the delay involved in a money motion (it must be passed two times by the Senate to gain Senate authorization) and the upcoming semester break. The motion was passed in order to speed its implementation if and when it gains approval.

The present plan is a scaled down version of a proposal made to the Senate last spring, to purchase equipment to play music throughout much of the college center, in the lounge across from the art gallery (where coffee-house and college hour performances are normally given), the main college center lounge (most notable for the recent pumpkin contest held there) and in the game room.

At that time the Senate unanimously approved studying the feasibility of the idea and means of carrying it out.

All plans prior to implementation contain good and bad points. Next week we will take a look at some of the more important ones.

StuGo asks opinions

Fellow Students:

The time has come to unite for what we feel is right. We all must pay activity fees when we enroll in this college. We get a lot in return. Clubs and organizations receive ample funding and there is enough left over to secure StuGo up to $20,000 for OTHER spending purposes. This is what you elected us to do.

In the past, such items have been purchased: pool tables, TV sets, public address systems, new vans, seven Media 1000 sign boards, and $130,000 plus toward this school's gymnasium. Were you asked if you wanted your money spent on these items? NO! StuGo voted on your behalf and felt these to be in your best interest as in all democracies.

Now StuGo is unanimously requesting that they be allowed to spend $300 on stereo equipment plus an undetermined amount for installation so that students can listen to WPCD in the canteen area across from Hardees Two. Is this such a ludicrous proposal that we should be denied the opportunity to at least try this set-up on a 30-60 day trial period? We think not; but the question is out of our hands as we have voted on and passed a motion to go ahead with this project. However, at present, it is being blocked by Dean Moeller's attitude that this will disrupt the educational atmosphere that our college center now has.

We need your input to gain recognition as the student's voice on this matter even though we didn't need it to buy a van. Otherwise, we may as well forget the idea of ever having the opportunity to hear WPCD in even the smallest sections of the college center.

Therefore, we request that you now take your opinions straight to Dean Moeller's office as we have received no opposition from students to this point and feel this to be the most effective means of conveying to them how you really feel. Thank you again and hang in there. This isn't over yet.

Sincerely,
Student Government

Students voice conflicting views

The installation of piping WPCD into the canteen area of the college has raised many conflicting views between students and the deans.

Some of the students contributed their opinions on the matter.

"I think it should be up here in the college center," says Randy Surina, "this is a lounge and more people sit up here, down there (canteen area) they eat."

John Runyan, sportscaster for WPCD, says, "I think speakers should be put up all over campus, but yes, definitely in the college center."

Laurie Lewis said, "It should be in the college center and the canteen area both, if it's not too expensive."

Murray Kirby stated that if the station were piped into the college center, it would be "groovesville."

Greg Wagers and Mark Herman, both agreed that WPCD should be put into the college center only if the music they play is good.

Ramonda Ellington and Charles Fester, both said that the ## Data Processing sends you grades

by Denise Suerth

9,321 Parkland students will soon be receiving a Christmas present from Parkland. Like the Saint Nicholas legend where the good children get treats and the bad children, coal in their wooden shoes, the good students will get high grades and the bad students won't. Yes, report cards should arrive just before or just after Christmas.

Parkland teachers are required to have all grades turned in by 8 a.m. Dec. 22. And the race is on. Parkland is committed to having the grades in the mail by Christmas. Since the campus closes for Christmas break at 5 p.m. on Dec. 23, that means some hectic work on the 22nd and 23rd.

According to William E. Howard III, Director of Administrative Data Processing, the grades will begin to be fed into the computer at 8:01 a.m. Dec. 22. It will take all day Dec. 23 to prepare the finished report cards for mailing, so Howard has only one day to get report cards finished. He figures it to be a 12-hour job if everything goes well.

Teachers' marked grade cards are fed into a machine that reads the grade which is "punched" on a card and then fed into a card reader machine which reads the punch and transfers the information to magnetic tape. This is fed through the computer and eventually comes out on a printer. It's a long, complicated procedure, but so much easier and more efficient than doing it manually, Howard said.

According to Howard, the equipment is as modern as possible with the new IBM 4341, which was installed last January. And since Parkland College's grades have been processed this way from the very beginning, it's possible for a complete transcript of each student to be included on the grade cards. It takes a little more time to process, but it's better all around for both Parkland and the students.

Workshop focuses on business

"Accounting and Taxation for Men and Women in Business," a workshop sponsored by Parkland College, will be held on Thursday, Dec. 17. Designed to give the business person an understanding of financial statements and important tax considerations, the seminar will meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in room L111 at Parkland.

One portion of the workshop will focus on the new tax considerations of depreciation, investment credits, and pension and profit sharing plans. A discussion of important tax deductions for business will be included. The seminar will also include a presentation on the tax advantages of the different types of business entities, such as sole proprietorships, partnerships and corporations.

Part of the workshop will focus on accounting records, differences in types of financial statements, and use of financial statements for budgeting and cash flow analysis.

Individuals may register the day of the workshop if space is available, but advance registration is encouraged. The fee for the workshop is $20, which includes workshop materials. Additional information may be obtained from the Parkland Business Division, 351-2270.

In the data processing section a keyboard operator is typing instructions into the computer, while at the same time the computer is processing the information and printing out the forms as entered.

Court ruling not hurting sales Video recorders selling well

by Denise Suerth

A recent Federal Court ruling has found that the use of videocassette recorders to record programs off the air is a clear-cut violation of copyright law. Universal (MCA, Inc.) and Walt Disney Productions first filed the suit in 1976 against Sony Corporation (producers of the Betamax system), four of their specifically named distributors, and their advertising agency. Sony is expected to appeal this latest ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sales of video recorders have been brisk since they were first introduced for home use in 1976, rising in geometric proportion each year. Early market estimates show no effect on video recorder sales since the Oct. 19 ruling. Those reports supported by a survey of video recorder distributors in Champaign-Urbana. None of the surveyed businesses have experienced a decline in VCR sales, and most have had an increase in sales which can be attributed to the Christmas sales season. Most local video retailers feel that the general buying public is not aware of the landmark decision. Only a few buyers have queried retailers about the possible implications of the decision, and most of those who have decided to buy, in case an injunction against the manufacturers and their distributors halts sales.

Videodisc players, which do not have recording capability, have been slow sellers all year long, and although nationwide sales have picked up slightly during the Christmas season local retailers report that the market is very slow now and has been all year. However, if videocassette recorders are taken off the market, or mechanically changed to eliminate the recording capability, videodisc recorders should supersede them in popularity because of their higher quality picture and relatively lower cost.

Since the Oct. 19 ruling, other developments have been:

1. A new suit by Universal against Betamax's major competitors resembling the suit against Sony. (Only Sony was producing VCRs at the time of the original 1976 suit.) The major difference in this new suit is that Universal has specifically stated in the suit that it is not out to get the private home viewer and has severed private home use from the action. This gives indication that Universal's intent is not to have the offering recorders banned, but to have manufacturers of videotapes and recorders pay a percentage of their profits to the studios something like the was ASCAP and BMI receive music royalties for music played on radio and television stations.

2. Bills in the United States Senate and House of Representatives are being introduced to allow private video recording for copyrighted works.

3. Record-business lawyers are pondering the Sony decision and how it can be manipulated to provide royalty payments for materials taped from radio broadcasts and the like. This would be in the form of payments from producers of audio recorders and blank audio tape.

A whole new can of worms is opened due to the Sony decision. To quote Parkland student Michael Suerth, "They can have Betamax when they pry it from my cold dead fingers."

Call in your favorite carol Dec. 12

by Sherry Wenschhof

Are you already sick of hearing your favorite Christmas carol in stores on the street, and on every radio station? Then 332-1882 is your number. Dial-a-Carol offers the enjoyment of listening to a favorite Christmas carol in privacy over the phone.

Twenty years ago the residents of Snider Hall 2 East opened the Dial-a-Carol phone lines to Christmas carol lovers from across the nation. The requests are played from hundreds of albums collected by Snider Hall. It doesn't matter what the request is, Dial-a-Carol will play any song from Bing Crosby's "White Christmas" to the Chipmunk's "Jingle Bell Rock."

Snider Hall residents begin planning for Dial-a-Carol about three weeks before finals. Local retail stores sponsor the project and thousands of flyers are distributed throughout the U of I campus announcing when the Dial-a-Carol lines will open. This year, the phone lines will open at midnight on Dec. 12 and will be open 24 hours a day throughout finals week. Resident volunteers will be manning the phones.

Dial-a-Carol is unique to the U of I campus, and many traditions have evolved through the past 20 years. Approximately 5,000 carols are played annually, and, as a special treat, every 100th request is sung live by the Snider Hall residents. Requests come from across the nation, Canada, and as far away as Australia.

Mrs. Betty Gordon of Champaign is the founder of Dial-a-Carol and plays a very important role in the Dial-a-Carol tradition. Twenty years ago, Mrs. Gordon made the first call to Dial-a-Carol and requested her favorite carol. Since then, the residents have reserved the first request for her, and once again this year, she will have the privilege of being the first caller.

This unique request line has been featured on radio stations in Springfield and St. Louis and on WGN-Chicago and WPGU-college center is the best place if the music is mixed between rock and soul. Fester says, "If you're at home listening to the radio and you don't like the music they're playing, you can shut it off, here you won't be able to."

Champaign. WICD-TV has also done a feature story on Dial-a-Carol.

As few were against the proposal, Terry Vinyard stated his definite "no" as he thought the music WPCD plays will cause too many conflicts.

Scholarships awarded for many different reasons

"It's a common misconception that scholarships are only awarded on the basis of financial need or grades alone," says Daniel Cassidy, president of the National Scholarship Research Service.

Cassidy, founder of the two-year-old company that uses computers to provide college students with individualized lists of grant sources, did quite a bit of scholarship sleuthing for himself while he was in college. "I was able to attend the University of Francisco and Yale on $20,000 in grants," said Cassidy, "but even with that much money, I still had to sell my car to finish."

In fact, there were—and are—all kinds of scholarships available. For example:

—A Seattle judge set up a scholarship for reformed prostitutes.

—A Pennsylvania college offers four scholarships to needy left-handers.

—The University of Arizona has scholarships for rodeo riders.

—A University of Arizona has scholarships for rodeo riders.

—A Texas foundation offers scholarships of up to $2500 to help foster better relations between the citizens of the Lone Star State and the people of Sweden.

The trick, of course, is finding out about those and other kinds of aids. Cassidy advises students to make use of all local scholarship reference sources.

"Start with your financial aid office, then your instructors and local clubs and business organizations. These people generally know what's going on in the community," says Cassidy.

His company, National Scholarship Research Service (NSRS), assists graduate and undergraduate students in locating scholarship sources in their field of interest. Of the $1 billion in educational assistance offered last year, $135 million went unclaimed. "Most," said Cassidy, "simply because people didn't know who was offering it."

NSRS charges a $35 processing fee for its research service. Cassidy says that an applicant generally receives from 30 to 50 scholarship sources on their printout, along with additional listings of organizations and have further information on the applicant's career fields. The service's mailing address is: Box 2516, San Rafael, California 94901, or NSRS can be contacted by call (415) 459-3323.

P.C. Happ'nin's

-PATH says thanks

The members of the Parkland Association for the Handicapped, PATH, wish to express their thanks to all those who supported last week's pizza sale and helped make it a success. Also, a big "thank you" to all the members who helped during the sale.

Parkland team wins honors

Parkland College's first Livestock Judging Team has won several honors at judging contests this fall. Team members and their hometowns are: Chuck Alexander, White Heath; Jeff Jarboe, Paxton; Keith Knauth, Champaign; Austin Paul, Urbana; Jim Campbell, Villa Grove; and Penny Bressner, Chenoa.

Campbell took high honors on the team at both the Mid-Continent Livestock Exposition Judging Contest in Geneseo, and at the Seventh Annual Alpha Gamma Rho Invitational at Illinois State University, Normal.

In October, the Parkland team placed 8th at the Alpha Gamma Rho Contest, and was 4th among community college teams. At the American Royal Livestock Judging Contest in Kansas City, Missouri, the largest community college livestock judging contest in the nation, the team placed 15th in swine judging and 20th in sheep judging.

Parkland's team will also be attending the North Central Meats and Livestock Evaluation at Madison, Wisconsin, in February. In that contest, team members will judge in three classes: breeding, market, and carcass.

Ski trip Jan. 3-8

At their meeting Dec. 1, the members of the Ski Club were shown how to dress properly and warmly for their ski trip to Bessimer, Mich., Jan. 3-8.

President Steve Breckenridge showed how to put on ski boots, and what types of clothes would be the warmest for skiing.

The members also elected a new vice president and a new social chairman. The new vice president is Chris Anzelmo and the new social chairman is Sgy Peterson.

Fifteen people signed up and paid their down-payment for the trip to Michigan. Since only 20 people can go, members of the club are encouraged to sign up now and turn in their $25 down-payment by the next meeting, Dec. 8. The total amount needed for the trip is $156 and it must be paid by the Dec. 15 meeting.

The Ski Club will sell candy bars to help pay for their ski trips. Pizza sales are planned Jan. 27, Feb. 10, and March 10. All pizza sales will be from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the college center.

Two more weekend ski trips are planned; one is Jan. 22-24 and the other is Feb. 13-14.

PATH suggests fire precautions

Parkland Association for the Handicapped, PATH, encourages all handicapped Champaign residents to contact Champaign Fire Chief Doug Forsman and notify him of their name, address, telephone number and type of disability. In case of a fire, the dispatcher will inform fire-fighters of the person's special circumstances.

Foreigner thrills crowd

by Denise Suerth

With an opening that brought to mind "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," Foreigner invaded the Assembly Hall Friday night and conquered the inhabitants. With their current album "4" at the top of the charts, single "Waiting For A Girl Like You" on the way up, and single "Urgent" winding down after 22 hot weeks on the charts, Foreigner played to a pre-sold audience.

From the moment the lights went down after intermission, the crowd buzzed. Ominous music and revolving green and yellow lights preceded a screen show introduction of the "4" tour, a countdown to the moment Foreigner appeared. As soon as Foreigner hit the stage, the AA section of the Assembly Hall jumped to their feet and gave a standing ovation through the entire show. In reply to lead singer Lou Gramm's shout of "Fire," Bics were flicked all over the arena.

With bass booming, Foreigner played all their hits and numerous representative cuts from "4," their block-buster album. Lou Gramm's vocals had all the power and more of the flash in live performance than even his best studio work. "Dirty White Boy," "Cold as Ice," "Head Games," "Double Vision," and "Feels Like the First Time" brought cheers of recognition and appreciation from the crowd. "Urgent," "Waiting For A Girl Like You," "Juke Box Hero," and others from "4" were indicative of the new Foreigner. "Juke Box Hero" employed a huge inflated jukebox which was blown up at the end of the number.

Lou Gramm, Mick Jones, Rick Wills, and Dennis Elliott have jelled together to make the "4" album and tour a success. Although the Assembly Hall concert was not a sell-out, most other dates on the "4" tour have been. Foreigner did come back for two encores and attempted to "blow the top off this place." Vocalist Lou Gramm almost managed by himself until his voice started to give out. The first encore, "Hot Blooded," greatly showed the wear on his vocal chords. But Foreigner seemed happy to be there and their audience was ecstatic to have them.

Foreigner's performance Friday night was termed "probably the best concert at the Assembly Hall in the '81 season" and featured lead singer Lou Gramm.

The Michael Stanley Band, whose biggest hit was "He Can't Love You Like I Love You," opened for Foreigner. They were more than adequate as an opening band, but suffered in comparison to the main event. Billy Squier had shared the bill with Foreigner during their November concerts.

'Rockabilly' movement revives

by Jimm Scott

Fifties artists like Johnny Burnette, Elvis Presley, and Carl Perkins were a prime influence in the revival of rockabilly music. Rockabilly grew out of Country music and merged with Rock and Roll, which at the time was just an infant. Late in the decade it

Despite changes, Grateful Dead lives

by Mark Hieftje-Conley

Most things change, people go separate ways, fads go in and out of style and generally the world keeps on turning, but one thing will never change. Grateful Dead can never be any different than it was 10 or 15 years ago. It still draws out the old Dead-head crowd, which consists of freaks, intellectuals, gypsies, and the curious, like me. Although I'm no Dead-head, I could really enjoy the show that Jerry Garcia and Company put on last Wednesday when they played for a very receptive crowd at the Assembly Hall.

To show the audience where the Dead's heads were at, they played Willie Nelson and other country singers' tunes before they started playing their own material. Their music was flavored with the same country twang that was heard in the warm-up songs, and Jerry Garcia's guitar work punched it up just right. The songs that weren't in the traditional laid back grateful Dead style were surprisingly fast and rockin'. The band really kicked out the jams on an old tune called "Momma Tried," and there was no doubt that, although the Dead are an older group, they're still capable of any of their contemporaries.

This tour was prompted by the release of two Grateful Dead albums in the last year. Both were live albums; one was an accoustical collection and the other was an electrical version of their live performances, and quite a few of the songs that were heard Wednesday were from these most recent albums.

The Grateful Dead will remain one of the most influential groups to ever hit the American Music scene. They put their mark on a generation just coming to terms with serious drugs and their use. This drug culture is expressed in their music and though the ideas are old, they still ring true for people today. Rock bands may come and rock bands may go, but the Dead live on forever.

Sally O'Reilly and Nancy Shaw, pictured here with Coach Randy Henkels, have been named to the All-Central Illinois Athletic Conference volleyball team.

2 named to Conference

by B.P.

Nancy Shaw and Sally O'Reilly have been named to the All-Central Illinois Athletic Conference Volleyball Team. Both women are sophomores out of Champaign Central High School. Shaw was an unanimous selection. Six other conference players were picked.

The Cobras finished 22-13 under Coach Randy Henkels.

Men drop three in a row...

The men's basketball team dropped their third straight game Saturday, Dec. 5, by a score of 77-70, to Kennedy-King at Chicago.

Parkland hung close throughout the game and staged a late rally, but the Statesmen held on to win with clutch freethrow shooting. The Statesmen were 21-30 at the line while the Cobras hit on 12 of 18 attempts, as foul shots provided the winning margin.

Chris Hughes of Kennedy-King led the scoring with 28 points.

Mark Makeever paced the Cobras with 20.

The Statesmen were forced to forfeit their first nine games after a 7-2 start when it was found that one of their players, Benard Dorsch, had played while ineligible. Included in those games was a 78-76 victory over Parkland.

The Cobras are 4-5 on the season as they return home this Friday (Dec. 11) for a rematch with Lincoln. The game starts at 7:30 p.m. and will be broadcast on WPCD 88.7 FM.

...return home again Friday

by B.P.

The Parkland men's basketball team dropped an 81-66 decision to Richland Wednesday, Dec. 2, at Decatur.

Parkland trailed most of the game, but closed to within two points with 7:23 left to go, when Richland rattled off eight straight points to put the game out of reach.

The leading scorer in the contest was Richland's Greg Stoner, with 26 points. Parkland's Mark Makeever (22), Kevin McKinney (19), and Jay Meyer (10) all finished in double figures.

The Cobras will be at home this Friday versus the Lincoln Lynx. The game will be broadcast by WPCD-88.7 FM.

It's time for college bowl games

by Sally Bateman

The Bowl Game season is upon us and games one and two in this week's Fast Freddy are the first two bowl games of the season.

The first game is the Independence Bowl, which will be played on Saturday, Dec. 12, 1981, in Shreveport, La. The teams plays this year are Texas A&M (6-5-0) of the Southwest Conference versus Oklahoma State (7-4-0) of the Big Eight Conference. Both Texas A&M and Oklahoma State finished in the top half of their conferences.

The second game is the Golden State Bowl, which will be played on Sunday, Dec. 13, in East Rutherford, New Jersey, at the Meadowlands Sports Complex. The teams playing this year are Wisconsin of the Big Ten conference and Tennessee of the Southeastern conference. Both Wisconsin and Tennessee finished in the top half of their conferences, with 7-4-0 overall records.

Upsets throw off Fast Freddy picks

Somewhere, somehow, between my typewriter and the printer, game No. 7 changed from Chicago vs. Minnesota to Cincinnati vs. San Diego. This mythical game was, of course, not counted in determining the contest winner.

With the near upset by Army (ending in a tie) and major upsets by Washington and Seattle, very few entrants broke .500 on the weekend. The winner was David Hays of Champaign, at 6-2.

I went 6-4 on my picks to attain a mark of 52-35 for the season.

Again, there are only two college games this weekend.

Texas A&M meets Oklahoma State in the Independence Bowl. This should be a close contest since both teams have played good defense this year. I'm picking the Aggies by six.

In the Golden State Bowl, Wisconsin will shut down the Tennessee Volunteers and win by 11.

The New York Jets will bounce back from their loss to Seattle and defeat Cleveland by 4.

The Minnesota Vikings have lost three in a row and the Detroit Lions haven't lost at home this year. Both of these strings will be broken as the Vike's will take this one in the fourth quarter by two.

Cincinnati squares off with Pittsburgh for the AFC Central title. If the Bengals win they will clinch it, but a loss will tie them up at 10-5. This should be a fun game to watch. I'm going to take the Bengals by 1.

Philadelphia will not lose four in a row, even against the Dallas Cowboys. Eagles up by 8.

San Diego will stomp on Tampa Bay this week and win by 20.

The tiebreaker pits Kansas City against Miami. The Dolphins are on a roll and are going to knock the Chiefs out of the play-off hunt.

My other picks are Chicago over Oakland and Buffalo over New England.

Parkland women defeat Illinois Wesleyan

by B.P.

Parkland women's basketball team defeated Illinois Wesleyan 66-59 at Bloomington Thursday, Dec. 3.

Capitalizing on a tough player-to-player defense, the Cobras created numerous turnovers and spoiled the Lady Titans' opener.

Even though Parkland was out-rebounded 34-27 and shot under 43 percent from the field, the game was never really in doubt.

The halftime score was 37-21, and only a late rally by Wesleyan as the Cobras experimented with a zone enabled the Lady Titans to close the gap.

Three Cobras scored in double figures. Lisa Cole (Fr.-Farmer City) led all scorers with 16 and pulled in a game-high seven rebounds. Melinda Peironnet scored 13 and Jodi Emerson, 10.

ICC places sixth nationally

Illinois Central College (Peoria), winner of the NJCAA Region IV (state) tournament, placed sixth in the national tourney held November 26 thru 28 at Catonsville, Maryland.

ICC went undefeated in pool play, then was knocked out of the Championship bracket of the double-elimination tourney by the eventual winner, host Catonsville.

ICC coach Karen Guthmiller expressed pleasure at the outcome. "To finish sixth out of some 285 schools in the nation is, of course, extremely satisfying. We had a super year."

ICC finished the season with a 42-8 record.

'Absence of Malice' filled with suspense

by Albert Sapp

"ABSENCE OF MALICE" is a new movie from Columbia Pictures and will open its run in Champaign on Dec. 14. It will be showing at the Mann Theatres in the Country Fair Shopping Center. The movie is rated PG and is a suspenseful drama.

The movie had a sneak preview on Nov. 28, and the lobby was packed solid before showtime. As I waited, I had a chance to go over some publicity for the movie and it gave me some background to what the movie was trying to accomplish. It was ambitious in its ideas and people will find themselves wondering about what takes place.

The question posed by the movie in its ads is: "In America, can man be guilty until proven innocent?" The shocking answer is YES. We watch as Megan Carter (Sally Field), a reporter for a Miami paper, writes a story about Mike Gallagher (Paul Newman), a wholesale liquor dealer, that leads to trouble for everyone.

Sally Field turns in another one of her outstanding performances, and that's an understatement here. She gives a very convincing portrait of a reporter trying to do a good job and keep the public informed. What she doesn't know is what the government is doing and how it's using her.

Paul Newman, as the target of her articles, plays a man who has worked hard for what he has and finds it all threatened by her stories. The only bad thing he has going against him is the fact that he is related to the head of one of the organized crime families in Miami. This may seem to be more than enough for some people, but is it enough to destroy a man and his life?

Somehow during the movie, in her attempt to get more of the story and his attempt to find out how she got the story in the first place, the two begin to fall in love. Problems continue to plague both their lives and the future seems to hold little hope for them, but they continue to draw up hope from within each of us that somehow it will work out. The movie doesn't let up on its grips even at the end and I think you'll find it to be very enjoyable viewing.

Sydney Pollack, the director of such great movies as "The Electric Horseman," "The Way We Were," and "Three Days of the Condor," adds another movie to his list. He has brought out the best in Newman and Field and coordinated a gripping comment on today's society. He has also brought out excellent supporting performances, which were absolutely essential to the overall success of the movie.

Carly Simon: Every girl's dream

by Jimm Scott

Carly Simon has grown up to be what every little girl dreams about: rich, talented, beautiful, married to a famous man, mother of three children, and recently responsible for the hit album, "Torch." "Torch" is totally dedicated to the torch ballads of the late thirties to early forties. Carly is the Simon of SIMON & SHUSTER fame and her (former) husband is the son of a prominent physician. That doesn't seem to affect their outward personalities, but you can almost cut the abrasiveness in the Simon household with a knife. Therefore, separation is necessary.

"I get along without you very well
of course I do
except when soft rains fall and drip from leaves, then I recall the thrill of being sheltered in your arms
of course I do

but I get along without you very well"

Hoagy Carmichael
1938 Famous Music Corp.
Although "TORCH" will probably not yield any chart-busters for Carly, it shows her interpretive talents. Most of this music was a source of enjoyment for her parents. She can afford to make experimental records like "Torch," being an established artist as she is. But I think that I would've enjoyed the album regardless.

Foreigner's lead guitarist, Mick Jones, appeared Friday night at the Assembly Hall on the U of I campus.

died out along with its popularity. In recent years, as New Wave music emerged, Rockabilly emerged along with it and become tremendously popular with a new audience. In the more recent years Rockabilly has become more widely accepted as people become tired of the MOR (middle of the road) Rock and Roll music.

Artists who have emerged in the last few years have been very popular as well as very good - Robert Gordon, John Prine, Roky Burnette (Johnny's son) The Crampse, The Rockats - all of these have made a sufficient splash to wake up any dead end kids who may be lying around. Some of the older more established artists such as Roy Orbison and Billy Lee Riley have emerged to claim their places in the music world. On the local scene, we have a virtual wealth of Rockabilly groups such as Big Daddy Sun and The Outer Planets, (who have an album coming out) The Elvis Brothers and Milk Toast. All of these groups are worth seeing more than once.

At the beginning of the movement, Rockabilly was put into a category with punk/new wave music, but now it is looked upon as a separate category.
