

news in brief

The Illinois Supreme Court has invalidated the city of Chicago's one percent professional service tax as unconstitutional. The ruling reverses a Cook County Circuit Court decision upholding the tax. The tax was originally instituted to help aid the ailing CTA. Mayor Byrne said that the city had already prepared a contingency budget plan in case the service tax was ruled unconstitutional. Byrne did not disclose the details of that plan.

The Illinois Crop Reporting Service reports that the annual Illinois crop harvest is nearly complete now. As of yesterday, 97 percent of the soybeans were in and 82 percent of the corn was out of the fields. The ICRS also reports that 92 percent of the winter wheat crop has been planted.

The Soviet Parliament met early this week to discuss President Brezhnev's grim report of a third consecutive bad harvest that likely will force the Kremlin to buy 40 million tons of grain from the West. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the Soviet Union's 1981 crops of corn, wheat, and barley at 66 million tons below target, making the harvest the worst since the disastrous harvest of 1975.

Authorities in Manila are searching for possible survivors trapped under the wreckage of a movie theater that collapsed while under construction early yesterday morning. Over 1,000 people were working on the structure at the time it fell in. So far, 26 workers are known dead, with 41 injured and 30 still missing. The six-story movie palace was ordered built in a hurry by Phillippine's First Lady Imelda Marcos for a film festival scheduled for January. No cause for the collapse has yet been determined.

Former Senator Adlai Stevenson is expected to become the Democratic nominee for Illinois governor when the Democratic slatemakers meet today to finalize endorsements for state posts to be decided in next year's election.

Other Democrats expected to receive endorsement are Lake County clerk Gracy Mary Stern for Lieutenant Governor, treasurer Jerome Cosentino for Secretary of State, former Lieutenant Governor Neil Hartigan for Attorney General, incumbent Roland Burris for Comptroller and Senator James Donnewald of Breese for treasurer.

In the early state of the Democratic slatemaking session yesterday, Stevenson took the opportunity to blast Gov. Thompson for Illinois' economic woes. Stevenson said that as governor he would boost the state's economy without raising taxes.

Stevenson spoke out on gun control, saying that he "was a duck hunter, but that he didn't hunt ducks with a snub nosed .38." The former Senator favors legislation restricting ownership of handguns by private citizens.

Speaking out on what he termed "extravagant" state salaries, he pressed for changing a state law which states the wage rate for some state workers, including those in the building trades. He also said that he is in favor of renegotiating union contracts, if necessary, to bring down wages.

Hospitals recruit students

by Terri Mayer

Hospitals and health care centers from Champaign-Urbana, Savoy, Paxton, Pontiac, Terre Haute, and many other cities were represented at Parkland's Health Careers Opportunity Day Nov. 16.

The hospitals were involved in recruiting seniors with health careers in mind. Their material was displayed on tables in the College Center for any interested senior to see.

A representative from Burnham Hospital said that there is a nursing shortage in this midwestern area and that Burnham does a lot of recruiting work. They do this within a five-state area, but hit a 150-mile radius the most intensely.

Judy Lewis and Lyn Morton, from Decatur Memorial Hospital, are Parkland graduates, which makes their recruiting job here more effective, Lewis said. She added that Decatur's hospital likes to recruit graduates from a wide variety of colleges. Recruiting is necessary not really because of a shortage of nurses, she said, but rather so the personnel can choose "the cream of the crop." They focus on RN help, but do not exclude other health areas.

At the recruitment session, students sign up and Decatur gets back to them with information about their hospital. Then, in March, Decatur Memorial announces a WOW to their recruits. WOW stands for Whirlwind Of A Weekend. Interested seniors must provide their own transportation to Decatur and back, but once they arrive, everything is provided for them. They arrive on a Friday night, are housed in a motel, and tour the hospital area on Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon can be spent shopping, touring Decatur, or looking for an apartment. On Sunday a presentation is given and job interviews can also be conducted if the student so desires. Decatur is the only hospital in this area that has a program like this, Lewis said.

There are approximately 120 RN's that graduate from Parkland every year, and, from seeing the recruitment program Monday, it seems the opportunities for them are good.

Reserve courses early

Course reservations for full-time, fully matriculated students will be accepted by the Admissions Office between Nov. 16 and Dec. 1.

Once courses are reserved these students may complete registration at any time during the period of Nov. 16-Jan. 5. Completion of registration involves the payment of tuition and fees. Full-time students who reserve courses on or before Dec. 1 but have not yet paid will receive a class schedule and tuition statement by mail on or about Dec. 10.

All full-time students are reminded to see their advisors during the course reservation period from November 16-December 1.

Ms. Sandra L. Eldridge (left) a Nurse Recruiter from St. Anne's Hospital in Chicago, was at Parkland this past Monday, as well as several other representatives from area institutions. They talked with Health Field students interested in jobs.

Thanksgiving first celebrated in 1619

by Denise Suerth

Thanksgiving Day will be celebrated on Thursday, Nov. 26 this year. It will be a family day, celebrated with big dinners and joyous reunions. But the very first Thanksgiving celebration in what is now the United States of America was an entirely religious celebration.

The first Thanksgiving Day in the "New World" was celebrated on December 4, 1619, by a group of 39 English settlers near what is now Charles City, Virginia. The group set up in their charter that each year they would celebrate a Thanksgiving Day to God for their safe arrival in the New World on the anniversary of their arrival.

The first New England Thanksgiving was held in 1621. The Plymouth, Massachusetts colonists had arrived in the New World in 1620. After a bitter winter during which over half their members died, the spring and summer of 1621 brought new hope of a plentiful harvest. Gov. Bradford declared a three-day feast to be held in Thanksgiving. The women of the colony prepared journey cake, corn meal bread with nuts, and succotash. The men had caught geese, ducks, and fish for the celebration. Friendly Indians joined the celebration and brought wild turkeys and venison. Everyone in the community ate together at large outdoor tables.

The custom of Thanksgiving began spreading to all the colonies. During the Revolutionary War, eight special days of thanks were observed for victories and for being saved from dangers. In 1789, President George Washington declared November 26 a day of national thanksgiving. But Thanksgiving was still being celebrated haphazardly. It wasn't until 1863 that Thanksgiving Day became a regular holiday.

That year, Mrs. Sarah Josepha Hale, the editor of "Godey's Lady's Book," convinced Pres. Lincoln, after years of work, to promote the idea of a national holiday for Thanksgiving. Pres. Lincoln then proclaimed the last Thursday of November, 1863 as "a day of thanksgiving and praise to your beneficent Father." Each year afterward, the President of the United States formally proclaimed that Thanksgiving Day be celebrated on the last Thursday of November, until 1939.

In 1939, to flag the economy of the nation, President Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed Thanksgiving Day a week earlier than usual to lengthen the shopping period before Christmas. Congress finally ruled that after 1941 the fourth Thursday of November would be observed as Thanksgiving Day and would be a legal federal holiday.

Custom has dictated over the years that the traditional Thanksgiving Feast include turkey and dressing or stuffing. Common side dishes include cranberries, sweet potatoes or yams, and pumpkin pie for dessert. Other favorites include mashed potatoes with turkey gravy, sour cole slaw, and hot rolls. Here are some new Thanksgiving recipes to add to your menu:

ZUCCHINI SALAD
4 sliced zucchini
2 sliced tomatoes
8 ripe olives
1/2 cup wine vinegar
2/3 cup salad oil
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon coarsely ground pepper

Cook the zucchini slices in a small amount of water about 3 minutes. Zucchini should still be crisp. Drain and arrange with tomatoes on platter. Use alternating circles of zucchini and tomatoes. Combine other ingredients, except for olives, to make dressing. Pour over vegetables and marinate for several hours. Garnish with ripe olives before serving. Serves 4.

GLAZED CARROTS
1 pound small carrots, peeled
1/4 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup orange liqueur
1 lime cut in wedges
Cut peeled carrots into "fingers" and steam until cooked. Saute carrots in butter, salt, and liqueur until glazed. Serve with lime wedges. Serves 4.

BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS

mixed with enough milk to equal 1/2 cup liquid. Mix only long enough to moisten flour mixture. Combine apples, raisins, water, and brown sugar in saucepan and heat to boiling on HIGH setting. Pour into a two-quart oven casserole. Dot with butter and sprinkle cinnamon over fruit. Drop dumpling batter from tablespoon onto hot fruit mixture. Cover tightly and bake in 450° oven for 20 minutes, or until dumplings are slightly browned on top. Serve with cream. Serve 6.

Zappa will perform

Frank Zappa will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, November 21, at the Assembly Hall, one of the stops on his 1981 "You Are What You Is" North American tour.

Zappa, 40, has been playing in bands for 17 years specializing in guitar, drums and vocals. He has completed two films, "200 Motels" and "Baby Snakes," and has written a musical stage play entitled "Hunchentoot." Zappa has a long list of discography to his credit. Among his recordings are "Freak Out!" "Tinseltown Rebellion," "We're Only in it For the Money," "Bongo Fury," "Zappa in New York," "Absolutely Free," "Apostrophe" and "You Are What You Is."

Interested in socializing?

Women students and staff who are interested in meeting other women in networking, in talking about common concerns and interest, in planning field trips or having fun might consider coming to the loosely structured Women's Union Social Hour and Discussion Group.

Here is a list of events for the rest of the semester:

-Friday, November 20, 12-1 Discussion Hour - "The Peer Counseling Development Seminar: How It Works" Norma

Fosler and peer counselors, presenters.

-Wednesday, November 25, 12-1 -"Counting Your Blessings vs. Bemoaning Your Fate: A Thanksgiving Message on the Power of Positive Petulance". Joan Irene Krohn, presenter.

-Friday, December 4, 12-1 -"Parkland Women's Health Issues," Sheila Sullivan, College Nurse.

All events will be held in the carpeted lounge area behind the LRC (library) steps next to X148.

Lonely on Thanksgiving?

Urbana High offers dinner

by Terri Mayer

If you are dreading the thought of spending Thanksgiving alone in an apartment, eating McDonald's burgers because home and family are miles away, then the Urbana High School Senate has a solution.

Once again, they are offering their annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner to those who would otherwise spend the holiday alone.

The dinner will be served on Thanksgiving, Nov. 26, at 5 p.m., at the First United Methodist Church in Urbana (near Lincoln Square).

This is the eighth year the dinner has been offered. Besides the dinner, a Thanksgiving skit will be featured, "Turkey Carols" will be sung, and an appearance will be made by "Ronald Reagan." A 7-foot turkey will also be on hand.

Prizes will be awarded to the oldest person at the dinner, the youngest, the couple married the longest, and the person that traveled the farthest distance.

There is no charge for the dinner and transportation is provided by volunteers to those who have none. MTD donated two buses and drivers to the Senate.

Other businesses and clubs have also been generous in donating food and other items for the dinner, David Lemons, Senate advisor, said. Twenty-five turkeys, 50 bouquets of flowers used for centerpieces, and 80 pumpkin pies are just some of the things being donated.

All of the preparation for the dinner is done by students at the high school, and the work begins almost as soon as school starts, Lemons said. Nearly 200 students are involved in this year's dinner. Many of them are waiters or waitresses. There is an individual waiter or waitress for each table. Lemons added, "We try to individualize the dinner as much as possible and make it fun and personal."

When asked how he manages to get students to give up their Thanksgiving to help out, Lemons replied with a laugh, "It gives them a good excuse to get out of the house!" If the helpers can still eat, they attend a pizza party at Lemons' house when the dinner is over.

The idea for this yearly project originated in 1972, ten days before Thanksgiving. A student suggested that Student Senate had provided Christmas baskets for the needy, but that nothing was done for people on Thanksgiving. So the Senate served 75 people Thanksgiving dinner at the Pennsylvania Baptist Church that year. Although the dinner was not held in 1973, it has been held every year since.

It became a match-making event in 1975. Two students stranded at the U of I because of a snowstorm signed up for dinner. They met while eating and were married the next August. They have returned every year to celebrate the "anniversary of their meeting."

Lemons said they receive a lot of letters of compliment and that they have some people return every year.

The Senate can take up to 500 reservations for the dinner and reservations can be made by calling 337-0606 up till 5 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day.

Hiring a whole graduating class

"If 50 registered respiratory therapists flew into Shreveport Airport at 8 a.m., by noon they would all be hired!" according to Sam Fletcher, Assistant Director of Respiratory Therapy at Schumbert Hospital, Louisiana.

There's a severe shortage of respiratory therapists (RT's) throughout the U.S. The 400 schools that train RT's simply cannot produce graduates fast enough.

You can't beat the salary or the opportunity for only two years of schools," says George West, Director of Respiratory Care at Massachusetts General Hospital, and president of the American Association for Respiratory Therapy.

Entry level positions for accredited RT's run at the $16-20,000 level. Rapid advancement and unlimited mobility are guaranteed.

The profession is only a dozen years old, yet the RT is already indispensable in the emergency room, intensive care unit, neonatal (newborn) department and on emergency transport teams.

Working closely with doctors and nurses, RT's struggle to save or improve the lives of heart attack victims, asthmatic children and people suffering from chronic lung disease.

When the "LifeFlight" emergency medical copter rushes to a distance accident, or a child with third degree burns arrives at the hospital, or a toxic gas leak causes a community disaster, the RT is there, a proud member of the professional health care team.

EMT workshop meets Dec. 5

An EMT Workshop entitled "Emergency Services in Cold and Blizzard Environments" will meet from 8 a.m. to noon, Saturday, Dec. 5, in room L111 at Parkland.

The workshop is designed to prepare emergency services personnel to operate safely and efficiently in cold weather environments, and to learn how to prevent, recognize and treat emergency medical problems under these conditions. Program topics will include winter clothing, emergency shelters, vehicle operations in cold and blizzard conditions, and medical emergencies.

Four hours of Section II credit toward EMT recertification will be awarded for attendance. Those individuals eligible for participation include EMT's, hospital personnel, policemen, military, firemen, ESDA members, Red Cross volunteers and other interested persons.

There is a $4 fee for the workshop. Participants should register prior to Dec. 1. Registration forms and information can be obtained from the Parkland Life Science Division, 351-2277.

Print display set

An exhibition of contemporary American and European prints from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Randall Shapiro will be displayed in the Parkland College Art Gallery Nov. 23 through Dec. 18. The gallery is open to the public Monday-Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesday and Wednesday from 6-9 p.m.

This group of 28 prints by 21 different artists includes works by Max Bill, Max Ernst, Richard Hamilton and Salvador Dali.

Sponsored by the Illinois Arts Council Visual Arts Touring Program, the "20th Century Prints" exhibit will circulate throughout Illinois in 1981 and 1982.

Club holds Western contest

Parkland College Equine Club is sponsoring a Western Wear Contest, with winners to be decided in each of four categories.

The categories are Worst Boots, Worst Hat, Most Authentic Hat, and Most Flamboyant Hat.

Winners will receive two free raffle tickets for a $25 gift certificate from Pard's Western Wear and will have their pictures taken for the Prospectus.

The contest takes place Tuesday, Nov. 24, at noon in the College Center.

Raffle drawing is Nov. 24

Members of the Parkland College Equine Club are currently selling raffle tickets.

Cost is 50 cents each, and the prize is a $25 gift certificate from Pard's Western Wear in Urbana.

The drawing will take place Tuesday, Nov. 24, at noon in the College Center.

Judging team competes Nov. 20

Parkland College Horse Judging Team will compete in the World Championship Intercollegiate Horse Judging Contest in Oklahoma City on Nov. 20 and 21.

The Parkland team will be entered in the Junior College Division and will judge six halter classes (based on horse's appearance) and four performance classes (western pleasure, bridle path hack, reining and western riding). Oral reasons and explanation of placing will be given on three halter and two performance classes.

Pizza sale Nov. 30

The Ski Club will be having a pizza sale Nov. 30 in the College Center. Garcia's pizza will be sold.

Members of the club are also selling Beich's candy bars.

Humane Society asks donations

Champaign County Humane Society is again this holiday season sponsoring its annual Holiday Pet Food Drive from Nov. 20 to Dec. 31.

Receptacles have been placed in all Champaign, Urbana, and Mahomet grocery stores near the check-out counters.

Won't you please think of the animals at the Shelter as you shop for your family this holiday season, by donating food to help feed the animals?

Kick the habit Nov. 19

Have you been wanting to "kick the habit"? Are you tired of smoker's breath, smoker's cough, smoky clothes? Nov. 19 is your chance to quit for a day. Join the Great American Smokeout sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Posters, pledge cards, and more information is available at the Health Service. A Smokeout booth will be set up in the center of the college Thursday, Nov. 19.

Award Winning film showing

"Salt of the Earth," a critically acclaimed semi-documentary film about an actual 1951-52 strike by Mexican-American zinc miners in New Mexico, will be shown twice at Parkland College.

Monday, Nov. 23, the film will be shown at 7 p.m. in room L153 and on Tuesday, Nov. 24, it will be shown at 11 a.m. in C-118.

Antigone is an inspirational play

by Steven Smith

Antigone is one of the best plays I have seen in recent years. The combination of costumes, makeup, lighting, and good acting have produced a magnificent play.

The play opens with Chorus (played by Cynthia Vaughn), a beautiful mythological goddess who introduces the characters and tell how they happen to come together in this play, as well as how they affect the future as far ahead as 3000 years.

In the beginning we meet Antigone, played by Claire Hannon. She is a very determined person with a sense of morality as well as a stubborn spirit. The king, played by Rich Hogan, is Antigone's uncle. He is a tyrant who has no friends and who keeps the loyalty of the guards only because they fear for their lives. There are several other actors and actresses in the play, including Eurydice, played by Cindy Perkins; Ismene, played by Cheryl Zimmerman; the nurse, played by Abby Gray; Page, played by Jeffrey Coates; Messenger, played by Ronny Buni and Bill Dunn, Randy Donovan, and Paul Horton as the three guards.

The play was written in France by Jean Anouilh and later adapted by Lewis Galantiere.

Even though C140 is a small room, we are drawn into the play. The emotions run high in this play, and you might even find your own emotions stirring. I suggest you get there early on Thursday, Friday or Saturday night, Nov. 19, 20, or 21 to get a good seat.

Borge: fool that is loved by Sally Bateman

With a puff a smoke as the lights came up and the statement, "It's been said I'm a great Dane," Victor Borge was coming across true to form, much to the delight of a near-capacity crowd at the U of I Assembly Hall Saturday night.

The evening was, so to speak, "punctuated" with salt and pepper statements concerning the English language, such as, "I appeared last week in a city out East, that candy town, you know, 'Himhe,' Pennsylvania (Hershey)—don't blame me; it's your language. And then there was "This piece was composed in four flats because the composer moved four times in one year."

The program seemed to get off to a slow start when the artist spent ten minutes or so introducing numbers that never were performed. However, once the ball got rolling, beautiful renditions of classical pieces and contemporary arrangements were heard with that fine Borge keyboard touch. Not surprisingly, though, little phrases from "Happy Birthday" slipped in here and there.

ICC takes VB tourney

by BP

Nationally ranked and tournament favorite Illinois Central College took the Region IV tournament and will advance to the national tournament, to be held at Catonsville, Maryland, on Nov. 26 thru 28. ICC breezed through most of the tournament, allowing only two teams to score in double figures up to the final, once in its very first game on Friday, a 15-11 win over Wabash Valley. In the final match against Belleville, ICC was shocked in the first game by a fired up Belleville squad, losing 8-15. In the second game ICC looked confused as Belleville took a seven to two lead.

Then Stacy Cook took over and ICC went on to take that game and the next two for the title, 15-12, 15-6 and 15-10.

Cook, a 5'9" sophomore from Lincoln High School, dominated the latter part of the match with spikes that drove down at a 45 degree angle. In fact, Cook dominated every match as she was named to both the All-Tournament first team and the All-Region first team (and if they gave an MVP, she would have gotten it, too).

Belleveille had not lost a game prior to the final either, and refused to go down without a struggle, but ICC's front line was just too tough.

In the third place game, Lincoln overcame Moraine Valley 12-15, 15-6, 8-15, and 15-9 in a match that was most notable for what happened off the court.

The other four semi-finalists were Triton, Wabash Valley,

Joliet and Black Hawk.

Knoc'ed out in pool play were Parkland, Rock Valley, Morton, Dupage, Lake County, Harper, Kaskaskia and Lakeland.

In advancing to the finals, ICC defeated Triton 15-7, 15-5, 15-1, and Moraine Valley 15-5, 15-3 and 15-10.

Belleveille defeated Black hawk 15-10, 15-5 and 15-7, and Lincoln 15-13, 15-10 and 15-1.

Moraine Valley had beaten Wabash Valley 15-5, 15-3 and 15-10; while Lincoln had defeated Joliet 5-15, 6-16, 15-9, 15-12 and 15-10.

The All-Tournament teams were picked via coaches' ballot during pool play Friday and Saturday.

First team: Stacy Cook, ICC; Patti Rule-Belleveille; Jan Jacobs-Dupage; Karen Renfrow-Lincoln; Jacque Davis-Moraine Valley; Marita Rizzo-Morton; and Debbie Elsfelder-Wabash Valley.

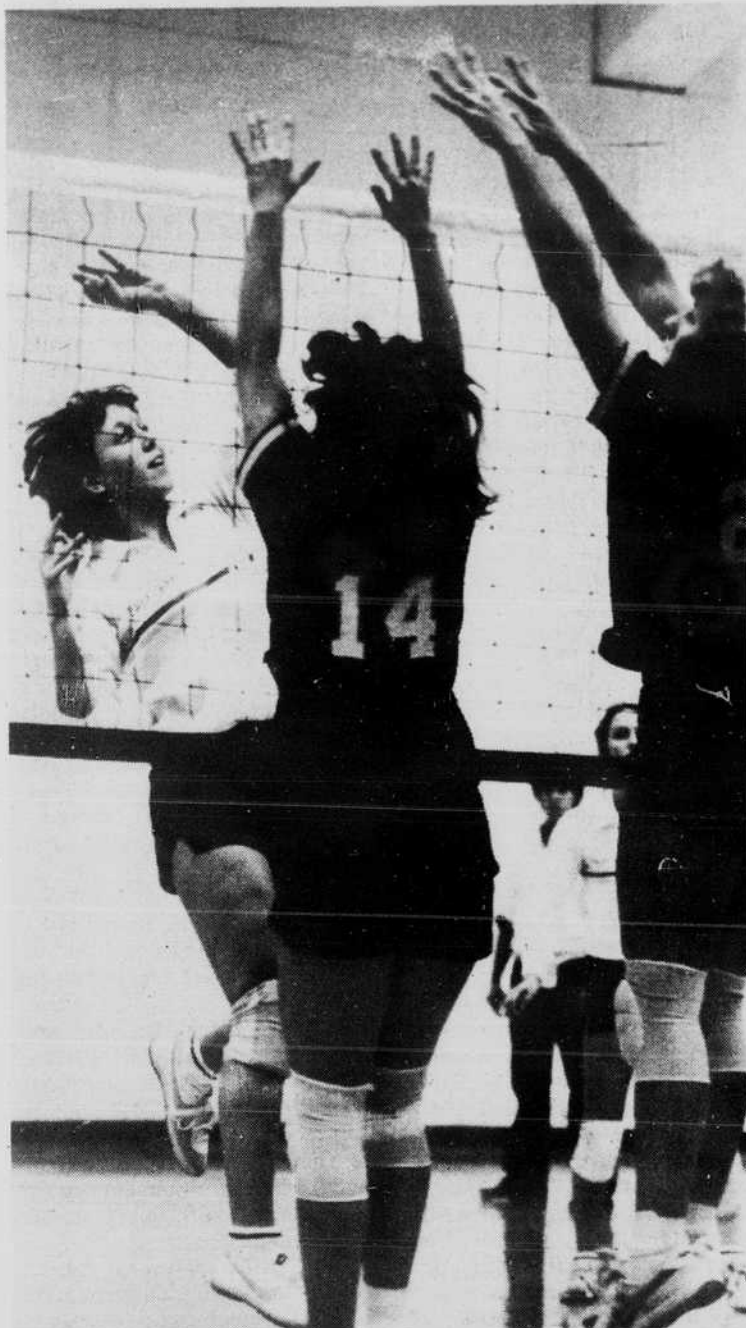

Second Team: Carrie Butler and Susie Goldschmidt-Belleveille; Diane Driscoll-ICC; Janet Alde-Kaskaskia; Sherry Miller-Lake Co.; Laura Sartausky and Jackie Gruca-Moraine Valley; Lisa Burger-Triton; and Joanna French-Wabash.

The All-Region team was picked by a coaches' committee:

First Team: Sherry Miller-Lake County; Jackie Gruca-Moraine Valley; Terri Planinc-Joliet; Maria Marroquin-DuPage; Jan Jacobs-Black Hawk; Stacy Cook-ICC; Patti Rule-Belleveille and Karen Renfrow-Lincoln. Second Team: Donna Kreems-Triton; Juli Perna-Harper; Barb Brunner-Highland; Misa Dybdal-Black Hawk; Teresa Power-Carl Sandburg; Sally O'Reilly-Parkland; Debbie Elsfelder-Wabash Valley and Janet Alde-Kaskaskia.

BB starts Sat.

The Parkland Men's Basketball team will open its home season with the Parkland Invitational this Friday and Saturday with East St. Louis, Kennedy-King and Rock Valley playing in the tournament.

Parkland volleyball player Jodie Emmerson successfully hits the ball over two defenders' heads.

Sports Notes

by B.P.

Many people around the Champaign-Urbana community are either unaware of or else fail to acknowledge the very real, and in some cases unique, opportunities available through Parkland College.

To many, including a number of students, Parkland is an overgrown high school—a kiddie college not to be taken seriously in any context. This is not exactly beneficial to the school, in the manner of all limited views.

This space is not for refuting this view, but to mention one detrimental effect this has had on Parkland athletes.

Most athletics at Parkland are virtually ignored by local news media. Last weekend, the Champaign-Urbana News Gazette devoted two successive articles on Unity High School's victory in their volleyball sectional and their upcoming regional chances. There was no mention of the Cobras, who were managing the same feat, which, from a school and community size standpoint, seems ludicrous. I am unaware of any mention by local media of the volleyball regionals as of last Friday, despite the fact that two of the sixteen teams are nationally ranked and there are fine athletes from all over the state participating. It is true that track and cross-country receive some coverage (News-Gazette again); however, this is due mainly to Coach LaBadie's efforts.

With the effect that former J.C. athletes have had on the Big 10 football season this year and the fact that a J.C. athlete won an international high-jump competition (Tyke Peacock in the World Cup Games) earlier this year, one would think perhaps it is time Junior College athletes receive some well-deserved attention.

In fact, considering that bowling and park district sports receive some media attention, I would say it is past time.

To the athletes who give their best, anyway.

On Wednesday, November 4th, 600 of Parkland's smartest students had their transportation drop them off right at the front door.

The others didn't take the MTD.

Why not join the smart ones and let the MTD save you money and car troubles.

You don't have to be rich to ride the MTD—just smart!

Entertainment scheduled for break

by Albert Sapp

The Thanksgiving holiday season will soon be with us and many of you may find yourselves spending the break in Champaign. If you do, you may find yourself looking for something to fill any spare time you have. I hope the information in this article will give some idea as to what is available in entertainment over the break.

Let's start with the television programming available during the Thanksgiving holiday and some of the specials that will air before our Christmas edition.

We'll start with the local CBS affiliate, WCIA Channel 3. On Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m., we start off with "A Charlie Brown Thanksgiving." Charlie Brown and the whole gang are back to add their own special flavor to America's oldest holiday when they gather around a ping-pong table to celebrate.

On Thanksgiving Day itself, we can tune in to 3 hours of parade highlights from all over the country and hosted by stars from many of your favorite shows. For the 10th consecutive year, William Conrad will anchor the coverage from New York. Here are the parades that you'll have a chance to see.

Joan Van Ark, of "Knot's Landing," and Robert Reed, of "Nurse," will be hosting the 55th annual Macy's Parade from New York. From Toronto, it's the 77th annual Eaton's Santa Claus Parade with Donna Mills, of "Knot's Landing," and Darryl Anderson, of "Lou Grant," as our host. From the cold in Toronto, we go to the sunny warmth of Hawaii for the Aloha Floral Parade. Our host there will be Patrick Duffy, of "Dallas," and Beth Howland, of "Alice."

We swing back to the East Coast for the 61st Gimble's Thanksgiving Day Parade in Philadelphia. The hosts are Sorrell Booke, who stars as Boss Hogg in "The Dukes of Hazzard," and Danielle Brisebois, of "Archie Bunker's Place." The last parade to be covered will be the 55th annual J. L. Hudson Parade in Detroit and will be hosted by Jamie Farr, of "M*A*S*H," and Susan Howard, of "Dallas." This coverage starts at 8 a.m.

At 7 p.m. on Nov. 27, Bugs Bunny and his friends get together for a half-hour special called "Bugs Bunny's Looney Christmas Tales." Following Bugs, Jimmy Durante will narrate the story, "Frosty the Snowman." The voice for Frosty will be provided by comedian Jackie Vernon.

"Anne Murray's First Christmas Special" will air on Dec. 9 at 9 p.m. Anne Murray's family and friends join her in Nova Scotia to celebrate a holiday homecoming in this hour-long special. Then, on Dec. 10 at 9 p.m., Johnny Cash and family return to the land of his ancestors in "Johnny Cash: Christmas in Scotland." His special guest star will be Andy Williams.

Turning to the NBC affiliate, WICD (Channel 15), we have the following schedule. It starts with Bob Hope and another of his all-star specials, which will air on Nov. 22 from 7 to 9 p.m. Following Bob Hope at 9 p.m. is another special, "Sinatra, The Man and His Music," and will feature Sinatra singing some selections from the more than 100 albums he has recorded during his 42 years in show business. Count Basie and his band will join Sinatra for two numbers and other guests will be announced.

Daffy Duck gives his fans a chance to show their appreciation for all the joy he's brought them in his special, "Daffy Duck's Thanks For Giving Special." It's a half-hour special on Nov. 24, starting at 7 p.m. He ends the show with a return as the space hero, "Duck Dodgers in the 24 1/2 Century."

On the 25th of November, from 9 to 10 p.m. we'll be treated to the zany comedy of Steve Martin in the "Steve Martin Special."

On Thanksgiving Day, we open with coverage of the Macy's Parade from 8 to 11 a.m. This will be followed by NFL '81 at 11:00 and the NFL game, Kansas City at Detroit, at noon. The round out the day at 9 p.m., the Osmond

Family will usher in another holiday season with the "Osmond Family Holiday Special."

Turning our attention to the local theatres, we find few changes in the movies available but there will be some new ones. From the Kerasotes Theatres, we'll have the following movies coming up: "Cutters Way," "Windwalker," "Mao to Mozart," and "Reds." The only new one from the Mann Theatres is "Tattoo," which will start around Dec. 1, and stars Maud Adams and Bruce Dern.

There will still be a number of good movies showing, and here are a few that are well worth the viewing. Starting with the Kerasotes Theatres, we have:

"The Four Seasons," with Alan Alda and Carol Burnett.

"Mommie Dearest" starring Faye Dunaway, Mara Hobel, and Diana Scarwid.

"Prince of the City," with Treat Williams as an undercover cop.

Market Place Cinema will have: "Continental Divide," which is the story of an urban muck-raking columnist from Chicago who falls in love with a spirited lady ornithologist in the Colorado Rockies and stars John Belushi and Blair Brown.

"Arthur," which stars Dudley Moore and Liza Minelli.

"The French Lieutenant's Woman" stars Meryl Streep and Jeremy Irons.

Mann Theatres has these:

"Stripes," the long-running comedy with Bill Murray.

"Only When I Laugh," the Neil Simon comedy-drama starring Marsha Mason, Kristy McNichol, James Coco, and Joan Hackett.

"Raiders Of the Lost Ark" is the thrilling adventure epic from George Lucas and Steven Spielberg and stars Harrison Ford and Karen Allen.

Two others that have just started and that I haven't had a chance to see yet are:

"Southern Comfort" with Keith Carradine and Powers Boothe.

"The Pursuit Of D. B. Cooper," starring Robert Duvall, Treat Williams, and Katherine Howard.

Moraine Valley player Laura Sartausky attempts to keep the ball in play. Moraine Valley came in fourth during the weekend tournament.

Even though much of the Champaign-Urbana show seemed to be a carbon copy of last year's Home Box Office special, anyone who saw it on cable enjoyed the jokes and much just the same.

The performance had its highlights. A comedy sketch involving a "stage hand" was very humorous and was appreciated even more when the young man's identity was revealed as Mr. Borge's son.

Sharing the bill with Mr. Borge was Marilyn Mulvey, an opera-style soprano, who sang Caranoma from "Rigoletto"; "I Could Have Danced All Night"; and a comedy sketch from a Russian opera (that may or may not exist).

In this reviewer's opinion, Miss Mulvey's performance of "Ave Maria" from backstage transformed the Assembly Hall into a cathedral. Bravo! Bravo!

Everyone left on a happy note after Borge read his world-famous punctuation routine. Only an artist of this caliber can act like a fool and be loved for it.

Freddy misses pro games

While I started off well enough last weekend, getting four of five college games correct on Saturday, I stumbled on Sunday, missing four out of five picks in the pro games, bringing me to 31-25 record for the year.

Bob Hardig, a Parkland instructor, won the contest outright, as he missed only one pick.

Next week's picks:

The Ohio State at Michigan game once again will decide the Big Ten champion. The Wolverines are at the top of their game and the Buckeyes are still weak against the pass. Michigan by nine.

Wisconsin is at Minnesota, where the Badgers are looking for a shot at third and Minnesota at an above .500 conference record. Both teams are coming off tough losses. I'll go with the Golden Gophers at home by four in a hard fight.

Notre Dame travels to Penn State, where the Nittany Lions rarely lose twice in a row, but this is a season of surprises, and I'm going with the Irish by seven in a slight upset.

Miami (of Florida) at North Carolina State: Miami is ranked twelfth and deserves it; Miami by 13.

Pacific at Hawaii: Hawaii lost its first game against B.Y.U. but by returning to its normal level of competition will win this one by two touchdowns.

Los Angeles Rams at San Francisco: the Rams couldn't handle Detroit, and the Forty-Niners are better; S.F. by 10.

Oakland looked like the defending champions against Miami, and now get to test themselves against San Diego. This should be a close match. Pro teams often run in streaks and the Chargers will have one less day to prepare, so I'll take the Raiders by eight.

The tiebreaker this week is a College game. How many will the U of I score at Northwestern? Illini by 28.

In other action, the Buffalo Bills win over New England by eleven and Cincinnati over Denver by six.

Runners get personal bests

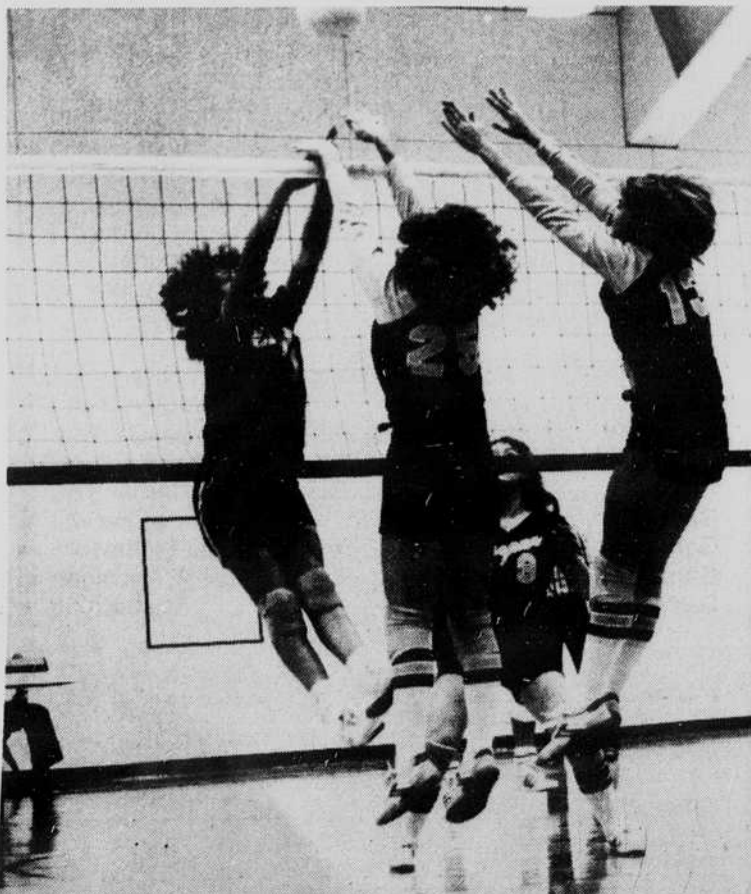

Three Parkland athletes return from Wichita, Kansas, this weekend after giving personal best times in the NJCAA cross-country championship.

Gary Chappel finished at 26:01.74 to place 73 out of 204 men in the five-mile race. Southwestern Michigan won the team title and took individual first as Kurt Russel finished in 24:21.19.

In the Women's 5,000 meters, Cheryl Krutsinger finished 70 of 134 at 20:06.3 and Bonnie Byers placed 109 at 21:51.57.

Mickey Doane of Golden Valley, Minnesota, was first at 17:38.14.

Both teams attempt to put one over on the other.

Cobras end season

Parkland's volleyball season came to an end Saturday with a two-game loss to ICC, 6-15 and 3-15.

The Cobras were never in either game as all-region star Stacy Cook dominated the match. The Cobras last real shot at a spot in the semi-finals was missed in a Friday night match against Wabash Valley in which Parkland dropped two games, 10-15 and 13-15. Parkland had flat spots during both games and managed to blow a 9-7 lead in the second game. The Cobras finally battled back to 12-14. In one of the most exciting finishes of the tourney, after five minutes and eight exchanges of serve, the Warriors finally put the game away.

Parkland's Sally O'Reilly was named to the Region IV All-Region second team.

The game with Wabash Valley became crucial when, in earlier action, Rock Valley injured its third player in a week, leaving it with only five players and forcing them to forfeit that game and the rest of their games. Since any ties were to be resolved by the total point differential and Rock Valley had scored 15 points total against Parkland prior to the injury, even if Parkland had split with Wabash Valley they would have had to make up those points to advance.

The Cobras finished the season with 24 wins, 11 losses, and a sectional title.
