Stu-Go votes against delay system, will buy 'Toys for Tots'

by Jo Miller

If WPCD thinks Stu-Go is going to buy the $4,000 delay system it wants to cut off any profanity before it reaches the air, it had better think again.

An informal hand vote showed most members against funding this equipment.

Student Government members asked why the 7-second delay system was not included in the original radio budget.

President Bob Zettler also expressed displeasure that the Parkland Board had met in executive session last week without notifying him of the meeting.

The one-week trial period for the new wide-screen television begins today. The set will be in the TV lounge, and students are asked to fill out evaluation sheets after viewing.

More information on the television is available in a report from committee chairperson Randy Spitz on Page 2.

Toys for Tots

by Barbara Skinner

Parkland's Student Government decided to play Santa when they voted to allot $500.00 to buy toys for orphans and foster children. The toys will be donated to the Toys for Tots drive.

The toys, purchased from Robeson's Department Store in Champaign at a generous discount, will be distributed during a Christmas dinner party sponsored by the Department of Children and Family Services on Dec. 9. There will be children's games played at the party and songs sung.

Volunteers are needed who can play a guitar and sing.

Parkland security guard Bill Wilkins, who conceived of the idea, will be Master of Ceremonies.

The nine counties served in the toy drive are Champaign, Iroquois, Ford, Vermilion, Douglas, Edgar, Coles, Cumberland, and Clark. The Department of Children and Family Services is located at 2125 S. First St., Champaign.

Woods offers nice winter get-away

If a little snow on the ground doesn't deter your outdoor activities, maybe this would be the weekend to take a trip out to Parkland's Nature Preserve, Patton Woods.

It can be reached from Champaign-Urbana by taking I-57 or Route 45 north to Rantoul, then east on Route 136, past Gifford to County Road 2500 E, then north six miles.

This 14-acre tract, located near the Vermillion River, features a dry oak-hickory forest which contains a variety of trees, shrubs, smaller plants and animal life. Most of the woods have never been disturbed by human activity and contain uncommon plants for this part of Illinois.

There are no supervisory personnel at the woods, so you are expected to behave in a responsible manner while visiting the preserve. It is established for the purpose of preserving the area in its natural state, and is open for walking and observing only.

The Life Science Division asks that you follow these four simple rules: 1) Remain on the trail; 2) protect all animals and plants; 3) keep the area free of litter, and 4) observe the ban on hunting, fires, cutting, picnicking, camping, horses, and vehicular use.

A pamphlet entitled "Patton Woods" is available from the Counseling Center, the Community Information Center or from the Life Science Division of Parkland. It gives a map of the area, plus some information on the natural history, early settlers and ecology of the woods.

Vets should give notice if planning to move

If you have been receiving Veterans Administration checks and you are moving at the end of the semester, you should leave your forwarding address and notify VA.

If you don't you could miss getting your final check.

The return to postpayment of monthly educational allowances has added a new dimension to VA's ongoing efforts to maintain current mailing addresses of its beneficiaries.

VA checks for GI Bill students final month of training, or partial month, will be issued on the first day of the following month. Unless the VA and the postal service have received a change of address, the check will be mailed to the address provided by the student during the school term.

The Veterans Education and Employment Assistance Act of 1976 eliminated prepayment of monthly VA allowances for VA trainees, effective June 1, 1977. The last prepayment checks were mailed May 1.

PFW Christmas party tonight

Parkland Faculty Wives are hosting their annual Christmas party for families of Parkland faculty, especially children, tonight at 6:30 in X220.

Two films — "Paddle to Sea" and "Moonbeam Princess" — will be shown. Santa Claus will make a special appearance.

Corbin speaks on Animal Biology

Companion Animal Biology is the subject of a speech to be given by Dr. James Corbin in L111 at 11:30 a.m. today. Dr. Corbin is from the Department of Animal Science at the U. of I.

Companion Animal Biology is basic study and application of genetics, nutrition, biology, and physiology as they apply to small animals, both in class and in practical experience.

Animal Science 206 concentrates on light horse management. Animal Science 207 is a general study of animals from kennel facilities to monkey care. Both are offered by the U. of I.

With 32.6 million dogs and 22 million cats in the U.S. the job opportunities in kennels, stables, riding academies, education, feed, pharmaceutical companies, and research are many.

Hymn and carol sing in PC gym

Central Illinois residents of all ages are invited to participate in a free "Hymn and Carol Sing With Strings, Winds and Bells" on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Parkland College gymnasium.

Sponsors are Parkland College; the Champaign and Urbana Park Districts; the Champaign Federation of Musicians, Local 196; and local patrons.

The Hymn and Carol Sing will provide an opportunity to sing traditional hymns and carols with string orchestra accompaniment; hear great string orchestra literature performed by local professionals; and permit students, teachers, and other amateur string players to join the orchestra for part of the performance.

Carl Shultz, local Suzuki violin teacher, will conduct the orchestra. J. Douglas Pummill, choral conductor at the Urbana United Methodist Church, will be conductor of the hymns and carols. Shultz is coordinating the event.

Instrumental music will be provided by the Champaign-Urbana Community Strings and Selected Winds (43 members of Local 196), over 100 other participants in the Hymn and Carol Sing orchestra, and combined bell choirs from several churches.

An audience will be welcome for the open rehearsal, which will also be in the gymnasium from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Dec. 3.

For more information, contact the Champaign Park District at 352-0071 or the Urbana Park District at 367-1544.

Canteen committee member castigates 'cake' communique

To the editors:

The "Let Them Eat Cake" letter of last week was the most useless piece of rubbish I've ever read in regard to Canteen Food Service. To begin with, only two administrators sit on the 12-person Food Service Committee. The rest of the committee is students, faculty and non-academic staff. As Dan Slack mentioned in his editorial (EDITOR'S NOTE: it was a letter, not an editorial), the Canteen situation is not perfect, but the food and service has generally improved since semester's start. Most of the credit for improvement goes to students and staff who gave feedback to committee members.

Ideally, I would hope that once Parkland's contract with Canteen expires, the college would manage its own food service. After all, Parkland manages its own bookstore as a business, so why not the food service.

My response to the author of "Let Them Eat Cake" is that I'm not sure those administrators who this person is concerned about would eat on campus even if the Ramada catered the food service.

Earl Creutzburg
Faculty Representative,
Food Service Committee

Wide-screen TV

The TV committee of Student Government has spent a considerable amount of time investigating the possibility of purchasing a video TV (large screen). The committee has decided, after looking at several different kinds of TV's, that the Advent video beam model 750 would best meet the needs of Parkland students.

There are several dealers that handle the Advent model 750 video beam TV. However, there are some differences in price and service. The best offer received was from Appletree stereo in Champaign on Green street. The regular list price of a model 750 is $2,995, but the Appletree Stereo company has offered to sell a Model 750 to Parkland students for only $2,495, which is at a $500 discount.

The committee believes that due to the amount of money involved, Parkland students should have some say on whether or not Student Government spends this money on purchasing the TV.

The video beam TV is actually an investment which will have a useful life of 7-10 years, as long as reasonable care is taken with it. In order to give student input into this project, student government has passed a motion to rent the video beam TV for a period of one week so that students may see for themselves what it is like. There will be a table in the TV lounge with 2 different petitions on it. One will be for purchasing the TV, while the other one will be against purchasing it.

We urged all students to view the TV and sign one and please only one petition so that you can express your view to Student Government.

Probably a conflict, will arise from time to time over which program should be watched, the following policy has been adopted by Student Government concerning the TV. This TV was bought by Student Government for the student's use, so only students should determine what programs will be watched. However, between the hours of 11:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. a conflict arises occasionally. When it does the following schedule will be in effect:

Ch. 3 will be watched on even numbered days.

Ch. 17 will be watched on odd numbered days. If this schedule does not solve the conflict, then we urge you to immediately report it to Student Government X159 and a Student Government representative will assist in solving the conflict, so that all may have a fair chance to see their program.

If the video beam TV is bought, it could mean a source of revenue for organizations because they could sell popcorn and drinks during special events such as Monday Night Football or special movies being shown over the TV.

If you have any questions about the video beam TV, feel free to contact John Witacre at the Appletree Stereo Store in Champaign, Phone: 384-1930.

In summary, the TV committee urges all students to view the video beam TV while it is here for the one week trial period and sign a petition for or against buying it. We also would like to thank the Appletree Stereo Store for their co-operation with the TV committee in arranging for this trial period which will begin today and run for one week.

SWAMP sponsors info fair here

SWAMP, Students Working Against Mankind's Pollution, is sponsoring a Prairie Alliance petition drive and information fair today from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the lounge near the snack bar.

SWAMP is also using this opportunity to recruit new members. Interested students are urged to stop at the tables and talk to the SWAMP representative.

Prairie Alliance is a community-based organization concerned with informing the public of the hazards of the nuclear industry and radioactive wastes. Anti-nuclear bumper stickers and buttons will be on sale at the display, along with petitions calling for prohibition of transportation of nuclear wastes through the city of Urbana.

Vet Techs Week

Editors note: November 28-December 2 is Veterinary Technicians Week. To help explain a little more about Vet Techs, members of the Parkland Vet Tech Club have submitted this letter:

Veterinary Technicians are people who assist a veterinarian and are comparable to a nurse assisting a doctor. They answer questions about pet care, take case histories, perform physical examinations and do some reception work.

Laboratory work is a major part of the job. Technicians can take blood samples and do microscopic examinations of blood, feces and skin.

In the exam room, a technician restrains the patient for a thorough examination by the veterinarian. Techs can clean eyes, ears and teeth, clip toenails and give injections. They also care for in-hospital patients.

Technicians can take and process x-rays, prepare an area for surgery, assist with that surgery, monitor anesthesia and give medications.

Parkland College offers a 5-semester 2 1/2 year Vet Tech program. During the first year, the student studies animal diseases, prevention and cure; pharmacology; animal nutrition; reproduction, and laboratory animal care and handling. Students also study anatomy and physiology, English and math. Students learn to bathe, groom, restrain and give medications in the laboratory room.

These procedures are taught with dogs, cats, mice, rats, guinea pigs, rabbits, hamsters, goats, sheep, pigs, horses and cattle. During the summer between the first and second year, students take clinics in the University of Illinois Small and Large Animal Clinics where they are rotated through all departments of the hospital.

During the second year, students learn radiology procedures, surgical procedures, anesthesia procedures and diagnostic work. Students spend their mornings at Parkland in class and their afternoons at the U. of I. in practical experience.

Today at 11:30 a.m., Dr. James Corbin of the University of Illinois will speak on "Careers in the Companion Animal Biology Field" in Room L111.

The Better Information Project, also known as BIPPIE awards

by Barbara Skinner

It's time for the annual BIPPIE awards. Scholarships amounting to $12,000 will be awarded in this national competition called the Better Information Project: Prizes in Education (BIPPIE), sponsored by a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Fund for the Improvement of Post-secondary Education.

Poet's Corner

Upon you the world is crushing
And you're able to carry the weight
Sweet conversation has you blushing
Maturity has come a little too late
Afraid of everyone and yourself too
Sum up the pro's, con's and estimate
That the #1 problem is you
Understanding this as a sooner date
Could have you now feeling great.

Andrew Fleming

Prizes will be awarded in two categories: general information aimed at the entire student community (orientation guides, course and teacher evaluations and financial aid manuals), and information aimed at specific student groups including but not limited to women, the handicapped, minorities and older student.

A trip to Washington, D.C. will be awarded to each of the twelve winners, where they will accept, on behalf of their school, a $1,000 scholarship, which will then be given to a student with financial need.

Individual students or student groups are eligible to submit any media produced during the 1976-77 or 1977-78 school years, that is aimed at informing fellow students about campus programs, opportunities and experiences.

Students who are interested should write to the National Student Educational Fund, 2000 P St. NW, Suite 305, Washington, D.C. 20036 no later than Feb. 28, 1978.

New agribusiness course announced

"Grain and Livestock Futures Marketing" (AGB 233), a Parkland College course, will be offered in Villa Grove beginning this evening.

The course will meet from 7-9:45 p.m. each week in the agriculture room at Villa Grove High School until about March 16. Those attending the first session will determine which week night is best for the class meeting.

The course deals with topics such as the operation of futures and cash markets, and storage functions as related to grain dealing, livestock dealing and farm operations. It gives three hours of Parkland College credit.

For further information, contact Rolla Mitchell, Villa Grove agriculture instructor, at 832-2311 or Kyle Wittler, Parkland coordinator of agri-business, at 351-2402.

League seeking more bowlers

The Parkland Bowling League is still looking for individuals to join the group bowling twice weekly at Arrowhead Lanes.

Alleys are available Tuesdays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Thursdays from 3 to 5 p.m. Bowlers do not have to bowl every session, but are required to bowl at least 21 games by the "head-on" competition on February 4. The top five men and women emerging from that tournament will represent Parkland in the state tournament, providing they meet other eligibility requirements.

Each bowler pays 60 cents per line, which includes shoes and ball.

'Masters-piece' presented here by senior group

Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" will be performed by the Thornburn Senior Citizens Poetry and Prose class next Tuesday (Dec. 6) at 11 a.m. in Room C140.

Members of the class will read a number of short poems and Norma Marder, instructor for the group, will sing additional material.

There will be no admission charge, and everyone is invited to attend.

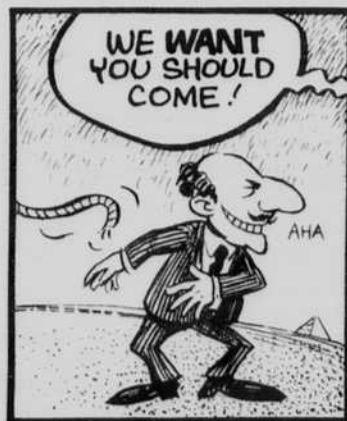

The program is sponsored by the Parkland Program for the Long Living and the Humanities Advisory Committee. For more information, contact Sue Coleman, coordinator, at 351-2429.

Monday set as interview night for real-estaters

Monday is "Real Estate Career Night" at Parkland College.

From 7 to 9 p.m. in the College Center, students who have completed the Real Estate Transactions course (RES 110) will be available for interview by prospective employers.

For further information, contact Norma Turok, business and real estate coordinator at Parkland, at 351-2377.

Women gather in Houston

Was IWY meeting effective?

In the aftermath of the International Women's Year meeting in Houston, the State Department reports it is investigating charges that I.W.Y. organizers used the Department's letterhead and franking privileges to attack conservative opponents of the commission.

Senator Frank Church and Representative Gunn McKay, both Mormons, have demanded that the State Department issue an apology for the letter, a six-page mailing from the I. W. Y. which reprinted press reports about conservative groups which opposed the government-supported women's conference.

One of the press reports quoted the Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, Robert Shelton, as threatening to use K.K.K. members to disrupt the Houston meeting.

Church and McKay charge that the press reports summary included a statement issued by the Mormon church and carried the inscription, "Office of Public Affairs, Department of State" and the State Department's postage frank.

Church and McKay claim that in sending the letter, the I.W.Y. "abused its authority and turned the I.W.Y. movement into a federally-funded lobbying effort in support of the Equal Rights Amendment."

A majority of the 2000 delegates to the government conference, which ended last Monday, in fact endorsed equal rights for women. Most delegates supported 25 or 26 resolutions put before the conference by the meetings held at state levels.

Among the proposals were passage of the E.R.A., rights for lesbians, support for abortion on demand, protection for battered wives, and economic and political equality for women in America.

The wives of three U.S. presidents attended the Houston Conference.

Six men, who attended the conference as members of the Mississippi delegation, limited their participation to standing to vote "No" on 26 proposals.

About 15,000 observers also attended the I.W.Y. meeting. Across town, meanwhile, at the Houston Astroarena, and estimated 10,000 demonstrators — most of them white — rallied to show their opposition to the I.W.Y. conference by parading with signs reading "We're ladies, not libbers" and "Up with God, down with gays."

Expected disruptions by E.R.A. opponents at the I.W.Y. meeting itself, however, were limited to an attempt on Saturday by 10 to 20 men carrying signs reading "White Supremacy" and "Down with Women," to force their way into the Albert Thomas Convention Hall. The men were ejected by women attending the meeting.

Back in Washington, State Department spokesperson Tom Reston says federal lawyers are going over the question of whether the federal franking privilege was misused in sending out the letter describing the conservatives' plans.

Author here Monday

Author Nancy Covert Smith will speak Monday (Dec. 5) at 10 a.m. in L111 on "What It Means to be a Mental Patient: Mental Breakdown and Recovery."

Smith is the author of the book "Journey Out of Nowhere." The book, according to the "National Association for Mental Health," is an appeal for the public to put aside their feelings of shame and guilt regarding mental illness and be aware of the staggering statistics regarding the number of persons who require psychiatric treatment.

The book tells of Smith's mental breakdown at the age of 32. The story of her recovery is the main topic of the book, according to the Santa Rosa Press Democrat. Her main drive since her illness has been to carry a message of faith and hope to people facing similar problems. Smith has also authored two books, entitled "Of Pebbles and Pearls," and "Josie's Handful of Quietness," plus magazine articles and short stories published in "McCall's," "Good Housekeeping," "Modern Bride," and others.

Stories about Smith and reviews of her books have appeared in many newspapers and magazines, including the "Washington Post," the "Tallahassee Democrat," and the "Phoenix Gazette."

At the 1973 annual meeting of the National Association for Mental Health, Smith received a special communications award. She was cited for her "outstanding contribution to public education about mental health and mental illness."

Old-fashioned Christmas at New Salem

A real old fashioned Christmas — circa 1830 — will be celebrated this weekend at New Salem village in Lincoln's New Salem State Park near Petersburg, Illinois.

The event, sponsored by the Illinois Department of Conservation, includes demonstrations of weaving, metal casting, spinning, broommaking, fabrication of apple head and rag dolls, wood joining, flax and wool spinning, and popcorn popping.

There will also be pioneer-style shoemaking by a cobbler, and a blacksmith will be demonstrating his art.

Activities are scheduled from noon until 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Although it can read out only one Braille figure at a time, the read-out speed can be adjusted from four seconds to one-half second.

The Speech-Plus does not have continued on page four

SPECIAL NOTICE

Students eligible for graduation at the end of this semester must submit a "Petition to Graduate" form to the Office of Admissions and Records as soon as possible, but no later than December 2, 1977. Notice of admission to candidacy for graduation will be mailed to the student. Students graduating in Spring of 1978 are encouraged to submit petitions as soon as possible, although petitions do not have to be in X167 until April 28, 1978.

Silver cue sparkles in exhibition

White conjures and captures crowd

by Dave Hinton

'Don Rickles with a pool cue' would be a good description of Jack White, pocket billiards champion and trick shot artist. White performed at Parkland Tuesday in the Game Room.

Not only were put-downs part of his show, but it soon became apparent he likes to hustle more than just pool — or pocket billiards as he calls the game.

White tended to divide his attention between scrutinizing and teasing the females of the audience, making disparaging remarks to people in the audience, and when he found the time, making seemingly impossible shots on the pool table.

Yet, despite the remarks, most of the audience seemed to like the man. Probably because White did the ribbing good-naturedly, and they knew it was only part of his act.

One may wonder if White does his Don Rickles routine to break the monotony of doing hundreds of shows a year, most of them on college campuses.

He has been told he is the No. 1 entertainer on college campuses in the country.

But why does he continue to travel the college circuit? It could be the money. White estimated he would make over $2 million in 1977.

He claims, however, it is his love for college kids. "That's the reason I keep playing," he said before his 11 a.m. exhibition. "I did the kids, cause they're so honest."

White may love college kids, but it is evident he loves himself, too. One almost expected him to utter the Ali phrase, "I am the greatest." The lettering on his pool cue case summed it up: "Jack White, World's Greatest Pocket Billiards and Trick Shot Artist."

He didn't let his audience forget it, either. "I've beaten all the best in the world," he says. "Minnesota Fats, Willie Masconi, Irving Crane . . . Raquel Welch. Yes, Raquel Welch; she's 'developed' into a great pool player."

White is proud of the fact he is the only pocket billiards artist to have played the White House, claiming to have performed for four-and-a-half Presidents. "You can probably guess which one I consider as the half," he said.

White doesn't confine his exhibitions to the United States. He has traveled to 126 countries, has done a command performance for the Queen of England, and has performed for the Shah of Iran.

White says his greatest honor as a professional, however, was when he was requested to perform for the first group of returning Vietnam POWs. "They could have picked any personality in the country, and they (the POWs) picked me to perform," he boasted. "That was my greatest honor."

White is not afraid to drop names, either. "This is Johnny Carson's favorite shot." He then proceeded to hit the cue ball, which traveled across the table, struck another ball, traveled back across the table, went up three cue sticks, back down the sticks, knocking a third ball into a side pocket.

As a matter of course, White missed several shots to make them look more difficult.

The pool artist got the audience involved as well, asking them to applaud and whistle as loudly as they could if he made "this shot: the most difficult shot in the world." He promptly performed the trick, then proudly proclaimed himself as "the best in the world."

White asked for volunteers to play a game of 8-ball. He promised $100 to each one in the audience if the volunteer could beat him. "Fat chance," said one student. But White did try to make the const's interesting, missing easy shots or hitting the cue ball so it would make the opponent's shot very difficult.

White seemed to enjoy himself. Maybe he does love college kids, or maybe he just loves winter weather. Who could stand California weather 12 months of the year, anyway?

- Better engine protection.
- Increased fuel economy.
- Better high-temperature performance.
- Fast sub-zero starts.
- Less oil consumption.
- A cleaner engine.
- 25,000-mile oil change.

Too good to be true? No. Because thousands of AMS/OIL users have already experienced these extraordinary performance features. AMS/OIL was first to commercially market an SAE 10W-40 synthetic engine oil to meet API Classification SE, which means AMS/OIL can be used in any car. So while the new synthetic lubricants you see today were still in the test lab, AMS/OIL was in the crankcases of cars and trucks just like yours. And when you're satisfied, that's the final test of a lubricant.

Bouncing Bob takes over

This is the first week of the new Bouncing Bob Basketball Bonanza contest that starts this issue.

The contest will contain the exact same format as Fast Freddy and will remain as long as the interest is there.

This week's games are not the greatest since most teams are playing the usual bunch of pushovers and small colleges.

The first game will involve Alabama playing at Purdue. These teams have had fantastic games in the past and this one may be no exception. However, Purdue has the home court and the talent this time around to be classed as the favorite.

Illinois journeys to Columbia, South Carolina to play the Gamecocks under Frank McGuire. The Illini are coming on strong, but the Gamecocks return a great squad from last year's team, and they always play tough in the Carolina Coliseum.

Southern Methodist is at Kansas State. Coach Jack Hartman's Wildcats are the pick of the Big Eight this year and SMU's basketball team isn't much better than the football team.

Ohio State goes to New England and plays Vermont in Burlington. This doesn't sound like much of a game for Ohio State, but just remember, it's on the road and Ohio State's sensational freshmen still have to prove themselves in game competition.

Vanderbilt goes to Freedom Hall and play the Louisville Cardinals. Louisville is again quick, tall, and talented and shouldn't have too much trouble with the Commodores.

USC plays at Utah. First of all, USC's basketball team is not as good as the football team, and Utah's basketball team is far better than the football team. Most unsuspecting prognosticators would probably pick the Trojans, but in this case that's not very wise.

New Mexico plays at New Mexico State. For all of you who haven't noticed, Lou Henson is no longer coaching at New Mexico State. He's right here at Illinois. Ken Hayes, formerly of Tulsa, is now the coach. New Mexico is coached by the flamboyant Norm Ellenberger. It should be an interesting battle in Las Cruces.

Other games on the list will be Western Michigan at Marquette, Michigan at Fordham, St. John's at Princeton, Santa Clara at UCLA, and Canisius at Wisconsin.

The tiebreaker will be between Bradley and UNLV at Las Vegas. Bradley won the game in Peoria last season and the Rebels went to the final four of the NCAA.

Eureka JV's remain question for Cobra squad

by Ken Hartman

Parkland will look for its second road win of the season tonight as they travel to Eureka to take on the Eureka junior varsity.

After tonight's game, the Cobras journey to Robinson Saturday night for an encounter with last year's state champs, Lincoln Trail.

The Cobras will be attempting to rebound from Tuesday's 102-99 setback at the hands of Springfield.

Coach Ken Pirtchett changed his lineup Tuesday and started Matt Bennett for Rodney Davis and Robert Sangster for the injured Jaffee Woolfork. Woolfork has an injury to his right thumb.

Gary Rucks, Rick Kirby, and Fred Jones were the other starters. Also, Jeff Blackard saw his first action Tuesday in the loss.

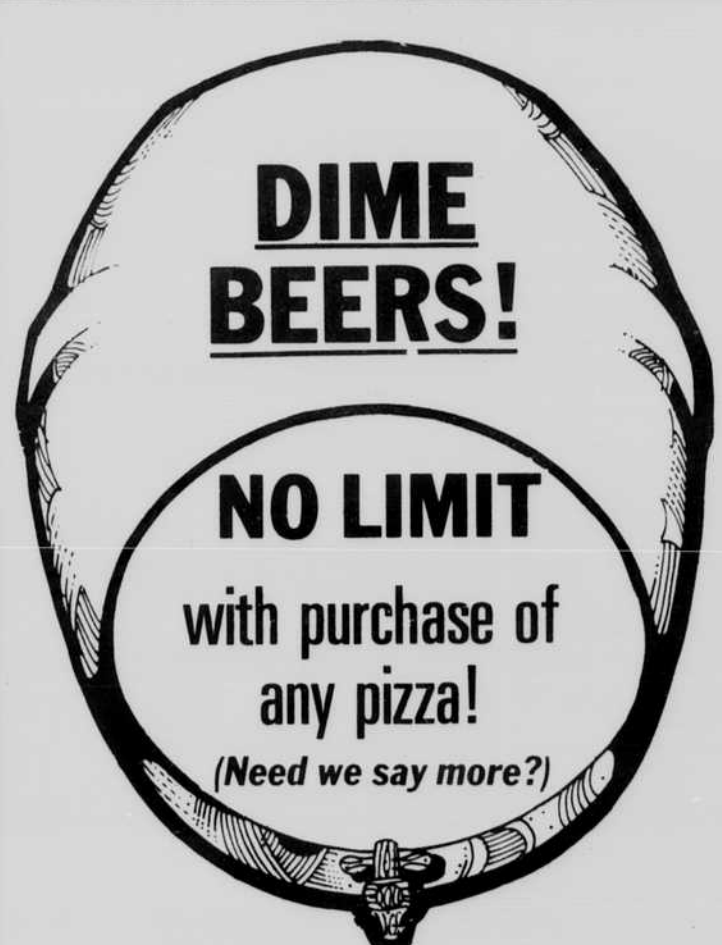

There is not much known about Eureka. Their varsity has only two seniors on the roster and the junior varsity is equally divided between sophomores and freshmen.

Former Farmer City-Mansfield star Mike Raney is a member of the squad and will probably start.

Coach Kip Blakesley feels that Raney's jumping ability and inside defensive skills will be a great asset to this year's team effort.

Other members of the squad are: Dave Schultz, Gordy Steffens, Paul Missavage, Leroy Taynor, Jim Brandau, Mike Royse, Jamie Cummins, John Moore, Mike Rabelhofer, Clarence Schulte, Lelon Seaberry, Gary Satterlee, and Alan Alston.

After the game Saturday at Lincoln Trail, the Cobras return home next week for three home games against Illinois Central, Rend Lake, and Lincoln, a team the Cobras beat earlier this season 86-59.

Cobras drop first game to fired-up Springfield quintet

by Ken Hartman

Springfield got a 38-point performance from Kevin Connery and took advantage of a porous Parkland defense to hand the Cobras their first loss of the season 102-99 Tuesday night.

The win gave Springfield a 4-2 mark on the year while Parkland is now 2-1 heading into tonight's game with the Eureka junior varsity on the road.

Parkland started fast as they have in their previous games jumping out to an 18-8 lead with slightly under six minutes gone.

However, Springfield kept chipping away and finally got the lead late in the half when reserve Kevin Timoney hit a basket and a free throw for a one-point lead 46-45.

Reserve guard Randy Ryner then hit another basket for a three-point lead. Parkland promptly ran off the last five points of the half and took a 50-48 lead into the locker room.

In the first six minutes of the second half, the game seasawed until the Bulldogs broke away with less than 14 minutes to play.

With the score tied at 70-70, Connery hit two quick baskets, Adolph Montgomery one, and Ryner added another for a 78-70 lead and forced a Parkland timeout.

The game stayed that way until the final three minutes when the Cobras started to come back.

Jaffee Woolfork, who didn't start due to an injured thumb, hit a basket to cut the lead to 96-93.

Timoney came right back and scored a basket with 1:08 to play.

Rick Kirby then made a long jumper to make it 98-95, but Fred Williams hit a short jumper with :29 left to ice the game.

After the game, Coach Ken Pritchett said, "Our defense was pathetic. We got out-rebounded and out-quickened. We shot well enough to win."

The Cobras shot .489 from the floor for the game and forced 36 turnovers on Springfield's part.

However, the Bulldogs shot .589, mostly layups, and took the Cobras on the boards 40-29.

After Connery's 38 points, Montgomery and Timoney each had 18 and Ryner added 17 for the winners.

Gary Rucks paced Parkland with 23 points before fouling out with 1:40 to play. Kirby added 22, Fred Jones and Woolfork each had 14.

Argenta-Oreana freshman Jeff Blackard made his first appearance of the season and scored six points in limited action. He had been out with a contused right arm and elbow. That injury may have been aggravated when he was hit on that arm in the second half.

Larson, Adams represent PC at nationals in Tuscon

Parkland cross-country runners Greg Adams and Al Larson traveled to Tuscon, Arizona, for the National Junior College Athletic Association cross country nationals last month.

Both say they ran a little slower than they had hoped.

Adams' time of 26:30 was good for 135th place. Larson finished the 5-mile course in 27:14, placing 174th.

A field of 232 runners began the race and 210 finished. Allegheny College of Pittsburgh took the team title with 21 points, finishing in the top three places.

M-S best 2-A team

by Tim Wells

On a cold Friday afternoon two area hopefuls, Arcola and Mahomet-Seymour, vied for the state football championship in their respective classes at Hancock Stadium in Normal.

Going into Friday's matches, Arcola was ranked number one in the state in the Class 1A division. Mahomet-Seymour was ranked number two behind Stockton, the team they were playing for the 2A crown.

But by the end of the day M-S was in the spotlight with a convincing 19-0 thrashing of the big Stockton Blackhawks. Arcola settled for a respectable second place finish as they fell to Genoa-Kingston, 18-0.

M-S made the playoffs through a draw — out of a hat. A three way tie for the Okaw Valley Conference crown meant that the school to represent the conference would have to be decided through one of the three teams being drawn out of a hat. M-S used the luck of the draw and was never really threatened by a team in the playoffs.

The Bulldogs used strong running by fullback Guy Davis and the big plays by Bob Slade to defeat the Blackhawks. Davis rambled for 173 yards in 30 carries, including one touchdown.

M-S scored first in the second quarter when Slade found end Rick Sanders on a 26 yard pass to give them Bulldogs a 6-0 lead. Davis' extra-point kick made it 7-0. The T.D. pass was the only pass completed by Slade in the game.

Because of the slippery artificial turf the Bulldogs used Davis for most of the ground gaining. With :16 seconds to go in the third frame Davis plunged over from the one to make the M-S lead 13-0.

Slade scored again in the fourth period on a 14 yard run to clinch the win.

The loss sent Stockton home with a second place trophy and a 12-1 mark. M-S also finished the season at 12-1.

The first game of the afternoon featured Arcola and Genoa-Kingston for the Class 1A belt.

The Cogs rolled up over 200 yards rushing while holding the Purple Rider offense to a total yardage output of 66. Most of Genoa-Kingston's rushing attack came from 205 pound fullback Tom Price. Price had 106 yards in 18 attempts, including one touchdown run of eight yards.

The icy surface of the turf kept quick-footed Arcola halfback Jeff Fishel from getting on track. Marty Thomas led the Purple Riders in rushing with 31 yards in five carries. Senior quarterback John Fishel could only hit on four of 11 passes for 36 yards, and two of the 11 attempted passes were intercepted.

G-K finished its season with a 13-0 mark. Arcola suffered its only loss in 13 games.

High school roundballers groom for March Madness

by Tim Wells

March Madness is that time of the year when the best of the high school basketball teams come to Champaign-Urbana to compete in the Assembly Hall for the state title.

However, before a team can play in the Hall, it must complete its regular season schedule, win a regional tournament, win a sectional tournament and win a super-sectional tournament. Only then is it considered one of the Elite Eight teams in Illinois.

Last year, the closest our area could come to putting a team in the Assembly Hall was in Monticello. The Sages lost in the supersectionals to Mount Pulaski, last year's fourth place finishers. Monticello, led by Jim Williams, had a 1976-77 record of 12-2 in the Okaw Conference, second only to St. Joseph-Ogden. SJ-O was involved in a disciplinary problem that led to the ejection of three star players near the end of the season. The Spartans have to regroup from that 24-3 squad without Lance Freeman, a 6'6" center who averaged more than 20 points a game. The Spartans may have to wait a while for another club as good as last year's. Tuscola could be strong if they get some support from their underclassmen. The Warriors ended in a respectable third place finish.

The Wauseca Conference is loaded with talent. The only drawback of an exciting season in that league is that all of that talent belongs to Hoopston-East Lynn. The Cornjerkers return seven lettermen from a 24-5 ballclub that lost to Crescent-Iroquois to keep them from reaching the Sweet Sixteen. Depth, speed, and size are their strong points, and they used these assets to cop their first win of the season over a potent Catlin (East Central Conference favorite) team 68-65. Hoopston-EL will be challenged by Danville Schlarman, Georgetown, Watseka, and Gibson City.

The Cinderella team of the East Central Conference (or the area for that matter) had to be the Trojans from ABL. ABL had been fortunate in past years to reach the .500 mark, but they came through last season with a 25-2 record, best in the area. Gone from the team that won the ECC outright with a 10-0 slate are six senior lettermen. But back is a starter and three other lettermen who saw limited action last year. The Trojans are 2-0 thus far, beating Bement and Newman. The Catlin Wolverines will have to be the favorites to take the title this year, though. Last year ABL defeated the Wolves twice during the season, but 6'5" center Ed Sudlow was only a junior. With experience under his belt he could dominate most teams alone. Chrisman figures to be tough with 12 returning lettermen from last year's 17-9 club. Oakwood, which finished behind ABL, has All-Conference Brain Moore back, as well as senior Bob Wells. Moore will only be a junior this year.

The Little Okaw has been dominated in the past few years by Cerro Gordo. This season should be no exception for the Broncos, who finished with a 13-1 conference record ahead of giant Atwood-Hammond. A-H lost two 6'7" frontliners, and are expected to falter considerably without them.

Hopes are high: indoor track

by Tim Wells

Not only are the Parkland tracksters looking forward to a successful indoor season, but Coach Lee LaBadie has hopes set high for several national qualifying performances during the season.

Seven indoor meets have been scheduled, and the season opens January 21, 1978 at Eastern Illinois University. The nationals will be at Detroit, March 17-18.

LaBadie cites good chances for several key individuals to make the nationals in their respective events. Dave Bennett, former Rantoul pole vaulter, has vaulted 14'4" before, so he stands a good chance to make the qualifying mark of 13'11". Jim McDaniels, long and triple jumper, has gone 22'9" in the long jumps which would surpass the qualifying standard of 22'7". McDaniels has also tripled an impressive 46' which would easily make him a national finalist.

The middle distance men, Glenn Greg and Brent Colravy, show strong possibilities of reaching the qualifying standards in the 440, 600, 880, and 1000 yard runs.

The milers include Al Larson, Greg Adams, Mike Stahlmyer, and Jean Lowry. Stahlmyer is injured and is unable to work out. Larson will specialize in the two-mile while Adams and Lowry will concentrate on the mile.

Marvin Cole, Thom Uhlir, Roland Cooper, Cameron Clark, Tom Schmitz, and Ken Parish are flexible sprinters or middle distance runners. LaBadie says that "any one of them could qualify in any event from the 440 dash to the 1000 yard run."

Pino Evans has sprinted even with the qualifying standard of 6.4 seconds in the 60-yard dash. Evans qualified for the state high school meet when he was at Rantoul a year ago.

LaBadie mentioned other athletes who had expressed interest in coming out for track but have not been able to practice due to classes: John Overstreet, Mike Fioriollo, and Terry Brown. Two others LaBadie said could "help the team" are Dave Eckerty and Neal Gibbens.

Most of the tracksters have been working out for quite some time now. Long jumper Clay Hackett, sprinters Lee Messenger and Steve Gatewood, pole vaulters Mike Thompson, discus thrower Keith Lawson, and middle distance runner Bill Wright are all working toward the season opener at EIU. Wright will run in the 600 during the indoor season but is preparing mainly for the intermediate hurdles run during the outdoor meets.

LaBadie said two girls have started running. Atwood-Hammond sprinter and hurdler Michelle Osborne, and Saybrook sprinter Hannah Hudson will compete unattached in the January 28 meet at the U. of I. Three other girls have expressed interest in coming out: Debbie Pflum, Jana Brown and Liz Macke.

Let the Army help you with college.

Last year, over 200,000 young people like yourself enrolled in college courses in the Army.

They attended classes on post. They studied at nearby colleges and universities. And they took courses through our various correspondence programs. And the Army paid for up to 75% of their tuition costs and fees for approved courses.

Our educational benefits are in addition to the job training you'll receive, the salary you'll earn, and the travel opportunities you'll have.

If you'd like to find out more about all the educational benefits the Army has to offer, see or call your local Army Representative.

Home opener features convincing win

Parkland's Gary Rucks (21) puts up a shot over two Millikin junior varsity players in last week's game. Rodney Davis (25) looks on.

Parkland celebrated its home opener with a convincing 98-65 drubbing of the Millikin junior varsity to keep its record unblemished.

The Cobras ran off the first points of the game and were never behind as Millikin could get no closer than eight points.

This marked the second straight lopsided win for the Cobras. Millikin was playing its first game of the season.

Three things were again evident for the Cobras — quickness, defense, and shooting.

"Our quickness looked good early and we played pretty aggressive and good pressure defense," said coach Ken Pritchett. "I've seen them quicker than tonight, but we've improved defensively since the season started. These kids play hard and they play to win."

Parkland's quickness and defense forced 36 turnovers by the Big Blue, which makes 77 they have caused in their first two games.

The Cobras weren't exactly flawless, however, committing 28 turnovers. Most of those came in the last five minutes when the reserves were in the game.

Parkland showed its prowess from the floor hitting at a .545 percentage while Millikin shot .371.

Parkland led at the half 48-26, with the highlight of the half being Decatur Eisenhower's Robert Sangster, who came off the bench to hit six shots in a row.

The Cobras rattled off a 27-9 streak midway through the second half to lead 80-37 with 8:29 to play. They increased that lead to 88-44 with 5:36 before the reserves got some action.

Parkland placed five men in double figures, led by Gary Ruck's 22 points and game-high 11 rebounds. Rick Kirby and Sangster each had 16 while Matt Bennett came off the bench with 11 and Jaffe Woolfork added 10.

Dennis Moore from Indianapolis Howe High School led Millikin with 22 points, 16 coming in the second half.

Can women repeat success?

Freshmen lead women cagers

by Valerie Wallace

"Freshmen" is the key word for the Parkland women's basketball team this season, and there's plenty of them.

With a 13-3 ratio, three-fourths of the team will be freshmen, coach Lynette Trout said after a week of tryouts.

That could make the competition tough, but the team has potential, Trout said.

Potential or not, the women will have some talent on their side with the return of last year's basketball star forward Kim Burke who was voted to the third All-American N.J.C.A.A. Women's Basketball team at the end of last season.

Shooting 54 per cent from the field and 67 percent from the free throw line, she led the Parkland women last year with a 16.5 points per game average, totaling 380 points at the end of the season.

Other returning players — Sue DeBartoli and Marsha Hockenberry — are both letter winners and can hold their own on the court.

"Sue DeBartoli is good," Trout said. "And Marsha Hockenberry can take care of herself, too."

Height has not changed much from last year's team as no one is really tall this season either.

Liz Hamilton, who stands at 6 feet, is the tallest player with the others averaging between 5 feet 5 inches and 5 feet 7 inches.

But height is not everything in women's basketball.

"Short and quick is better," Trout said, "and the team can work on that . . . Kim Burke is only 5 foot, 5."

But the team may be one player too short as player Julee Arthur, who transferred to Parkland from another school in the latter part of the semester, will not be playing three-fourths of the games this season because of a rule stating transfers during a semester must wait 18 weeks to participate in such competitive sports.

"It's too bad because she's a good player," Trout said.

Despite such drawbacks, although the team lacks experience, Trout believes there is talent and potential.

"Although it's too early to make predictions," Trout said, "after a week of tryouts, I'm optimistic we'll have a competitive basketball team."

Coach Lynette Trout

Perfection hard to improve upon

by Valerie Wallace

Today's and tomorrow's basketball players will find it hard to follow Parkland's team last year with its almost unbroken string of victories, State Region IV championship, and National tournament competition.

Finishing the regular season at 17-0, the women's team went on and captured the State Region IV championship in three straight wins.

They then advanced to the National Junior College Women's Tournament in Overland Park, Kansas, where the team finished the season with a 21-2 over-all record.

At the Region IV State tournament, the women made their first technical foul of the season when six players were on the court at the same time during a free throw.

But that did not get them down as the team blitzed its opponents in the opener, the semi-finals, and the finals when the women defeated Wilber Wright Junior College, 80-66, bringing Parkland's record to a still undefeated 20-0.

Earlier in this tournament, the team trounced a weak Elgin, 76-44, in the opener, and in the semi-finals, wrestled a 62-47 victory from Illinois Valley, who used a strong press and a deliberate offense to force 20 turnovers and 23 fouls by the women.

But the team overcame all, despite a weak defense, and took the championship, advancing to the Nationals, where they encountered their first losses of the season.

In the Nationals, the team was beaten by Texas' Temple Junior College, a 15-year experienced participant of women's basketball, who trampled them 85-46, eliminating them from contention in the rest of the tournament and putting the team in the consolation bracket of the double elimination against Colorado Northwest.

Easily defeating Colorado, 66-36, Parkland was placed against University of North Dakota from Williston Center who defeated the team, 55-44, ending its stay at the tournament, but not before the women chalked up a 21-2 end-season record.

So, inspiring as it may be, last year's women's basketball team and its triumphs will be hard to match for seasons to come.
