Rudy: 'keep the spirit flying'

By KEVIN ERB
Prospectus Staff Reporter
The new Student Government (StuGo) president for 1986-87 is Walter Rudy, of Rantoul.

Rudy is in his second year of a transfer program in Life Sciences. His activities here at Parkland have included StuGo Senator, Parkland's first Homecoming King, working on the StuGo Constitution, and the Spirit Committee.

His hobbies include spelunking (exploring caves), and his hot air balloon business. His best memories of being a senator last year was meeting people and helping with WPCD (Parkland College radio station) with their Fanfare.

Voting took place on Wednesday, Sept. 17, and Thursday, Sept. 18, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. both days. Other Student Government representatives elected include: Treasurer, Cyndi Tarter; Senators: Carol Wheelock, Allan Schaeffer, and Tim Edwards. Less than three hundred Parkland students voted in the election, or less than five percent of the total student body.

When asked about this problem, President-elect Rudy stated that he felt that the problem stems from the fact that not many students were aware of the elections. He would also like to see increased student input into Student Government. On page 11 of the 1986-87 Survival Manual, it states, "The governing body of the Student Association of Parkland College in an active and responsible Student Government. Student Government administers student affairs and acts on behalf of the student body."

Rudy's plans for this year include increasing student participation in activities sponsored by and through Student Government, to promote Pride in Parkland, an increase in public awareness about Parkland, and to invite everyone to come to the StuGo meetings.

Rudy is looking forward to serving as president this year and thanks every for their support.

Students sought for StuGo committees

Student Government president, Walt Rudy, has announced a meeting to be held tomorrow (Thursday), Sept. 25, at noon in Room X150.

Rudy told the Prospectus the meeting will cover criteria for appointments to various standing committees and board for this school year.

Any student, either full- or part-time, is invited to attend. Rudy listed the following openings:

Publications Board, Convocations Board, Athletics and Intramurals, Finance Board, Budget Committee, Academic Standards Committee, Commencement and Graduation Committee, and Grievance Committee.

Continuing the list are Financial Assistance, Health and Safety, and Food Services.

Other appointments will be made in Student Services, IOC, and Publications, he continued.

Anyone unable to attend this meeting is encouraged to leave a note in the Student Government office in the president's basket.

Appointments will be made and announced at the Student Government Orientation meeting scheduled at 2:15 in Room X150 next Tuesday.

Student Government meetings are open to all staff and students.

Parkland's president to retire

Dr. William M. Staerkel, Parkland College's founding president, plans to retire in August 1987. Accordingly, the Board of Trustees of the College has formulated procedures and a calendar for selection of a new president. A summary of those procedures follows.

A Search Committee will assist the Board in the screening and interviewing of the candidates. This committee will consist of one representative each from Parkland's administration, nonacademic staff, full-time faculty (one representative from each of six academic divisions), part-time faculty, supportive professional staff, and the student body.

An appropriate announcement of the position was developed after the Board established criteria to be observed in the selection of a new president. The position will be advertised in appropriate national educational journals.

December 1 is the closing date for all applications. A Screening Committee will screen applications and select the best qualified candidates. This committee will consist of two members of the Board of Trustees, the Director of Personnel, the President of the College, and two members of the Search Committee.

By mid-February 1987 the top candidates will be identified by a committee consisting of five Board members, four Search Committee members, and the Director of Personnel.

After on-campus interviews in February and March, the Search Committee will submit a list of preferred candidates to the Board. Board members will then make site visits to the finalists' home communities.

A public announcement will be made by the Board when its selection is finalized. The new president will begin his or her duties at Parkland on or about July 1, 1987.

Delta Kappa Gamma giving award

To the Editor:

Delta Kappa Gamma, Beta Mu Chapter, an international women's honorary society in professional education, is offering Parkland College students enrolled in Elementary/Secondary Education Curricula a Recognition Award. This is the fourth year of this recognition, which includes a monetary award.

Women students who are enrolled in one of these programs who have completed at least 12 semester hours of program course work and are enrolled in or have completed EDU-101 may qualify if they have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or above. They must have already completed high school or a GED test.

Applications are available during education program office hours, room C231. Applicants must submit the following by Dec. 5, 1986:

—Completed application form

—One official transcript of grades from Parkland College (sealed)

—Two personal letters of reference from Parkland instructors (who have been their instructors)

—An original essay: "As a Teacher, How Can I Make A Difference?" (not to exceed 500 words)

Essays, transcripts, and completed applications must be given in person to Mary Lou Brotherson, C231, no later than Dec. 5, 1986.

Announcement of a winner will be made before the end of the semester. This is a $150 cash award.

Opportunity is knocking

To the Editor:

I wish to recommend to the editor the open opportunity for students to participate becoming more involved in their newspaper, the Parkland Prospectus. The paper, I am told, wants people to become more involved and active in all student activities, going after personal goals. To take control of your own future as responsibility gives you reliable attitudes toward all areas of your life. This also creates self-esteem. A good evaluation of your own life is how you judge others. Become involved in small things that the larger opportunities will become evident through time.

Fall enrollment up 1%

By JANE BALLEMBERGER for the Prospectus

A total of 8,061 persons are attending Parkland classes, up 1 percent over the fall semester last year, according to Jo Davis, director of Admissions and Records.

The total figure is equivalent to 4,047 full-time students (12 credit hours), which is .4 percent higher than last year.

Eighty-nine percent of those enrolled are residents, 10 percent are out of state, and 1 percent are international students.

One-third of the students are continuing, one-third are new, and one-third are returning, Davis said.

Approximately 55 percent of the students are women.

She said the biggest problems faced by the office are people waiting until the last minute to register and students thinking that just because they stop going to a class, they have dropped it. In the latter case, the student must report to Admissions and Records for a withdrawal.

This year, Parkland speeded up registration by allowing part-time students to reserve classes ahead of time without advanced payment.

Spirit Committee takes new name

By MELANIE CHRISTY for the Prospectus

The Parkland Spirit Committee met earlier today at which time a new and permanent name was voted on. The Spirit Committee will now be known as the "Cobra Connection."

Anyone interested in helping with various events should come to the next meeting.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 11 a.m. in X150.

Do you realize that only 242 Parkland students voted in last week's Student Government elections?

That's right. Two hundred forty-two students. Out of over five thousand students on the campus. That means that less than five percent voted. Why?

One reason may be because most students don't know what Student Government (StuGo) does. The purpose of StuGo is explained below in an excerpt from the Student Association Constitution:

Article IV—

Student Government (Senate)

Section 1—The Student Association, to facilitate the administration of student affairs, establishes the Student Government (Senate) of Parkland College and delegates to it authority to act in behalf of the student body. All powers, unless granted to the Student Government in the constitution, are retained by the Student Association.

Section 2—The Student Government (Senate) shall be composed of students elected by the membership of the Student Association.

Section 3—The Senate shall consist of 10 senators, the president, vice-president, and treasurer. The presiding officer of the Senate shall be the president.

Section 4—All members of the Senate must maintain a grade point average of not less than 2.0 for the previous semester and/or cumulative grade point average, if previously enrolled at Parkland College. The Senators and officers shall enroll and successfully complete not less than 8 credit hours while holding office each semester, excluding the summer session.

Section 5—The Senate may enact legislation or take action by resolution:

A. To foster and promote a campus atmosphere conducive to high academic achievement and high standards of citizenship.

B. To establish standards for extending and withdrawing recognition and insuring financial accountability of student organizations.

C. To develop student spirit and loyalty to the College and maintain traditions in keeping with the high purposes of the College.

D. To further friendly communication and fellowship among students and the College Association.

E. To guide and govern the program, policies and activities of standing and special committees.

F. To insure integrity and sound business practice in the expenditure of funds.

G. To establish and govern the activities of committees considered necessary for expediting its duties and responsibilities.

H. To exercise the Senate's privilege of overriding a presidential veto by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Senate in attendance. Upon a two-thirds affirmative vote, the vetoed measure becomes law.

I. To abide by the policies, procedures, and resolutions of the College governing body.

Section 6—The senators shall elect, by two-thirds vote, a senior senator from among the senators. The senior senator shall perform all duties and responsibilities of the vice-president during the absence of the vice-president; during illness of the vice-president; or on any occasion when requested to do so by the vice-president. Upon election, the senator shall serve in this capacity for the remainder of his or her elected term as senator.

Another excuse I heard was that "I'm not eligible to vote in Student Government elections because I'm not a full-time student." All students are eligible to vote as stated in Article III of the Student Association Constitution.

A student currently enrolled at Parkland College shall be a member of this Association with full voting privileges.

Section X also states:

Section 1—All members of the Student Association may vote in any election concerning the total Student Association.

Section 2—All officers and senators shall be elected by plurality vote.

Section 3—Elections shall be held during the fourteenth week of the spring semester to fill any vacancies (officer or senator). Those elected shall assume office at the next regularly scheduled Senate meeting and shall serve until a similar date the following year.

Section 4—Elections shall be held during the fourth week of the fall semester to fill any vacancies (officer or senator). Those elected shall serve until a similar date the following year.

Section 5—Elections shall be held during the second or third week of the spring semester to fill any vacancies (officer or senator). Those elected shall assume office immediately and shall serve until a similar date the following year.

Section 6—A student may not be a candidate for more than one position on the Student Government . . .

A third excuse heard was "My vote won't count." WRONG! The difference between second and fifth place was less than TEN votes. If only ten more students voted, three senator positions would have new holders. And if that isn't enough to convince you to vote in the next StuGo election, a true story should be told.

In the Pennsylvania House of Representatives election of Nov. 7, 1978, 17,102 people voted. The official tally showed both Republican D. Moul and Democrat K. Cole tied at 8,551 votes apiece. With the two candidates tied, the number of democrats and republicans in the House was also tied. With no clean majority, the Speaker of the House had to be determined by the flip of a coin. A recount later showed that the tally was in Coles' favor by fourteen points.

The whole point of this story is for the want of one (1) vote, nothing could be done in the state legislature for two weeks.

Next time—VOTE!

State Police visit campus

Illinois State Police display at Parkland.

By KEVIN ERB
Prospectus Staff Reporter
Did you ever dream of becoming a firefighter or a policeman when you were in elementary school? You were probably told by your parents that these jobs were too dangerous for you and that you should become a baker. If you always wanted to be a policeman and you were on campus last Wednesday or Thursday, you had your chance.

Two representatives from the Illinois State Police Academy were on campus on Wednesday, Sept. 14 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 6 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 15, speaking with students interested in becoming a member of the Illinois State Police.

What are the requirements for becoming a member of the State Police? To become a cadet, an applicant must:

—Be a citizen of the United States with no felony convictions

—Possess a valid Illinois driver's license

—Be 21 to 36 years of age, 20 years if applicant has successfully completed two years (60 semester hours, 90 quarter hours) of Law Enforcement studies at an accredited college or university.

The program the cadets go through is approximately sixteen weeks in length and is held at the Department of State Police Academy in Springfield, Ill. Cadets study a variety of topics in the Academy, including first aid, firearm operation, traffic law, hazardous materials, and physical training.

More information may be obtained by contacting S.A. Harold E. Nelson II, P.O. Box 155, Pesotum, Ill. 61863. The telephone number is 867-2211.

Vintage Champaign presents annual Grape Expectations

Shown here is one of the most popular events of Grape Expectations—the "grape stomping" contest. The event runs Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in Downtown Champaign.

By LORI RHODE
Prospectus Staff Reporter
Twenty-thousand people are projected to attend the seventh annual Grape Expectations which will be celebrated Sept. 25-27 in downtown Champaign.

Jean Rochford, executive director for the Vintage Champaign Council, told the Prospectus, "Grape Expectations has been listed in several calendars of events and we have had inquiries from as far as Detroit and Minneapolis."

Grape Expectations began in 1979 as an event organized by the Vintage Champaign Council to promote great expectations for downtown Champaign. "Our purpose is to stimulate the economic vitality of the downtown area," said Rochford.

The council creates incentives, such as Grape Expectations, to recruit developers. A project currently under proposal by developers is a central transportation center.

As a result of the demolition of the downtown mall and the reopening of Neil Street, this year Grape Expectations has been moved. The event will be held at the corner of Church and Neil, across from the old Bank of Illinois building.

Rochford added, "At the mall, water and electricity were readily available for the event, but with the construction it has cost more to get hookups and rent equipment. And it has taken more time to coordinate everything." Planning the event has also been a challenge because of the ongoing Neil Street construction.

Grape Expectations will kick-off on Thursday with a "Toast to Agriculture." Early birds can begin with the Farmer's Market opening at 8:00 and continuing until sellout. Thursday evening a Bartles & Jaymes Contest will be staged from 5:00 to 5:30, a square dance exhibition from 6 to 7, and a WLRW Lip Synch Contest from 7 to 9.

Music by Chanute AFB band and the Lincolnland Brass Quartet will play from 11:00 until noon and from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. During the noon hour the Scottish Bagpiper will play, followed by fiddler Allison Krass.

Friday's events are titled "A Toast to Sports and Leisure." Sports demonstrations of the day include Twai Kwon Do, Jazzercise, a WLRW Bankers' Tug of War from 12 to 12:30, and volleyball challenge games from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. by downtown teams.

Leisure activities include an arts and crafts fair, flea market, photography exhibits, and a Wine and Beer Garden from 11 in the morning until 10 that night, sponsored by the Champaign Co. Realtors. Other leisure events include Senior Citizen Activities from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., tethered hot air balloon rides by Garcia's from 4 to 7 p.m., an Architects' Downtown Sand Building Contest from 1 to 5 p.m., a Fish Fry by the American Legion Post 24 Color Guard from 5 p.m. to sellout, an Antique Car Parade and Show at 6 p.m., and a jitterbug contest at 8:30 during a "Dance Under the Stars," with music by the Has Beens from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Musical entertainment featured on Friday includes folk singer Theo Brown from 10 a.m. to noon, the Central High School Madrigal singers from 12:30 to 1 p.m., the Geritol Gang Kitchen Band from 1 to 1:30, banjo team Earl Roberts and Thad Bales from 1:30 to 3:30, the Parkland College Gold Company from 3:30 to 4, the Champaign Brass Quintet from 4 to 5, and Medicine 7, 8, or 9 from 5 to 7 p.m.

Saturday is titled "Toast to Family and the World." Events of the day include a 5K Race at the McKinley YMCA sponsored by radio station WDWS at 8 a.m., a WJTX Domino Pizza Making Contest from 1 to 2 p.m., WFTI's Bubble Gum Contest from 2 to 3 p.m., and the much anticipated National Grape Stomping Contest from 3 to 4 p.m. Spectators will be entertained by the Southland Gelatin Plunge from 4 to 5 p.m.

Saturday's musical entertainment will include Maria Dunatur playing ethnic music from 8 to 10, area high school bands at 10 o'clock, the Russian Orchestra Ensemble from 12:30 to 1:30, a German Sing Along with the Sauerkraut Band and Der Singende Rhinelander sponsored by the Attorneys' Title Guaranty from 2 to 4 p.m., McNamara's Irish band from 4 to 6, and the Steel Drum Band from 6 to 7 p.m.

Demonstrations of the day include the White Street dancers from 12 to 12:30, Hawaiian Dancers at 3 o'clock, and Twai Kwon Do at 5 p.m.

A variety of refreshments are available on Saturday. The Jaycees will have a Pancake Breakfast from 7:30 to 11. Barbecued beef will be cooked onsite sponsored by United Agriseeds from 11:00 to sellout, and the Champaign County Realtors will sponsor a Wine and Beer Garden from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Also a variety of food items will be served by vendors throughout the day.

Children's events on Saturday include Pluggy the Fire Station Robot from 9 a.m. to noon, Child ID sponsored by the Business and Professional Women from 9 to 1, mini-train rides from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Theo Ann Brown will play children's songs from 11 to 11:30 and again from 1:30 to 2:00. Also featured are ventriloquist Sandy McNeil at 11:30, juggler Ben Borkovitz at noon, Barkan the Magician at 12:30 and Toto the Clown from 2 to 5 p.m. Pony rides will be sponsored by the Illinois Foundation Seeds and Champaign County Seeds from noon to 4 p.m.

Other events featured on Saturday include a Living History Civil War Camp sponsored by Shelby Motors, an antique car show, a flea market, and photo exhibits. A Million Dollar Auction is slated for 10:30 to noon, and Carriage Ride Tours sponsored by Worden-Martin and the Preservation and Conservation Association from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

On all three days children will enjoy a Kiddie Carnival. Also a voter registration booth will be open on Thursday from 8 a.m. to noon and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on Saturday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Appearances will be made by a variety of characters including the Coors Beerwolf on Saturday.

Parking is free on all three days.

Emerson Quartet will appear Sunday, Sept. 28, at the Krannert. See story for details.

Emerson Quartet at Krannert

URBANA, Ill. — Building a reputation as "four young players who have welded themselves into a fine ensemble," the Emerson String Quartet will be appearing at the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. The performance is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 28, in the Foellinger Great Hall, with an early starting time of 7 p.m.

Members of the ensemble include Eugene Drucker, violin; Philip Setzer, violin; Lawrence Dutton, viola; and David Finckel, cello. Here is how one critic from The New York Times best describes the Quartet:

"Several things set the Emerson Quartet apart from other ensembles of its kind. To begin with, there is the group's vaunted democracy: Eugene Drucker and Philip Setzer trade off playing first and second fiddle (the violist Lawrence Dutton and the cellist David Finckel remain stationary). On a deeper level, however, the members of the Emerson manage to combine the rich, expansive emotionalism of groups such as the old Budapest, Busch and Flonzaley Quartets—"Schmaltz" in the best sense of the word—with the streamlined almost athletic, technical perfection we have come to expect in the era of tape splicing. The Emerson is a young ensemble, but already it is a great one."

The concert at Krannert Center will feature Quartet in G Major, Op. 54, No. 1 by Haydn; Quartet No. 6 (1935) by Bartok; and quartet in F Major, Op. 18, No. 1 by Beethoven.

Standard priced tickets for the Emerson String Quartet are $8, 7, 6; and $7, 6, 5 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are sold at the Krannert Center Ticket Office, 500 S. Goodwin Ave., Urbana. Ticket reservations and credit card sales may be made by calling 333-6280.

Brown Bag Luncheon

By NANCY J. SMITH
for the Prospectus

Mariann Ferber, U. I. professor of Economics, will discuss, "The Economics of Women, Men and Work" at the first Brown Bag luncheon at noon on Thursday, Sept. 18, in Room L141.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Office of Women's Studies and is open to all students.

The Brown Bag luncheon on Oct. 16 will feature State Rep. Helen Satterthwaite, who will discuss "Economic Justice for Women: Legislation That Helps Us."

A Career Planning Workshop is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 21, and will continue through Nov. 18. Two workshop sessions will be offered: noon through 2 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Students may register the first night of class in Rm. L141. The fee for this workshop is $15.

Film on Ukrainian famine

'Harvest of Despair' airs Sept. 24

In the 1930s, an event occurred in Ukraine that was hardly noticed in the Western press. While Josef Stalin traded millions of tons of wheat in Western markets, roughly one-quarter of the entire population of Ukraine starved to death. It is a tragedy called the forgotten holocaust.

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of this period, the Ukrainian Famine Research Committee produced a film entitled "Harvest of Despair." "Firing Line Special Edition: Harvest of Despair," airing Wednesday, Sept. 24 (tonight) at 8 p.m. on WILL-TV/Channel 12, examines this point-of-view film and its claims of Russian genocide in Ukraine during 1932-33. William F. Buckley, Jr., and his guests Christopher Hitchens of the Nation, Robert Conquest of the Hoover Institute and author of the upcoming "Harvest of Sorrow: Collectivization and the Terror Famine," and Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times view and discuss the documentary, which maintains Stalin starved more than seven million Ukrainians to death during the early 1930s.

"Firing Line Special Edition: Harvest of Despair," also talks about why all three commercial television networks and several major public television stations refused to broadcast "Harvest of Despair." The presentation opens with a panel discussion about the decision-making process of program scheduling in the television industry, followed by the screening of "Harvest of Despair" in its entirety, and concludes with the panel of writers discussing and analyzing the film.

The 55-minute "Harvest of Despair" probes the consequences of the Ukrainian nation's struggle for greater cultural and political autonomy in the 1920s and 1930s. Through archival footage, the film details the results of Stalin's attempts to break the Ukrainian nationalist spirit. "Harvest of Despair" offers eyewitness accounts by survivors of the man-made famine, as well as commentary by former Soviet General Petro Grigorenko, British journalist Malcolm Muggeridge, present Ambassador and then German Attache in Moscow Johann Von Herwarth, and then German Consul in Ukraine Andor Hencke.

"Harvest of Despair" examines why so little is known about the Ukrainian famine. Highly critical of the Western press and other "liberals," the film charges the press with failing to report the event accurately or to protest Stalin's policies. The film contends a campaign of concealment was perpetuated by world statesmen such as Edward Herriot, Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist, and celebrities such as George Bernard Shaw. Singling out New York Times Moscow correspondent Walter Duranty, the filmmakers say Duranty deliberately suppressed the story in print while admitting privately that the famine caused over 10,000 deaths. The film maintains that even the democratic governments of the Depression-hit West remained silent over Soviet Russia's atrocities in order to continue trading.

In 1985, "Harvest of Despair" won seven awards at national and international film festivals. These include the first prize at the Houston International Film Festival in the Government and World Relations category; the Chris Statuette award at the Columbus International Film Festival in Social Documentary category; and both gold and grand awards at the International Film and TV Festival in New York.

"Firing Line Special Edition: Harvest of Despair" is produced by the National Review magazine and is made possible by the Essex Chemical Corporation and public television stations. Producer/director: Warren Steible. The program is distributed by the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS).

MTD drivers at state

Champaign-Urbana Mass Transit District was recently the host of the Illinois State Bus Operator's and Mechanic's Rodeo. The competition included participants from transit systems throughout the State of Illinois including Chicago and the suburbs. The host property did exceptionally well in this State competition.

MTD mechanics Mike Aper, John Elder, and Thomas Franks placed first in the State-wide mechanic's competition. Elder was a member of last year's team which placed second Statewide.

MTD bus operator Allen Duerksen also made a good showing as he placed second in the Bus Operator's Rodeo. MTD Managing Director Bill Volk stated, "A good organization must have quality employees in all phases of the operation. I think our mechanics winning this type of competition coupled with a second place showing among the State's bus operators by Duerksen shows just that."

Champaign-Urbana MTD has held a local Rodeo for the past nine years.

Ski Club to meet

By MARY DeSCHEPPER
for the Prospectus

Beginning skiers are welcome to join the Parkland College Ski Club which will meet on Thursday, Sept. 25, in room X258, Tony Nichols, president says.

The club is planning three trips, one a seven-day outing, perhaps to Jackson Hole. The other two trips will be local, and the members will decide where they will go.

These trips usually cost around $70 to $100 each, depending on location and time. There are no dues or fees for club membership.

Jessye Norman in concert at Krannert Center

URBANA, Ill. — World renowned soprano, Jessye Norman, will be appearing at the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, University of Illinois, Thursday, Oct. 2, in Foellinger Great Hall. The performance will begin at 8 p.m.

The program will include Wie hebt und senkt musik der Selle Flug, Lascia ch'io Pianga, Dank sei Dir, Herr, Sommi Dei by Handel; Allerseelen, Morgan, Befreit, Ach Lieb, ich muss nun scheiden, and Kling! by Strauss; Cinq Melodies Populaires Grecques by Ravel; and Five Songs on Poems by Mathilde Wesendank by Wagner.

Born in Augusta, Ga., Norman made her operatic debut in 1969 at the Deutsche Oper, Berlin as Elisabeth in Tannhauser. Two years later, at the Berlin Festival, she sang the Countess in Le Nozze de Figaro. Her extraordinary talent was quickly recognized, resulting in countless invitations for concert, recital, and television appearances.

After several years devoted primarily to recitals in sold-out houses, Jessye Norman returned to opera. Her Metropolitan Opera debut opened the Met's 100th anniversary season in 1983. She returned to the Met later that year to sing the role of Jocasta in Stravinsky's Oedipus Rex.

Honors bestowed upon the multi-talented soprano include Musical America's "Musician of the Year" award for 1982, honorary doctorates of music from Howard University and the Boston Conservatory, and the title "Commandeur de l'Ordre des Arts et des Lettres" invested by the French Government in 1984. Here is how one critic described Norman in concert:

"Jessye Norman strode on stage yesterday afternoon in a magnificent silken cloudscape of a gown. And then she began to sing with the kind of voice that also spans the skies."

BE THERE

When the Foellinger Great Hall becomes a Giant Time Machine!

Travel back in time to the early 19th Century and listen to Beethoven's sonatas as an audience member in his day might have heard them played.

Transformations: un-Disney type stories

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The Illinois Repertory Theatre opens its fall season tonight with a dramatization of Anne Sexton's "Transformations."

Adapted and directed by University of Illinois speech communication professor Joanna Maclay, the performance begins at 8 p.m. in the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts.

The show's eight-woman cast will perform 14 of the 17 stories included in the Pulitzer Prize-winning poet's 1971 collection of prefaced prose pieces.

Although "Transformations" is based on such familiar fairy tales as Little Red Riding Hood and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Sexton's interpretations are a far cry from the innocent bedtime stories we remember from childhood, Maclay said.

"The stories are very un-Disney," she said, noting that they are definitely intended for adult audiences.

The production, Maclay said, is an examination of "a culture and its myths—especially the myths of courtship, marriage, beauty, motherhood and goodness—as they have been passed down and absorbed by generations."

The poet takes "a realistic approach to the tales and updates them by using mid-20th century language and images pulled out of our culture," Maclay said.

For example, when the incredibly naive Snow White answers the door and lets the evil queen in for the third time, Sexton refers to her as a "dumb bunny." Other stories are sprinkled with references to Muzak, Johnny Carson, Chuck Wagon dog food, Bonwit Teller and the Boston Symphony.

Maclay, who is nationally known for her oral interpretation talents, is no stranger to Sexton's work. Her one-woman show based on the poet's published works and personal correspondence has been performed on stages throughout the country.

Performances of "Transformations" are scheduled for 8 p.m., Sept. 24-26 (Wednesday-Friday); 5 and 8:30 p.m., Sept. 27 (Saturday), and 3 p.m. Sept. 28 (Sunday).

Tickets for the Studio Theater workshop production are on sale at the Krannert Center for $5 or can be purchased by calling the ticket office at 333-6280. A $1 discount is available for students and senior citizens.

AHAUNTING PORTRAIT

of a Troubled American War Hero — Ulysses S. Grant

Cold Harbor is based on the life of the Civil War's greatest hero, Ulysses S. Grant. The play places the famous American general's enormous successes and monumental failures, his brilliance and his nightmares, within the context of a contemporary historical museum.

Originally developed by Mabou Mines, Cold Harbor premiered at the Public Theater in New York City, as a co-production of Mabou Mines and the New York Shakespeare Festival with Joseph Papp as producer. Known for their innovations, Mabou Mines has created twenty-six new works in theater, radio, holography, video, and film.

One performance only! Tuesday, October 7 at 8 pm in the Festival Theatre, Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Standard prices are $9, 8 / Student & Senior Citizen prices are $8, 7. For tickets call 217-333-6280.

Parkland Choral Union presents 'I'll Always Be in Love with You'

Lincoln Square in Urbana was the setting for the last performance of the summer of '86 for Parkland's Choral Union, under the direction of Sandra Cabot, a member of the Parkland faculty.

Friday night's performance at the Square marked the sixth summer concert by the group, who have become very popular in the Twin Cities, as well as surrounding communities in the past few months. Entitled "I'll Always Be in Love with You," the program featured love songs of fifty years and was dedicated to Pearl and Red Chabot.

Congratulations, Choral Union; Parkland College and the Prospectus salute you!

Public Television presents 'Managing Our Miracles: Health Care in America'

The explosion of medical knowledge in recent decades has provided doctors with the means to take a more aggressive approach to health care. Premature babies weighing as little as 500 grams now have a good chance of survival; the ravages of aging can be held off with medical treatment and drugs; and a diseased organ can be replaced by a donor organ, or in some cases, an artificial one. But this new technology also has a price.

"Managing Our Miracles: Health Care in America," a 10-part series premiering Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 9 p.m. on WILL-TV/Channel 12, examines some of the dilemmas created by modern medicine. Leading medical experts debate these issues with representatives of the legislature, the courts, and the media. Prominent legal scholars lead the panels, using the Socratic method of question and answer to illicit clear and concise responses. Veteran journalist Fred W. Friendly hosts the series.

Topics ranging from doctor-patient confidentiality and malpractice to organ transplants and health care financing are presented in the 10 programs through hypothetical case studies. Panelists include prominent surgeons Michael DeBakey and William Devries, Colorado Governor Richard Lamm, ABC news correspondent Ted Koppel, and Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun.

In "Truth and Confidences," a physician's responsibility to tell patients the truth about their medical condition is addressed as well as the question of confidentiality. Justice Blackmun, Dr. Willard Gaylin of the Hastings Center, and other experts struggle over the legal and ethical questions involved. Harvard Law School professor Arthur R. Miller leads this discussion, and also moderates a debate on the agonizing problem of child abuse and a physician's responsibility to inform the authorities about suspected cases in a later episode titled "Battered Child, Battered Trust."

The case of two college students, one a victim of a fatal car accident and the other desperate for an organ donation, is the hypothetical premise of "Transplants: A Second Chance at Life." U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, ABC news correspondent George Strait, and Senator Albert Gore, Jr., of Tennessee are among the guests and Benno C. Schmidt, Jr., president of Yale University, is the moderator.

Schmidt also guides the discussion on "The Human Heart Machine," which focuses on medicine's latest technological achievement — the artificial heart. Dr. William Devries, the surgeon who performed the first artificial heart implants, and Dr. Robert Jarvik, inventor of the Jarvik-7 heart, are among the panelists.

Ice Capades return to Assembly Hall in October

If "variety is the spice of life," then the all-new edition of Ice Capades, "HOORAY FOR ICE," is a well-seasoned show! From the thrilling performances of World Professional and Canadian Champion Ron Shaver, to rib-tickling comedy, Ice Capades offers a cornucopia of fun for the whole family. The U of I Assembly Hall will host the show Tuesday through Sunday, Oct. 8-12.

Saluting all of the great entertainment capitals of the world, Ice Capades provides a "Journey through Show Biz." Cabaret dancers... great ballet Broadway Stage... and the glamour of Hollywood are all represented, along with something very special for the young (and young-at-heart): the live, in-person debut of the Snorks. After two years on NBC-TV Saturday morning cartoons, the fun-loving underwater Snorks will skate into town, presenting an adventure of the submarine sort. A quest for pearls in Oyster Bay leads the deep-sea school of Snorks in an attempt to "out-Snork" a scary monster and other outlaws of the sea.

Ice Capades has earned a sterling reputation for presenting the greatest professional figure skaters in the world. Ron Shaver, in the role of Master of Ceremonies, is joined by Canadian Ice Dance Champions Lorna Wighton and John Dowling, the amazing Janet Lee, lovely Rumanian soloist and World Professional Champion Simone Grigorescu, and new Canadian soloist David Nikel. Almost 100 entertainers round-out the cast, which also includes the comic interpretations of Tommy Miller, and the hilarious hi-jinks of "The Diving Fool" Don Otto. Miller presents a stylized comic interpretation; in so doing, he proves himself to be both an accomplished figure skater and a true "actor" on the ice. Don Otto, former U.S. trampoline champion and a member of the U.S.A. Professional High Diving Team, draws gales of laughter as the Titan of the trampoline.

Embellished by a multi-million-dollar display of computerized lighting effects, fireworks, illusions, and featuring the famously flamboyant Ice Capades wardrobe, "HOORAY FOR ICE" is the entertainment highlight of the year.

The show opens with "Star-skate, Show Biz on Ice," a colorful, upbeat introduction to the performance that follows. The Snorks are next, followed by the dramatic "Ravel's Bolero" providing an unusual opportunity to enjoy balletic skating routines, uniquely choreographed to one of the world's most recognizable and popular musical scores. "Voila, the Showgirl!" presents a parade of beautiful chorines in a cabaret setting; the "The Spirit of the Waltz" is a showcase for the world-famous Ice Capades flyers.

In "Tap Your Troubles Away," Broadway cuties and Times Square toe-tappers remind us of the nerve-wracking auditions that each show-business hopeful experiences as he awaits his "big break." "The Chiller" is a surrealistic on-ice version of the popular rock-video craze; and "Rhythms for the Now Generation" features the Ice Capettes and Ice Cadets who execute complex patterns on the ice.

Costumed in elaborate, electrified blue and silver capes, the cast brings the show to a fabulous finale in "Starshine," as the show concludes in a rainbow of color and light.

The Greatest Stars on Ice are in Ice Capades; and, they're skating into the Assembly Hall with the greatest family show on ice ever conceived.

Tickets are on sale at the Assembly Hall and Illini Union ticket offices in Champaign and at Braden Auditorium, Illinois University, Normal. Mail orders are accepted and tickets also may be telecharged on Visa, MasterCard and American Express credit cards. Prices are $8.50, $7.50, $6.50 and $5.50 with special prices for UIUC students, youth and groups at selected performances.

Opening night, Wednesday, Oct. 8, is News-Gazette Night with all tickets half regular price. Call 333-5000 for ticket information.

Be a D.J. on WPCD

By KENNETH J. DAVIS
Prospectus Staff Reporter
Have you ever wanted to be a disc jockey?

It sure would be fun to spin records and talk to lots of people, right?

All of this is possible for any Parkland student who is interested enough to go through a little training. All one need do is sign up for COM 151 to learn the skills necessary to pick up an airshift on Parkland's very own radio station, WPCD.

WPCD operates on a frequency of 88.7 megahertz and broadcasts 3,300 watts of power. It has a top thirty format similar to that of WLRW radio, and the airshifts are staffed completely by Parkland students.

WPCD is managed by Dan Hughes and the director of broadcasting is Steve Brown.

Chief Engineer Rich Furr and Gerald Brock, the news and public affairs director, round out the station faculty.

The class is given in both morning and evening versions and includes the lessons and tests required for a job at a commercial radio station, such as the Standard Operating Procedure test and the FCC Exam, as well as an examination on how to run the transmitters and read their meters.

The mail-in for the FCC license takes only a few weeks, and enables one to operate a radio station for the duration of your lifetime. Anyone who may be interested in attending this class should look for COM 151 in the communications section of next spring's class catalogue or talk to Hughes at the radio station, located in room R120.

Weavings featured in Art Gallery show

Weavings are currently on display in the Parkland Art Gallery.

Dot Replinger, local artist and weaver, considers weaving a form of "painting with fiber." She manipulates woven strips, as indicated in the above photo, to form wall pieces. The finished pieces are colorful, three-dimensional in feeling, and can be arranged to fit different situations and spaces.

"Weavings by Dot Replinger" will be on exhibit at the Parkland Art Gallery through Friday, Oct. 10. A "Meet the Artist" reception will be held Tuesday, Sept. 30, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., in the College Center Lounge, adjacent to the Gallery.

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Monday through Thursday, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Parkland has Placement Office—

On-campus jobs available

By LORAIN RHODE
for the Prospectus

"About 60 percent of Parkland's students work while they're here," Russ Mills, placement counselor, says.

Students work in a variety of jobs on and off campus. The jobs which are in highest demand are on-campus positions ranging from lab monitors to clerical assistants. Roughly 250 student part-time positions exist on campus throughout the year.

On-campus jobs are popular with students because of the flexibility of scheduling and the convenience of being close to classes. Unfortunately, demand far outstrips the supply of student workers. To qualify for these positions, a student must carry a minimum 12 hour course load and can work a maximum 20 hours per week. The fall semester seems to be the time when many students scramble for these jobs. However, openings occur throughout the year.

By far the majority of students work off campus. Mills said, "Parkland students are in demand by employers because they tend to be a little more responsible than some other students. They are accustomed to supporting themselves and usually have their own transportation."

Many local employers call the Placement Office with job openings, and the Office posts these near the Counseling Center. Job opportunities are also announced in the "Out There" bulletin, which is printed on a weekly basis and is available at many pick-up points on campus. The Prospectus also runs the "Out There" bulletin in its classified section.

Each week, the Placement Office contacts employers to confirm whether jobs have been filled. "Many times when we call back employers they will not only tell us about filling job openings, but give us new job announcements," Mills said. Frequently, students spread news of job openings from their employers. Mills said, "Students are by far our most successful messengers concerning job openings where they work."

Prairie Week Sept. 21-27—

Prairie State needs prairie people

By JIM ZIMMERMAN
for the Prospectus

Editor's Note: This is the first in a two-part series on the Illinois prairie. Prairie Week 1986 is Sept. 20-27.

If the tallgrass prairie habitat is to survive, Illinois citizens must get involved in the effort to preserve and restore this endangered habitat. Once yielding 37,000 square miles of prairie habitat, Illinois was named the "Prairie State." Now there is less than 3 square miles of original prairie remaining. The vast prairie of Northern Illinois was a part of the enormous expanse of Grand Prairie that stretched from the Wabash River to the Mississippi. It took nature 12,000 years to create this natural meadow and less than 180 years for man to destroy it. This man-environmental collision is the result of agriculture, population and industrial growth, the introduction of chemicals to the ecosystem and poor land management.

When pioneer settlers came to Illinois they soon discovered the great agricultural potential that existed in the state. The soils beneath the prairie were the richest in the world. There was only one problem. The complex root system of the prairie meshed together and penetrated 5 to 7 feet beneath the ground. This hampered large-scale farming until the 1850's. The steel plow was invented and the farmer was able to sever the roots of the tallgrass prairie, thus turning over the rich prairie loams. Cash crops were planted, primarily corn. Where corn and vegetables were not grown, cattle grazing was permitted. This further reduced prairie habitat.

During the 1940's, herbicides and pesticides use began. These chemicals are still being used today on crop fields, along highways and along railroad right-of-ways, further reducing prairie habitat. The ditches along highways and the land running parallel to the railroad systems were sanctuaries for the surviving remnants of the original prairie. Too often, prairie is destroyed because the prairie habitat is mistaken for weeds. Prairie plants are not weeds. Weeds come from river bottoms and were introduced from other habitats. Weeds replaced the bare ground exposed by plowing. Prairie plants need a firm bedding and do not take root well in plowed ground.

Champaign and surrounding counties had a unique prairie habitat called the wetland tallgrass prairie. This habitat of Central Illinois is not duplicated anywhere in the world.

Central Illinois' leading authority on prairie restoration, David Monk, founder and director of Educational Resources in Environmental Science, (ERES), located in Champaign, believes it is vital to preserve and restore this unique wetland tallgrass prairie habitat because it plays an important role in global ecosystems. Intensive studies of prairie habitat in the 60s and 70s reveal prairie habitats can contain more life than any other habitat in the United States. Studies on prairies have found over 300 kinds of birds, 18,000 types of insects and over 80 different types of mammals. Each week between March and October, seventeen varieties of flowers come into bloom.

The prairie is an important genetic pool that may be valuable in the future. Certain types of prairie plants have been known to survive 7 year droughts. These plants may aid the development of drought resistant food crops. Other prairie plants have the capability of controlling weeds that are harmful to cash crops. For decades scientists have gone to Africa, South America and other remote sections of the earth in search for plants that have medicinal value. According to Monk, certain prairie plants located in Central Illinois may provide medicines in the future. Unfortunately, many prairie plants have become extinct and we will never know what medicinal value they possessed.

Restoration of prairie habitat could have positive effects for Illinois. Dave Monk, in an interview with the Chicago Tribune, said, "Illinois roads are sterile. If the landscape were more attractive, perhaps out-of-state travelers would plan their travels through Illinois." This could generate capital for Illinois businessmen.

If the tallgrass prairie is to survive, action must be taken by the Illinois citizenry. There are several ways an individual may get involved in prairie restoration.

One way is for landowners and corporate bodies with vast lawn areas to quit mowing and restore the land back to natural prairie. General Electric saved money and energy by using prairie habitat opposed to a nearby lawn comprised of bluegrass that cost $1000 per acre to produce. Studies from the University of Georgia reveal that park departments around the country spend $500 per acre for lawn maintenance and those with prairie habitat spend less than $50 in maintenance fees.

Central Illinois is fortunate to have two non-profit organizations that are dedicated to preserving and restoring prairie habitat. If one is concerned about the current state of our endangered prairie, contact: ERES, 115 N. Market St., Champaign, and Grand Prairie Friends of Illinois, P.O. Box 36, Urbana 61801. These two organizations are responsible for preserving and restoring many acres of tallgrass prairie habitat in the Central Illinois area. ERES and the Grand Prairie Friends of Illinois need financial and volunteer assistance, so give your support!

The State of Illinois Departments of Conservation and Transportation are showing enthusiasm in preserving and restoring prairie habitat. The Transportation Department and ERES are working together and have introduced prairie habitat along the interstates surrounding Parkland College. These restored areas will serve as seed pools for future restoration projects.

Last year, Illinois taxpayers had the opportunity to contribute to prairie restoration by checking line 11b on their Illinois state income tax return. This donation went towards the preservation and research of non-game wildlife. Prairie preservation and education are the primary goals of this fund. Illinois has less than 500 prairie chickens remaining in the wild and the Illinois Conservation Department will restore prairie habitat utilizing this donation. This is a worthwhile cause for it is essential for this bird's survival.

The vast majority of the Illinois citizenry are unaware of the endangered status of the prairie and few people can identify prairie plants for the simple fact that for the last five generations, corn and soybeans have dominated our landscape. Certainly cash food crops have priority over prairie plants, but to completely eradicate our prairie habitat is not only unnecessary but would be a tragedy. We have thousands of miles of roadside ditches and waterways that can be restored to prairie habitat.

In restoring the tallgrass prairie, not only would we be restoring an endangered habitat, but would also be restoring our pride knowing we have made an attempt to give our great state of Illinois a more aesthetic pleasing landscape and making our home a healthier and more energy efficient place to live. Let us give a hand and give Illinois back what we have taken from her, the tallgrass prairie.

Honeywell essay contest offers $30,000 in prizes

MINNEAPOLIS — Sept. 15 Honeywell launched its fifth annual Futurist Awards Competition, an essay contest that asks students to predict technology advancements 25 years from now.

Honeywell wants college students to imagine the year 2011 and write essays about the technological developments they foresee. This year's contest offers 10 winners $3,000 each and the chance to work for Honeywell next summer.

Last year, 450 students, representing 325 colleges and universities in 47 states, entered the competition.

The contest is open to all full-time students at any accredited college in the United States. Students are asked to leap 25 years in the future and write an essay predicting developments in one of six technological areas: electronic communications, energy, aerospace, computer science, manufacturing automation or office automation. A second essay must address the societal impact of the technological predictions. Each essay must be no longer than 1,500 words.

Students can receive contest rules by writing Futurist Rules, Honeywell Telemarketing Center, Honeywell Plaza MN12-4164, Minneapolis, MN 55408, or calling toll free 1-800-328-5111, ext. 1581. Requests for entry material must be received by Dec. 31, 1986.

Completed essays must be postmarked no later than Jan. 31, 1987. In February, a panel of top Honeywell scientists and engineers will judge the essays on the basis of creativity, feasibility, clarity of expression and legibility.

Winners will be announced in early March, and each of the 10 winners will receive a two-day, all-expense-paid trip to Honeywell headquarters in Minneapolis.

MATH CLUB CONTEST

Calculators for Prizes

Questions:

- Not far off shore a ship stands with a rope ladder hanging over her side. The rope has 10 rungs. The distance between each rung is 12 inches. The lowest rung touches the water. The ocean is calm. Because of the incoming tide, the surface of the water rises 4 inches per hour. How soon will the water cover the third rung from the top rung of the rope ladder?
- An idler sighed: "Everyone says, 'We don't need idlers. You are always in the way. Go to the devil!' But will the devil tell me to get rich?"
No sooner did the idler say this than the devil himself stood in front of him.
"Well," said the devil, "the work I have for you is light, and you will get rich. Do you see the bridge? Just walk across and I will double the money you have now. In fact, each time you cross I will double your money."
"You don't say!"
"But there is one small thing. Since I am so generous you must give me $24 after each crossing."
The idler agreed. He crossed the bridge, stopped to count his money... a miracle! It had doubled.
He threw $24 to the devil and crossed again. His money doubled, he paid another $24, crossed a third time. Again his money doubled, but now he had only $24, and he had to give it all to the devil. The devil laughed and vanished.
How much money did the idler start with?
- Given that $x > 0$ and $(\ln x)^2 + \ln x^3 - \ln x^2 = 3 \ln x$, find to the nearest thousandth the sum of roots of the above equation.

Rules:

- An entrant must be a Parkland student. You need not be a math club member to enter.
- Submit entries to Dr. James W. Hall, M217 by Friday, Oct. 3, 12:00 noon. No exceptions.
- Answers must be neat and include the logic needed to explain your answer.
- Those who miss question 1 are automatically eliminated.
- Remaining qualifiers will be eliminated if question 2 is missed.
- Question 3 will only be considered if questions 1 and 2 are answered correctly.
- Decisions of the judges will be final.
- Any ties may be settled by an additional question at the math club meeting on prize day.
- Solutions to these questions will be given at the math club meeting.

Your Horoscope

By MELANIE CHRISTY
Prospectus Staff Reporter

ARIES—(March 21-April 19)—A relationship will stabilize when both of you can sit down and really communicate. Interesting parts of both of your backgrounds will reveal you have common areas. Your career will also pick up at this time. Look to others for advice in financial matters. Great week in store for you.

TAURUS—(April 20-May 20)—Keep your thoughts under control. Keep a level head during minor disagreements. Your temper needs to lead others. Time to make a major purchase that you have been putting off. There will be no way to avoid the purchase at this time. Everything will work out in the long run.

GEMINI—(May 21-June 21)—Look at things with an open mind, don't go into a discussion with a negative outlook. You will gain a better insight to others and their feelings, which will help you at a later date. Express your feelings in a professional manner and you will be tolerated as well.

CANCER—(June 22-July 22)—A time of crisis may be upon you soon. Turn to your friends who are Aries or Leo, for they will play an important part in your recovery. Travel plans should be rescheduled at this time. Something closer to home needs your immediate attention. Keep your eyes and ears open.

LEO—(July 23-August 23)—Time to get on with new projects in your life. You need a change in scenery as well. A walk in the park or a drive in the country may be all it takes to lift your spirits. A friend from the past has been in your thoughts lately, a call from this person is likely before the year is out.

VIRGO—(August 24-September 22)—Gather 'round all your friends—it's time for a party. Now that summer is nearly over this may be your last chance to throw one of those great parties you are known for. All your friends have been wondering when you would return to your normal partying self. Don't let them down!!!

LIBRA—(September 23-October 23)—Work and its problems have been on your mind a lot lately. You can't decide if you want to change jobs or ride out the current problem. Your best advice may come from an unexpected source. Be listening to what is going on around you, or you might just miss the answer.

SCORPIO—(October 24-November 21)—Emotions are skyrocketing around you, keep yours in check. You may be needed to help those around you adjust to an upheaval. Time will work in your favor, just have patience and calm will reign once again. Get involved with activities on campus to get your mind clear.

SAGITTARIUS — (November 22-December 21) — Don't let money problems stand in the way of friends and family. Look at the problem logically, then make a tactful decision, so that you remain on friendly terms. Social contacts are important to you at this time. But, who is really your friend???????

CAPRICORN—(December 22-January 19)—Additional traveling demands are made on you at this time. Go along with them; it could be beneficial to you in other ways. An important phone call affirms an early decision you made. Should be a good week for you until Friday. Be careful of what lurks on Fridays.

AQUARIUS—(January 20-February 18)—Don't jump to any hasty conclusions you may later regret. The explanation to the problem will seem hard to take at first, but once you have time to look at it objectively you will see you were wrong. Learn to apologize when you are wrong. Others will think better of you.

PISCES—(February 19-March 20)—Take on responsibility for your actions. No one forced you into doing anything against your will, so stop blaming others every time something goes wrong. A new love will enter your life in the latter part of the month. The length it lasts is up to you. BEWARE—you are your own worst enemy.

Women's volleyball team splits matches

By JOHN PARKS

Prospectus Staff Reporter
The Parkland College women's volleyball team split a pair of matches last Tuesday in a home dual match.

The Cobras started off the evening against Vincennes (Ind.) College. The visitors wasted little time in proving their superiority as they recovered from a slow start to top the Cobras in two straight games. Helped by an abundance of ballhandling errors committed by the hosts, Vincennes stretched a 5-4 lead into a comfortable 12-5 cushion. Parkland crept back to trail 12-8 on an ace by Simone Black, and then 12-9 on a Vincennes error.

Unfortunately, Black's next serve fell into the net and Vincennes took advantage to put the first game away. Points 13 and 14 came on service aces from Tracy Schuck, and the final point came later on yet another ace by Vincennes standout Rachel Poppe, who also had two kills in the game. Pamela Heger also tallied two kills for the visitors. The second game provided little excitement after the first ten points. The Cobras seemed to be more in control and were deadlocked with Vincennes at 5-5. Then, helped by a number of ballhandling errors, the visitors reeled off ten straight points to close out the first match.

Next up for Vincennes was Richland Community College, who turned in a very poor showing as they were swept away by the visitors from Indiana on straight games, 15-5, 15-0.

Fortunately, the Cobras came out and turned in a much-improved effort against Richland. The Cobras raced out to an 8-0 lead on the strength of the spectacular play of Simone Black. The freshman from Chicago tallied three spikes and also converted a tap to provide the Cobras with their eight-point cushion. Only a missed spike by Black stopped the momentum that helped the Cobras jump out so quickly. Richland gained a point on a service ace by Kelly Gross, but immediately lost possession after a missed spike by Donette Wagner.

The Cobras took over from there, allowing Richland only two more points as they coasted to an easy 15-3 decision, closing out the game on an ace by Jolene Llach, her second ace of the game.

The second game was a much closer affair as the Cobras found themselves down 2-10. The hosts clawed to within 5-10 behind two kills by Carol Cribbett, then trailed 7-12 before seizing the momentum necessary to mount a serious comeback attempt. A service by the Cobra's Linda Thielenhaus touched the hair of a Richland player to bring Parkland back to 8-12.

An ace by Thielenhaus and an error by Richland's Wagner made the score 10-12. After a Cobra error made the score 11-13, two spikes by Cribbett knotted the score at 13.

Richland took a one-point lead and a chance to win the game when Cribbett was called for being in the net, but Cribbett then spiked a Richland serve to regain the serve. Thielenhaus then converted a spike off the set of Llach to tie it up at 14-14.

Then the Cobras took a 15-14 lead on a tap by Thielenhaus, and finally completed the comeback when Llach's serve was too tough for a Richland player to hand.

Parkland's win over Richland enabled them to maintain a record in which they have neither won or lost two matches in a row. Coach Dorothy Wells links the record to a lack of unity. "We need to concentrate more on the team concept and not so much on individuality. That's one reason for our inconsistency."

In action Friday and Saturday, the Cobras managed to claim a third place finish in the Spoon River Invitational. After dropping two matches on Friday, Parkland bounced back to defeat host Spoon River 14-16, 15-4, 15-6 on the strength of strong play by freshman Black, who collected 15 kills in the match.

The Cobras also defeated Black Hawk, 15-2, 7-15, 15-12 before defeating Richland for the second time this week by the scores of 15-5, 15-6.

Fast Freddie Contest

Games of September 27

FAST FREDDY smilingly handed the results of last week's contest to the editorial staff of the paper Monday morning and reported that 55 entries were received before the deadline Friday at noon. There would have been more entries, but some were disqualified because of being submitted after deadline. "Get them ready earlier this week," Freddy said. "We want to hit 100 this week!"

With all 12 right, Mike Moody is in the spotlight this week as winner. There were two entries that missed only one. We're trying to get Freddy to make predictions for the Oct. 4 games, at which time Illinois will play at Ohio.

Hoping for 100, this is Freddy saying, "Good Luck to all!"

RULES

1. Everyone, off campus or on, except newspaper staff members, their families and Fast Freddie, is eligible.
2. This official entry blank must be used.
3. Only one entry per person will be accepted. Entries sent through the campus mail system will NOT be accepted. Entries must be brought to PROSPECTUS office (X155) in person or by U.S. Mail.
4. No individual can win the contest prize more than twice during the season.
5. All entry blanks are due in the PROSPECTUS office by 12 noon on the Friday before the games. No entries will be accepted after this time under any circumstances.
6. The winner will be announced in the following Wednesday's PROSPECTUS and will receive a cash prize of $5.
7. Check the team you think will win in each game. Pick a score for the tie-breaker game.
