

Orientation is key to retention

By Jennifer A. Olach
Newswriting I

Orientation procedures at Parkland have undergone a massive reorganization. The reason is the increased concern over student retention. Statistics show that no more than 60 percent of the students who enroll at Parkland in the Fall will return for the Spring semester. Parkland is becoming increasingly aware of the drop-out rate, and is changing the orientation for high school and new students.

In the past, high school students have received rather unorganized tours and have been bombarded with information. The high school student considering Parkland would come to a Parkland "sampler" or "success seminar," and take their tour and placement tests on the same day with a large group of other potential students. They would also receive information on registering, a college handbook, catalog, and time table. Many believed this was too impersonal and required the students to absorb too much in such a small amount of time.

Gina Cox, Parkland Admissions Representative, explains one reason for the new format. "What really excites people about education is the faculty members they happen to run into." She feels that the new format will show students who are considering Parkland that we are a personal college and that there is always someone there to help.

The campus visit for high school students has been changed to allow the student to receive a more personal visit. The program now includes the standard tour to orient the potential students with our campus, followed by a more specific departmental tour. The high-school students are split into five different groups, depending on their interest area, and are taken by an instructor who specializes in the field. The potential students may choose between: Arts, literature, and communications; business and business professions; natural science and health professions; mathematics, computer science, engineering and technology; and social sciences and services.

The tour is closed with a brief planetarium show. Cox says "We have a lot of wonderful supports and services here at Parkland, and one of the ways I see my job is to connect potential students into some of those services. We're trying to get people to access those services, people, and programs that can help them."

Cox is also concerned with follow-up on requests for information about Parkland if the recipient has not shown further interest. She explains, "We want to make sure we are making the best of those inquires by responding as best we can."

The Parkland Welcome Center, though new to the college, has been very successful. Since May 1400 people have been toured through the center. Pam Kleiber explains that the purpose of the Welcome Center is to give students and the public a place to go to learn more about the college. New students can be referred to advisors and counselors who can help plan schedules and explain the college as a whole.

Joan Gary, Director of the Education Planning Center, states, "Orientation is the first part of retention," this is the belief shared by all concerned. Gary would like to try and equalize the advisor-student ratio and produce a program to match a student's field of study with an advisor in the same field.

Alice Pfeffer, Vice President for Student Administration, agrees that all the ideas presented will help to increase student retention, although some of them may not be put in to effect right away.

Pfeffer also feels that offering Parkland students adequate housing and educational planning are two more important aspects of student retention.

She sums up by saying, "What we want to do is to show the students what we have at Parkland. We feel it is very easy because of our outstanding faculty and our outstanding programs. If we are able to place the student correctly and orient them to the college, then retention is almost a by-product."

Discovery Days are a wonder

By Emma M.S. Perez
Prospectus Staff Reporter

College for Kids is sponsoring "Discovery Days" for the 4th and 5th grade students in the Parkland 505 district. The events are being held here at Parkland throughout the month of November.

Discovery Days is a full day workshop which presents 2 or 3 exciting and challenging aspects of a single theme, and there are five different themes: Discover the Stars (creative drama and astronomy), Discover the Arts (painting, drawing and ceramics), Discover the Sciences (biology and chemistry), Discover Technology (micro computers and radio), and Discover the Arts and Science of Thinking (logic, problem solving and thinking games).

The cost of enrollment in any of the five themes is $30 per student, and is on a first come, first serve basis. This fee includes one theme, lunch, and materials.

The day begins at 9:00 a.m. and ends at 3:00 p.m. When the students arrive at Parkland they join together, with an instructor, to enter some interesting dimensions of the particular subject that they have enrolled for that day. Each class also has at least one instructional assistant, to increase the individualized attention and enhance the students experience of the theme. Lunch is provided after the first concept has been experienced, then the student is sent on to a new dimension of their discovery day, with new in-

For three weekends Parkland College has been the setting for "Discovery Days," a program for young people in District #505. Here, Chris Berti, a part-time instructor in Ceramics, works with two students in Discover the Arts. At left is Jennifer Carroll, age 9, and a student at Monticello's Lincoln School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Danny Carroll. At right is Amanda Crockett, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crockett. Amanda is also a student at Lincoln School. Berti reports there were 24 students in the Nov. 12 class. Another class was held last Saturday. Berti was assisted by Paul Britt, a master's student at the University of Illinois.

Most of the instructors who are teaching these themes are primarily Parkland faculty, although some are faculty members from the local public schools.

During their Discovery Day the kids meet new friends from around the district, learn new facts about new subjects, and experience "College for a day."

For November's Discovery

Days, 304 students have enrolled. Due to the great success of this program, Discovery Days will be repeated, for 4th and 5th graders, on Feb. 11, 25, and Mar. 4.

Board names consultant

The Parkland College Board of Trustees have announced that Dr. Richard F. Whitmore has been selected to conduct the review of the college. The search for a reviewer was fueled by a vote of confidence taken by both faculty and staff on Oct. 13, and which resulted in an overwhelming 65 percent no.

Whitmore, who will begin his review sometime this week, will be "serving and reporting exclusively to the Parkland Board," stated Board Chairman Harold Miller in a letter to the board. As the consultant, Whitmore will be given complete access to the personnel and records of Parkland.

"We sought and believe we have found a qualified experienced, unbiased, nationally recognized consultant in Dr. Richard F. Whitmore," said Miller.

Whitmore served 22 years as President of Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek, Mich., and is currently serving as President Emeritus. He is a member of the American Community College Trustees Association's Presidential Search Team, and he is President of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, an accrediting organization.

Student dinner was 'superb'

By Richard Cibelli
Newswriting I

Thursday Nov. 3, was a night of superb food and great entertainment as 100 or more students attended the annual Foreign Language Dinner at the Urbana Civic Center. Over 80 different dishes were served at the dinner including German sauerbraten and bratwurst, Mexican black beans and rice, and also French crepes. The Foreign Language Dinner originally started in the 70's. The first dinner was held at Orchard Downs, according to Eva Frayne, one of the coordinators of this year's dinner.

Once again the entertainment was provided by Pepi Lemmon, a local Flamenco dancer. In a beautiful yellow dress Pepi thrilled the audience with her movement. At one point during her show, Lemmon used a pair of castanets along with her background music to once again thrill those in attendance. Lemmon said that she first started to dance the Flamenco at the age of seven. She said that she loves to dance all of the time. Thursday night's dinner was the sixth time Lemmon had danced at the Foreign Language Dinner, and she added that she would like to do it again.

Also in attendance at the dinner was Chairman Of The Department Of Humanities Joe Harris. Harris said that he was surprised, and complimented the students for all their hard work. Harris added that there has been a tremendous increase in the Foreign Language programs this fall at Parkland.

As for myself, I can only say that the Foreign Language Students Dinner is a class affair. I look forward to next year, as do the students, when we can all have the pleasure of dining on superb food and enjoy such fine entertainment. Until then, Buen Appetito, Guten Appetit and Bon Appetit.

Carle unveils trauma plan

Carle Foundation Hospital, the state-designated Level I trauma center for this region, has received word from the Illinois Department of Public Health to begin putting together a coordinated regional trauma plan.

The regional plan draws together the efforts of all hospitals, ambulance companies and other providers in a 16-county region to provide the best possible, coordinated care for victims of serious accident or injury.

"The trauma center designations are the bricks used to build a good trauma system," said Carle trauma director Scott Norwood, MD, "but the regional plan is the cement that holds the whole system together."

Region 6 providers have six months to put a plan together. Carle officials say they intend to begin work immediately on the complex but important document. Regional trauma plans determine what types of injuries can be handled at different hospitals, and what rules need to be followed in the treatment and transfer of trauma patients.

"Illinois' new trauma system was basically modeled after the system put into place in the state of Maryland," Dr. Norwood said. "That state has a trauma mortality rate which is fully 20 percent lower than the national average. The point is, the type of coordinated effort we'll be striving for in this plan really does work, and really does make a difference," he added.

In a letter from IDPH, Division of Emergency Medical Services and Highway Safety Chief Leslie Stein-Spencer instructed Carle to include the following representatives on the Trauma Region Plan Committee: The Trauma Region's Level I Trauma Center Medical Director, The Trauma Region's Level II Center Medical Directors, The Project Medical Directors from all the EMS systems within the Trauma Region, The Project Medical Directors from all EMS systems outside the Trauma Region which transfer patients into the Trauma Region, Administrators of the Associate Hospitals of the EMS system of which the prehospital care provider is a part, Nursing Directors of the Associate Hospitals of the EMS system of which the prehospital care provider is a part.

Beyond the state-mandate individuals who must include in drawing up the regional plan, Carle officials say they'll be talking with paramedics, EMTs, trauma nurses and other professionals throughout the region who are involved in the delivery of trauma care.

"The beauty of the state's new system — and the thing that makes it such an improvement on the old system — is that every single person involved in trauma care in this region will be connected by this plan," Dr. Norwood said. "The paramedic at the scene of an accident and the trauma surgeon in the operating room will both be working from the same set of guidelines," he added.

November is time to plant tulip bulbs

Late October and early November are the suggested periods for planting tulip bulbs. Now's the time! Space clumps of bulbs every 6 to 12 inches. Include at least 8 to 10 bulbs in each clump to add greater beauty to the spring landscape. Bulbs should be planted 4 to 6 inches deep.

Dig and discard bulbs after about 3 years or when the flower size has noticeably become smaller. Always use new bulbs for replanting.

Tulips are one of many flowering bulbs that require little care and offer much beauty and pleasure in the spring.

Sunday, Oct. 30, between the hours of 11:00 p.m. and 12:30 a.m., residents of three Urbana-Champaign neighborhoods were awakened by loud explosions. It was determined that three explosive devices had been detonated at the following locations: a house in the 2100 block of Burlisson in Urbana, in a Pepsi machine at the Diana Food store at Lincoln Square in Urbana and a News-Gazette paper dispensing rack at the Eagle Food store at 2901 W. Kirby, Champaign.

Damage to the machines was extensive and indicated a powerful explosion. The explosion on Burlisson also indicated significant force.

At this time investigators do not know what type of explosive was used. Investigators are also seeking information on the person or persons involved in these explosions. Witnesses observed a newer model, tan color, pick-up truck leaving the area immediately following the explosion on Burlisson.

If you have any information, call either the Urbana or Champaign Police Department or Crimestoppers 373-TIPS.

Crimestoppers will pay you up to a $1,000 reward if your information leads to the arrest of the person responsible for this crime. Callers do not have to give their names. Cash rewards are also paid for information on other felony crimes or fugitives in the Champaign County area.

Campaign was disappointing

This was the first presidential election of my life. Really. Well, I'm not an American, but that's not the reason for such virginity. I'm from Brazil and that is the reason. The last time a president was elected by means of popular vote in Brazil was in 1960, when my Mom and Dad had not even met.

When I arrived in the United States last August I was excited with the prospect of following the campaign. Now that it's over I won't say I'm disappointed; but, somehow, I expected more. I expected discussions not only of national issues but also, and mainly, of world problems. Instead, I saw time being wasted with personal accusations. I saw both men trying to convince the electorate that they were the best choice just by saying, for instance: "America needs a man tough on drugs... and I'm this man!" How many times have we heard them saying this at full breath?

Just as important as the presidential election was the election of representatives and senators, but the media dedicated attention to this only when the votes were being counted.

As a journalist and a citizen of country where democracy is being restored, the freedom of the press could not pass unnoticed. Along with Lloyd Bentsen's, "Senator, you're no Jack Kennedy," the sentence I will keep will be a journalist asking George Bush, "What do you see in Dan Quayle that others don't?" This happened in the first debate, shown to millions.

There is no doubt about how important the American presidential election is for the world. It carries with it delicate and crucial issues in different areas. For Brazil, it is important due to the fact that the United States is our most important trade partner and main creditor. With a strong dollar we believe the interest rates will stay low, thus making it easier for us to pay (or try to) our 150 billion dollar external debt.

Another aspect that strikes and puzzles me is that there are only two candidates running for the Presidency. This is amazing, to say the least, in a multicultural, multilingual, multireligious, multi-everything country like the United States. Perhaps that's what makes people stay home on election day. If they don't find themselves identifying with either candidate, then why would they waste time voting? Unless a very charismatic candidate shows up in the future, the so-called minorities will continue to not vote.

Ruske to play Krannert Theater

URBANA, Ill.—Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, celebrates its Twentieth Anniversary Season by continuing its commitment to emerging young concert artists and those with roots in Illinois.

French hornist Eric Ruske, a native of LaGrange, Ill., and at age twenty-four a seasoned concert veteran, will perform in the Krannert Center's Festival Theatre on Sunday, Nov. 20, at 7 p.m.

Ruske made his New York recital debut in the Young Concert Artists Series at the 92nd Street Y in January, 1987, as a winner of the 1986 Young Concert Artists International Auditions, and he captured first prize in the 1987 American Horn Competition in Atlanta, Ga. Ruske has been the Associate Principal Horn of the Cleveland Orchestra since the age of twenty, as well as hornist with the Cleveland Octet, and he made his debut as soloist with the Cleveland Orchestra in February, 1988.

Comedian Rich Hall cancels

By Joe Sieben

Prospectus Staff Reporter
The Convocations entertainment presentation featuring comedian Rich Hall has been cancelled. Hall, whose credits include Saturday Night Live, Not Necessary the News, and Pizza Hut commercials, could not be reached for comment.

According to Robert Hall (no relation), Director of Convocations, the cancellation came soon after Rich Hall's manager called the box office and learned of the number of tickets that were sold. "We just didn't sell enough tickets," said Hall.

This is not the first time that too few tickets were sold for a show. Last year less than 60 tickets were sold for the Savoy Brown concert, almost prompting another cancellation.

"We won't be presenting anyone else this semester," said Hall. "The next time we do we had better sell at least 150 tickets, or else we won't have a show. We'll cancel it. This is ridiculous."

Scholar program helps students

By Eddie Redd
Newswriting I

From 2,800 to 3,000 students have been helped to achieve success in high school, college, and beyond by the Principal's Scholars Program.

Chicago was the first area of focus after the program's inception in 1975. It was conceived and implemented by Paul Parker, U of I Engineering Dept. I, and Walter Washington, of Admissions, and who is the program's current director. The two decided to focus their attention on minority students because they felt that the students were lacking the competitive academic profiles for students who have a desire to achieve success in college and later in their professional careers.

Principal's Scholars are chosen by their school principals, counselors, and teachers based on their current G.P.A. and leadership skills. They are offered a variety of educational, recreational, and cultural skills necessary for success. Principal's Scholars are required to maintain a C average in order to remain in the program. They are provided tutoring and other assistance in order to keep their grades up. Course requirements for PSP students are English, algebra, geometry, intermediate algebra or algebra and trigonometry, advanced algebra, calculus or analytical geometry, science (biology, chemistry, physics), foreign language, and social sciences.

PSP offers students the opportunity to participate in various activities. Students are given the chance to compete against other students in various competitions such as science, speech, social science and essay.

In recent years more than 80 percent of graduating seniors in the program entered top-ranked colleges and universities across the country.

Teresa Fisher, assistant director for Principal's Scholars Program, says that keeping students motivated is one of the most important factors of education.

The Principal's Scholars Program works cooperatively with 38 high schools throughout the state. Junior high and elementary schools in the Champaign-Urbana area bring the total number of schools served to 50. The participating high school areas include Champaign-Urbana, Danville, Springfield, Chicago, Decatur, East St. Louis, and Rockford. The community colleges serve as meeting sites for the program's monthly meetings and Saturday instructional sessions. The three community colleges are Olive Harvey, Chicago, Parkland; and State Community College, East St. Louis. There is also a Summer Enrichment Program, which students may attend during the summer, on the campus of the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana. Illinois is not the only state that has such a pre-college program, but it is the only one that uses the name Principal's Scholars, which gets the school principals directly involved. Other programs that are similar to Principal's Scholars focus on engineering, computer science, and the technical careers where minority students are under represented. Dr. Fisher considers the program to be broader than other comparative programs.

The program is funded by various corporations and stand funds. There approximately 20 private sponsors including Amoco, General Mills, IBM, Kraft, and Zenith. These sponsors have joined the University of Illinois in its efforts to support the Principal's Scholars Program.

Fisher believes that parents are important to the program's success. She says without the support of the parents, "the program would be a waste of time." Parents are invited to sessions where they share experiences with other parents.

Fisher's role in the program is to act as liaison between school personnel and the university, and to keep both parties informed of activities.

Motivation and exposure are the key ingredients that has lead Principal's Scholars Students to a high degree of success in college and their professional careers, Fisher said.

Holiday Tidbits . . .

Holiday Bells are ringing for local cause

By Richard Cibelli
Newswriting I

With the holiday season arriving, the familiar sounds of the Salvation Army bells will once again be heard in Champaign-Urbana.

According to Capt. Ralph Bukiewicz of the Salvation Army, the bell ringing started on Nov. 18th and will last through Christmas. Those manning the bells this year says Bukiewicz, will be men and women from local church groups, area businesses and members of U of I fraternities and sororities. Bukiewicz said most bell ringers volunteer their time, but the Salvation Army also hires bell ringers who earn minimum wage.

Bukiewicz said the Salvation Army plans to maintain 14 kettle locations throughout the Twin Cities and has a goal of $135,000. Besides bell ringing, the Salvation Army Band will play at kettle locations and do Christmas caroling throughout the area.

This is a very special year for the Salvation Army, according to Bukiewicz, because the organization is on the eve of their 100th birthday.

This year's Tom makes you give more

By Todd McGuire
Newswriting I

Turkeys are in good supply this Thanksgiving, but prices will be about 25 percent higher over last years prices because of the drought, according to a local grocery store manager.

Tom turkeys weighing 16 pounds and over will approximately be 73 cents a pound this year. Hen turkeys weighing 14 pounds and under will be approximately 39 cents a pound. In 1987, hens were 39 cents a pound and toms were 48 cents a pound. However, the prices of turkeys in 86 and 87 were higher than this year prices. Before 1984, hens cost more than tom turkeys. Fifteen years ago, hens were 72 cents a pound and toms were 59 cents a pound.

A stuffed and cooked turkey from a deli should be served the day it is purchased. If you're serving it the next day, the U.S. Department of Agriculture advises removing the stuffing and meat from the bird and refrigerating them in several small containers. It must then be re-heated to 160 degrees before serving.

Welcome Wagon accents service

By Emma M.S. Perez
Newswriting I

Welcome Wagon International, Inc., is the largest and only national service of its kind. It provides personalized advertising and public relations for over 100,000 local sponsoring commercial businesses and professionals in the medical, dental, health-care, legal and animal-care fields.

Thousands of representatives greet individuals in one million households annually. Welcome Wagon is active in 4,500 communities throughout the continental United States, and their visits reach engaged couples and their families, new parents, new residents, college students and new citizens.

Welcome Wagon has been an American neighborhood tradition since 1928. Founded in Memphis, the company derived its name from the Conestoga wagons of frontier days. Early townspeople sent a wagon filled with supplies and gifts to greet passing wagon trains with the hopes of enticing the travelers to remain in the community.

The Welcome Wagon representative for Champaign is Lynda Umbarger, who also takes classes at Parkland as a part time student. She says, "I love the opportunity that Parkland College has to be able to further your career by taking a few hours, and still be able to do your regular work schedule."

As a public service, Welcome Wagon distributes literature of general interest for many government agencies and local civic and cultural organizations. These include the Post Office, state driver's license bureau, United Way, Fine Arts Council, Girl and Boy Scouts and many others. "Anything that will be helpful to our new residences to get them familiar with their surroundings and feel welcome. That is our purpose. We don't ask personal questions, just a friendly visit," said Umbarger.

Welcome Wagon visits households regardless of race, color, religion, creed, national origin, income status, marital status or sex. A Welcome Wagon visit or representation of a business can be arranged by calling 398-2040.

School helps keep her mind sharp

Bonnie Theobald

By Emma M.S. Perez
Prospectus Staff Reporter

Bonnie E. Theobald, age 65, of Rantoul is presently enrolled in a Parkland evening class at Chanute Air Force Base. She is a part-time student and hopes to get her degree in General Studies someday. But for now she says she just enjoys going to school because she feels that "you must keep the brain functioning, and that this is especially important for older people."

Bonnie is a retired Civil Service worker from the Office of Special Investigations (OSI) section of Chanute AFB. She has been the wife of retired Major Gene Theobald for the past 42 years. She is the mother of four children: daughters Roberta (Texas), and Julie (Rantoul); and twin sons Donald (Texas), and David (Georgia). She also has three grandchildren named Alexis, Lisa, and Andrew.

Bonnie's hobbies include golf, reading, and gardening "in that order" she declared.

Bonnie has been going to school at Parkland off and on since 1981. She says that it is very convenient for her because Parkland offers classes out at the base. This way she is able to go in the evenings and at her own pace and leisure.

Christmas season will boost poor sales year

By Lee Messinger
Prospectus Writer

National Retail Sales have not broken any records this year, but Terry Dudley, Manager of Market Place Mall, predicts an above average Christmas Season for the mall.

Retail sales in election years traditionally are down, Dennis Deines, Store Manager of J C Penney's said, and the drought did not help matters. However, he is counting on Christmas sales to help lead to an end of the year sales gain.

A Student Shopping Night and a Family Fun Night should be additional draw to Market Place Mall this Christmas, according to Dudley.

He says the possibility of Illinois going to a bowl game will not have a direct effect on business at Market Place. But he did add that it may help some merchants in the mall. Deines who is one of those merchants, said that Illinois' going to a bowl game would be a positive influence on the community and on business. He pointed out that the Illini shop at Penney's was extremely busy after the Indiana-Illinois game. He anticipates that a bowl game would cause much more traffic for that area.

And are there any new items that might be top sellers for the X-mas season such as Pet Rocks, Rubiks Cube, or Spuds Mackenzie merchandise? Not really, Deines said, some new cosmetics, electric cookers, and ademizers are doing well.

Give your back a break; sleep on a good mattress

It's a good thing most of us are young when we go to college; otherwise, our bodies couldn't stand the abuse.

Take your back, for example. Everything you do subjects your back to strain and stress—running from one class to another with tons of books in your arms, biking while carrying heavy backpacks and slouching over homework for hours.

No wonder by the time young people are in their late 20s, they join up to 80 percent of the population who suffer from back pain.

Everyone knows the benefit of good posture as we stand or sit, but better posture during the night also can be a big factor in preventing back aches, says Arthur Grehan, executive director of the American Innerspring Manufacturers, an association concerned with back pain prevention.

Better posture is achieved not so much by how you sleep, but on what you sleep.

"Research has shown that the best type of bed for the back is one that maintains the spine in its normal erect position while lying in a supine position," Grehan says.

In other words, while you are lying down, your spine should have a slight "S-curve" to it, just enough that you can slide your hand in the space between your lower back and mattress. Too much space indicates your mattress is too firm. Not enough space means your mattress is too soft.

A too-soft mattress offers no support for the spine. In a recent survey of orthopedic surgeons, a firm innerspring mattress was their number one recommendation. An inner-spring mattress and box spring set was also judged the best for their back and overall health by 93 percent of college students in a nationwide poll conducted by Research & Forecasts, Inc., of New York.

Other tips you can follow to keep your back and body healthy are:

- Stand tall. Good posture is neither a relaxed, slumped-shoulder stance nor a military, shoulders-back stance. If you stand as tall as you can, the whole weight of your body will be straight up-and-down and squarely centered over your feet.

- Don't sit for long periods at a time. The cramped position you assume working at a computer terminal or hunched over books is very taxing on your body. Take short breaks and stretch. Also, as you sit, try resting your feet on a book or two. If your knees are higher than your hips, some of the stress is taken off the back.

- Always stretch and warm up before exercising. Stretching exercises will help keep the body flexible and increase your range-of-motion.

On Friday November 11th the Cobras traveled to Grayslake, Illinois to participate in the Lake County Tipoff Tournament. In the opening contest the Cobras bombarded Oakton Community College 126-63.

Parkland had seven players score in double figures. Lennox Forrester lead the Cobras with 18 points. Rick Stein, Tom Kane and Don Robinson added 14 points. Rusty Clark and Jerome Carson added 12 points. Matt Morgenthaler added 11 points.

The Cobras jumped off to a 69-33 halftime lead and never looked back. Parkland had 9 three point shots. Clark also lead the Cobras in rebounding getting 11 boards.

X-Country places at #15

By Niles Benoit
for the Prospectus

Parkland's Harriers competed in the NJCAA finals on Saturday, Nov. 12, at Twin Falls Idaho. The Cobras finished 15th in the nation behind the strong running of their top five finishers, who also happened to finish within 33 seconds of each other.

Leading the Cobras was Sophomore Monty Flynn, who finished in 72nd place with a time of 27:34.3. Roger Rivera took 76th place in 27:36.3, Doug Light came in at 27:42.4 to take 82nd, Sophomore Mark Cordell ended up in 96th with a time of 28:05.4, and Dennis Thomas finished the scoring for the Cobras by placing 99th with a time of 28:07.7.

Other Cobra competitors were Toby Peters, who finished in 114th place with a time of 28:30.6, and Sophomore Bill Goldstein, who ran a 28:31.1 and finished in 115th place.

The Cobras were the highest placing team from Illinois. Coach Ron Buss felt that the team ran a very good meet and pointed out that if they had been able to shave 55 seconds off the team they would have placed in the top 10 nationally.

Volleyball season ends on high note

By CHRIS CURTIS
Prospectus Sportswriter

As many people know, Champaign-Urbana houses one of the premier college volleyball teams in the country with the U of I's Fighting Illini. But what they probably do not know is that another volleyball team has been emerging as a national force in the form of our own Cobras of Parkland College.

Although unranked, Parkland has a record of 43-11-4 and has beaten many nationally ranked teams. In a tournament played in Peoria Oct. 21-22, the Cobras knocked off #20 Lake Michigan and #11 Illinois Central (ICC), while losing to fourth-ranked Jefferson College by a slim margin. ICC lost to Parkland in a Sept. 24 match-up, as well as last Friday night in the Regionals.

Parkland has a winning percentage of 80%, compared to Division 1 University of Illinois' 88% winning percentage, and has won 21 more games than the Illini. The 1988 spiker squad is the best Parkland has ever produced. They finished second in the Regional tournament two weekends ago. It is the highest the lady Cobras have ever gone in post-season play.

This has been a tremendous year for the team, especially when you consider the circumstances they have been under.

The girls didn't even have a coach until a week before their first game. Ken Deterding, a Bloomington, IL native, stepped in and filled the position. Deterding had never coached college volleyball before, but he had plenty of experience coaching men's, women's, and junior league teams.

After the season started, Deterding had to make adjustments as he went along. "I didn't know the girls," he said. "I didn't have a chance to find out what they could do before the season and I didn't recruit them. We just went in...and I experimented a lot and we still won games."

And won games they did, 43 of them. The team played very well as a whole, but a few players stood out at times. One of them being sophomore Kathy Lauher, a graduate from Kansas (IL) High School, who led the team in kills with 406. According to Deterding, "she passes and plays defense well, has a good kill percentage, and when she's on track, she's unstoppable."

Marci Maier was another key factor in Parkland's success as the team's setter. Stephanie Sullivan, from Champaign Centennial, was second in kills (324) and first in blocks (128). She made the all-tournament team in the Regionals. Stacey Proehl and Patty Chandler also contributed greatly in the team efforts.

The volleyball team has improved during the year. Said the head coach, "I think they've developed so far compared to what they were (at the beginning of the season), as far as knowing what to do. They've pushed themselves and are more intelligent."

Parkland has also been able to control themselves under pressure—a key ingredient for a successful team. When they played Vincennes Oct. 27, nothing seemed to go right for them. They struggled, but still pieced it together and won.

In Sectional play against Lincoln, the team trailed two games to one. The Lynx only needed one more game to advance. But again the Cobras pulled together, won the next two games, and clinched a Regional berth.

A highlight of the year includes a tournament in which two nationally ranked teams (Lake Michigan, ICC) were beaten by the Cobras. "The game we played against Lake Michigan was incredible," commented the Cobra coach. "Everyone did shots they'd never done before. That game caught me by surprise."

Beating ICC was also a thrill. "They just went out and did the job and got on the court and won in three games easily." On Oct. 29, Parkland defeated a good team—East Central. This foe had a 30-6 record at the time, but the Cobras bore down and beat them anyway.

Even though they lost in the Regionals and are disappointed that they did not advance to the National Tournament, Parkland had an overwhelmingly good season and have nothing to be ashamed of.

The Cobras will be losing seven players on the twelve-player squad next year due to graduation, but they will try to carry on the winning tradition that has been established for the volleyball program this season.

Matt Morgenthaler

Rick Stein

On Saturday November 12th Parkland took on Highland Community College of Freeport. The Cobras jumped off to a 41-22 halftime lead and won the game 71-51.

Once again it was a balanced team effort with 4 Cobras scoring in double figures. Matt Morgenthaler lead Parkland with 16 points. Lennox Forrester and Tom Kane added 12 points. George Rose added 10 points.

Forrester also lead the Cobras in rebounding with 12 boards. The Cobras made six three point shots. Morgenthaler had 4 and Kane 2. The Cobras also committed 25 turnovers.

Saturday evening Parkland took on the host school Lake County Community College. The Cobras defeated Lake County 99-77 to capture the championship. At halftime the Cobras took a 43-32 lead into the locker room and never looked back.

Matt Morgenthaler led Parkland in scoring 18 points making 6 three point shots. Morgenthaler was also named the Tournament MVP. Parkland also had three other players score in double figures. Brett Bonacorsi added 15 points. Tom Kane added 12 points. George Rose put in 11 points.

Parkland made 17 three point shots (Morgenthaler 6, Kane 4, Bonacorsi 3, Rose, Stein, Stanley, and Robinson all had one.

The Cobras did an excellent job on the boards, attaining 40 rebounds to Lake County's 24. On the down side, Parkland committed 13 turnovers.

After the first four games the Cobras have five players averaging in double figures. Matt Morgenthaler is the leader with 15.3 a game. Rick Stein is second at 13.3 a game. Tom Kane is third a 12.8 a game. Lennox Forrester comes in with 12.0 a game and Don Robinson averages 10.3 a game. Forrester and Stein lead in rebounds with 8.8 and 7.0 respectively. The Cobras are shooting 52% from the field, 46% from three point range and 79.7 from the free throw line.

Volleyball team ends winning season

By CHRIS CURTIS
Prospectus Sportswriter

The volleyball team had their season end on Saturday, Nov. 12, when they lost in the Regionals in Peoria.

On Friday, Nov. 11, the Cobras faced Wabash Valley, a team which had beaten them earlier in the season. Parkland took revenge by winning 9-15, 9-15, 15-9, 15-12, and 15-9. Kathy Lauher led her teammates with 19 kills and eight blocks.

Later that night they played and beat Illinois Central College. The next day Parkland played Wabash Valley again and lost 15-2, 15-7, 14-16, 15-8. Because the tournament was double-elimination, the two teams were forced to clash one final time. Wabash turned out to be the victor by winning 15-8, 15-5, 15-13.

Cobra Stephanie Sullivan, who had 13 blocks and 11 kills on Friday night, contributed with 16 kills and 17 blocks on Saturday, good enough to be placed on the all-tournament team along with sophomore teammate Stacey Proehl. Kathy Lauher and Marci Maier were Parkland players who made the second all-tournament team.

Parkland finished the season at 43-11-4.

Cobra player transfers

By Lee Messinger
Prospectus Sports Writer
On Monday, Nov. 14, Parkland College held a press conference to announce that Cobra basketball player Lennox Forrester would be attending the University of Evansville on an Athletic Scholarship for basketball.

Lennox Forrester

Forrester had an outstanding Freshman season leading the Cobras in rebounding averaging 7.8 a game. Last year Forrester shot 57.3% from the field. In the NJCAA Division II Championship Game against Lansing, Forrester had his best game of the season Making 9 of 9 field goal attempts and 13 rebounds while doing a fine defensive job on Curtis Baker. Forrester was the only player chosen to the NJCAA All-Tournament Team.

Coach Cooper indicated that Forrester's early signing was made from a Physical and Academic standpoint. Cooper felt that Lennox has the physical ability to be a good Front player in a program such as Evansville.

Forrester is the second Cobra basketball player going to Evansville. Currently Lisa Springborn, who played Center on last year's womensteam, is at Evansville. Forrester will be studying Marketing and Communications. Brad Hastings, Parkland Academic Advisor, said that Evansville had an excellent program for the area that Forrester is interested in.

Evansville Coach Jim Crews said he was very happy to have Forrester joining his basketball squad. Crews said that they look for three things in recruiting a player and Forrester has all three. Crews indicated they really liked his work ethic and the fact he is very team oriented.

Coach Cooper described Forrester as an athlete on the rise who will only get better. Forrester was told he would be fighting for a starting position next fall but there was a possibility that he would be red-shirted for a year.

Death Row wins bowl

By: JAMIE FORBES

I.M. FOOTBALL

* THIRD TIMES A CHARM *

For Death Row it was "third time is the charm", but for the Brew Crew it was one to many. The absence of John Bull was felt in the Brew Crew's pass rush. The weak pass rush by the Brew Crew let Death Row's quarterback and captain Paul Van Pelt run for crucial first downs the whole game. The first score of the ball game came on a safety by Death Row when their defense blitzed from the two. Then later in the second quarter Death Row scored on a short pass to Nate Freeman. This was his first scoring catch of the season. Death Row did not convert on the extra point and that would come back to haunt them. Death Row went into half time leading 8-0 and shutting out the best offense and team in the league. This had to build up their confidence. In the third quarter the Brew Crew finally got on the score board with diving catch in the end zone by a wide out. Death Row argued that the wide out did not have control of the ball when he went out of bounds, but the officials did and the score would stand. Brew Crew converted their extra point to make the score 8-7 with Death Row holding a slim one point lead. The rest of the third quarter would go by with no other scoring action. About mid way into the fourth quarter you could tell the Brew Crew was getting a little worried about the game. Both defenses at this point really clamped down on opposing offenses. With only 2 minutes to go the score was still 8-7. Brew Crew was on a march when Henry Middleton; a lineman, hurt his knee and had to be taken to the hospital. Brew Crew would have scored if it wasn't for a great catch by Death Row's coner-back to stop the drive. Now there was only about a minute and a half with Death Row in control of the ball. Death Row went down the field and eat up a lot of the clock. It was fourth down for Death Row at the Brew Crew's 5 yard line when the Brew Crew really stood their ground. They held Death Row out of the endzone and took over on downs. Brew Crew had the ball on their 5 with only 15 seconds left in the ball game. They tried a long bomb; that fell incomplete, they tried a short out; that fell incomplete, they tried one more pass and was sacked. Death Row upsets the then undefeated Brew Crew to win the Intramural Football Championship of 1988. Death Row wins the great played ball game by a score of 8-7. The teams could not have tried to play a better game. It is to bad there has to be a loser in a game like this. Once again the I.M. Football Champions of 1988 is Death Row. The I.M. Department would like to thank all those who played this season.

I.M. BASKETBALL

The first game of Nov. 10 had Pete's Team playing the Kuhns. This was the highest scoring game of the night. The two teams traded baskets for most of game. The Kuhns did go on an 8-0 spirt. This helped them to open a lead and keep it. The Kuhns won the game 71-61 over Pete's Team.

In the second game J-V-B won by forfeit over the Longnecks II. The Longnecks II are now 0-3 and all the losses are by forfeit.

The third game was the best game of the night to watch. Woods B-Ball Team played the Miami Heat. They gave Woods team; the team to beat, just about all they could handle. The Heat was carried by Smith and Fraser who scored 18 and 13 respectively. The Heat had a one point lead at half time. The second half was just as tight. In the end Woods B-Ball Team came out ahead, but not by much. John Wood again led his team in scoring with 13 points. This let his team take one away and win it by a score of 45-43.

Cobras sweep PC Invite

By Joe Sieben
Prospectus Editor

The Parkland College men's basketball team came out roaring and scoring last weekend as they marched on to victory in the Parkland Invitational Tournament. The tournament sweep advances Parkland's record to an undefeated 7-0.

The championship game pitted Parkland against Morton College, both undefeated in the tournament. The Cobras started out as usual and took the lead. By halftime the score was 52-42 in favor of Parkland, but Morton College was by no means out of it.

Morton came out tough in the second half and tied the score at 63 with less than 12 minutes to go. But Parkland turned on the heat and never had to look back to see if the game was close. When the final buzzer sounded Parkland had racked up a score of 104-87, and clinched the title.

Rick Stein led the team with 23 points. His tournament play was so outstanding, 58 points and 23 rebounds, that he was named the Most Valuable Player of the Tournament.

Lennox Forrester had another good game as he scored 17 points, and Jerome Carson helped with 11 points and 10 rebounds. Tim Fenton contributed 14 points.

The first game Parkland played on Saturday was against Rock County. The Cobra's shot 56 percent from the field as they crushed Rock County with a score of 131-40. Rock County shot only 22.5 percent from the field, making only 14 out of 62 shots. Once again Parkland outrebounded its opponent, racking up 64 to Rock County's 14.

In the Friday game, Parkland took on State Community College of East St. Louis. The Cobras shot their way to a 107-60 opening game victory.

The Cobra's came out strong and quickly built a 17-0 lead before State Community scored on a three pointer. The closest that State Community could ever come to Parkland was 11 points, when the Cobra's led by the score of 24-13. By the half the score was a lopsided 52-24. The rest of the game was a Tom Cooper Clinic Special.

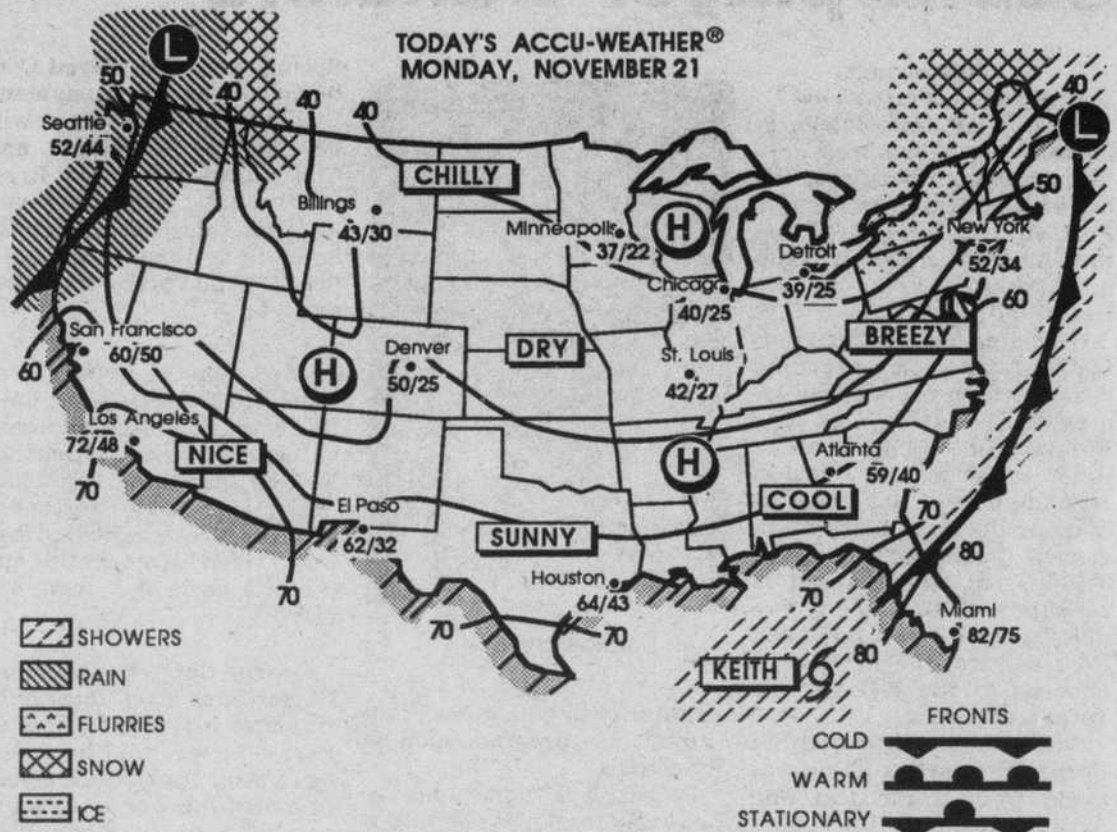

Once again Rick Stein led the Cobras with 26 points and 10 rebounds. Lennox Forrester outdid himself as he shot perfect from the field and free throw line. He added eight points and 10 rebounds.

Jerome Carson made his presence known as he shot three three-pointers and finished with 19 points. Troy Stanley added a total of 17 points to the effort.

For a rundown on Parkland's opening and probably toughest game, see page 12.
