ANNUAL MEETING

October 30, 1914

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

The forty-first annual meeting of the Connecticut Training School for Nurses convening to-day, brings forward the date in order that the requirements of the State may be met with greater ease. A change in the Regulations and By-Laws warranting this procedure was made at our last annual meeting, so that henceforth our year begins and ends in the month of October.

The present enrollment of nurses in the School is 91, an excess of one over any former time.

More nurses will soon be required, but this number crowds the dormitory as well as outside places that have been secured, some of them temporarily, and are now in use. To mention this is but to present the greatest need. The ideal which could meet this need is a house of residence for the nurses on the hospital grounds which shall bring all under one roof and provide a single room for each. It would mean better health, better training, and better service. This note has been variously sounded for many years in the hope that it might be heard by some benefactor who would like to do this one thing, and perhaps in so doing pay tribute to a worthy ancestral name.

The large family is specially indebted for its comfort to Miss Stannard, who has been in charge of affairs for nine years and with every new experience takes on fresh courage and cheerfulness.

The usual course of study has been pursued, the Superintendent and her assistants conducting the recitations, and lectures are being given as outlined at the beginning of the year. Miss Susan S. Sheridan, Ph.D., was secured to give lessons in English covering ten weeks. The nurses who came under her instruction were faithfully supervised, their papers being looked over and corrected by herself, and a course of good reading recommended.

An acceptable, though small class-room, was fitted up in the summer of last year in the basement of the dormitory, making use of what had served as a trunk-room. This spring the Hospital Chase Doll was added to its equipment. This Doll is life-size and with its truly surprising mechanism, serves admirably in practical demonstrations in place of the living model. Friends of the School became interested in the Doll and contributed $80 for its purchase. Miss Butcher, Assistant Superintendent and Instructor, ably conducts all practical demonstrations, and is most grateful to these friends for their timely aid. Names of the donors follow: Mrs. Thos. G. Bennett, Miss Emily Betts, Mrs. F. T. Bradley, Mrs. F. F. Brewster, Mrs. Eugene F. Bristol, Mrs. N. S. Bronson, Mrs. E. G. Buckland, Mrs. T. W. T. Curtis, Mrs. C. C. Davies,

Mrs. H. G. Day, Mrs. J. S. Ely, Mrs. Lewis H. English, Mrs. W. H. Fairchild, Mrs. H. P. Frost, Mrs. Geo. T. Ladd, Miss Mary E. Scranton, Mrs. Pierce N. Welch, Mrs. Eli Whitney, Mrs. W. O. Whitcomb.

Since our last survey there have been two changes in the personnel of assistants to the Superintendent of Nurses. Miss Hafer resigned in July and her marriage to Lieut. A. T. Bidwell, U. S. N., soon followed. Miss Lindquist, 1914, who had had some experience in the office when a pupil nurse, took the position temporarily and served acceptably till October 15, when Miss Alberta Wildman received the permanent appointment. Miss Kathryn L. Fries, Supervisor of South Ward for nearly two years, resigned September 15, to become Night Superintendent in the Elizabeth General Hospital. We hear that she fits into the new order quickly and well. Miss Katharine Benker, 1914, has been appointed to the position. Miss Mildred D. Hatch, 1908, Assistant Superintendent until called to a more responsible position, now returns to her own. She was expected October 1 to take charge of the Isolation Building and is only awaiting its completion. Miss Fletcher has nearly finished her first year of service as Superintendent of Nurses. It has been a busy and eventful year, but she has borne the burdens of the new and untried field cheerfully and bravely and says she enjoys the work.

The graduating exercises of the Class of 1914 were held June 3 in the Chapel, which was decorated tastefully and carefully by John N. Champion with palms and ferns and baskets of flowers. Miss Ella Phillips Crandall, Secretary of the National Public Health Organization, delivered the address to the class. It was received with pleasure and profit and cannot be given too high praise. As the President, Mr. Whitney, was detained by illness, Dr. Thomas presided, and after a brief and appropriate address presented the diplomas. The exercises were concluded by the class singing their class song, written by one of their own number, the music also being original. A reception followed and the Hospital grounds with a multiplicity of electric lights offered enlarged accommodations for the many guests. We are indebted to Dr. Thomas for making the event so enjoyable, and for his many courtesies we return thanks and express our kindest appreciation. Dr. Thomas having resigned, we greeted Dr. Simon F. Cox, his successor, October 1.

The annual afternoon tea, given on the day preceding the graduation, has become a pleasant feature of senior year. Every member of the Class of 1914, twenty-four in number, was able to be present. The parlor in its dress of fresh upholstery and tasteful draperies lends itself delightfully to any social occasion as well as to the every-day life of the family. The library also is a pleasant gathering place, particularly so, now that the half-empty shelves are receiving accessions of attractive books. There is still room for others. Books of reference by standard authors would be gratefully welcomed. Miss Fletcher would gladly name many books of such character that would find immediate use. The table is supplied with some of the current periodicals, but additions to the list could be advantageously made. The hymn books used in the early morning service now present a tidy appearance, having been rebound.

The committee gladly embrace the opportunity to acknowledge the many courtesies that have been received and again record thanks to the Hospital officials and house staff; to physicians and others who have given courses of lectures and given instruction in classes; to the doctors in attendance upon nurses who have been sick; to the doctors who have conducted examinations in reference to graduation, and to Dr. Tileston, who this year has given time to the physical examination of probationers.

It is with regret we have accepted the resignation of Mrs. George M. Duncan, who has served on the committee fifteen years, and Mrs. George T. Ladd, a member twelve years. Mrs. H. A. Bumstead has resumed active duty, having returned from abroad after an absence of a year and a half.

We would not forget at this time to pay our tribute of respect and gratitude to the memory of Rev. Dr. Charles Ray Palmer, who within the past year has exchanged a life of usefulness on earth for larger usefulness beyond. During his long connection with the Hospital and as a member of the Prudential Committee he was the unfailing friend of the Training School, ever ready to give to its best interest both time and strength. His uniform courtesy, wise counsel and efficient service will be long remembered by those with whom he had to do.

In closing this inadequate report it is but natural to reflect upon the far-reaching benefits of the Training School. The well-trained nurse becomes an instructor. Through her skilled service a better knowledge of sickness and the prevention and cure of disease is spread abroad and more healthful conditions of life are instituted. Considerations like these add interest and importance to the smallest detail in prosecuting the work which the School has undertaken and which is being carried forward with the same interest and devotion which characterized its distinguished founders.

The Executive Committee of The Connecticut Training School for Nurses voted from the General Funds of the School a payment to The General Hospital Society of one-half of the deficit incurred by the Hospital Society in operating the Training School for the period to Sept. 30, 1913. The amount paid in accordance with this vote was $4,815.86. The net deficit in the operation of the Training School for the nineteen months' period ending Sept. 30, 1914, is, therefore, $19,053.15.

PROSPECTUS

THE CONNECTICUT TRAINING SCHOOL is fortunate in its environment. The association with the New Haven Hospital, whose service is general and active, whose staff is composed of men of wide experience and knowledge, affords an unusual opportunity for professional study and practice. The proximity to Yale University offers advantages for general culture, as many of the lectures, recitals and exhibitions are open to the public. The woods, mountains and seashore are within easy reach, making ideal places for rest and recreation.

Applications for entrance to the school should be made to the superintendent of nurses, and if approved the applicant will be accepted as a candidate. The applicant should be between twenty and thirty years of age; and must present a certificate from a clergyman as to good moral character and from a physician as to health. She must show to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Nurses that she has had the equivalent of one year's high school work. A personal letter should accompany the application, giving briefly a history of her life for the past few years and her reasons and motives for desiring the education of a nurse. If such papers are satisfactory, the applicant will be received for three months' probation and board, laundry, and a room in the Nurses' Home will be provided. An interview is preferable and the candidate may see the superintendent in her office in the Hospital Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from eleven to twelve-thirty o'clock.

The course of instruction is for a period of three years and consists of theoretical and practical teaching by competent nurse teachers, lectures by the attending physicians and surgeons of the Hospital and by instructors from the Yale Medical School.

Nurses will be under the authority of the superintendent of nursing, and subject to the rules of the Hospital. The superintendent will have full power to decide as to their fitness for the work and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them within the three months of trial. They will receive a thorough practical training in the medical and surgical wards for men and women, and in the private ward, which especially fits them for work in private houses. The supervisors of the wards are experienced graduate nurses who give careful personal attention to each pupil-nurse in their respective wards. A good obstetrical training is obtained in the maternity department, each nurse having the entire care of at least six cases. In the Farnam operating building each nurse is on duty from four to six weeks. A professional teacher from New York gives a course of instruction in massage. A course of three months' training in the Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital is now arranged for those who wish to fit themselves as school nurses, also a period of six weeks in training and practice in visiting nursing under the direction of the Visiting Nurse Association. Affiliations may be made for other special work as the need arises.

There are daily periods of recreation and one-half a day weekly. Extra time is given Sunday and is allowed on holidays whenever possible. Seven weeks are allowed for vacations during the three years. If a nurse is ill she is cared for but is expected to make up the time lost.

After the preliminary period of three months, an allowance is given of four dollars a month the remainder of the first year; five dollars the second year and seven dollars the third year. Uniforms will be furnished from the time the pupil is accepted.

Extreme care will be taken in the selection of nurses; only those best fitted for the work will be retained. Nurses will be dismissed at any time in case of misconduct or inefficiency, with the approval of the Committee of the Training School. A diploma and a badge pin of the School will be given when the full term is completed satisfactorily.
