ANNUAL MEETING

November 13, 1922

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

The Connecticut Training School for Nurses graduated this current year a class numbering twenty-four members, who "completed the regular course of instruction and practice and passed the required examinations with credit." The public exercises of graduation were held in Sprague Memorial Hall, Mrs. Henry A. Bumstead, vice-president and chairman of the executive committee, presiding in the absence of President Farnam. The Second Regiment Orchestra furnished music and led the processional march. Mrs. Henry Van Cleef, accompanied by Mrs. Laurens, happily rendered a choice selection of songs. The address to the class was delivered by Mrs. Arnold L. Gesell, her subject being "The Nurse and her Patient," which was followed with close attention. It was an unusual and interesting elaboration of what might appear a very familiar theme. Diplomas were presented by Mrs. Bumstead, assisted by Miss Tarbox. The class song, both words and music original, was sung by the class, which concluded the program of the evening.

Commencement week was introduced by an impressive service for the school in Center Church on the afternoon of Sunday, May twenty-first. The baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. Oscar E. Maurer, D.D., taking as his subject the story of the blind man as told by Mark, arguing that as the blind man from the second touch received clear sight so from the repeated act of consecration the nurse would find renewal of her spirit and power in service.

The customary festivities were observed during the week; the afternoon tea given by the executive committee; the promenade under their auspices at the Lawn Club; and the free Class Day in the open country, with its jovial picnic luncheon. The review of the history of the three years spent together with its merry incidents and the speculative forecasts of the future, were features of the day.

The class made a parting gift of twenty-five dollars to the class of '23 for the purchase of a couch hammock for the porch, a small balance remaining to be added to the Endowment Fund.

Miss Dorothy M. Tarbox, superintendent of nurses, has carried the responsibility of the School with efficiency and with apparent ease. She has had faithful allies in Miss Given, theoretical instructor; Miss Grindy, practical instructor; Miss Girardot, first assistant, and Miss Stone, second assistant. Miss Bruse, greatly to the satisfaction of all interested, remains in charge of the Operating Department. The three last named are our own graduates.

The various wards have been more or less subject to change in regard to supervisors, but at this writing are all well-manned, and everything is moving with order and with care. Our nurses are having training along public health lines and continue, as for many years past, to receive the benefit of experience in the work of the Visiting Nurse Association. The lecture courses are under way and we are indebted to professors and physicians who are so lavish of their time and thought. We take this opportunity to commend the course of instruction as outlined by Miss Given. This department has been seriously handicapped because of the lack of suitable accommodation. When the vision of a new building is realized which primarily shall be a home for all the student nurses, an up-to-date class-room under the same roof is among the good things to be anticipated. The reconstructed wards of the present Hospital building are so pleasing in appearance, they make the new dormitory all the more to be desired.

The question of dormitories for the nurses has become involved this season because of the removal of two to make way for new buildings. The nurses' home occupied by the Elm City Hospital, corner of Oak Street, has been secured but it is far away from our own compound, taking surely five minutes for an uninterrupted quick walk from there to the Hospital. The supervisors of these homes, acting as chaperons for the nurses, remain with the exception of Miss Ayres who resigned in May, having served four years in that important rôle. Her position is taken by Mrs. Winder, sister of our former massage instructor.

It has not been all work and no play, and we are glad to number the sunny hours of recreation. The tennis court has given opportunity for helpful out-of-door exercise in summer and also in winter when flooded for skating. Informal dancing parties have been planned, sometimes with guests, but oftener without. The formal party of the early winter will be remembered as especially pleasing. Before occupancy by the patients the re-modelled ward, I East, made an admirable assembly hall for quite a large company. The decorations wrought a transformation hardly to be expected and which every one described as adding a joyous note to the occasion.

A Christmas Tree Party in the Nurses' Home was a very happy one. Indeed, Christmas makes a wonderfully happy time throughout the Home and the Hospital. Trees were set up in every ward and gifts upon them were made ready for every patient, selection being made with thought and care. This is not a new custom, but it will really never grow old and always will be worthy of mention. Christmas morning was ushered in by the singing of carols by nurses and doctors who visited the wards for this purpose to the great joy of the patients.

At the time of the disastrous fire one year ago, the executive committee passed a resolution of thanks and acknowledgment to our nurses for their excellent work called for in such an emergency. Praise of our graduate nurses is not unusual. Many have filled positions of responsibility and trust. Within a week we have learned of the honor that has come to Alice McCauley, class of 1910. At the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., she was presented with the medal of honor of the French Republic.

Col. J. D. Glennan, commanding officer of the post, made the presentation for the surgeon-general of the army, which reads as follows:

French Republic, Ministry of War.

Reward for Noble Deeds—Medal of Honor.

In the name of the President of the French republic, the minister of war has awarded a silver medal of honor to Miss Alice McCauley, nurse in the American Hospital of Coblenz, in April and May, 1921. With a devotion beyond all praise, she cared for a large number of French soldiers afflicted with contagious disease.

Miss McCauley is authorized to wear this medal suspended from her buttonhole by an equally divided tri-color ribbon. This diploma has been given her as a perpetual reminder to her family and fellow citizens of her honorable and courageous conduct.

The executive committee have held meetings regularly and visited the school and hospital as is the custom in order to keep in touch with the various interests. It will be noticed in the treasurer's report that the Benevolent Fund has made itself felt for good this last year. The small sum expended at the Gaylord Farm Sanatorium for the treatment there of one of our nurses resulted in entire recovery, marking it truly a benevolent fund.

We are remembered most generously by will by Miss Mary E. Scranton. She always showed herself interested and helpful in school and hospital. She gave a ready response to every need with or without an appeal for help and won for herself thanks and the good will of many whom she did not even know. We honor her for herself and for her works' sake.

The withdrawal of Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Brewster and Mrs. Jackson from the committee means a great loss. Each declined re-election. Mrs. Gesell resigned a short time later. We were reluctant to let them go, for each filled an important place. Mrs. Bennett was chairman during the year's absence of Mrs. Bumstead. Mrs. Brewster had served many years as chairman of the house committee. Her oversight of common things and supplementing needs with things uncommon will long testify of her generous interest in the welfare and happiness of our nurses. Mrs. Jackson of the entertainment committee was ever graciously thinking of creature comforts for the family; Mrs. Gesell, while not unmindful of any of these necessities, was suggestive and helpful along educational lines. Dr. Hersey having resigned from the superintendency of the Hospital is now absent from our councils. Grateful for his coöperation in the past, we bid him God-speed in his new office. To his successor, Dr. Rappleye, we express the desire for his aid in promoting our welfare and cordially give assurance that the growth and well-being of the Hospital are behind all our efforts.

The fiftieth year since the Connecticut Training School for Nurses was incorporated closes in May. The committee in charge of affairs in honor of the day has been appointed and will confer with representatives of the body of alumnae, as to the best conduct of the celebration. An endowment is among the desirable possibilities.

This report carries with it the assurance that everything that has been done for us, by Hospital officials, by the Hospital staff, and by the many friendly hands, has been received with appreciation to the utmost, which is here acknowledged with profound thanks.

Health.—In spite of the long hours, hard work and preventive measures taken to guard against contagious and infectious diseases, we find that there has been no more sickness than last year.

The nurses worked especially hard after the Rialto fire last November, and gave us an opportunity to see what they could do in case of emergency.

Educational Progress.—We feel that our students are getting an excellent course of study, but for the past year have been handicapped by the lack of suitable laboratories and lecture rooms.

Since the opening of III East the nurses are gaining much better knowledge in the care of children. Formulae are no longer prepared in the Diet Kitchen but one of the nurses on the ward is assigned to the preparation of these in the ward kitchen.

State Inspection.—Miss Erskine, Inspector of Training Schools in Connecticut, spent two days with us last November and apparently found our work satisfactory.

The State Board requires that a copy of the high school certificates of every probationer entering our school since September, 1921, and hereafter, shall be filed with the Board of Registration in Hartford.

Publicity.—The Training School prospectus was revised and several photographs of the hospital and dormitory were added. These were sent to various high schools in the state, and given to young women interested in nurse training.

Miss Leila I. Given, our Theoretical Instructor, carried on some publicity from April 25th to May 25th, by speaking in the high schools of some of the nearby towns, which have no hospitals.

As an experiment to obtain more applicants we advertised twice in a magazine, and in answer two young women applied so that it seems worth while to advertise in several of the current magazines.

Courses for Post-Graduate and Affiliated Nurses.—In January two nurses finished their six months post-graduate course, and since then, there has been no one taking these courses.

The Gardiner, Maine, Hospital renewed its affiliation for senior students last January. Their course includes medical, pediatric and obstetrical services.

The Nashua Memorial Hospital, Nashua, N. H., started a three months affiliation last April, their course to include medical and pediatric services.

We wish to express our appreciation to the members of our Training School and Hospital Boards, to the Dean of the Medical School, to the Superintendent of the Hospital, to our Instructors, to our Training School Staff and students and to the many friends for their interest, support and co-operation.

May the coming year be full of inspiration, and help each one to realize her responsibilities, in the building up of the Connecticut Training School.

DOROTHY M. TARBOX.

ITEMS OF INFORMATION

The Connecticut Training School for Nurses offers a three years' course of training to high school and private school graduates, or to those with educational equivalent. For candidates with satisfactory scientific preparation, who have had two or more years of college or university work, credit may be applied, shortening the three years' course.

The three years are divided into Preliminary Course, 4 months; Junior Year, 8 months; Intermediate Year, 12 months, and Senior Year, 12 months.

The hours of duty in the wards will be arranged in accordance with the required class work. During the four months of the Preliminary Course, the hours of duty will not average more than five hours daily.

The Connecticut Training School is registered in Connecticut; and in New York, by the University of the State of New York.

While great emphasis is placed on theoretical instruction, it does not overbalance the practical training which the nurses receive in the wards and departments of the New Haven Hospital.

THE COURSE OF STUDY.

The theoretical and practical courses of instruction conform closely to the standard curriculum, prepared by the Educational Committee of the National League of Nursing Education, and are recommended by the Dean of the Yale University School of Medicine who appoints the Training School instructors and provides the laboratory facilities when indicated.

The time allotted to the various subjects will be divided between lectures, demonstrations, classes, quizzes, and laboratory work.

The subjects included in the Preliminary Course will be:

Anatomy and Physiology.
Applied Chemistry.
Bacteriology.
Personal Hygiene.

Hospital Housekeeping.
Nutrition and Cookery.
Drugs and Solutions.
Nursing Principles and Practice.
Bandaging.
Historical, Ethical and Social Basis of Nursing.

The subjects following the Preliminary Course will include:
