Russell Theodore Stanger (1924–2015) was the founding conductor of the Norfolk Symphony (later renamed the Virginia Symphony Orchestra). He served as a guest conductor for such orchestras as the Philadelphia Orchestra, New York Philharmonic, Royal Philharmonic, and London Philharmonic, and he collaborated with musicians such as Isaac Stern, Yo-Yo Ma, Ella Fitzgerald, Benny Goodman, and Igor Stravinsky. A long-time friend of F. Ludwig Diehn and a former advisor to the F. Ludwig Diehn Fund of the Hampton Roads Community Foundation, Stanger donated his collection of recordings, scores, and other memorabilia to the F. Ludwig Diehn Composers Room at ODU. The university awarded Stanger an honorary doctorate in 2009 and named the Russell Stanger String Quartet in his honor. The Russell Stanger String Quartet is comprised of four undergraduate students who compete yearly for a scholarship to perform together throughout the community and to serve leading roles in the Old Dominion University Symphony Orchestra.

For more information about the Russell Stanger String Quartet, including auditions and scholarships, visit the ODU Symphony Orchestra website. If you would like to support chamber or other music programs at ODU, contact Dr. Paul Kim at pkim@odu.edu.

Sincere thanks to Leslie Frittelli for sharing her time and expertise on behalf of our students and the ODU chamber music program.
