Artist's Bio:

Olivia is from Stockton CA. She is currently a third-year student here at California State University Monterey Bay. She is a Humanities and Communications major with a concentration in English and Historical studies. Olivia enjoys taking photos of her surroundings so she is able to share the view with others who are unable to see it for themselves, and a way to document it for herself. She is currently unsure of what she would like to do once she graduates but hopes to work in the history field doing something that will involve traveling to other countries.
