

University of South Alabama

JagWorks@USA

A Five-Minute History of Knot Theory

Topology

2023

Part 3: James Clerk Maxwell's Zoetrope

Daniel Silver

University of South Alabama, silver@southalabama.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://jagworks.southalabama.edu/knot-theory-hist>

Part of the Geometry and Topology Commons

Recommended Citation

Silver, Daniel, "Part 3: James Clerk Maxwell's Zoetrope" (2023). A Five-Minute History of Knot Theory. 3. <https://jagworks.southalabama.edu/knot-theory-hist/3>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Topology at JagWorks@USA. It has been accepted for inclusion in A Five-Minute History of Knot Theory by an authorized administrator of JagWorks@USA. For more information, please contact jherrmann@southalabama.edu.

Zoetrope ("wheel of life") designed by James Clerk Maxwell.

Gordon Squires (left) and Daniel S. Silver (right), 1996