Job prospects improving

by College Press Service

Milwaukee--Hiring prospects are improving for the second quarter of this year, according to a survey of 15,000 businesses nation-

Manpower's poll of second-quarter hiring plans showed that 26 percent of respondents said they would increase staff levels during the March-May period, and 7 percent reported plans for work reductions. Another 67 percent plan no new hir-

"Employers are now planning new staffing beyond the seasonal variations of the past two years. It appears we are headed for a real increase." said Manpower President Mitchell Fromstein.

The figures represent an increase from last quarter when 17 percent planned further hiring and 13 percent were cutting back, according to Fromstein.

The figures represent an increase from last quarter, when 17 percent planned further hiring and 13 percent were cutting back, according to Manpower, a Milwaukee-based temporary help service. For the second quarter a year ago, 21 percent of the firms surveyed were planning to increase work forces.

A breakdown of professions and hiring plans include:

Construction: Spring is the traditional period for a rise in construction hiring; 36 percent of the surveyed firms plan more hiring, and 8 percent plan cutbacks.

Transportation and public utilities: Hiring forecasts still lag behind most other industries, with 18 percent expecting to hire and 8 percent indicating they will trim employment rolls.

Finance, insurance and real estate: These professions are starting to move forward in hiring, Manpower said, although at a slow rate. Of the firms surveyed, 21 percent said they will increase personnel and 8 percent will be reducing staff levels.

Education, public and private: Jobs in these fields, which have been hard to find in the past two years, are not loosening up, Manpower found. Only 12 percent of the respondents plan on hiring teachers, and 8 percent will seek de-

Public administration: The outlook for government jobs remains weak. Budget pressures, especially in the South and West, equate to 20 percent expecting to hire workers, but 10 percent seeking cutbacks.

Campaign strategy discussed

"Fair play is the important thing when dealing with the upcoming campaign" said Student Body President Phil Carter at the March 25th student government meet-

Campaign speeches were discussed, qualifications reviewed, and student reps were encouraged to consider the job responsibilities involved with elected positions. Carter emphasized that getting out, meeting people and "shaking those hands" is still the most effective campaign strategy for office seekers.

He also mentioned the upcoming Honors Society awards ceremony. Awards for academic excellence and scholarships will be presented Sunday, April 18 from 3-5pm in the Parkland gym. Carter invited all students to attend.

Regarding the Parkland Job Fair held in March, Carter stressed that " job interview techniques described in Job Fair literature are important" to students looking for work.

Leadershape, a student program, was also discussed. Parkland student the participants in Leadershape program were recently named by a Parkland committee. Carter, who was on the committee, commented that "the task of selecting from so many qualified students was a difficult one. We wanted to pick them all, but had to make a decision in favor of the two we felt were most qualified".

An "active involvement in strong recommendation for

Carter also brought up the of Student issue Government control of "Currently", he funds. said, "Student Government controls all Parkland committees, including the student activities/services and finance committees". Though some Parkland students want this to change, Carter maintained that "this current situation enables Parkland to manage student monies more efficiently" and "student government wants this situation to stay as it is."

In closing, Carter encouraged students to "draft their campaign speeches and consider their platforms and observe the rule of fair play" in preparation Student Government" is a for the upcoming campaigns at Parkland.

PC photographer wins award

A color photograph by Parkland College staff photographer Don Manning of Urbana received a first place gold Paragon Award during the 19th annual national convention of the National Council of Marketing and Public Relations, an affiliate of the American Association of Community Colleges.

The photograph, which appears on the cover of a brochure for Parkland's William M. Staerkel Planetarium, features an audience looking at the brilliantly colored Rosette Nebula on the Planetarium dome. To create the image, Manning took a photograph of a Planetarium audience that could be merged with a photo of the nebula by David Malin, astronomer and space photographer with the Anglo-Austrailian Observatory. The photos were technically merged by Scantech Color Systems, Cham-

Chief Carter: L.A. force excessive

Although he isn't predict- out the carnage. ing the outcome of the current Rodney King trial, Champaign Police Chief Don Carter says he thinks excessive force was used when King was arrested.

The case refocused attention on the use of force and contributed to increased police training, Carter said. He added that he has talked with Afro-American representatives on the UI campus and in town and does not anticipate negative reaction here to the verdict in Los Angeles.

Carter said he is highly concerned about the 300 grade school cases the department gets every year. The middle school situation is "scary," he said.

"Traditional institutions are coming apart," Carter said. Violence is glorified, but "Nobody is there to say cut and retake, just carry

Math winners now vie for state のぎの歌の歌の歌の歌の歌の

More than 950 students PRE-CALCULUS - A from 26 area high schools competed for top honors in the regional math contest March 20 at Parkland.

Events in the regional contest included individual competitions in algebra I, geometry, algebra II, and precalculus. Students also matched wits in calculator contests, in two and eightperon team competitions, and in oral presentations.

The winners advance to the state finals April 24 at Illinois State University. The ICTM math contest, now in its thirteenth year, has become the largest and most comprehensive high school math contest in the country.

Parkland was host to the first math contest in 1976. The state contest sponsored by ICTM and CNA Insurance Companies began in 1981.

Lenore Allen

I am a second-year student in the Liberal Arts &Science program(with a Theater Arts Concentration) and President of the Muslim Students Association.

I was involved in Parkland's First Annual Talent Show and have been a member of TRUST (Terminating Rape and Unequal Sexual Treatment).

I have also been a voluntary tutor for Project Upward Bound at the University of Illinois and attended the Black Student Leadership Conference in the Summer of 1992 as one of Parkland's representatives.

Cast your vote for Lenore Allen for Vice President of Student Government and we will try to make this school an active educational experience for all students.

Marsden Bigby

Hi, I'm Marsden Bigby, treasurer of the student body.

Once again it is time for Student Government elections and once again I come before you asking for your support.

As your treasurer, I gained the kind of invaluable experience needed to assure you of the best possible representation.

Thank you for taking the time to read this, and thank you before hand for your vote

I am secretary of the Activities and Services Board andwas unanimously elected Senator by the present Student Government.

I have served on a variety of clubs and committees in the past and look forward to doing even more as your Student Government Senator.

If you want a Student Government that works for all of Parkland's students, then vote for Katherine Candler for Senator, your choice, your voice.

Stefon D. Cobb

Parkland Students:

I, Stefon D. Cobb, am running for a Student Government Senator's position in the April 7 & 8 election for the 1993-94 school year. I am currently pursuing a degree in both Social Work and Secondary Education.

I attended Washington High School in Washington, Ill., and Centennial High in Champaign where I wsas a member of the basketball team, Tutoring Program, African American Club, and Upward Bound.

Here at Parkland College, I am involved with the Activities Board, Black Students Association, Parkland Christian Followship, Muslim Students Association, and Finance Committee.

I see a need for more student voices to be heard at Parkland College and the Student Government is the vehicle through which I can ensure that all voices will be heard

You have a voice. I will make it heard.

Charlotte T. Finck

Hello. My name is Charlotte T. Finck, and I am currently a senator in Student Government. I have held this position for a year. I am now asking you once again to vote for me on April 7 & 8.

I have a lot of experience sitting on a variety of boards including Student Government, Student Activities, Finance, and Election Board.

I have sat on the Student Activities Board which has the Talent Show, Spring Out, Regency Theater, and sold flowers for Valentine's Day.

I have also done a lot of activities through Student Government.

The activities that I have done are the following: Open House, Fun Flicks, Holiday Show, Alcohol Awareness Week, and I have registered people to vote for the U.S. elections

I have attended conferences such as the Fall Allerton Retreat, ICCSAA, and COOL, which is a Community Out Reach conference. These conferences have enhanced my leadership abilities as a senator.

Please feel free to come to the Student Government office in room X 159 and ask me questions or tell me comments.

Thank you. Senator Charlotte T. Finck

Josie Kramer

Hi! I'm Josie Kramer, a nursing student running for Student Government Senator.

I have served as Senator this semester as well as cochairperson of the Inter Organizational Council and have served on the Publications Board.

I feel I have the experience to best represent you and would appreciate your vote.

Ron Latwis

As a student of Parkland College, I have never been satisfied with the way things are today.

Whether it is a tuition increase, the procurement of new copiers, or the issue of our parking mess, the issues must be dealt with and not passed along.

I can represent the interests of the students and inspire a commitment to change for the students at Parkland.

I hope to gain your support in my attempt to bring lasting change to Parkland College. Thank you.

Tami Licquia

Hello, my name is Tami Licquia and I am asking for you to re-elect me as Senator. I have been Senator in Student Government for the last four semesters and twice elected Senior Senator among the senators.

I have enjoyed being on Student Government and would like to continue bringing such things as Funflicks, Talent Shows, Spring Fling, and other great free activities for the students to enjoy.

If elected, I would like to hear your ideas on activities such as a formal dance, live DJ's, and other activities that you would like to see here at Parkland.

I have held my position of senator longer than anyone currently in the Student Government body and feel strongly that I have valuable experience in being a senator.

As senator, I welcome all students to come to me and Student Government with a problem, a solution, or just an idea of what you would like to see done. A good senator will listen to the students and respond to their ideas and problems. I truly believe that I have been a great senator and have been responding to your ideas.

Thank you for voting Tami Licquia for senator on April 7 and 8.

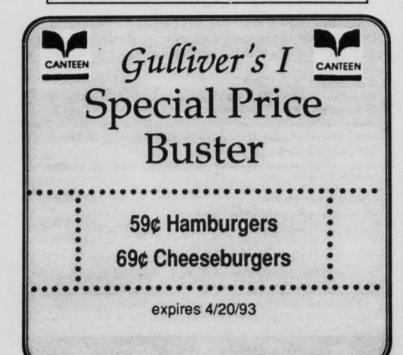

Doc Manning

College can be both serious and enjoyable, but for me it's a chance to enhance my abilities further. Making positive and strong decisions are a part of my plan. The Student Government represents fair caring and understanding individuals such as I.

I, Kevin Doc Manning, am your voice in the Senate. I'm presently seeking a degree in Hotel Management Weight management awareness increases with the temperature, according to Jan Thom, health educator at Parkland College.

"I prefer the term weight management instead of diet.," said Thom. "I would like people to learn how to maintain a healthier lifestyle and keep it for ever.

"The most frustrating thing about my position is seeing people who want the quick fix. They try a liquid diet or jump into a rigorous exercise program or starve themselves to lose weight. If they have any success at all, it usually does not last. They are soon back to their unhealthy eating habits, and the weight comes right back."

There are many factors that go into a healthy lifestyle. "If I can convince people to do one thing to lose weight, it would be exercise; however, it must be an enjoyable program that can be consistantly maintained," said Thom. Current research indicates that exercising three to five times a week is appropriate for weight loss.

Exercise can be as easy to incorporate into your lifestyle as walking up the stairs instead of taking the elevator, or walking briskly from the parking lot to eating habits. College students are notorious for having an unhealthy diet, overwhelmed with high fat, non-nutritious foods

Students also have a problem when they eat too quickly, says Thom. There is a 20-minute lag in the satiety mechanism message that the stomach sends to the brain. "Eating quickly overrides this system, and you keep eating after you are full," said Thom.

"It is so important to listen to your body. When you eat foods that are nutrient dense (high in vitamins. minerals, fiber etc.) you will find that your body reacts favorably, says Thom. "If, however, you eat a brownie and feel sluggish later, realize that this is a natural reaction to food you do not

"Another frustrating aspect of weight management is the unrealistic expectations I see in many students," Thom said. "We are deluged with role models that are too thin to be healthy for most of us. We must learn that we do not have to fit into that certain

by Adrienne Emmering Features Editor

In Daughters of De Beauvoir, filmed interviews with women activists and intellectuals reveal the scope of French philosopher Simone De Beauvoir's influence on the Women's Movement.

Shown at Parkland on March 2, the film was part of a video series celebrating Women's History Month.

In Daughters, feminist Kate Millett described how De Beauvoir's writings influenced her development as an activist. She was profoundly influenced by The Second Sex, De Beauvoir's best known and most influential work. Published over 40 years ago, The Second Sex describes and gives a voice to women's emotional, creative and economic dilemmas in a way which no work had done before.

Millett recalled the storm of negative criticism which The Second Sex attracted when first published. Women who questioned traditional sex roles in the early 1950s met with disapproval, even social ostracism, she noted. They were "frustrated, castrating bitches." In the early fifties, the independent woman couldn't rely on society's support in her effort to establish herself as a separate being. In the postwar era, a woman's life was shaped and defined solely through her relationship with a man. All the women interviewed identified with this situation, articulated so well in The Second Sex.

De Beauvoir decided at an early age to devote her life to intellectual pursuits. She wanted to study philosophy and write. A bright student, she soon learned that French society did not value the work of bright women. She persisted in her quest. Later, she allied herself with fellow student Jean Paul Sartre, soon to become France's leading philoso-

De Beauvoir maintained that social convention, not biology, determines much of women's social, sexual and economic destinies. She also believed that one may overcome biology (a position since questioned by moderate feminists).

De Beauvoir was a role model for many women. She strived to be a whole person, actively involving herself in life, politics and the creative process. She chose to shape events in her life rather than stand by and passively allow events to shape her.

The film points out De Beauvoir's ambivalance about female sexuality. Issues relating to female sexuality and response have been hotly debated since the 1960s. The Second Sex, however, glosses over many aspects of the subject. De Beauvoir commented that women "are often happy just to feel good all over." One woman felt discounted by such an evaluation of female response.

A new awareness of the importance of female sexuality (and its social/political ramifications) caused women interviewed to question this glossing over of female sexuality. De Beauvoir was, of course, hardly perfect. A product of another generation and culture. she did not achieve her ideal of complete independence in her relationships. In her decades-long involvement with Sartre she was awed by his reputation as an intellectual and devoted much more energy to the relationship than he.

In spite of her shortcomings, she was a role model for generations of feminists, a pioneer who lived a life of action and involvement. Simone De Beauvoir spoke her mind and acted at a time when most women were resigned to lives of silence and passiv-

Editorial Barkstall: ban handguns Black people ought to be be killed by handguns than this country.

Inspiring messages are often not enough

by John Hoffmeister Editor in Chief

"A great national adventure," is how President Clinton views a broad-based program that may offer up to 100,000 college students a chance to get education aid in exchange for community work.

And, indeed, a national adventure.

But this adventure is not going to take us to Country Club Dr., or Money Bags Ave. The adventure will be found in the South Central L.A.'s and Bronx's of the states. The back allies and filthy streets of the ghetto...the barred windows, a sign of warning to would be thieves.

The "national adventure" envisions 25,000 students participating in service programs in fiscal year 1994 at a federal cost of $400 million and grow to an estimated 100,000 students by 1997 at an annual cost of $3.4

"Do you want to learn?" is an intriguing question.

A simple "yes" is a majority answer. But is it that easy for the victim of a shattered local economy? You won't find it in Compton. The homeless, the street gang member or the unemployed, they're all there. Victims of negative influence, or trapped in the hood.

The program may not be specifically aimed this way; you can find those who would scream prejudice or racism at almost anything not in their economic favor.

But, nevertheless, here it is. A chance.

Choice graduation May 16

by Julie McDuffee Prospectus Staff Writer

Project Choice, a program to retrain personnel displaced by the closure of Chanute AFB, will have a graduation celebration at 3 p.m. May 16 in the Parkland Theater.

The celebration will honor students who, with the help of Choice, have or will be graduated by Dec. 1993.

Brig. Gen. Keith Tedrow, of Chanute, and Pres. Zelema Harris will speak as well as some graduates.

Project Choice (Chanute Outreach and Information Center) was begun in 1990, offering practical assistance and training before job loss for military, appropriated fund, non-appropriated fund, Army and Air Force Exchange Service, and conby the planned closure of Chanute Air Force Base scheduled for Sept., 1993,

By Spring, 1992, Choice students were enrolled in classes.

Choice recipients continue to work at their regular jobs at Chanute while going to school. Approximately 75 percent of the the students maintain a 3.5 GPA.

For most Choice students, work is nothing new. Take Joe Walbridge, for example.

Walbridge has worked for AAFES as a mechanic for more than 10 years. He has been a certified master mechanic for nine years.

The Walbridges have two daughters, Michelle, who has a degree from Parkland and now teaches school, and Jennifer, who is in high. Susan tractor employees affected Walbridge worked at the Chanute auto hobby shop.

Joe "likes to keep busy," so he has an auto repair shop in Fisher and teers at the auto hobby shop at Chanute.

When Choice offered classes, the Walbridges were ready to go. They both will get A.A.S. degrees in Business Management this

Joe has had an additional challenge along the way quadruple bypass heart surgery last October. He complained only that the three weeks he missed caused his GPA to drop to

State funding shows falling pattern

State support per full-time student fell in the early Eighties, recovered in the second half of that decade, but now is falling again.

College funding in jeopardy

Parkland would have to increase tuition $8 per credit hour to hold its own financially if the deteriorated rate of state funding is approved by the legislature.

"The recent tuition increase and expected future tuition increase will fall far short of covering the state funding shortfall," Kevin Northrup, vice president, Fiscal Services, said last week.

"The impact of reduced funding of community college is massive," Northrup said

Parkland and other community colleges receive most of their state financial support through credit hour funding. Budgeting for 1993-94 is based on rates and credit hours produced in 1991-92. Credit hours increased, but the rates fell drastically.

State support has fallen every year since 1990. Govenor Edgar's budget for 1993-94 shows an average credit hour rate of $24.71 or $741 per full-time student, down significantly from the $28.97 per credit hour or $869 per full-time student in 1989--90

If the state funding formula supported by the govenor is adopted, Parkland would receive over $1,330,000 less in the 1993-94 fiscal year than it would have received if the funding rates for 1989-90 were used. This shortfall converts to an equivalent of approximately $8 per credit hour in tuition.

The baccalaureate reimbursement rate dropped $7.33 per credit hour (from $32.72 to $25.39). Health took the biggest hit — a $16 decrease - and then remedial education with a $14.80 per credit hour decrease.

Northrup said that cur-Illinois the rently Community College Board and the Illinois Community Association staff are lobbying heavily to maintain the govenor's level of funding. It is possible that the General Assembly could reduce the appropriation rates even further, and "much effort is being expended to prevent that from happening," Northrup

In addition to his capacity as a vice president, Northrup also serves as Parkland's Legislative Action Officer and works closely with the ICCB and ICCTA on legislative issues.

Project Read Volunteers

Volunteer tutors are needed in the Paxton area for Project Read, a non-profit adult literacy volunteer program based in Rantoul and administered by Parkland College.

According to the U.S. Census, 2 million people in Illinois are functionally illiterate or lacking the reading skills necessary to deal with everyday situations such as filling out applications, reading warning labels, or reading notes from a child's teacher.

Project Read tutors spend a few hours a week helping a person in their community learn to read. There are currently more than 250 volunteers in Champaign and Ford Counties who are teaching basic skills as well as Englishas-a-second-language.

There is no cost involved, and the tutoring sessions are private. Those interested in volunteering or those who know someone in need of Project Read's services should call 217/839-1867.

Home Buyer's Seminar

Parkland College and seven area banks will be sponsoring a two-part informational seminar for potential homeowners on April 8 and 15 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in room X320.

The Home Buyer's Seminar will offer guidance on budgeting, home inspection, prequalification for loans, closings, and other important steps involved in purchasing a home.

There is a fee. For more information: 217/351-2508.

Career Planning Seminar

A free Career Planning Seminar will be offered by the Parkland College Adult Learning Opportunities program on April 8 from noon to 2 p.m. in room A 184.

The seminar will give participants who are considering career change an opportunity to explore their interests, abilities, values, and goals, as well as to ask questions and chedule an appointment with a career counselor, if desired. Gerry Hough, director of Parkland's Career Planning Center, and Ada Waddell, Admissions representative, will discuss the career development process. For more information, call 217/351-2390.

Betsy Maville

Hi. My name is Betsy Maville. I am running for Treasurer of Student Government

I am a freshman at Parkland College as a music major.

If I were elected as treasurer, I feel that I would really benefit the Student Government. I realize that other candidates are going to say that, but I will benefit you as the students. I am open minded and always willing to make changes that better you as a student.

Thank you. Vote for me.

Tony Tangora

Hello Parkland College. My name is Tony Tangora

and I am running for reelection to the office of Senator of Student Government

I am originally from Champaign and will be a sophomore next year. I am a full-time student holding down two part-time jobs while paying my way through school.

If re-elected, I will address the critical parking situation here on the campus. I will further pursue the idea of an off-campus dance at one of the finest dancing establishments in

I am also very interested in hearing any and all of your questions, comments, and ideas.

Thank you for your time and vote!

Senator Tangora

Ann Thompson

Hi, my name is Ann Thompson. I am the incumbent secretary for the Parkland Senate.

I feel that I could represent a wide variety of Parkland students. I am 18-years old and this will be my second semester at Parkland. Last semester I was voted in as a senator and was appointed to the secretary's position.

I would appreciate your vote in the upcoming election.

Wendie West

Hi! My name is Wendie West. I am running for the position of senator for Student Government. I feel that I am very qualified for this position. My past experience consists of four years of student government in high school, as well as one semester as parliamentarian here at Parkland College.

I am very open, outgoing, and very supportive of our student body. I am very in tune with what is happening on campus through working for the Prospectus, Health Safety and Security, and being a supportive cheerleader of our basketball team. My goal is to make our college atmosphere more student-oriented and fun.

With your vote, I guarantee all your ideas will be represented well and be considered with serious thought.

Let your voice be heard on campus. Cast your vote in the right direction---WEST!!

The Agony of Loss by Sue Unzicker

Fluid shapes in metals show

by Adrienne Emmering Prospectus Staff Writer

Fluid shapes reminiscent of the art deco style of the 1920s and 30s and surreal, abstract images are among the items displayed at the Parkland Gallery.

Parkland's current show, Metals Illinois, focuses on metal work done by contemporary Illinois artists. The exhibit's offerings range from jewelry and household utensils to abstract sculptural pieces. Items such as decorative lamps, cups and candlesticks round out the show's collection of metalwork.

One exhibit, Confetti, (1990), by Billie Jean Theide, is a tall silver cup encrusted with jewel-like red and green shapes mounted on the clean abstract body of the cup. The aluminum forms are deresemble signed to mounted precious stones.

Untitled, by Lisa Costello, departs from the general style of the work on display. Of copper, enamel and wood, the sculpture depicts a distorted, cartoony, oneeved face, surrounded by wire hair, topped by a metal crown. A spirit of humor and playfulness characterizes the piece.

In Illuminant for a Far Off Day, artist Dennis French has designed a lamp in which curving multicolored shapes contrast with the straight lines of a plain steel base. The base, made of materials similar to those from construction sites, is simple and utilitarian. French has taken mundane materials and created an elegant, personalized design from them. In his works, all lamps, French focuses on creating a utilitarian object and personalizes them with a designer's unique aesthetic sense.

Artist Sue Unzicker, in designed and crafted.

The Agony of Loss (1990), presents a series of sculptures depicting several nude female chests. The breast areas open to reveal nails protruding from the heart. The symbolism here, however, is a bit obvious in its relationship to the work's Gateway Necklace/Pin, by Aaron Macsai is a V-shaped pendant/pin done in a style reminiscent of art deco. Various shapes, including what appears to be an ice cream cone topped by a sunburst pattern, are welded together to form a tiny sculptural piece which can be worn as either a pin or pendant. The artist displays the attention to detail necessary to produce such a small metal piece.

The show emphasizes both the beauty and functionality of metal work. The works displayed are both useful as well as artfully

Self-defense course at Parkland College

Sexual assault

is a problem for everyone 99

by Jennifer Polson Prospectus Staff Writer

A self-defense course for women is among the events that are planned at Parkland and throughout Champaign-Urbana during National Sexual Awareness Month of April.

"Sexual assault is a problem for everyone," said Parkland health educator Jan Thom.

Thom said the course is helpful to women in order for them to feel in control and to "not be afraid to walk out at night."

"Men can stop sexual assault; women can take the course," said Thom.

The course which is held April 6 through May 11, from 7 to 9 pm, uses practice, role playing, and discussion to teach women mental strategies and physical techniques of self-defense.

"We need to realize that it's the men's behavior that's going to have to change. It's not blaming the victim," Thom said.

The course is taught by Jacqueline Madden, who Thom said, "uses a combination of martial arts moves."

"She uses some movements of karate and tae kwon do," Thom said.

The course which is held every semester, tries to evaluate positive things, Thom said.

Madden warns students of the danger signs that > individuals should look Thom for, said.

Thom also said there is a lot of yelling in the course.

"Voice is its own powerful weapon," Thom said.

Also during Sexual Awareness Month, a display case at the College Center will be shown April 5 to May 16.

"The big thing during Sexual Awareness Month is the 'Take Back the Night' march on April 30," said Thom.

There is a community rally before the march starting at 7:30 pm at the U of I Quad.

The march leaves the Quad at 8 pm.

Thom also said a program titled "Sexual Assault and Violence Against Women" will air April 8 at 6 pm on PCTV Channel 8.

Other program dates are April 15 through April

When I was first elected president of Student Government, there were many changes that needed to be addressed. First, we needed to create more professional enviroment. We the Student wanted Government to be a place where students could come and share their views and concerns. We have now achieved that goal. Second, we needed to redirect Student Government resources to more worthy projects and activities. The money the students give us each semester should only be used for programs that will improve our college and the experiences of our fellow students. We have now achieved that goal. Third,

Florida baseball trip big success

by Dennis Wismer Sports Writer

The Parkland Cobra baseball team started its 1993 campaign with a successful trip to Florida. After a first game loss to Gulf Coast (14-4), the Cobras rebounded to beat Marrietta, Ohio. 3-0.

Steve Ekhoff was overpowering as he held Marrietta to just two hits in a seven- inning complete game shutout. Ekhoff struck out four and walked none to even the Cobras' record to 1-1.

Willy Hilton continued the outstanding pitching as the Cobras beat Blackhawk College 4-1. Hilton struck out nine hitters in 5.3 innings for the victory, improving the Cobras' record to 2-1.

In the fourth game of the trip, Parkland turned up the heat offensively, torching Carl Sandburg 14-3 behind the hitting of Mark Odzga 2-2 with 3 rbi's. Kevin Harbour and Ed Eggebrecht each added 2 ribbies apiece in the rout.

The Cobras again beat Carl Sandburg 2-0 on the strength of Brad Turner's complete game shutout . Turner struck out 5 and walked 1 in the victory to run the Cobras win streak to 4 on the trip.

The Cobras faced Gulf Coast in a rematch of their 1st game loss. The Cobras behind Haifa's 2-run home run forged ahead to an 8-1 lead, but once again the Gulf Coast squad proved too much for Parkland as they rallied for an 11-9 win dropping the Cobras to 4-2.

The Cobras relied on a strong pitching performance to bounce back from the loss as Erik Anderson struck out 6 batters in 6.6 innings, and Dan Tintera struck out the final batter for his first save in a 5-1 win over Coffeeville, Kan.

Offensive support was provided by the trio of John Riva, Brian Wojtun and Odzga as they all were successful 2 times in 3 at bats.

In the rematch with Coffeeville Tintera gained his second save of the season in support of Mark Spears who gained the 6-2 scoreless innings in the game.

The Cobras were again involved in a pitcher's duel as Steve Ekhoff pitched his second complete game shutout of the trip. Parkland was held scoreless over the first six innings but rallied in the seventh to beat St. Louis Merrimac 2-0 on John Riva's game winning RBI.

The Cobras pitchers ran their scoreless innings streak to 17 as three pitchers combined for a shutout of Shawnee, and the offense exploded for 13 runs in the shelling.

Willie Hilton got his second victory of the trip against no losses, and Steve Muck and Lincoln Pettijohn provided the relief in this triple team shutout.

The offensive strength was provided by Chris Cuchra 4-4, 3rbi, Kerry Cheely 3-3 with a 2-run home run, and Angel Santiago, who contributed a 3 run dinger.

In the final game of the trip, the Parkland nine faced Lewis and Clark College. The Cobras reigned supreme with a 7-4 victory to finish the Florida trip at victory. Tintera pitched 3 9-2, which greatly pleased Coach Rod Lovett. Ed Eggebrecht and Cheely were perfect at the plate with 3-3 and 2-2 respectively, while Cuchra and Shawn Guenther each collected 2 hits in 4 at bats.

Josh Shelmadine was the winning pitcher, and Tintera collected his third save of the trip.

The Florida trip got Parkland off to a great start for the 1993 season, and several players stood out with exceptional efforts.

The hitting stars for the Cobras were Ed Eggebrecht 14-24 for a .583 batting average with 7 rbi's; Kerry Cheely 11-25, .440, 6 rbi's; Chris Cuchra 7-13, .539, 10 rbi's, and John Riva 9-26, for a .346 average.

The pitching stars for the Cobras were Steve Ekhoff 2 wins 0 losses with 2 complete game shutouts; Willie Hilton 2-0 with 11 strikeouts and an 0.84 ERA; John Shelmadyne 1-0 14 strikeouts and a 2.79 ERA, and relief ace Dan Tintera 3 saves, 8 strikeouts and a 0.00 ERA in 5 innings pitched.

The Cobras appear on the verge of a very successful season and have a great start. If the pitching can sustain the level it has reached in Florida over the full season and the team offense stays strong, the Cobras will be the hottest show in town.
