7 new Stugo senators sworn in

By CHARLES CRAIN
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

After a brief swearing-in ceremony, seven new members of Parkland Student Government joined the three returning members in the first meeting of the year last Thursday.

Carol Steinman, dean of Students and Student Government advisor, discussed the Leadership Conference that will be at Allerton Park Oct. 12 and 13. Steinman described the activities that will be aimed at conflict resolution, communication, and leadership skills.

Steinman also described the challenge course in which participants have to work as a team to solve a physical obstacle problem.

Parkland Student Government will be represented at the ICC-SAA conference in Carterville Ill., which will be attended by representatives of approximately 50 other Illinois community colleges.

Blessing Omoniyi, president, answered questions from new senators and said, "We want (students) to see that we are good representatives for them and that our office is open to them at any time."

The new members are Gwendolyn Wilson, vice-president, Linda Bealor; senator, Crystal Lange; senator, Rhonda Henderson; senator, Brett Weber; senator, Christina Bojanowski; senator, Jennifer Clark; secretary and De-shawn Johnson; senator.

Returning members were Blessing Omoniyi; president, Kelly Foster, student trustee, Angelica Naguib; senator, Rory Nolan; student ambassador and Rami Noura; senator.

Deadline for PC Foudation scholarships Nov. 15

The deadline for 10 Parkland Foundation scholarships for the spring semester in a variety of fields is Nov. 15.

Faculty and Staff Scholarships for the A.A. or A.S. degree offer an award of $500. The student must have completed a minimum of 29 semester hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.0. Applications are available in the Parkland Financial Aid office.

The Julia F. Burnham Scholarship offers an award of $400.

This scholarship was created by the Burnham Hospital Auxiliary to assist students enrolled in the human health programs at Parkland.

The applicant must have completed his or her first semester at Parkland, have a GPA of 3.0 or better at Parkland at the time of application, and have completed at least six semester hours of credit at the time of application. Students may apply in the Financial Aid office.

The student must have a financial need and be a permanent resident of District 505.

Established in memory of Scott Alender, a Parkland broadcast major, the T.S. Alender Memorial Scholarship assists students in the broadcasting curriculum and is made possible through contributions of Scott's family, Parkland faculty, and staff. The award is for $100. Make application in the Financial Aid office.

The Ted Silver Scholarship is for a male sophomore nursing student who has a satisfactory GPA and a good moral character. The recipient is chosen by the nursing staff.

The award for this scholarship varies. Applications are available in the Financial Aid Office or Parkland Nursing Department.

Established in memory of CDR Leonard H. Nettin USN (Ret.), a former counselor and veteran's coordinator at Parkland, this award is made to a veteran who has completed at least 12 hours of college level work at Parkland with a minimum GPA of 2.50.

Preference is given to a Navy or Air Force veteran.

The award is $200 per semester. Applications are available in the Financial Aid office.

The Herbert Seto Memorial Scholarship was established in memory of the Parkland chemistry instructor.

The recipient must have earned at least 12 semester hours with a cumulative GPA of 3.25 and have been selected by the chemistry faculty.

The student must be enrolled in CHE 102, 201, or 202 at the time the award is given.

Application for the $200 award may be made in the Department of Natural Sciences, L 117.

The Roby Gregory Barnes

Memorial Scholarship was established by her family in 1993. The award is given to a student who has completed the Education 101 course with at least a B grade, has an overall GPA of 2.8 or above, and submits a one-page essay on why the applicant wishes to become a teacher.

Application for the $100 award may be made in the Parkland Financial Aid office.

Established in memory of Judi Davis Weatherall, a former Parkland nursing instructor, this award is for a student currently enrolled in nursing and with a GPA of 3.5 or above in all completed nursing courses. Consideration is given to students active in SNAP and/or other student organizations and/or is a member of SNAI.

The award amount varies, and applications are available in the Financial Aid office or the Nursing Department, room L 120.

PC Police Reports

Sept. 18

An officer stopped a vehicle on campus for failure to signal a right turn. When the vehicle was inspected, it had no operable lights, turn signals, or seatbelts. The car was also uninsured. The driver was issued an Illinois Traffic Citation for operation of an uninsured vehicle, along with an individual bond and a courtdate.

Sept. 18

During an officer initiated traffic stop, officers discovered that the driver of the vehicle had a suspended driver's license. Seeing no need to warrant an arrest, the officer advised the driver to contact the Secretary of State and have the problem rectified. No arrests or tickets were issued.

Sept. 19

During a criminal investigation in the M-wing, an officer found that an involved party had a valid arrest warrant from another county. The officer confirmed the warrant and then arrested the subject. The offender was then transported by the officer to the Champaign County Correctional Facility.

Sept. 22

An officer was requested to check on a suspicious person wandering around the M-1 parking lot. The officer quickly located the person and asked for identification. The subject had no Parkland identification and was somewhat uncooperative. The officer checked the subject's background for outstanding warrants, but none were found. The officer requested that the subject leave the campus immediately and they complied.

Sept. 22

Officers did a sweep of all restrooms in Parkland to look for graffiti.

Sept. 22

Officers were called to the C-3 parking lot to investigate an unoccupied vehicle. While checking the vehicle one of the officers noticed what appeared to be a handgun lying in plain view on the rear floorboard of the vehicle. The owner of the vehicle returned and gave consent for the officers to do a weapon search on the vehicle. The handgun turned out to be a toy replica of a real handgun. The owner of the vehicle said that it belonged to her son and had no idea that it was even in the car. The officers re-

Sept. 23

Officers were sent out to investigate a Hit and Run in lot B-7. After investigation, a report was filed.

PC students work in 2 museums

BY CHRISTOPHER WILSON
PROSPECTUS ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR

Twenty-one Parkland students spent their summer vacations volunteering their time at local museums. Their involvement in these programs was aided by the Early American History Museum outside of Mahomet and the Rantoul Aviation Museum.

Charles Sauer says he got involved in Parkland's History 105 museum project "because it was something different," not the same old lecture-paper-final exam format.

Taught by Bruce Walker, the in-service learning portion of HIS 102 and 105 give students a chance to learn about what they are being taught in a hands-on environment. Students are given the option of volunteering 15 hours at one of the museums or an eight-page paper.

"Students are usually given a choice as to what they do," Walker said. Students in the two sections started the class with a tour of th facility. Then they were given the choice of various jobs: keeping the inventory of artifacts current writing press releases, writing brochures for the museums, designing pages for the world-wide web, and cleaning artifacts.

"The students are involved in every aspect" said Cheryl Kennedy, curator of th Mahomet facility. "They are working hands-on for us."

Charlie Tice an eight-year veteran of the Mahomet museum, said, "These Parkland students are fantastic. They're great fast workers."

Eunae Cho said of the work in Mahomet "The work experience was a positive one for me because it made it so much more real. It's not something I just hear about anymore. I understand it better now."

Cherie Boudreaux, volunteer coordinator of the Rantoul facility said of one PC student: "She had an excellent attitude cheerful and thorough. And always came eager to work."

Lynn Eyman, a volunteer at the Rantoul Museum, said, "I enjoyed my work experience there (at the Rantoul facility). I had never been to a military museum, and the opportunity to explore it was fascinating I was truly impressed with the patriotic pride shown through the displays that I think our country lacks today."

One student was offered a permanent position with th Mahomet museum. "She is intelligent and quick to learn. She shows initiative in dealing with problems; is organized and articulate," said Charles Keller the collections manger of the Early American Museum.

The class is offered every semester.

A WEEK WITHOUT PROSPECTUS COULD BE HAZARDOUS TO YOUR HEALTH

Many irons in the fire for new Activities Program Manager

By DONNA LENTS-JOHNSON
PROSPECTUS SPORTS EDITOR

The anxious rush of settling into a new job during the first few weeks of school can often affect a person in an unsettling way. Not so for Parkland's newest faculty member, Activities Program Manager, Isabel Castro.

Originally from Astoria, N. Y., Castro decided to attend Greenville College. "I wanted to go away to college and Greenville looked like the best to me." Greenville College is located not far from Greenville, Ill., which is between Vandalia and St. Louis in Southern Illinois. Castro earned a BA in Psychology and an MA in Education, after which she remained in Greenville to work at the school. While working as assistant resident director for two years, she also worked with minority mentoring programs in the local high schools and developed retention programs for children.

While visiting a friend in Georgetown, this summer, Castro worked in a boys' camp. There were two locations for the camps, one in Danville and the other in Cayuga, Ind. "Working with the kids was very interesting. We were very busy all of the time keeping them occupied, taking them on outings, finding ways to keep them entertained during the summer, yet disciplining when necessary." Recently, Castro was offered the position of Activities Program Manager and says she is happy to be here.

Castro has a lot of irons in the fire for upcoming student activities. "I have a lot of projects that I am working on...still researching ideas." Nothing has been definitely planned but she has some ideas for the spring Welcome Back get-together compared to the Welcome Back activity to be bigger in the spring, maybe bring in outside vendors, include more information for students, perhaps more food. I have a carnival-type atmosphere in mind but on a much smaller scale," she said. Also in the works are some dances and maybe a dinner theatre activity. "We have a lot ahead of us. I'd like to find a way to get students more active (and) take advantage of services offered ..."

Castro has an open door policy. "I want students to come and see me anytime, drop a note, or stop by my office (X149). I would like to hear their ideas involving activities that could be enjoyed by everyone."

Typically, student activities are restricted to students. Castro says, "... I'd like to implement something that would allow students to bring family or friends. A student's support of family and friends are at home, in his neighborhood. I think the reason so few students attend functions is that the functions are limited to only the student. If we allow students to bring family and friends, I think we'll see a larger attendance at these get-togethers."

Changes in the student activity schedule are not the only variety Castro is incorporating in her life. She is in the process of redecorating her office, "When I have time," she says with a wry smile.

An aficionado of interior decorating, her eyes twinkled as she looked around the bare-walled office. "It will look different when I'm finished!"

Isabel Castro

Castro is looking forward to meeting students and getting ideas. If students are interested in working with the Activities Board, they can stop by my office near the Student Activity Center in room X 149.

GUITAR SLINGER; FIERY HOT ROCK

BY CHRISTOPHER WILSON
PROSPECTUS ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR

As the ex-leader of the Stray Cats, Setzer knows his way around nostalgia. The difference between Setzer and a pure nostalgic act is in his sincerity. He has been dedicated to performing his type of music for decades. Others, such as Sinead O'Connor, have attempted swing-rock albums in the past, but they never quite got past the novelty of the idea.

The album could have been written right around 1958. The songs cover a wide array of past genres from straight swing ("Town Without Pity") to jazz ("Sammy Davis City") to fifties' rockabilly ("Johnny Kool").

When listening to the lyrics, only one word comes to mind—cool. "(The Legend of) Johnny Kool" gives me a picture of a guy who has decided that he is the essence of cool. "I had one cup of coffee/ and a cigarette/ then I rolled out of bed/ with my shirt soaking wet," starts the song off. It paints a picture of the man as a loner, just plain cool in everything he does. "Sammy Davis City" pays homage to the late man of swing in a Sinatra-esque voice. "Nothing pretentious/ I haven't changed/ I got 60 billion/ but I'm still the same," gives the listener a look at the cool side of Mr. Davis.

Musically, Guitar Slinger is on fire. The instrumentation is a fabulous three-piece rock band with a 14-piece horn section. They handle everything quite well, from the rockers to the ballads. The horns on "Every Time I Hear That Mellow Saxophone" put you in a dancing mood, and the slow, jazzy bassline of "Sammy Davis City" almost brings a tear to the eye.

The only recommendation I have regarding this album is that you buy it, put it on and let your body take control. Guitar Slinger is not to be missed by anyone.

When Brian Setzer kicks off his latest album, Guitar Slinger, with a slide of the pick down the strings of his guitar, he means business. The first chords and walking bass lines get you dancing, and keeps you going for the full 44 minutes of the disc. Kicking off the album, Brian and his 17-piece orchestra cover "The House is Rockin'," a high octane blues-rocker by the late-great Stevie Ray Vaughn. He keeps the pace going with the speedy swing of "Hoodoo Voodoo Doll," an original in the beat style of some of Sinatra's quicker numbers. Then comes the big surprise of a downplayed version of "A Town Without Pity."

Those are just the first few tracks. Guitar Slinger is one of those albums that just grabs ahold of the listener and refuse to let go until it has played out.

Sublime: hardly what it suggests

BY CHRISTOPHER WILSON
PROSPECTUS ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR

Sublime's self-titled major label debut album is one of the most disappointing releases of the year. Unfortunately, the album is being heavily touted as an interesting blend of ska, rap, and garage rock. While the combination may sound interesting on paper, the execution could use some work.

The group is a trio from Long Beach, Ca. Lead singer Brad has been quoted as saying, "They [critics] will be up all night trying to slap a label on Sublime. Good music is good music, and that should be enough for everybody." While that might be true, Sublime needs a little bit of practice before stepping out onto the stage. Their music is not good yet.

Let's start with the interesting treatment of lyrics by Brad, the songwriter of the group. He sounds like a fourteen-year-old high school hooligan. Most of the lyrics are too offensive to print, but the fact that they seem to be offensive only for shock value doesn't make you feel any better about them being included on the album itself. Sublime's lyrics contain a general air of womanizing. That may have been acceptable 30 years ago, but today, that's a big no-no. "Seed" is exceptionally offensive. "Wrong Way," however, takes a step in the right direction by steering a young girl away from an immoral life.

light/ Light me up that cigarette/ And I strap shoes on my feet," and "But I got a dalmatian/ And I can still get high/ And I can play the guitar." Sublime glorifies and denounces drug usage within the boundaries of the song.

Drug glorification is another major problem on the album. They make it evidently clear what they are doing with their spare time, not only in the lyrics, but in the liner art and their musician-ship as well.

Their playing is not technically complex, and they attempt to cover that up by drowning the album in overblown production. "What I Got" bounces back and forth from the right to left channels enough to make someone sea sick. The use of "unexpected" samples throughout the album adds nothing to the mix, and the sound is just entirely too clean.

Sublime means lofty or elevated, and Sublime is hardly that. Unless you would like to feel like you need to be reminded how bad life can be, do not put yourself through the pain of listening to this album.

IRONICALLY, THE TIME TO START SAVING FOR RETIREMENT IS WHEN IT LOOKS LIKE YOU CAN LEAST AFFORD IT.

Can't afford to save for retirement? The truth is, you can't afford not to. Not when you realize that your retirement can last 20 to 30 years or more. You'll want to live at least as comfortably then as you do now. And that takes planning.

By starting to save now, you can take advantage of tax deferral and give your money time to compound and grow. Consider this: Set aside just $100 each month beginning at age 30 and you can accumulate over $172,109* by the time you reach age 65. But wait ten years and you'll have to budget $219 each month to reach the same goal.

Even if you're not counting the years to retirement, you can count on TIAA-CREF to help you build the future you deserve—with flexible retirement and tax-deferred annuity plans, a diverse portfolio of investment choices, and a record of personal service that spans 75 years.

Over 1.8 million people in education and research put TIAA-CREF at the top of their list for retirement planning. Why not join them?

Call today and learn how simple it is to build a secure tomorrow when you have time and TIAA-CREF working on your side.

Start planning your future. Call our Enrollment Hotline at 1 800 842-2888.

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™

*Assuming an interest rate of 7% credited to TIAA Retirement Annuities. This rate is used solely to show the power and effect of compounding. Lower or higher rates would produce very different results. CREF certificates are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services.

PC Volleyball looking strong

By JACOB LIVENGOOD
PROSPECTUS SPORTS WRITER

Parkland's Volleyball team has faced a difficult field of competition lately. Going against powerhouses Kankakee (currently second in the nation) and Belleville (third in the nation last year), has certainly increased the team's level of experience.

"We had a two and a half hour match with Kankakee, which was good. It was very enlightening for the team," PC Coach Brenda Winkeler said after a tough loss to Kankakee.

The Cobras lost to Kankakee 7-15, 15-9, 15-3, 8-15, 10-15.

Erika Brez finished the contest with 17 kills and Sigele Overstreet had 21 digs.

Winkeler's squad then traveled to play Lincoln Land in their first conference match.

The Cobras won 13-15, 15-7, 15-7, 15-10. Sigele Overstreet and Erika Brez led the way with 11 and 16 kills, respectively.

Parkland's next stop was the Belleville Tournament. The Cobras started the tourney matched with Belleville College. PC lost to Bellville 4-15, 3-15, 12-15.

"We didn't play very well against them at all," commented Winkeler.

The Cobras bounced back with a straight set victory over Lewis & Clark 15-3, 15-4, 15-5. Jamie Dague had 4 service aces and Erika Brez added 13 kills.

Finishing the Belleville tournament, PC faced Wabash College. The Cobras won 15-7, 16-14, 15-7. The match was highlighted by Erika Brez's 21 kills, Sigele Overstreet's 12 digs and 8 kills, and Jamie Dague's 7 kills and 5 aces.

Lincoln College was next up for PC. Competing in their second conference game, the Cobras won 15-4, 10-15, 15-10, 15-3. Erika Brez had 18 kills, Sigele Overstreet had 8 digs, and Tasha Smith added 7 kills.

The Cobras next challenge is the competitive Rock Valley Tournament. They will compete in a field of 16 teams, which are divided into 4 pools of 4.

"There are a lot of good teams there: Belleville, Kankakee, and a team from Iowa that is usually ranked in the nation," said Winkeler.

Parkland will compete in a pool against South West Michigan, Lake County, and Elgin Community College. They will play each of these teams and receive a seed according to their record.

The top two seeds in each pool will advance to compete for the top 8 positions (gold medal round), while the bottom two seed will compete for the last 8 positions.

"It's definitely our goal to be in the top 8 of the tourney. Each year we've been able to accomplish that," said Winkeler.

Parkland is 9-6 overall and 2-0 in conference.

Golf team sixth at invitational

By JACOB LIVENGOOD
PROSPECTUS SPORTS WRITER

Parkland's Golfers placed sixth at the Lincoln Trail Invitational in Robinson on Sept. 19 and 20.

PC's squad shot a 329 in the final round to edge Spoon River, 680 to 704.

The Cobras were led by Eric Frese's total score of 163 and a second round score of 79. Bruce McNary shot a second round 78 to finish with a 164, and Dave Holzner finished the tourney with a 167 and a second round of 80.

Parkland's scores included:

Eric Frese first round of 84, second round 78, final score of 163; Bruce McNary 86-78-164; Dave Holzner 87-80-167; Matt Curl 94-92-186; Derek Meinhart 98-93-191.

Greg Thom's squad will play next at the Lincoln College Invitational on Sept. 26 and 27.
