

Parkland College Art Gallery will open their exhibit "In the Works". This exhibit will focus in on and provide a glimpse of the creative process and problem-solving skills that bring a work to its fruition. "In the Works" will be taking place from November 5 to December 11. For more information, call 351-2485.

Parkland College, along with eight area banks, will sponsor a two-part informational seminar for potential homeowners on Thursdays, November 13, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in room X222. The fee for the seminar is $20 for up to two persons in one household. For more information, call 351-2235.

Making art, Creating images: Paths to healing and Self-Awareness" is the title of a discussion that is going to be presented by Victoria Outerbridge. Outerbridge is a practicing artist and art therapy intern at The Pavilion.

She believes that each of us has all we need inside of us to be complete. She will explore the ways in which the creation of images can enhance and enrich self knowledge, particularly in women.

The discussion is part of the Women's Health and Healing series, and will be held in room L111 on Thursday, Nov. 20 at noon.

Cathie Bishop, associate professor of office careers at Parkland College will reveal interviewing tips, tricks, and tidbits for both interviewers and interviewees during the "Interviewing Skills: Before, During, and After" workshop on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 12 and 13.

What to do in an interview and what questions are often asked in an interview will also be covered during the workshop, which will be held in room B127 from 3 to 5:30 p.m. The registration fee is $40 and more information can be reached at Parkland's Professional Office Institute at 217/351-2405.

The newly completed Surgical Technology program operating room at Parkland College will be open to the public to view on Wednesday, November 19 from 3 to 6 p.m. as part of the Surgical Technology open house. There will also be demonstrations of the equipment. The Surgical Technology room is located in L143.

Registration begins

Spring comes early to Parkland College--open registration for the spring 1998 semester at Parkland begins November 20.

January 9 will be the last day to register in person without a late fee, and classes begin January 12. The public is encouraged to register early for best course selection.

Students who have already completed the admission process can register for spring 1998 courses from any touch tone phone by calling 217/373-3700 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. any day of the week, including holidays. "Your Parkland Connection" telephones are also available on campus.

Those new to Parkland can start their enrollment at Parkland's Admissions office. Hours are Mondays through Thursdays, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Fridays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Saturdays, 9 a.m. to noon. The Admissions office will be closed November 27 through November 30 and December 20 through January 1.

Parkland offers a variety of courses during the day, in the evening, and on Saturdays, both on campus and at locations around the district.

Tuition and fees are $47 per credit hour.

Counselors and advisers are available during registration, and students may take advantage of other services such as orientation and success seminars, testing and assessment, and career planning and job placement.

For more registration information, contact the Office of Admissions and Records at 217/351-2482, or consult the class schedule which is mailed to all households in Community College District 505.

Welfare training at Parkland

As Romania redesigns its child welfare system, trying to leave in the past the days of crowded orphanages and children living in the streets, Parkland College is playing a significant role.

Through a program sponsored by the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), Parkland will coordinate child welfare administration training for 14 Romanians, mainly high level national and county government people involved in social service administration.

The Romanian visitors taking part in the month-long Child Welfare Administrator Training Program are scheduled to arrive in the United States Sunday, November 2. They will be accompanied by two interpreters and a USAID observer.

According to Kathy Wehrmann, coordinator of the program, Parkland College was chosen to coordinate the training due to its own activity in child welfare through the Child Development Center and the Foster Parent Training Program and because of Illinois' reputation as a leader in child welfare.

The Romanian contingent will meet with Parkland representatives in Washington, D.C., November 2. While in Washington, the group will look at national child welfare organizations such as the Child Welfare League of America and the American Public Welfare association.

Program participants will arrive in Champaign on Thursday, November 6. They will travel to Chicago, Springfield, Peoria, and Bloomington to talk with representatives from the Department of Children and family Services and various social services agencies. While in Champaign County, the Romanian visitors will tour several support services for children, including the Crisis Nursery, Cunningham Children's Home, Hope for the Children, the Mental Health Center, Juvenile Court, and Parkland College Child Development Center. Throughout the visit, they will hear presentations for experts from the University of Illinois, state agencies, and social service organizations and learn how to apply their knowledge in their own country.

The Romanians will leave Champaign for home November 28.

POLICE REPORTS

Monday, November 3

• Officers were called to a M-wing classroom to remove two students. The students were arguing with their instructor and causing a disruption in the class. The officers were able to persuade the two students to leave so that class could resume.

Tuesday, November 4

• A student reported the theft of a checkbook from her bookbag. The student stated that she left her bookbag with some friends in the flag lounge and upon her return she was unable to locate her checkbook.

• A student reported that he had discovered damage to the windshield of his car in parking lot B-7. It appeared that something struck his windshield causing it to "spider."

• A campus visitor reported the theft of her purse from the library. The victim stated that she left her purse in the Audio/Visual area and returned to find it missing. The purse is described as green with brown trim. The purse was later found in the trash can. The money in the purse had been taken. The purse and the rest of the contents were returned to the owner.

Wednesday, November 5

• A staff member reported the theft of a computer and a monitor from the M-108 computer lab storage area. Stolen are a Gateway 200 model E3000 computer and a Gateway 2000 17" monitor.

Thursday, November 6

During the week the Department of Public Safety responded to four emergency calls and 184 calls for service.

Live From 6A
Mercury Records

All you fans of Conan O'Brians Late Show are in for a treat. Live performances from bands on the show make up this great disc.

This compilation of various artist range from Edwin collins to 311. The music is recorded live just as seen on t.v.

There are many good performances on this c.d. as it contains thirteen of todays best bands in the alternative music scene

Dave Matthews Band: ☆☆☆☆
Live at Red Rocks 8/15/95
Capitol Records

Dave Matthews Band has finally come out with the long awaited double disc live album.

The album was recorded in Denver's Red Rocks amphitheatre in August of 1995. The cd offers music for fans spanning the bands three albums (Remember Two Things, Under The Table and Dreaming, and Crash).

Dave and the hband put on a spectacular show and hold nothing back. There are solos performed by all the band membersthat let you really appreciate the bands musical talent. Also included are some surprise fragments of different covers thae are implimented into other songs.

Dave Matthews Band also seems to really remember ther fans on this album. The double disc is between 14.99 and 15.99, now thats a steal and just in time for the holiday season.

Anyone who enjoys Dave Matthews or good instrumentation, should pick up this album, it is definitely a keeper.

Parkland College will offer 15 telecourses during the spring 1998 semester for area learners who want a flexible alternative to classroom instruction.

A telecourse includes weekly video lessons, requires readings and assignments, meetings with Parkland faculty, and scheduled on-campus exams. Those who successfully complete a telecourse earn three to four hours of college credit, depending on the course.

The telecourses are: Introduction to Cultural Anthropology (ANT 103-081); Introduction to Business (BUS 101-081); Principals of Business Law (BUS 205-081); Principals of Economics I (ECO 101-081); Principal of Economics II (102-081); History of the U.S., 1865 - Present (HIS 105-081); Principles of Management (MGT 101-081); Introduction to Marketing (MKT 101-081); Ethics in America (PHI 107-081); American National Government (POS 122-081); Introduction to Psychology (PSY 101-081); Introduction to Child Psychology (PSY 207-081); and Introduction to Sociology (SOC 101-081). Courses that start at midterm are Introduction to Psychology (PSY 101-082) and Introduction to Sociology (SOC 101-082).

Students can attend these college classes in their own homes. The courses will air on the Parkland College Educational Television channel--Time Warner Cable Channel 9 in Champaign-Urbana and Heartland Wireless Cable, Channel 50.

As a public Service, several area video rental stores and libraries check out videotape lessons free to registered telecourse students. They are: Champaign: Parkland Library; Forrest: Forrest Library; Gibson City: Moyer Library; Leroy: J.T. and E.J. Crumbaugh Memorial Library; Monticello: Monticello Video; Paxton: Paxton Carnegie Library; Rantoul: Movie Trak Video and Rantoul Area Learning Center (Myna Thompson, Room 205); St. Joseph: St. Joseph Library; and Tuscola: Take One Video and the Tuscola Library.

Registration for telecourses is the same for any other course and can be done on campus or by phone (217/373-3700). For more information, call the Office of Admissions, 217/351-2208; the department offices; or the telecourse coordinator, 217/373-3893.

Larger Pell Grants a possibility

By COLLEGE PRESS
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

The most needy college students could receive larger Pell grants and remain eligible for aid even if they work, under legislation set for approval in Congress.

The measure endorsed by House and Senate leaders should result in more funds for Pell Grants and more realistic eligibility standards for working students, say student leaders. The measure is expected to be forwarded to the President.

Under the new Pell Grants, the neediest students could receive up to $3,000 a year, up from the current maximum of $2,700. Lawmakers also set aside $400 million to address a tricky eligibility problem that critics say discourages college students from working to raise money for their education.

Under current law, independent students who do not rely on family contributions can only earn up to $3,000 a year before they start to lose their Pell Grant Eligibility. The new bill would raise the limit to $4,250.

Students who are married or who have children could earn up to $7,250 and still remain eligible. Dependent students who currently can only earn $1,750 a year will be increased to $2,200 before they lose eligibility.

Student leaders say these gains are important, but Congress must do more to address these issues.

"This is a step in the right direction, but we need to see further expansion to see that independent and dependent students have access," said Erica Adelsheimer, legislative director for the United States Student Association (USSA).

USSA had projected

Congress would need about $700 million to make major changes in eligibility for independent and dependent students, but after intense discussions in the House of Representatives and the Senate, only $430 million was reserved.

USSA and other education groups wanted Congress to return to old rules that governed independent and dependent students before 1992.

Under those rules, a dependent student could earn up to 4,250 and an independent student could earn up to $6,400 a year and still remain fully eligible.

"We appreciate the action House and Senate appropriators have just taken," said Adelsheimer said, however USSA will pursue more generous income protections when Congress reauthorizes the Higher Education Act and all major student aid programs next year, she said.

Do you agree with the judge's verdict to reduce Louise Woodward's sentence to manslaughter?

Cinnamon Wells...

"I don't agree the reason why is because I'm for capitol punishment. Eye for and eye"

Shawn Pearson...

"No, I don't agree because she was found guilty and should have to face the most severe punishment."

Brian Delestowicz...

"I believe that the manslaughter verdict is suitable for this particular case. Louise Woodward obviously had not meant to kill the child, it was an accident, but due to a previous injury the accident became fatal."

Michael Gadhafi-Castro...

"I don't agree with the charge of manslaughter due to the sensitive nature that a precious child's life is gone and the fact that the media has shown the Never-Shake-a-baby commercial too much."

J.C. Castro...

"No, because she should be shaken teh same way she did the child."

Jan Lam...

"Yes, she deserves the punishment. Woodward needs to come to reality and accept her responsibilities for the death of this innocent child."

Nein Town Still on their way up

By STEVE WEST
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

There are many local bands in the Champaign-Urbana area, but only a few really grab your attention. Nein Town Still is one of those bands.

Recently NTS took time out of their busy schedule to talk to the Prospectus. The band was formed in 1993 and consists of Cameron McGill vocals/guitar, Ryan Becker bass, Paul Callen drums and Andrew Fraker on lead guitar.

As the interview progressed the band became quite jovial in their answers. For example, anyone looking for a deep meaning into the band's name should'nt look too far. According to Cameron it just sounds better than Eight Town Still. Do not underestimate these guys though, for as laid back as they seem, when the topic turns back to music, the band is dead serious about what they are doing.

Nein Town Still have influences in their music such as Dave Matthews and having fun — and it definitely shows in their music and stage show.

The band played their household name on campus and just this last weekend played the Cubby Bear in Chicago.

Nein Town Still released their first cd Biographies of My Friends in February. The band is currently working on their second album as well as looking at their options with several different record companies.

Nein Town Still is very busy these days and is planning to relocate to Chicago. This great band may be the next big band to make it big out of Champaign. Now is the time to go out and support these guys and the great music they play.

Nein Town Can be seen Nov.15 at the Clybourne or Nov.22 with Robert Bradleys Black Water Surprise. Anyone wishing to contact the band can do so at their web site nts@prairie.net. Hope to see everyone at the show.

Band, U2, and the Beatles. Put together with the band's own creative talent the result is some great energetic music. On and off the stage these guys are all about the music first show at a little bar named BC. According to Fraker, the band played a New Years Eve show for four hours and made a whopping $75. Four years later, Nein Town Still is a

There were three men that were staying at a hotel for the night. The room cost $30, so they each paid $10. After they had gone up to their room, the clerk remembered that there was a $5 discount. He went up to their room and said, "There was a $3 discount that I forgot about. Here is one dollar apiece for you." With that money returned to them, it was as if they had each paid $9. That amount, multiplied by three men, plus the $2 that the clerk kept, only makes $29. Where is the last dollar?

ALLOWING US TO

The men had $30, the clerk had $2, and the hotel had $25. That adds up to $30.

For whom the 'Belleville' tolls

By NICHOLAS TRAXLER
PROSPECTUS SPORTS EDITOR

"Belleville spikers dash Lady Cobras hopes of reaching Nationals."

Godfrey, IL.— The 1997 Volleyball season ended this past weekend for the Lady Cobra spikers. The club finished a remarkable season with a record of 36 wins and 20 defeats.

Belleville Community College singlehandedly forced the Lady Cobras out of the Region 24 finals by beating them twice in two days. The finals, played in Godfrey, Ill., matched Parkland against Belleville to open play. The team played well, but Belleville prevailed.

On Saturday, Parkland rebounded against a tough Wabash Valley squad to stay alive in the double elimination tournament. Again, Coach Winkeler's spikers had to face Belleville. In a close match, Belleville ended the Lady Cobras' hopes for a berth in Miami, Fla. (site of the National Tournament) in four games.

Although the weekend ended with a defeat, it did produce some individual accolades for members of the team. Middle Hitter and sure to be selected All-America, Erika Brez led the team throughout the tournament and earned a place on the All-Region 24 first team.

Sophomores Tracy Chaplin and Megan Grafton were also honored. They were selected as representatives of the All-Region 24 second team.

As we all know if an award would have been given for the best bench, P.C. Cobras would certainly have taken that too.

Congratulations to the Lady Cobras, Coach Winkeler and Coach Hamilton on an exciting and productive season. We are proud of your representation of the school on and off the court.

Season wrap up will be in the next issue.

Intramurals into gear

By NICHOLAS TRAXLER
PROSPECTUS SPORTS EDITOR

Intramural Basketball is in full swing on Wednesday nights from 7-10p.m. The league has seven teams vying for the Intramural Championship to be given out at the end of the semester. Next week we will post team standings and individual points leaders for each contest. Be looking also in the P-Building's lower level for scores standings and Intramural updates on the intramural board just outside Tim Wulf's office.P-110.

Also the Intramural staff has informed me that there will be a casino boat cruise for all Parkland students and staff for the 5th of December. They have packaged an incredible round-trip jaunt to the Peoria Riverboat(including a buffet meal) for only $8.00! Any persons, 21 or over, interested in attending contact Mr. Wulf in P-110 or at 351-2426.
