

POLICE REPORTS

Monday, October 27

- A student reported that she was threatened by an acquaintance in the college center. Both parties were questioned about the incident. One of the two involved persons was not a student at Parkland and was asked to leave the campus. The case has been forwarded to the State's Attorneys Office for review.
- A student reported that he had discovered damage on the passenger side door of his vehicle. His car was parked in the B-7 parking lot. It appeared that the dent was the result of another car door striking the complaint's vehicle.

Thursday, October 30

- A minor accident occurred in the B-5 parking lot. Two vehicles were involved and there were no injuries reported. Officers responded and a State Traffic Crash Report was filed. No citations were issued.
- Two students reported criminal damage to their vehicles in separate incidents. In the first incident the passenger side mirror was broken off and missing from a GMC pickup in parking lot B-2. In the second incident the driver's side mirror was broken off and missing from a Chevrolet pickup, also in lot B-2. The two incidents took place between 8:00 A.M. and 10:50 A.M. If you have any information regarding these vandalism/thefts please contact the Department of Public Safety

Notice to Students and Faculty Regarding FINAL EXAMINATIONS

A final examination should be expected in each credit course at Parkland College. Final examinations for all courses with last regularly scheduled class meeting during the week of December 5-11 are to be given during final exam week (December 12-18) according to the official published schedule. Such final examinations are not to be given early during regular class periods.

In courses where a final examination is not appropriate as determined by the department, an educational alternative scheduled during the week of final examinations is expected.

Any requests from faculty to alter scheduled final examination times or dates must be reviewed and approved by the Department Chair and the Associate Vice President for Academic Services. Final examinations for all courses with last regularly scheduled class meeting prior to the week of December 5-11 are to be given at the last regularly scheduled class meeting.

Students: These official college guidelines were established to more fully insure that you receive the full set of instructional class periods for which you paid and to which you are entitled and that you have the appropriate amount of time to prepare adequately for your final examinations.

Three final examinations scheduled for the same day may be considered a conflict. Conflicts may be resolved by arrangement with the faculty of these courses.

Questions or concerns about these guidelines should be directed to the Associate Vice President for Academic Services (217) 351-2236.

Pachewy chomp chomp! Lady Cobra bench helps team win

By NICHOLAS TRAXLER
PROSPECTUS SPORTS EDITOR

Tracy Chaplin spent time there. So did Megan Grafton. Erika Brez, well... not too much. The place I am referring to is the Lady Cobra bench.

Nearly every player on the Parkland squad has had to be a spectator for matches the team has played, but it seems as though these players "play" the game from the sidelines. You see, the dictionary defines bench as, "a place where members of an athletic team sit while awaiting an opportunity to play." Hogwash! You never see our players sitting down during games, nor are their mouths ever shut. During every match, the Parkland "bench" is standing and cheering wildly for every point the team scores and giving encouragement when the players on the floor need some inspiration.

Ask any one of these players the score, what play has been called, or even the exact wording on the volleyball, and they can probably tell you. They are always in tune with the match.

As with players on the floor, there is also a leader on the bench. The leader of this loud and unruly bunch is freshman Stacy Wesch. Freshman Lori Claybaugh says she is the loudest and most vocal cheerleader on the sideline. When asked, teammates Brez and Chaplin seconded that account, adding that they can always hear her voice above everyone else's.

This is a good thing though. All-America candidate Brez says that the players on the bench keep her "relaxed and keep things from getting too serious."

Even the referees from this past weekend told Coach Winkeler that her bench was, "the funniest bunch they had ever been involved with in a volleyball match" and added that it was a pleasure to work the match.

Claybaugh said during our interview that not only is their presence good for the team during games, but also in practice. They realize the players starting are good, but she says, "We give them great competition in practice."

The competitiveness of the players on the bench can be seen during games as they whoop and holler during every point. They say, though, that each one of them feels confident she could step on the floor if needed and get the job done.

With a smile Claybaugh added, "We know we have big shoes to fill next year, but so do the players taking our spot on the bench."

With the team posting a solid 33-19 record through this season and advancing to the region 24 finals, which have yet to be played, no one could disagree. All these players working so closely together as a family have showed everyone what "all for one and one for all" truly means.

By the way, if you happen to see freshman Camille Harnarine or Tracy Chaplin, would you please get them to explain what PACHEWY CHOMP CHOMP means? Just curious....

Minority Job Fair

By BEN HARDIN
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

Parkland College will be a cosponsor of a minority law enforcement job fair to be held on Nov. 10, along with the National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives, Land of Lincoln Chapter.

The fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Parkland College Gallery lounge.

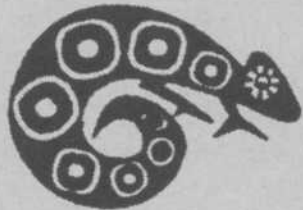

The recruitment career day's main purpose is to introduce more minority candidates to the fields of law enforcement and corrections.

It is also to give high school juniors and seniors a look at law enforcement and corrections as a possible career option.

Many law enforcement and correction agencies will have recruiters at the job fair, and Parkland college counselors will explain choices and give advice on preparing for a career in these fields.

Parkland college offers classes such as business law, criminal law, and traffic law and enforcement.

Cobras Young But still Promising

By: JOEL OSINGA
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

There are two words for those who think the Cobra basketball team is too inexperienced to succeed: Think Again! With only one returning starter, many critics argue that the team is too young to do any major damage in the conference and the region. This, however, is far from the truth.

The new Cobra team is bigger and more athletic at the 3, 4, and 5 spots, deep at the 2 guard position, and solid with lone returning starter Nick Traxler running the point.

Also returning to the Cobras are Cordell Moore and Birman Jenkins. Moore and Jenkins should see plenty of action. According to Coach Alan Nudo, "We need to develop maturity and enthusiasm from the freshman, and find a solid back up point guard."

The incoming freshmen for this young Cobra team include Nick Collins (Chicago Simeon), Ryan Martin (Mahomet-Seymour), Courtney Huff (Evanston), Courtney

Hicks (Chicago Prosser), Victor Bryant (Chicago

Westinghouse), and John Genthe (St. Louis).

Also new to the lineup are sophomore transfers Cortez Bond (Kilgore J.C., Texas) and Jason Stronjinc (University of Illinois-Chicago) who will both be in top rotation. Bond, a 6'6" swing player, has the potential to play at the highest Division 1 level.

An upbeat Nudo believes, "[These are] probably the best group of athletes to come here since I came here four years ago, but mostly time is needed for them to absorb the system, prepare for college basketball, and handle their academic and social responsibilities." This high potential combined with higher team expectations will make for a very exciting season.

The overall game strategy will remain the same, with high-scoring up-tempo offense the mainstay as the team will look to capitalize on any and every fast-break opportunity. Even in the half court sets, Parkland will try to score quickly and attempt to get teams in an uptempo game to eventually wear the opponent out. Defense will again feature full-court pressure, with new emphasis on half-court man pressure.

In directing this team, the coaching staff also takes a new look as the Cobras begin the season. There are three new coaches, each of whom brings unique assets to the table.

Chris Warren, a former star at Parkland and at Mahomet-Seymour, will be welcomed along with William Brown, former head coach at Leo High School and college coach at Loyola-Chicago, and Jim Brown, former assistant coach at Centennial High School. Chris Warren and William Brown will work on overall defense, leaving Jim Brown to deal with the big men.

The season outlook is a challenging one as more Division 1 junior college schools are scheduled including pre-season #1 Vincennes (twice), top ten Wabash Valley (twice), Kankakee (twice), Lakeland (twice), Lincoln Trail, Moberly, and Kennedy-King (twice). Practice began in October as already the team is preparing for this tough season.

The coaching staff is already excited and confident of this new Cobra team. Although the schedule will take a lot of commitment, these young faces are already becoming comfortable with the playing styles of their fellow players. Critics should not be too quick to judge this team as unskilled or inexperienced. After observing the potential that comes from this young team, one must consider the pre-conceived doubts they have... and think again.
