Student Government Announcements

On the weekend of March 26-29, I had the honor of attending the Illinois Board of Higher Education-Student Advisory Council (IBHE-SAC) along with Student Government president, Kevin Ward. The experience in of itself was rewarding beyond compare. As a Senator of Parkland's Student Government, I was pleased to have the opportunity to represent my college and community at this two-day conference. I was amazed at how much influence students have in regard to their institutions of higher learning.

I was disappointed in the level of interest Illinois students show regarding the IBHE-SAC conferences, however. The IBHE-SAC influences state legislatures in regard to institutions, giving voice to students' concerns dealing with fees and regulations along with many other aspects of campus life. I highly recommend any student concerned with the future of Illinois institutions of higher learning, to learn more about IBHE-SAC from your Parkland College Student Government.

Woman battered every 15 seconds

Freedom from Fear event at U of I

BY: JOSEPH LUDWINSKI
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

Freedom From Fear, a three-day event to raise community awareness of sexual abuse and domestic violence will begin Friday (April 30) and continue through Sunday (May 2)

Presentations, discussions, and entertainment — all free — will be offered at the Illinois Disciples Foundation, corner of Springfield and Wright, Champaign.

The two-day, 20-event awareness weekend will begin with Take Back the Night: a speak out at 6 p.m. on the UI campus, a rally at 7:15 p.m. on the South Quad, and a march on campus at 8 p.m.

Heather Tondini, coordinator of the event, a counselor at A Woman's Place, and part-time reading instructor at Parkland, said the main goals of the event are to educate the public in the problem of sexual and domestic violence and to make the public more aware of some of the programs available to battered and abused women.

The event is free and will feature activities ranging from speaking and a theatrical performance to live music by local bands.

Speaking at two Newswriting classes, Tondini said men, women, children, old people, sick and disabled are all involved in various forms of abuse.

Lorena Johnson, Parkland instructor, will speak on Oppression at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Foundation.

At noon on Monday in the Flag Lounge, Ross Wantland, RCS records clerk, will talk on the male role in abusive relationships.

Tondini said that one of three women are sexually assaulted at least once in their lifetime and that 95 percent of violators are male. She also said that one in five men have been sexually assaulted during childhood.

Every 15 seconds a woman is being battered in the U.S., Tondini said.

Domestic abuse may hit 4 million in U.S.

BY: STACY RICHARDS
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

Every year an estimated 2 to 4 million women are victims of domestic abuse, more than those who are victims of rape, muggings, and car accidents, according to freshman Tara Kohlbecker.

In a speech to Newswriting students last week, she said there is a common misconception that abused women come only from low economic groups. However, she said, abused women are daughters, sisters, co-workers and classmates from all economic groups.

Kohlbecker said one third to one half of all women will be abused in their lifetime.

Domestic abuse comes in three forms: physical, sexual, and emotional. Kohlbecker stated that emotional abuse is often the worst because it lowers the woman's self esteem.

So why don't women leave? According to Kohlbecker, they often feel trapped and are afraid that if they leave they will be killed. Also, she said, many women have no money and feel they have nowhere to go.

There are 1,500 women's shelters in the U.S., Kohlbecker said — compared to three times that number of animal shelters.

Kohlbecker said in Champaign - Urbana, abused women have some options. These are the Mental Health Center that offers income based counseling, and A Woman's Place that offers shelter and escape from dangerous situations in which women could be abused.

Saved a life lately?

Blood drive offers you the chance

BY: JARAD COATS
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Gallery Lounge on April 28 you can give a person the gift of life.

When I took the assignment to write this story, I had every intention of writing a story that would attract other people into giving blood, but I had no intention of doing it myself. There was just something about someone sticking a big needle in my arm that struck me as insane. No way.

But the more I looked through the enormous number of pamphlets I was given, the more I realized that what might be a minor pain and inconvenience to me would mean life or death to someone

And while there are lots of people giving blood donations, there are many more who need them.

It's not just the blood donations they need though. They also need people who are willing to have a small portion of their blood donation tested for a possible marrow transplant.

Let me map it out for you: a small flask of our blood will be tested for tissue type or HLA type (this is used to determine the possibility of a match). Your name and type are put into a computer list called the pool.

If a match were to come up and you still agreed to go through with it, you would have the chance to donate a small portion of your marrow to someone who may depend on your match for his or her life.

Chances of finding a match are slim, and it's a hit or miss situation as far as finding one goes, but just giving it a try is enough. The National Marrow Donor Program continuously brings up the point that the chances of finding a match for these people would be so much better if the pool of donors were larger.

Right now, the chances for a Caucasian are fairly decent, yet still not perfect. A Caucasian has about an 85 percent chance of finding a donor (up from 80 last year), but because tissue types are different within different ethnic or racial groups, that doesn't help any of the minorities.

That's why, once again the NMDP is trying to encourage minorities to get involved in the program. The chances for an African American to find a donor match are about half that of a Caucasian's chances, and other minorities even less than that. The reason: the lack of minority donors.

It doesn't hurt. It does make you feel very good about yourself.

Finally, thanks to Jan Thom, Health and Safety Specialist, for helping me understand the need people have for our help and the power we have to help them.

Parkland students, staff are regular movie goers

BY: STACY RICHARDS
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

Eighty-five percent of 122 Parkland students and staff said recently that they attend movies in Champaign about once a month.

Savoy 16 and the Beverly were the most popular theaters with attendance rates of 86 and 63 percent.

More than half (51%) of the respondents said they go to a movie every two to three months. Sixty percent said they pay for their own ticket, and 28% pay for their ticket and someone else's.

Sixty-seven percent said they buy refreshments when they attend movies. One respondent said he pays about $15 for refreshments.

How do they find out what's on at the movies? Ninety-one replied: newspaper ads.

And would they movie ads if they were in the Prospectus? Forty-eight percent said yes.

The survey was conducted by Newswriting 105 students during the past three weeks.

◆ Wellness notes

◆ If you have symptoms of a heart attack, such as chest pains, chew and swallow one adult aspirin tablet (325 milligrams) immediately while you seek medical help. If you only have baby or "low-strength" aspirin at home, chew four of them.

◆ In the U.S., the same percentage of men die of prostate cancer as women die of breast cancer: 3.5%.

◆ "Never believe that a few caring people can't change the world. For, indeed, that's all who ever have." Margaret Mead ◆ Skipping on sleep may do more than just darken under-eye circles--it also appears to raise your blood pressure and may increase the risk of heart damage over time, according to a report in the January American Journal of Hypertension. The study of 36 men and women with untreated mild-to-moderate hypertension found that restricting sleep to just four hours a night raised blood pressure by about 15 points and heart rate by about 8 beats a minute during the hours when people would normally be sleeping. The next day, both measurements stayed somewhat elevated. People with diagnosed hypertension should strive to get seven or eight hours of sleep a night, says Michael Weber, M.D., president of the American Society of Hypertension. For those who are chronically short on sleep, switching to a long-acting blood pressure medication may help blunt the rise in blood pressure that naturally occurs in the early morning.

◆ 84% of adults say they always wash their hands after using the restroom. But a recent observational study of over 63,000 adults in public restrooms in New York, Chicago, Atlanta, New Orleans, and San Francisco found that only 74% of women and 61% of men wash their hands. Note: to be effective, you must wash your hands with soap and water for 20 seconds (for kids, that's two rounds of "Happy Birthday to You."

The non-traditional student corner

BY: SHARON D. WENGER
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

Author's Note: Most of the Personal Profile responses I have received are for people in computer-related programs. This may actually reflect the majority of non-traditional students' programs, but I encourage nominations from other departments as well.

Meet: Harold J. (Jim) McDonald

Jim is a 50-year-old non-traditional student from Rantoul. He is in his first year at Parkland and is enrolled in Micro Computer Specialist program. His wife, Vick, is also a student here.

Currently, Jim is employed by Rantoul Products and works full-time on the night shift. When he gets off work, he comes to Parkland to pursue his studies which makes for very long days.

According to Jim, he has done hard manual labor all of his life and now wants a job with computers. His goal is to become a microcomputer specialist.

Jim's hobbies and interests center around tinkering with old cars.

Jim has three grown children. His daughter, Kristie Allen, is the Assistant Manager at the Danville Mobil Super Pantry. His son, Vincent Falvey, works at Caradco and will be starting at Parkland in the fall. His other daughter, April Falvey, is with the Florida Department of Transportation.

Reminder: Submit topics you would like to see covered, questions ideas, comments, constructive criticisms, or nominations for a Personal Profile column to Sharon via e-mail at: ensharon@advancenet.net or written on a sheet of paper and dropped off at the Prospectus office, Room X155.

If submitting a nomination, please include the person's name along with a brief description and an e-mail address or phone number for me to make contact.

No more cheap prizes

Cracker Jack making big plans

Think back to the Cracker Jack prizes when you were a kid. Remember the prizes, the little figures and mini baseball cards, the little fake rings for girls?

Kids nowadays are telling the new owners not to bring back those "old" prizes, according to a recent poll of 12,000 children.

So what do they want? That's what Chris Neugent, director of marketing for Frito-Lay, which now owns Cracker Jack, wants to know. He has to consider the price and size of the prizes (they have to fit into a rather small box). Now, the prizes, such as washable tattoos, are made of paper.

However, by summer, Frito-Lay says there will be hard plastic coated toys, and later this year, bubble gum or candy. By Christmas, they say there will be a chance to win life-size plush ponies and other big prizes.

Several Parkland students talked about how they feel about the Cracker Jack prize problem.

Frank McCullough, freshman, said, "As a kid, the stuff made me sick, but I used to look forward to the mini baseball cards in the box."

Chris McBride, sophomore, said, "I like them. The toys were better when I was a kid. I remember my first experience. I got a little duck figure." But she doubts that a little duck figure would be very appreciated by kids today.

Even kids think big these days. Students think it will be interesting to see how big a prize Cracker Jack can fit into the box.

'It's feel good music'

Peacock playing in new rap group

BY: CHRISTOPHER LINDHOLM
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

Rodney Peacock, musician, playwright, composer, and manager of Nomad Imports in Champaign, has a long history in jazz and classical music and now is playing with local rap group Dolc Stil Nuovo.

Why a rap group? The reaction of the audience, says Peacock. "I think most musicians would like to experience that type of reaction when they play."

Dolc Stil Nuovo means sweet new style in Italian. The music they play is a combination of hip hop and jazz with rap vocals.

Peacock, one of the original members, was asked to join the group by its founder, Will Freyman, a computer science major at the U. of I. "At first, I was just playing flute, but now I am also playing alto sax," Peacock said. The group also includes two Parkland students, Joe Cansham and Donald Dennis, both Mass Communications majors that rap for the new style.

Peacock started playing bass clarinet when he was 12. He studied with Ron Dewar locally and jazz hall of famer Roshland Roland Kirk while in the San Francisco area.

He has added single reed instruments, classical piano, alto, and soprano sax to his repertoire.

"It's feel good music," Peacock says about the new style. "There's a lot of positive energy when we play."

Peacock will be playing with Dolc Stil Nuovo at the Orchid in Champaign on Tuesday nights from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Three elected to Parkland Board

The Parkland College Board of Trustees will be welcoming back two of its members for a second term -- and will be joined by a brand new member -- following the districtwide board election April 13.

Incumbents Wayne Busboom of Urbana and Paul Quinlan of Champaign and newcomer Dana Trimble of Newman will begin their six-year terms in November.

The unofficial totals from Tuesday's election showed Paul Quinlan with 20,220 votes, Dana Trimble with 19,806, and Wayne Busboom with 17,685. Also running for the board positions were John Maloney of Urbana with 15,552 votes and Buzz Alan Langhofer of Champaign with 6,741 votes.

Mr. Trimble, president and CEO of the First National Bank in Georgetown, has also worked on a grain and livestock farm and in seed production facilities. He has a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics and a master's degree in beef science, both from the University of Illinois.

"While truly grateful for the opportunity to serve on the Parkland Board," Mr. Trimble said, "I realize there is much to learn, many people to meet, and a lot of homework to be done, but I sincerely look forward to it all."

Mr. Trimble will fill the seat held by long-time board member and current chair John Albin when Mr. Albin completes his term in November. Mr. Albin, also of Newman, was appointed to the seven-member board in 1968 and has served as chair since 1990.

Mr. Busboom, a farmer, attended the University of Illinois, and Mr. Quinlan, a retired teacher, has a B.S., M.S., and Ed.D. from the University of Illinois. Both were originally elected to the Parkland board in 1993.

ILLINOIS COMMUNITY COLLEGE SYSTEM FOUNDATION

The Illinois Community College System Foundation is seeking designs for a symbolic logo to depict the philosophy and goals of the State Foundation. The logo will reflect the 40 local community college Foundations and the thrust of the State to provide dollars and scholarships locally.

A five hundred dollar ($500.00) award will be made in cash to the community college student and/or employee whose design is selected from a panel of State Foundation Board members, the CEO, selected Illinois Community College Board employees and some local Foundation Executive Director's.

The logo should be simplistic as possible and capable of being marketed to corporations, businesses and individuals. The design would be recognizable on its own reflect to reflect the State Foundation (as for example the McDonald's Golden Arches logo). The logo maximum size should be 4"x4" which will allow for reduction to 1"x1".

Other criteria to reflect on when designing the logo are:

1. Symbolize the spirit of the Community College philosophy.
2. Represent the statewide system of 40 community colleges.
3. Pay tribute to the community college student, dedicated to the desire to study and enter the job market to become leaders and experts in the technology age of the new millennium.

Great College Financing.

Most college students have a hard time affording even a used car. That's why Daewoo is pleased to introduce our special college financing program where it's easy to buy a great, new car. Our plan offers low monthly payments and special interest-only financing for the first one or two years. Which means you'll be able to still afford gas. Our plan also offers seniors and recent graduates a great opportunity to show off their independence by applying for financing without mom and dad's help. Remember, this offer is only available to college students, so be sure to take advantage of it. Start by checking out the charts below to see how good we look versus those other cars you've been looking at. Then by checking out how good we'll look in your driveway.

Mayes talks about his job at WICD

By: DAWN BLACK
PROSPECTUS STAFF WRITER

J.D. Mayes says he likes the opportunity to be creative in his job as a promotions director at NBC News Channel 15 (WICD).

Mayes promotes the newscasts, individual anchors, reporters, and the station by creating 30-second commercials and running them throughout the day.

His other job is to promote NBC programming such as Days of Our Lives, Seinfeld, reruns, and prime time shows including Friends, Mad About You and ER. He promotes the shows by running promos that NBC sends and tagging those with WICD graphics at the end.

Mayes started out at WICS in Springfield as an intern in the production department. From there, he became a full time photographer. "Then I moved back into production, commercial production. Then an assistant promotions director job opened here at WICD, and I took that as a way of moving up the ladder."

Since then, he has moved farther up the ladder. Doug Quick was the head promotions director at the time and was offered an anchor job on the Sunrise show. He no longer had time to be the promotions director, "So that job opened up, and I took a chance at it. It's been working out okay," Mayes said.

Did he want to be a promotions director from the start? "No," he said. "I originally wanted to be a sports broadcaster, so I went into radio, but I found out how much money they made and got out."

He said in promotions he can be more creative and have "a little leeway in what I put on the air. You don't have to be a strict news person. It was an opportunity to do something different, and it turned out to be fun."

Mayes said when he got into television, he did not really have future plans. "It wasn't something that I wanted to do since I was little. But basically, I take what comes. And right now, I'm enjoying what I'm doing."
