Committee suspends four

Five plead guilty, fined $50 each

By ROG CHRISTENSEN Collegian Associate Editor

Five State students pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace and unlawful assembly after a Municipal Court hearing Thursday, Oct. 24.

THE CHARGES were filed after the defendants' arrest on the Wednesday preceeding Hobo Day. The defendants were allegedly involved in a congregation of students near Scobey Hall and on the campus green.

Dale Roesch A1, Gary Guerin GR2, John Wiltz GR2, James Pryde GR2 and Kenneth Lippmann S3 were each fined $50 P. H. Collins.

THE HEARING was held to evidence for the defendants to be tried. Judge Collins ruled that there was sufficient evidence and the defendants were to be bound Nov. 5. Bond was at $200.

The five defendants said they could not raise the bond and each pleaded guilty to the charges.

The five defendants received insecution.

Frank Denholm, Brookings lawyer, was the attorney for the based on the defendants.

After the suspension of four students last week, we feel be judged on "potential violation." that Pres. H. M. Briggs or the Regents of Education should appoint a committee to investigate the procedures and power of the Conduct Committee.

There is much evidence that the committee has denied students basic rights we hold necessary in a democratic society. We are not questioning the integrity of any members of the committee, but rather the methods the committee uses in arriving at its decisions.

The question is not whether 11 students should have been punished; it is whether these students were given an ample opportunity to defend themselves, and whether the procedures of the committee deprive individuals of due process of law.

COMMITTEE IS A COURT

The committee claims it is not a court. This is a fallacy. Any group which can deprive an individual of an education, money he has paid for an education, and his good name, is behind its closed doors.

ASSUMPTION OF GUILT

When the committee is informed of misconduct by students, it asssumes those students are guilty unless they can the rights of citizens will be respected. prove they are innocent. This theory does not adhere to the democratic principle that an individual is innocent until proven guilty.

The committee receives its evidence from many sources: Brookings police, campus police, resident assistants and

Such was not the case when the group refused to re-hear the case of one of the students suspended who claimed he had new evidence and witnesses which the committee should consider.

STUDENTS NOT INFORMED OF RIGHTS

One of the basic principles that our courts operate on is of disciplinary committee that anyone accused of a crime must be informed of his legal rights.

The Conduct Committee does allow witnesses and testimony in behalf of the defendant, if it feels the information may influence its decision.

Indications are, however, that often students going be- dismissed from school. COMMITTEE INCONSISTENT

Punishment handed down by the committee has been had been drinking beer and inconsistent. Some students are given probation for offenses this person see them in action which appear more serious than those acts allegedly commit- with his own eyes? ted by students who are suspended or expelled.

This occurs, the committee claims, because past conduct graphs, the campus officer and and personnel records of some students give adequate cause for more severe punishment.

Such criteria for judgment raises the question of whether students should be judged on the basis of previous conduct or on a specific charge.

ACTUAL VIOLATION AND POTENTIAL DANGER

College authorities more often than not judge such incidents as the one which occurred on the night of Oct. 16 in terms of "potential danger" and not on "actual violation."

Rumors of a "panty raid" or "mob violence" are more likely to influence the committee's decision than violations which actually occurred.

HOW SMALL CAN YOU GET?

Today let us address ourselves to a question that has long rocked and roiled the academic world: Is a student better off at a small college than at a large college?

To answer this question it is necessary first to define terms. What, exactly, do we mean by a small college? Well sir, some say that in order to be called truly small, a college should have an enrollment of not more than four students.

I surely have no quarrel with this statement; a four-student college must unequivocally be called small. Indeed, I would even call it intime if I knew what intime meant. But I submit there is such a thing as being too small. Take, for instance, a recent unfortunate event at Crimscott A and M.

Crimscott A and M, situated in a pleasant valley nestled between Philadelphia and Salt Lake City, was founded by What, exactly, do we mean by a small college?

A. and M. Crimscott, two brothers who left Ireland in 1625 to escape the potato famine of 1841. As a result of their foresight, the Crimscott brothers never went without potatoes for one single day of their lives-and mighty grateful they were! One night, full of gratitude after a wholesome meal of French fries, cottage fries, hash browns, and au gratin, they decided to show their appreciation to this bountiful land of potatoes by endowing a college. But their generosity contained one stipulation: the enrollment of the college must never exceed four students. They felt that only by keeping the school this small could each student be assured of the personalized attention, the camaraderie, the esprit, that is all too often lacking in larger institutions of higher learning.

Well sir, things went along swimmingly until one Saturday a few years ago. On this day Crimscott had a football game scheduled against Minnesota, its traditional rival. Football, as you can well imagine, was something of a problem at Crimscott, what with only four undergraduates in the entire college. It was easy enough to muster a backfield, but to find a good line-or even a bad line-baffled some of the most resourceful

Well sir, on the morning of the big game against Minnesota, its traditional rival, a capricious fate dealt Crimscott a cruel blow-in fact, four cruel blows. Sigafoos, the quarterback, woke up that morning with an impacted incisor. Wrichards, the slotback, flunked his taxidermy exam and was declared ineligible. Beerbohm-Tree, the wingback-tailback, got his neck-tie caught in his espresso machine. Yuld, the fullback, was stolen by gypsies.

Consequently, none of the Crimscott team showed up at the football game, and Minnesota, its traditional rival, was able to score almost at will. Crimscott was so cross after this humiliating defeat that they immediately broke off football relations with Minnesota, its tradtional rival. This later became known as the Sacco-Vanzetti Case. So you can see how only four students might be too meagre an enrollment. The number that I personally favor is twenty. Why? you ask. Because, I reply, when you have twenty students and one of them opens a pack of Marlboro Cigarettes, there are enough to go around for everybody, and no one has to be deprived of Marlboro's flavor, of Marlboro's filter, of Marlboro's staunch and steadfast companionship, and as a result you have a student body that is brimming with sweet content and amity and harmony and concord and togetherness and soft pack and Flip-Top box.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: BOB BUCK

When a new microwave transmission system was needed to connect Detroit, Flint, and Lansing, Bob Buck (B.S.E.E., 1960) designed it.

Bob has established quite an engineering reputation in Michigan Bell's Microwave Group during his two years there. And to see that his talent was further developed, the company selected Bob to attend the Bell System Regional Communications School in Chicago.

Bob joined Michigan Bell back in 1959. And after introductory training, he established a mobile radio maintenance system and helped improve Detroit's Maritime Radio system—contributions that led to his latest step up!

Bob Buck, like many young engineers, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Hinkle reflects band's enthusiasm

Charles N. Hinkle, field announcer for the Jackrabbit marching band, smiles to indicate he enjoys his job. Hinkle says the only game he has missed announcing is this year's Augustana gamedue to a power failure. Collegian Photo by Harlan Anderson

By JANET PERKINS Collegian Reporter

As a demonstrative fist pounded the table, Charles N. ences, aside from the Augustana Hinkle, field announcer for the Jackrabbit marching band, game, include the NDU game of said, "I don't speak into the mike, I rear back and shout. I get 'em off to a good start."

When ing for so far, and that was the Augustana game—at least few things in life that you can Istried," Hinkle continued with a choose to do-and I just like this." shrug of his shoulders. He referred to the power failure at Augustana as his most unique announcing experience.

He said it was a shock to glance down on the field after his opening announcement to find the band rigid at attention on the goal line. "People in front of me yelled to use the mike," Hinkle said dryly, "so I used it—as a hammer, and it still didn't work."

Hinkle described this experience as excellent proof of the necessity of teamwork. "It shows how important every member is. If one doesn't do his part, it leaves a hole in the show." Hinkle laughed and added, "The Augie game restored my faith in the need for field announcers."

Hinkle is a registered agricultural engineer, proficient in the areas of "agricultural structures, farmstead engineering, and rural architecture." He spends onethird of his time in teaching, and two-thirds in research. Hinkle is also faculty adviser for the Agricultural-Engineering Club.

Hinkle has a reason for acting

Hatfield, questioned on Hinkle's interest and enthusiasm for a job so removed from his field, remarked, "It's great to have people in other areas so interested in band activities. Hinkle is one of our most loyal supporters. I don't think he's missed a single practice. My only objection is at times he doesn't project enough—like at Augie."

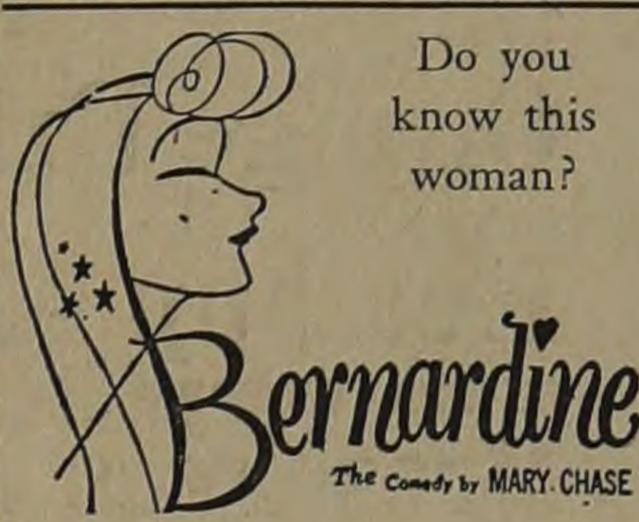

Hinkle said one drawback to acting as field announcer was being unable to watch the band performances. "Bands fascinate me, but I forget what I'm supposed to be doing if I watch the band. You can't hear with the mike either. You have to have a little faith in this business."

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect. How intelligent!
