LECTURE AND STUDY GROUP FOR YOUNGER MEMBERS IN METROPOLITAN AREA

The second meeting of the lecture and study group of younger members and associates of the Institute in the metropolitan area of New York will take place on Tuesday, January 21, 1936, in the Sun Room of the Edison Hotel, 47th St., west of Broadway, New York.

The subject of discussion will be accounting problems related to form 10-K of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Discussion will be led by C. Oliver Wellington, George Cochrane and Philip N. Miller.

At 6:15 P. M. dinner will be served, in accordance with the desire expressed at the first meeting of this group. The price will be $1.25 a person, which will be collected after the meal. The technical discussion will begin at 7:15 P. M., and the meeting will adjourn by 10 o'clock. Members who can not attend the dinner will nevertheless be welcome at the meeting later.

The discussion will be planned, as before, for the benefit of younger members—senior staff assistants, junior partners and individual practitioners—but no age limit is enforced and any member or associate will be welcome. Persons not members or associates of the Institute can not be admitted since the character of the meeting necessitates a comparatively small attendance.

The discussion will be wholly informal—no reporter, no publication of what is said. All present may participate. Exchange of ideas is the chief purpose.

The meeting will be of interest to all younger accountants, regardless of whether or not they have participated or expect to participate in engagements under S. E. C. requirements. The effect of S. E. C. rules on accounting practice in general is considerable, and all practitioners should be familiar with the requirements. It would be well to read form 10-K before attending the meeting. Copies may be obtained at the Institute's office.

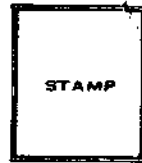

The west-side subway, Grand Central and Penn Station are readily accessible from the Edison Hotel, and an early hour for adjournment has been fixed for the benefit of commuters.

Please return the enclosed post-card promptly if you expect to attend this meeting or wish to be notified of future meetings.
