

Time-Coded Summary of Interview with Dr. Ronald G. Eaglin
(CCU Oral History Project)

Time (approx.)	Topic
0:00 – 2:23	Introduction by Tomczyk
2:24 – 7:40	Eaglin’s early career
7:41 – 9:17	Relationship with Columbia and regional campuses
9:18 – 11:30	Holderman’s view of the systems and accreditation
11:31 – 14:09	Accreditation and the end of 2-yr programs
14:10 – 17:29	Giving up remedial courses and working with Tech college
17:30 – 18:36	Dealing with faculty
18:37 – 21:33	Coaching Presidents and the university administrative structure
21:34 – 23:20	Strategic planning for Coastal’s independence
23:21 – 25:39	Infrastructure – building campus roads and buildings
25:40 – 27:40	The penny sales tax and tax millage
27:41 – 29:29	Chanticleer Drive
29:30 – 34:10	Residence Halls
34:11 – 36:27	Buying land for Coastal
36:28 – 38:00	The Wall Building donations and bond approvals
38:01 – 42:40	Relationship with Holderman and Hicks’s presidency
42:41 – 47:30	Chancellor Eaglin’s first impressions of Coastal and Horry
47:31 – 53:05	Eaglin and Jerry Ausband (Sun News) and Bobby Richardson
53:06 – 55:14	The move toward independence for Coastal
55:15 – 57:40	Coastal’s early affiliation with Charleston and Columbia
57:41 – 59:10	Holderman’s system, its prominence and the legislature
59:11- 1:02:00	Coastal’s overhead charges from Columbia and state support study
1:02:00– 1:04:19	Why Eaglin left Coastal and moved to Kentucky
1:04:20 – 1:09:55	How Coastal became independent; the Fretwell report

1:09:56 – 1:16:39	USC President Palms' visit to Coastal and differences from Holderman
1:16:40 – 1:21:04	Coastal's prospects and emphasis on athletics
1:21:05 – 1:23:47	College Athletics "the portal", NCAA, COVID and the future
1:23:48 – 1:30:23	Future challenges for Higher Ed, (regulations, social media, planning one's direction and persona)
1:30:24- 1:33:30	Eaglin's role in independence through collaboration with others and the values of local community and maintaining a regional university