HBO's new miniseries examines the fight to desegregate Yonkers

By Jacqueline SpendloveTV Media

t's not always easy being the man in charge. While it's true that being a leader gives a person a fair amount of power, it can be a tough thing to wield — and keeping everyone beneath you happy is a near-impossible task.

In 1987, former police officer Nick Wasicsko became the youngest mayor in the history of Yonkers, N.Y., at the age of 28. In his latest HBO series, "Show Me a Hero," David Simon, creator of "The Wire" and "Treme," relates the true story of Wasicsko's fight for the desegregation of public housing in the city and its effects on him, other elected officials, activists and the citizens of Yonkers. The six-part miniseries premieres Sunday, Aug. 16, on HBO.

The show is based on journalist Lisa Relkin's 1999 non-fiction book of the same name, which examines the effects of a 1985 ruling by Judge Leonard B. Sand that 200 apartments be built in Yonkers to house poor, largely minority residents in white, middle-class areas of the city. This effectively uprooted these poorer families and deposited them into more affluent neighborhoods, many of whose residents opposed and resented their presence there.

Wasicsko was elected on a promise that he would fight the demand for desegregation, but just days before his inauguration, a federal appeals court upheld the order. Persuaded by the city's lawyers that fighting it was a lost cause, Wasicsko reversed his position and instead backed integration. The backlash from white residents was immediate and strong, and heavy fines against city council members who opposed the plan threatened to push the city to bankruptcy.

Wasicsko is portrayed in "Show Me a Hero" by Golden Globe nominee Oscar Isaac, in a rare departure from the big screen to TV. The Guatemalanborn actor has been making a name for himself recently, particularly since his title role in the critically acclaimed Coen Brothers film "Inside Llewyn Davis" (2013). He's been praised for his performance in "A Most Violent Year" (2014), in which he starred alongside Golden Globe winner Jessica Chastain, and appeared earlier this year in the creepy sci-fi flick "Ex Machina." Look for him towards the end of 2015 in "Star Wars: Episode VII -The Force Awakens" and as the title villain in "X-Men: Apocalypse," scheduled for release next spring.

For now, though, Isaac's sticking much closer to reality, and that's just the way Simon likes it.

"I find myself drawn to stories that are about people as I actually have encountered them in the world," the writer and executive producer told "The Journal News." "A lot of the entertainment world is about people who are bigger than the institutions they're in — the cop who won't take 'no,' the drug dealer who is more evil, the guy with magic powers. For me, the real was very interesting to us."

Isaac isn't the only big name in "Show Me a Hero." Oscar nominee and '90s darling Winona Ryder ("Girl, Interrupted," 1999) plays Yonkers city council president Vinni Restiano, an advocate of integration. Jim Belushi ("According to Jim") plays Wasicsko's mayoral election opponent Angelo R. Martinelli, and Alfred Molina ("Spider-

Winona Ryder and Oscar Isaac as seen in "Show Me a Hero"

Man 2," 2004) portrays city council member Henry J. Spallone. Oscar nominee Catherine Keener ("Being John Malkovich," 1999) plays Mary Dorman, one of the many East Yonkers residents who is fervently against racial integration in her neighborhood.

"I think all the characters appealed to us because they were not larger than life," Simon said in the "Journal News" interview. "They weren't smaller than life, but nor were they superheroes or rising above their moment or being more evil than required."

It's no surprise that the former journalist is drawn to reality, and Simon's shows are known to focus on the friction between those who make and enforce the laws and the ordinary people who are affected by them.

Simon began his career as a crime reporter for "The Baltimore Sun," and his experiences shadowing the Baltimore Police Department homicide unit in the late '80s served as the basis for his first book, "Homicide: A Year on the Killing Streets." This in turn was the basis for the NBC series "Homicide: Life on the Street," which Simon wrote and produced. He's described his critically acclaimed series "The Wire" as being "about the American city, and about how we live together. It's about how institutions have an effect on individuals." He also adapted Evan Wright's book "Generation Kill" into an HBO miniseries of the same name, which is based on the author's experiences as an embedded reporter at the start of the Iraq war.

"I'm sort of past the point where I want to do larger than life, and most of TV is about larger than life," he said. "We're trying to tell a story in a medium where vampires and gangsters and dragons prevail."

For his part, Simon is far more concerned with telling a story that he feels needs to be told than he is with pulling in huge viewership numbers. If "Show Me a Hero" goes the way of his previous series, it will prove a quiet but critical success and Simon can consider his a job well

"Show Me a Hero" premieres its six-part run Sunday, Aug. 16, on HBO.

Highlights this week

Sunday

Show Me a Hero

нво 7:00 p.m.

When the mayor of a primarily white community faces a court order to build a small number of low-income housing units in his town, he's met with resistance from residents. The miniseries is based on the non-fiction book by Lisa Belkin.

HUMANS

амс 8:00 p.m.

When Hobb (Danny Webb) finally captures the synths, it appears that only the Hawkins family can save them. The future of humanity lies in their hands. Based on a Swedish science fiction drama, the series stars William Hurt and Katherine Parkinson.

The Last Ship TNT 8:00 p.m.

While Rachel (Rhona Mitra) works on a new, more efficient version of the cure, Alisha (Christina Elmore) tries to decipher a secret message found on a cell phone from the Immunes on land. Elsewhere, Chandler (Eric Dane) launches a murder investigation.

Monday

So You Think You Can Dance

7:00 p.m.

Host Cat Deeley welcomes the Top 10 dancers as they fight to earn a spot on Team Stage or Team Street. The competition really heats up as two dancers are eliminated. Judges Nigel Lythgoe, Paula Abdul and Jason Derulo share their opinions.

Devious Maids LIFE 8:00 p.m.

Marisol (Ana Ortiz) begins to suspect that Taylor (Brianna Brown) may be hiding something about the murders. At the same time, Ernesto (Cristián de la Fuente) comes up with a plan that may have dangerous consequences for Rosie (Dania Ramirez).

Murder in the First 19:00 p.m.

Suger (Mo McRae) encounters a new threat to Potrero (Chris Kelley). Elsewhere, Terry (Taye Diggs) and Hildy (Kathleen Robertson) take a high-ranking officer into custody, and Molly (Jayne Entwistle) uncovers evidence of a prostitution ring.

Tuesday

Face Off

SYFY 8:00 p.m.

The artists are challenged to create and apply a clean detailed face makeup based on literary mash-ups in this new episode. They'll have just two days to complete the cast. McKenzie Westmore hosts this special effects makeup competition.

Tyrant

FX 9:00 p.m.

Even though Barry's (Adam Rayner) forces have been depleted, he prepares for a crucial mission. Elsewhere, a delusional Jamal (Ashraf Barhom) takes extreme action, and Leila (Moran Atias) begins to realize the severity of their situation.

Outlaw Chronicles: Hells Angels

нізт 9:05 р.т.

The Hells Angels motorcycle club is known as one of the most secretive organizations in the world. In this ground-breaking new series, a member of the Hells Angels reveal's the club's secrets to the world, from initiation rites to murder for hire.

Wednesday

America's Got Talent

6 7:00 p.m.

Seven acts from the previous night's show will move into the semi-final round after the results of the vote are revealed. Viewers will have one last chance to save their favorite act by using the Google Instant Save.

Home Free

22 8:00 p.m.

The heat is on in Atlanta when Mike tests each couple's construction knowledge in this new episode. In the end, at least one team will have to hang up their hard hats and head home. The remaining couples will continue to compete to win a dream home.

Wahlburgers

A&E 9:00 p.m.

Wahlburgers is officially open north of the border in Toronto, and Paul must figure out how to put a Wahlburgers twist on a classic Canadian dish — poutine! Donnie is also in town with NKOTB, so he does his brotherly best to make a spectacle out of Paul.

Thursday

Love, Lust or Run

тьс 3:00 р.т.

Stacy London delivers straight-up fashion advice to those in need of "make-unders" as TLC presents several back-to-back episodes of this popular series. As the programming event takes off, Stacy helps a single mom who needs to update her tomboy look.

Beyond Scared Straight: Extreme Teens

A&E 7:00 p.m.

Tired of his parent's rules, troublemaker Alexis decides to call the immigration authorities on them. Larry is an aggressive brawler who argues with deputies until one officer offers to reunite him with a long-lost family member.

Friday

We Day

Q&A hollywood

By Adam Thomlison TV Media

Q: I heard that Donna Reed played Miss Ellie for a while on "Dallas," but I don't recall seeing her. What happened?

A: It was a real-world scandal worthy of a soap opera when Donna Reed replaced Barbara Bel Geddes as Miss Ellie Ewing in the eighth season of "Dallas."

Bel Geddes left the show a year after having heart surgery, and Reed stepped in. However, she was promptly dropped from it again in 1985 when Bel Geddes returned. Reed sued the producers and settled out of court.

Those are the facts. Now for the speculation.

Bel Geddes officially left in 1984 due to her health problems, but writer David Paulsen said in an "E! True Hollywood Story" documentary about "Dallas" that she left because the show wouldn't meet her salary demands.

"Her manager wanted more than the show felt we could afford to pay. It was a very tightly run show from a budgetary standpoint."

Furthermore, "Dallas" producer Arthur Bernard Lewis told E! that Bel Geddes decided to return not because she was healthy again, but because she was jealous.

"When she saw Donna Reed on the air, in her role, she called and said 'I want to come back.'

She said, 'I can't stand to see somebody else read my lines.'"

Reed's husband, Grover Asmus, said in the "E!" special that this process was helped along by the crew, who tried to drive Reed off the show, resenting that she was replacing the beloved Bel Geddes.

Reed refused to quit, however, so the show had to fire her in the off-season.

We'll probably never know how much of this is true. We're left with second- and third-hand accounts because Reed died in 1986 and Bel Geddes in 2005. It's sad to think that this whole scandal was tied to Bel Geddes's poor health, while in the end it was Reed who wouldn't even have survived her contract.

'Camp Cutthroat' gives cooking competitions an outdoor twist

By Andrew Warren TV Media

hat Alton Brown sure is a diabolical mastermind. "Cutthroat Kitchen," the Food Network cooking competition he hosts, really is a love-it-or-hate-it kind of affair, with a group of chefs cooking "Chopped" style while Brown pulls out one game-changing twist after another.

Well, the show that's all about bizarre twists being thrown at its competitors now has a twist of its own. "Camp Cutthroat" premiered last week, and the five-episode series is continuing Wednesday evenings.

Brown's traded in his metaphorical host's hat for a camp counselor's, and he's taken 12 chefs with as much cunning as they have cooking skills to a top-secret location deep in the wilderness. There, while braving biting mosquitoes, unpredictable weather and rustic facilities, these culinary challengers are quickly discovering that their biggest challenge isn't the location — it's each other.

In last week's premiere, while three chefs struggled to enjoy the great outdoors, Brown unleashed his diabolism onto them. Two chefs were blindfolded and given a challenge with pork and beans — a classic camping meal. Another found the answer to the ageold mystery of just what bears get up to in the woods, while later a remarkably persistent rain cloud decided to hover over the proceedings.

It's incredibly over the top, but that's what's made "Cutthroat Kitchen" such a hit. At the end of the day, these chefs have to put out great food no matter what weirdness is thrown at them, and it's truly remarkable to see the skill that they employ in the kitchen — or in this case, in the wilderness.

Future episodes will see the chefs cooking while hanging from a rock wall, and cooking up breakfast atop a lookout tower and trying to hold things together while braving high winds.

Of course, there's a big reason why the chefs subject themselves to this, and that reason is as green as the wilderness in which they find themselves. "Camp Cutthroat's" ultimate winner will take home a cool $75,000 in cold, hard cash. A much better souvenir than mosquito bites, I'd say.

TBS's new sitcom 'Clipped' wraps up its first season

By Cassie Dresch

TV Media

hair cut and a TV show have a lot in common—one bad trip to the salon and you'll never go back to that stylist; one bad episode of a series and you'll never tune in to that show again. It's a good thing, then, that there's not a hair out of place in the TBS sitcom "Clipped," which has been entertaining audiences since mid-June. Season 1 of "Clipped" comes to a close Tuesday, Aug. 18, on TBS.

Originally titled "Buzzy's,"
"Clipped" is set in the old Boston neighborhood of Charlestown at a barbershop that sees former high school classmates from different cliques working together.
The series hails from writers David Kohan and Max Mutchnick, the power duo behind the 16-time
Emmy-winning sitcom "Will & Grace," and is commanded by longtime "Two and a Half Men" director James Widdoes.

It's clear to see that there's quite a bit of star power behind the scenes, but there is just as much — if not more — on screen, too.

Leading the charge is a woman who has accomplished quite a bit in her 30 years on the planet. Ashley Tisdale made a name for herself in Hollywood as a Disney darling, but she got her start very early — at the tender age of three. She appeared in more than 100 TV commercials as a young'un, before moving on to theater productions such as "Les Misérables" and "Annie."

After a move to Los Angeles, Tisdale saw her star begin to rise. She was cast for a main role in the hit Disney Channel series "The Suite Life of Zack & Cody" before vaulting to national attention in the two-time Emmy-winning TV movie "High School Musical" (2006) as main antagonist Sharpay Evans. She went on to lend her voice to Disney Channel's threetime Emmy-winning animated series "Phineas and Ferb," and currently stars as the titular character in the Discovery Family animated series "Sabrina: Secrets of a Teenage Witch."

The cast of "Clipped"

Recently, Tisdale has started taking on more adult roles, including stints in "Hellcats," "Sons of Anarchy" and "Super Fun Night," culminating in her role as aspiring singer Danni in "Clipped."

"[The show is] definitely edgier; we're allowed to say bad words," she joked in an interview with "Access Hollywood." "It's so different for me, coming from where I come from. It's definitely more mature, the content. Even the sitcom aspect of it, the comedy is a little bit different. I'm used to being 'on' the joke, where this is more natural [and] it has the emotional depth to it."

Also starring in "Clipped" is a man who is no stranger to Beantown. Emmy-nominated actor George Wendt, most well known for his time in "Cheers" as Norm, stars as the man the hair salon is named after, Buzzy. Wendt and his experience are definitely a catch for "Clipped," something Tisdale addressed in the "Access Hollywood" interview.

"He's one of the nicest guys ever," she said. "He's pretty much the poppa bear on set, hanging out with us kids. You learn so much from him. Everything he does is just impeccable."

Rounding out the rest of the ensemble cast is a host of up-andcoming actors and actresses. Leading the charge is Lauren Lapkus, who stars as the religious receptionist Joy. The improv actress got her break in the short-lived NBC series "Are You There, Chelsea?" and has since gone on to have a recurring role as CO Fischer in Netflix's "Orange is the New Black." She's seen some success on the silver screen as well, with a role in the Chris Pratt-starring box office smash hit "Jurassic World" (2015).

Mike Castle ("FamilyTrap," 2012) stars opposite Tisdale as A.J. Salerno, an aspiring baseball player who proves to be the object of Danni's affections. Former loserturned-owner of the barbershop Ben, played by Ryan Pinkston ("Tower Prep"), is now the boss of many of his old classmates, who include his best friend Mo (Matt Cook, "True Blood") and the abrasive Charmaine (Diona Reasonover, "TMI Hollywood").

Strangerland

Married couple Matthew (Fiennes) and Catherine (Kidman) Parker are having trouble fitting in to their new lives in a remote town deep in the Australian Outback. They mostly keep to themselves, but when their two children disappear into the surrounding wilderness just as a deadly dust storm is blowing in, the parents must team up with their neighbors. With the local cop (Weaving) leading the search through the dust-choked darkness, it soon becomes clear that something sinister has happened to the two youths, and the locals begin to turn against the outsiders in their midst.

Helping the World Hear Better -Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

I really enjoy my hearing aids. It is a whole new world. I wear them every day. I would advise anyone who needs hearing aids to get Beltone. They have friendly service; someone is always there to assist me whenever I need help.
