Version guide for submitting to Research Repository UCD

Submit the final, accepted draft. This will contain updates after peer review comments, but will not contain publisher's final formatting.

The image shows two side-by-side versions of a journal article page. The left version is a clean, unformatted draft. It features a title "Residential Preferences of the 'Creative Class'?", authors "Philip Lawton, Enda Murphy, Declan Redmond", and an abstract. A large green checkmark is overlaid on the bottom right of this version. The right version is a formatted version of the same article, published in the journal "Cities". It includes a header with the Elsevier logo and journal information, and a footer with the article title and authors. A large red X is overlaid on the bottom right of this version, indicating it is not to be used for submission.

Frequently conferences, and occasionally journals, will require the use of their own template upon submission; if this is the case, the templated final draft (with peer review) is accepted.
