The inscription on the watch reads to heroic action, Aug. 27, 1913" On that day Peppin risked his own life in rescuing a fell lineman, Earle P. Tripp, who when on a tele-phone pole 40 feet from the ground had come in contact with two wires of another company carrying 2300 volts. Peppin climbed the pole and as Tripp was falling to the ground grasped the as Tripp-was falling to the ground grasped the pole firmly and caught the man by his leather belt, and a minute later the body was lowered to the ground, although Peppin received such a shock that it seemed as though both bodies must be dashed to the ground. Tripp was unconscious, and Peppin, applying methods he had learned during honorable service in the U.S. Army in the Philippines, at once began efforts to induce the return of respiration, continuing them until the arrival of an ambulance with a pulvomotor from Portland, which covered the distance of 17 miles in exactly 25 minutes. Tripp was taken to the Trull happital, where he recovered, and today, with the exception of a burn on his head, is as well as ever. Peppin, although severely strained and

WALDO COUNTY VETERANS Held an Interesting Meeting Dec. 4th in Swanville

The Waldo County Veteran Association met, by invitation, with Comet Grange, Swanville, Dec. 4th. The meeting was called to order by President Crockett, and by request of Secretary Stinson, Gracie Bowen acted as Secretary. The report of the last meeting was read and accepted. The committee on time and place of next meeting was appointed by the chair, consisting of Comrades Etinson, Clark and Bowen. The question was asked, as the first Thursday in January is New Years day, should we change the date of the meeting? The Association voted to meet the first Thursday in January. Two members of the Association. Comrades Busher of Freedom and Patterson of Belfast, were reported as having passed away since the November meeting.

Some timely remarks were made by the President, warning the comrades that though they were called "boys" they still were veterans, old veterans, and needed to take good care of themselves through the long cold winter that they might be spared to enjoy many more Veterans' meetings. Comrade Alfred E. Nickerson made some pleasant welcoming remarks to the Grand Army men and honorary members of the association. By request Mrs. Lufkin from Waltham, Mass., gave "Tenting Hiram L. The Shoe Situation Unseasonable weather has restricted trading in footwear, but improvement is expected with the advent of lower temperatures. Reports from manufacturing centers indicate that business, on the whole, is satisfactory, and sufficient reserve contracts are in hand to keep the plants running for some time to come. The demand for low-priced shoes is relatively better than for the higher grades and producever. Peppin, although severely strained and bruised, did not find it necessary to leave his work. He has been recommended to the Carnegie hero medal commission and is certainly eminently qualified to receive one of the medals for conspicuous bravery. He lives in Biddeford, is married and has four children.

THE LAST CALL. Do your shopping early.
Do it soon, we pray,
Lest it be a cyclone
On the latter day;
Lest the happy season
Which no art should foil, May become a torture Of a wild turmoil.

Do your shopping early, So it is a joy
To yourself, to others,
Naught which can annoy;
Filled with prospects pleasant,
And the time to choose
All the pretty presents
Friendship wants to use.

THE BROOKS OF MAINE.

That are shallow and still where the sands are white. Or deep and sullen and black as night. In the pools where the big trout lurk.

Oh brooks of Maine, you have stolen my heart With your curvings and windings, and though we must part,

With the breath of the spring time I shall follow again The lure of your music, oh brooks of Maine; I shall fish your pools for your lurking trout-and shirk, and shirk-and shirk.

From your fern hid founts whence the water To wind through fields of grass and grain,

And widen and dance through the woods again, To fall in cascades over boulders and rocks; And form the deep pool neath the shading Where I skillfully cast my hook and line,

And laughs at my boasted fisherman's skill. And darts around my well baited hook-and mocks, and mocks-and mocks. To Dixmont's hills and Prospect's land,

And the big trout lurks in the waters still,

dream-and dream-and dream. R. T. NEWELL.

THE MEXICAN MUDDLE.

Before this can appear in print we may be at war with Mexico, but the conditions which have rendered such a result probable, and have made this country "the laughing stock of all Europe," are worthy of public attention. In the first place many deny the right and question the wisdom of President Wilson's attempt to dictate who Mexico shall have for President. On this point a recent statement from F. Hopkinson Smith, the artist, author, engineer, etc., may be quoted. He has travelled extensively in Mexico, has made it the subject of one of his well-known books, and will be generally recognized as competent authority.

Huerta is a strong man, and the only man who can bring order out of chaos. The administration should have recognized him. It has gone too far now to back out, and it must abide by the consequences. If Huerta was overthrown by Carranza, we should recognize Carranza, and, if Carranza was overthrown, to recognize his successor, until in time a stable government would be established in Mexico.

The administration answers this by saying that it cannot recognize a government whose acts are stained with blood. That is foolish. The administration did not hesitate to recognize Servia and the sanguinary governments of other countries torn by revolutions.

Some day soon a drunken Mexican rebel soldier will invade a hacienda, its inhabitants will flee to the coast and be taken on board an American warship. A landing party of American sailors will go ashore, an American will be shot, and then the fat will be in the fire.

I have been ashamed, as I sat in the clubs of London, to hear America discussed and ridiculed because of the Wilson Mexican policy. Wilson and Bryan have mace this country the laughing stock of all Europe.

The Huerta government was recogmized by Great Britain and had this country done so peace might have been restored in Mexico and the loss of life and property of American citizens been Instead, Americans were ordered by the government, which should try, abandoning their property; and according to one estimate about two hundred Americans have been killed and American property destroyed up to the middle of October amounting to two bundred millions. The property interests involved are very great. An American engineer contributes to a recent issue of The Sunday Magazine an article captioned "Yankee Money in Mexico," in which he says that more than a thousand million dollars of American capital is invested in that country. The value of the financial interests in Mexico of citizens of the United States is equal to the interests of the Mexicans themselves plus those of all other countries. This billion dollars is in Mexico to stay. "For the present much of that vast sum is dead. Its monuments are the smokeless stacks of smelters and of mills and factories, the ruined, silent mountains of buildings that mark the reduction plants of great mines, the deserted plantations that have gone back to the jungle and brilliant rhinestone settings and cross taking title to orce more."

About 50,000 of our countrymen have been living in Mexico and flourishing there. How many American investors there are who live in the United States never has been calculated. Americans were largely interested in the Mexican railways, but mining is probably the industry in which the greatest number of Americans are interested. The mines of that country are fabulously rich and have never been fully developed. A few years before his death Cecil Rhodes, the empire builder, wrote of Mexico: "I am not blind to the unison of opinion as expressed by scientists and experts that Mexico will one day furnish the gold, silver and copper of the world; that from her hidden vaults, her subterranean treasure houses, will come the gold, silver, copper and precious stones that will build the empires of tomorrow and make future cities of the world resemble New Jerusalems."

In a recent address at Worcester, Mass., John Hays Hammond of Gloucester, Mass., the millionaire mine owner and expert, a world wide traveller, and a man whose public utterances carry weight, severely scored the Administration. "A nation that does not protect its citizens and investors is unworthy of the name of a nation," he declared after saying that honest workingmen, encouraged to locate in Mexico, are forced to throw away the savings of a lifetime. "They are told to get out, flee the country, where their all is located," he added. "Investors ought to be backed and protected as long as they prove honest." And further:

Under diplomacy of Mr. Bryan I would not put a cent of money in a foreign country, nor would any man of sense. It is imperative that our government guarantee the fair treatment of its peo-ple who have invested their capital in legitimate industry under laws obtaining in the country when the investments in question were made. Certain it is, that the laws resulting in the confiscation of property legally acquired do not justify a great nation in repudiating its obliga-tion to obtain redress of legitimate grievances of its citizens.

And the heading of a recent Washington special was: "President Awaiting the Next Move by Huerta!"

The Christmas Dinner. The Christmas Dinner.

In spite of the fact that the word DYSPEPSIA means literally BAD COOK, it will not be fair for many to lay the blame on the cook if they begin the Christmas Dinner with little appetite and end it with distress or nausea. It may not be fair for ANY to do that—let us hope so for the sake of the cook! The disease dyspepsia indicates a BAD STOMACH, that is a weak stomach, rather than a bad cook, and for a weak stomach there is nothing else equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It gives the stomach vigor and tone, cures dyspepsia, creates appetite, and makes eating the pleasure it shoul be.

Christmas Fixings.

SMART BELONGINGS SURE TO BE ACCEPTABLE.

[Correspondence of The Journal.] NEW YORK, Dec. 8, 1913. To judge from the fashionably attired crowds now thronging all the smart stores and small specialty shops one might suppose that every other woman's sight was affected, for nearly everyone wears lorgnettes or a monocle suspended from a jewelled chain or modish "Sautoir." This latter is usually of black moire ribbon and its mountings simple or elaborate as taste and purse permit.

The girlish contingent prefers the monocle to the lorgnettes, though when the latter are closed the effect of both are similar. The circular torm is the popular choice, the glasses quite unprotected, and rimmed with shell, silver, aluminum, gold or platinum. Prices vary from $1.95 for an aluminum monocle to figures in the hundreds where lorgnettes and Sautoir mountings are set with diamonds and other small but brilliant stones. Tango slipper sets are new and very smart, transforming any plain slipper with their strapped fastenings. These also come in a wide range of prices. AN ENGLISH FASHION.

English ladies when off on the long walks that they enjoy, carry a small cane, and this idea is taken up to some extent by American girls and women. Very sporty and attractive are some little canes of snakewood, with carved dog's heads, having flexible jaws, daintily silver mounted, which are selling for $1.50 on Fifth avenue.

Bracelet watches are increasingly worn and come in many new and attractive mountings. They are mounted on heavy straps of black moire ribbon rather than on leather for general use, though the leather strap still keeps its place. There is no limit to the elegance and extravagance of the mountings of these most convenient timepieces. Flexible bracelets of woven gold or platinum, set with precious stones, and the watch similarly ornamented, carry these up to any limit desired in elaboration and price. HAND BAGS AND PURSES.

The hand bag of moire silk that finisher at the bottom with a long silk tassel is evidently a favorite. One of these comes with a watch inserted, face out, and nearly all of them have mirrors, change fittings. Saddle bag purses and bags is no end to the bead and tinsel embroideries employed to render these attractive. With the vogue for colored bead embroideries, all the old-time bead purses and bags are once more to the fore in fashionable usage.

DRESSING TABLE FIXINGS The modishness of all sorts of dressing table fixings, draped in fancy silks and laces and made even more ornate with tiny flowers of silk and metal ribbon, shows clever copy-cats a way to utilize the odds and ends in the piece bag to considerable advantage. An ordinary salts bottle draped in tinsel net over rose color and garlanded with tiny silk flowers, is marked at a prohibitive figure for the orcushions that are also sachets, made of are similarly ornamented and priced.

The Uses of Electricity.

Its Wonderful Development in Recent Years. TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: A lady friend in Concord, Mass., has sent me a clipping from the Boston Evening Transcript, and I am serding it to you to print or put it into the waste basket as you choose. It simply shows the fact that electricity is to be very commonly used in the near future for power, heating, lighting, etc., and when it is generated by tide power it will be very plentiful and cheap.

It will be also useful in driving the plan to overcome evil with good. Electricity is almost as hard to handle and not get hurt as is whiskey. A little will give a peculiar sensation, an overdose will give you a shock, and too much will kill as quickly and quite as surely as Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is a Thing whiskey. The difference is that electricity kills only the body, whiskey has the power to kill both body and soul and drag men into hell. Now I am not referring to that hell hereafter that has been voted out of sight, but the hell on earth where men and women indulge in the use of intoxicating liquors. This away the use of intoxicating liquors. This hell cannot be winked out of sight and must be voted on, and I hope the time will soon come when we shall vote the distillery out of existence. This is the only thing that will do away with drunk-of the liquor business. I have often wondered how long Christian men, ministers, lawyers and doctors, would allow and the Edison Company declare that they hope to make up the difference by the added sale of new heating, cooking, power and other appliances. They are willing to install it, since they foresee no loss eventually in revenue from current consumed, and indeed expect to equalize the ''load'' which now bears heaviest at night, economizing thus in production. The new "nitro" bids fair to cut the tungsten consumption almost in half," declares the Edison Company. "The first nitrogen lamps will be put on the market in about six months. They will be large and suitable for outdoor illumination. The new lamp gives light whiter than the ordinary tungsten and comes near "daylight." The new lamps at the electrical show are four monster globes rated at 5,000 candle power, suspended from the four corners of the big central hall. These lights are turned on for five minutes at stated intervals every day. This system has been adopted lest the blaze dazzle the eyes of beholders, making it impossible for them to see anything else." It should be a fine system for the white way.

Another of the Government exhibits is a complete working model of the Pedro Miguel Lock, the construction of which is one of the engineering triumphs of the Panama Canal. This lock alone cost the Government nearly thirteen million dollars. The model exhibited is twenty feet long and is in actual operation with water coursing through it and miniature water coursing through it and miniature ships being carried through the locks. This model, before being brought to New York, was kept in the White House at Washington.

PRUNING FRUIT TREES

Means Apples-and Everybody is Eating Apples. By A HORTICULTURIST,

Department of Agriculture, Kansas. When a limb is cut from a tree the parent branch or trunk tries to cover the wound with a callus tissue. For this reason all limbs and branches should be cut off quite close to and parallel with the parent branch. Immediately after removing a limb, and until nature does her part, keep this exposed surface painted with thick Unseed oil paint. If this is not done. or if a stub of the branch is left, decay

I from the earth to from one to two feet branches which are to form the framework of the future tree should be evenly distributed around the trunk. Thereheads of trees-the vase shape, where forms a central shaft through the tree, extending above the branches.

metry and balance may be done with the thumb and finger, removing little shoots which start from undesirable points, during May, June and July. Up until the time of bearing the principal object in pruning is the shaping of the tree. About one-half of the first year's wood is cut back in the spring following its growth.

annually than with an occasional severe pruning. Some people head back their trees quite freely each year, while others who believe in unrestricted growth do not. Every one recognizes the necessity of cutting out dead, diseased and useless branches and those which rub or interfere with each

Heavy pruning tends to produce Old trees are rejuvenated by severe cutting back. Weak growing trees should be pruned more closely than strong growers. If a tree's ener gles are largely devoted to growing wood the quality and quantity of fruit must suffer. Winter pruning stimulates wood growth, and summer pruning diverts the energies to fruit bearing. Do the winter pruning while the tree is dormant and the summer pruning in June

THE SEPARATOR

Saves the Farmer His Greatest Asset. By C. B. LANE, Successful Dairyman

In early days farmers set milk on kitchen or pantry shelves to raise cream. After standing twelve to twenty-four hours the cream was skimmed with tin skimmers and set away in a cool place, usually the cellar. Less than one-half to three-fourths of the cream was thus secured. When enough had accumulated a churning was made. Later milk was put in "deep setting" cans kept in well or spring water, and after twelve hours the cream was skimmed, or, in the more improved cans, the skimmilk was drawn from the bottom, leaving the cream in the can. Here again one-third of the cream was left in skimmilk to be fed to pigs. Thirty years ago the first cream separator was made in this country. The principal of the separator is based on specific gravity of liquids. As the separator bowl revolves at about 6,000 revolutions per minute the heavier portion of milk, skimmilk, is thrown outside by centrifugal force and discharged, while the lighter portion, cream, is thrown to the center of the bowl and discharged through separate tubes. The advent of separaters was a great boost for the dairy business, as it separated practically all cream from milk, preventing waste and making it possible to feed sweet skimmilk to stock.

Types of separators on the market today are legion. It is estimated the sales of separators in the United States amounts to 175,000 per year. These range in capacity from 200. pounds of milk per hour in the small hand separators to 4,200 pounds in the big power machines and cost from $100 to $600, and it may be interesting to note that the best mechanical skill, workmanship and material obtainable are used in their manuf: . . . e.

By turning slightly he "cream screw" in a separator the cream can be made thick or thin or rich or poor in butter fat, as desired, depending on the amount of skimmilk incorporated with it. For example, common table cream of 20 per cent fat or a very rich thick cream contains from 50 to 60 per cent butter fat.

One would think a cleaner and better flavored cream would be produced by the introduction of the separator; but, as a matter of fact, the flavor and sanitary qualities of separator cream aduced on the average farm are not good as before, and the quality of utter made in creamieries from this scourator cream is inferior, largely be-

THE SAFEST It Saves Time, and Time Is Money. By E. K. PARKINSON, Farm Management Expert.

The two principal objects of hopper

HOPPER FEEDING POULTRY

feeding are to save time and avoid upsetting the digestion of fowis from careless feeding. On large commercial plants-in fact, on any farm where poultry are kept in tonsiderable numbers-time is money and must be saved, so by degrees the hopper has come to be used universally. The usual materials are fed in it. but mixed in bulk and put into hoppers dry in sufficient quantities to last several days. There are some who object to hoppers, fearing they attract rats, mice, sparrows, etc., and that fowls eat less freely of dry mash and consequently do not lay as well. The first of these objections is overcome by using metal hoppers with lids. These may be purchased from any poultry supply house. The second objection is true, but the slight loss of eggs is offset by saving in the time spent in feed-There are, of course, those who have made great su-cess with poultry feeding cooked mushes, and in such cases it is inadvisable to change. But where feeding is done by a hired man, who is apt to be careless in keering feed troughs clean and well scalded or allowing the mash to stand until sour, so upsetting the digestion of entire flocks and causing loss in the egg yield, the change to the hopper method will prove beneficial. For those who think of changing from the o'd to the new method perhaps a few of the dry mash mixtures used by successful poultry breeders may prove helpful. A well tried one consists of coarse wheat bran, 200 pounds; cornmeal, 100 pounds; ground oats, 100 pounds; gluten meal, 100 pounds; middlings, 75 pounds; feeding flour, 25 nounds: fine beef seraps, 30 pounds, and fish scrap, 30 pounds. For Leghorns the following has been found good: Cornmeal, 60 pounds; wheat middlings, 60 pounds; wheat bran, 36 pounds; alfalfa meal, 10 pounds; oilmeal, 10 pounds; beef scrap, 50 pounds and table salt, 10 pounds. The Maine experiment station recommends wheat bran, 200 pounds; cornmeal, 100 pounds; middlings, 100 pounds; gluten meal, 100 pounds; linseed meal, 100 pounds; beef scrap, 100 pounds. A breeder of Plymouth Rocks has had good results from the following: Wheat bran, 200 pounds; wheat middlings, 100 pounds; cornmeal, 100 pounds; gluten meal, 100 pounds, and beef s rap. 100 pounds of linseed meal are added.

BUCKSPORT'S GRAND BANKERS.

The 80 odd men who sailed out of Bucksport to the Grand Banks this season, and who have made the fall trip to school six sons and seven daughters of Newfoundland after herring as members of the crews of Tom Nicholson's fishing fleet, have all passed through the season unscathed and not a single life has been lost from the Maine vessels.

The schooner Hiram W. Lowell, Capt. Abbott W. Gott, has returned from Newfoundland with a cargo of salt herring Two years ago he visited his old home for the first time in twenty-five years and found that of the twelve farms (two of the pupils were brother and sister) not be transformed into fancy bloaters and single one remained in the family that put on the market in about a week, after for a magnificent flower garden. as follows:

Now comes the more interesting side herring. Capt. Nicholson's schooners, Kellogg of New York, to contain 20 rooms "Now comes the more interesting side of the story. On the twelve farms, which totaled about 1,900 acres, there are now living fifty-one families, of which forty-two had moved from the towns and cities; but nine families had a direct farmer ancestry. Of these nine, eight had bought their lands, and only one had acquired its farm by inheritance.

HOTBED MAKING

Where the Fancy Prices Come From. By H. W. DOYLE,

Department of Agriculture, Kansas. A hotbed should be placed in a well drained position, sheltered from cold north and west winds by a hill, hedge or building.

Most hotbeds are heated from below by fermenting manure in pits. Dig the pit before ground freezes about eighteen inches deep or thirty inches in colder climates and make it the same size as the frame which is put over it.

While cement and brick are substantial, the frames of most hotbeds are made of lumber. Nail well painted two inch planks to four heavy corner posts, which should reach from top of frame to bottom of pit. The frame should be built to accommodate one or more standard sash, which are Slope bed toward south to give a maximum of sunshine and shed the rain. Extend north side of frame fifteen inches above ground and the south side about six inches. Give necessary slant by sawing a board in two on a bias and putting the pieces one on each end of frame. Mortise 2 by 3 inch crossbars, with half inch strip down the middle, into sides of frame to allow sash to rest and slide on and to brace the frame. Make all joints fit snugly, leaving no holes or crevices to admit cold air.

Good sash can be bought as cheaply as they can be made at home. Insist on the best material-cypress, cedar or white pine, blind mortised, all joints white leaded or painted, strong and well braced. The glass should be 10 by 12 inches, double strength, lapped and embedded in putty. The sash should be thoroughly painted and wa ter tight.

On cold nights cover bed either with commercial mats or old pieces of car pet or burlap. In addition, wooden shutters 3 by 6 feet made of half inch tongued and grooved lumber are used to advantage.

Allow six weeks for plants to grow. and ten days to two weeks before it is intended to sow seeds secure fresh horse manure of two-thirds fine material and one-third straw or litter. If necessary mix leaves. litter or bedding to bring to a right consistency. Pile the manure and allow to come to a heat; then fork it over carefully and pile again. When hot the second time place evenly in bed, thoroughly tramp ing it in layers, filling corners to within fourteen inches of top.

Now spread evenly over the manure six inches of good hotbed soil made by mixing two parts soft, mellow garden loam, one part well rotted manure and one part sharp sand.

> While many have been rejoicing over the mild weather that prevailed in November and continued in December, the unseasonable temperature, according to Bradstreet's and Dun's, the two trade on business throughout the country.

Bradstreet's says: Unseasonably warm weather bulks large in the trade, crop and industrial reports this week. Thus, retail trade in seasonable and holiday goods is checked, recorder sales from jobbers are retarded, and even future orders for spring are re-ported feeling weather effects as an additional cause for conservatism.

And this from Dun's Weekly Review of Trade, under date of Dec. 6th.

Complaints are still heard of the retarding influence of mild weather, which restricts the retail demand for heavy-weight apparel and other seasonable merchandise. Holiday trade, however, has opened up well and, though quietness prevails in practically all staple lines, a broader movement is anticipated with the advent of lower temperatures. Local trade was dull the past week, but the condition of the roads is thought

WINDOW DISPLAYS. One of the attractions of a Boston department store is a genuine oldtime one-ring ircus, with real ponies, real dogs, real clowns and a bucking mule, all performing in a real ring of sawdust; and the performance is so meritorious as to interest elders as well as delight children. This store ficate of organization of the Busy-White Cor- for twenty-five consecutive years and is an slso has a window display which is attracting much attention. It is a reproduction of a Canadian winter carnival and shows the Can-Young Ladies Social Union of the Baptist adians at play, all the popular Winter sports 3rd. being included. There is, for instance, a min- carry on a general poultry farm business, with iature lake on which a number of people are the power to deal in poultry products, supskating around and around, now and then plies, feeds, fixtures and appliances of any and cutting a "figure 8" or other fancy turn. Then every description. Capital stock $10,000; comthere is the great ice palace, which is stormed at the height of the carnival season. Sawyer, Charles U. way On another hill tobogganing is being Greeley and Charles J. Greeley. Roland J. enjoyed. Of course such attractions are only possible in the large city stores, but window displays are becoming generally recognized as streams that in boyhood days were visited in effective advertising. Such displays, however, only appeal to the passers-by and further publicity through the newspapers is essential. The local displays have increased in attractiveness each year and visitors to Belfast at this season will find an inspection of the shop windows interesting, suggestive and profitable.

His personal efforts in that direction, although they failed to add to his material wealth, had the effect to stimulate others to good works whose reverence for "the Almighty Dollar" was greater than his. He was one of the earliest and most persistent advocates for the erection of our county, and was the first one, so far as known, to suggest the name it bears. Wilson's Hill and Wilson's Stream, two of the ancient landmarks in our city, are indebted to him for their appellations.

A minute biographical notice of Mr. Wilson, one that would do ample justice to him, would require more space than can be spared from these brief annals. A few anecdotes, selected at random, may suffice to illustrate the character and peculiarities of the man more vividly, perhaps, than can be done in any other mode within the power of the compiler. He was a man of fine physical organization, of great physical strength when a young man, cool and deliberate in all his actions, and of unflinching courage.

He possessed a wonderful degee of selfpossession and forbearance. No instance is remembered in which he exhibited any anger, however much annoyed. About the last time he appeared in the Courthouse he was arguing to the Judge presiding a question of law, and having stated a legal proposition the counsel on the other side, a young member of the profession, in a rather contemptuous tone of voice remarked "Who ever heard of such a principle of law as that!" Mr. Wilson, without moving a muscle, or exhibiting the slightest resentment at the rude interruption, or taking his eye from the Judge, proceeded to say, "My brother inquires who ever heard of such a principle of law as that which I have just stated. The obvious inference from the remark is that he never did; but your Honor and I heard of it thirty years ago." It is needless to add that the interruption was not repeated.

Daniel Webster was a member of Congress at the same time with Mr. Wilson and stood deservedly high in his estimation as a lawyer and advocate. "What did you think of Mr. Webster?" said he one day to a townsman who had just returned from Court at Wiscasset where Mr. Webster had argued an important case. "Well," was the reply, "I liked him very well; but he didn't say any thing more than any lawyer in this place could have said," "Very likely" said Mr. Wilson; "if he had only thought of it?" This imperfect sketch of the life and character of a man who was one of the ablest intellectually who ever resided profession in this county, we deplore the loss of an able counsellor, a faithful a courteous gentleman and an

CANDY KITCHEN.

"The Sign of the Kettle" Candies Now Made in Concord.

[Concord, N. H., Enterprize.] [Concord, N. H., Enterprize.]

Concord is delighted to welcome within its borders the Sign of the Kettle Candy Kitchen, which opened its doors to the public Tuesday. For some years now "The Sign of the Kettle" candies have been very familiar to Concord people and while they were bought by a large number of Concord people, few realized the magnitude to which the business of the candy making had grown. It was therefore not only a treat but a decided surprise to many of them who visited the new home of "The Sign of the Kettle" Candies on Walden street, Tuesday.

Misses Sarah and Elizabeth Jones, who are the originators of the Sign of the Kettle candies, found that their home in Kettle candies, found that their home in Concord Junction, where they started in a very modest way, making but one or two kinds, some six years ago, was no longer large enough for their rapidly growing business. They had in mind just such a place as they wanted, but where to find it was a problem. In their search for a suitable place they care upon what is suitable place they came upon what is known as the old Vose house, one of Concord's landmarks, as it were, and intimately associated with the town's earliwelcomed inside its doors on Tuesday. Invitations were issued to the people of this town and the neighboring towns as well, and so unique and attractive were they, with their insignia of the little black kettle and their specially designed type, that few could resist their appeal, and so it was a very large number which visited the "kitchen" Tuesday.

The house, which is a large rambling old structure, has been made most fascinating. Everything which pertains to modern days, other than electric lights, heating and the like, has been abolished and instead reigns the exquisite old furnishings and finishings of the early days of our forefathers.

A huge brass knocker adorns the front door and as one enters the hall it seems as if a most inviting welcome is extended by the quaint soft gray wall paper, which like all other used in the house, is a reproduction of that used in Colonial A mahogany stand and girondelle of exquisite design and with its crystal

Stepping from the hall into the room, on the left one cannot refrain from exclaiming over the beautiful picture which this room presents. A paper, which reminds one of the brilliant copper plates of their grandmothers, adorns the walls and its bright hued blossoms and gaily feathered birds are indeed most attracted fireplace has been opened up and in fact throughout the house, wherever one is located, it has been opened up for use. crane, and irons, shovel and tongs, all of old and simple design, are to be found here. About the room at various places are to be found the little old black kettles, which the Misses Jones have taken as their trade mark. Even the curtains which daintily frame the windows, have embroidered in their corners these little kettles. The various kinds of confectionery made were most temptingly dis-played in attractive baskets and the guests were asked to partake of the vari-ous kinds.

Built-in cupboards with leaded glass doers also held their display of the candies. The floor here is painted a soft green and a brown and a white homespun rug is before the fireplace. On Tuesday carnations and chrysanthemums were used for decorating here and in the other rooms as well. On the opposite side of the hall, we find what is known as the north parlor. This will be used principally as a living or rest room, which has been made most attractive with its old fashioned furnish-papered the same as the room opposite.

Little cupboards are very plentiful in the rooms and these are used for the storing of the boxes, wrapping papers, etc., necessary to the carrying on of the busi-

Another attractive feature which was noticed as one passed from room to room were the old hinges which adorned the doors, making them very attractive by the marked contrast of the black of the hinges and the white woodwork.

From the hall one also passes into the storeroom, where the candy is kept in tin boxes, all appropriately labeled with the various kind of confections, and which are not piled one on top of each other on the shelves, but are so that all can be opened at once and thus affected as can be opened at once and thus affords an excellent opportunity for packing the assorted boxes. A small hall divides the storeroom from the work room. The latter room is another one of the very attractive rooms of the house and here and their assistant, Miss Ryan, wrap and pack their candies for the markets.

Here, too, is a fireplace, and over it on the mantel one finds pieces of rare old china, candle sticks and the like. In fact, all about the various rooms are antique articles which the Misses Jones which they have placed about their rooms as though a part of the furnishings, but which are really for sale

A modern note is struck in the kitchen, which is just off the work room, by the electric range and its shining kettle and other apurtenances. A coal range is also located here and two work tables and shelves. The actual making of the candy only is done here. A pantry with well stocked shelves opens out of this kitchen.

Opening also from the work room is an office, which also can be reached from an out door entrance. This has among its ter, N. Y., Harvard Square, Cambridge, other furnishings a beautiful old fashother furnishings a beautiful old fash-ioned desk, which harmonizes splendidly with its surrounding:

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. An interesting item was learned concerning the room where the boxes are stored, in that it was in this very room that the Masons of the days before the Revolution held their meetings, and here it was that Paul Revere attended the meetings of the Concord Masons. It was in this house also that those who withdrew from the Unitarian church and organized in 1826 as the Congregation il society held their meetings. Many more interesting items might be told if space and time permitted. To return to the candy once more, we find that a large variety is now made that goes out in boxes, ranging from the quarter pound to the five pound sizes, all bearing "The Sign of the Kettle" trademark. Besides the chocolates, of which there is a great variety, there are bonbons, dates, stoned and chocolated, fudge of several kinds, marshmallow, walnut and peanut penuchie, praulines, butter-scotch, caramels, cream mints of abreast Combination park. All of these candies are made of the best and purest ingredients obtainable and they are all made by either Miss Sarah or Miss Eliza beth, who state that they will personally make their own candy as long as they put it on the market. Brown wrappings are used outside of the boxes, which b have gathered from time to time and the way are all handmade and are the best that can be produced. In order that all might have a sample of the boxes, as well as the candy, each guest was on Tuesday presented with a favora box filled with an assortment of the candies which, as are all of The Sign of the Kettle Candies, perfect to the taste.

Although the candy has been on sale in Concord more has been sent away from town, orders coming from as far as Texas, where an order was shipped dur-ing the week. They have a regular winter trade in Florida, while they also ship to Rhode Island, Connecticut, Roches-Marblehead to Nantucket.

To Make Your Hair More Beautifut

To give your hair that gloss and lustre and wavy silky-softness, use Harmony Hair Beautifier. It takes away the dull dead look of the hair, and makes it bright-turns the stringiness into fluffiness - overcomes the oily odors Harry White has been having one of his severe driven with the many waiting jobs, one of and leaves a sweet, true-rose fragrance-makes spells of stomach trouble, and was unable to which was to install a fine hot air furnace in the hair easier to put up neatly and easier to keep in place. It is just exactly what it is named -a hair beautifier, and whether your hair is Walter and John Twombly... Ansel Ellingtion for their new house in the beautiful field ugly now or beautiful, it will improve its appearance. You'll be proud of and delighted with the results, or your money back. Very easy to apply- simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair, nor darken gray hair. To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure, iquid shampoo is most convenient to use, because it gives an instantaneous rich, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair, leaves no harshness or stickiness-just a sweet-smeiling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this M. J. CLEAN, CUOL SCALP it is too dry, brittle, dull, thin, or if the scalp itches, immediately begin the use of Parislan Sage. The first application removes dandruff, cools and invigorates the scalp and increases the beauty of the hair.

Parisian Sage, a scientific preparation, supplies hair needs. It contains the exact elements needed to make the hair soft, wavy and glossy, and to make it grow—it is delicately perfumed—not sticky or greasy.

Apply Parisian Sage and the effect is immediate. One application stops the head from itching and freshens up the hair. Use it daily for a week and you will be surprised and delighted. Parisian Sage is one of the quickest acting hair tonics known.

OBITUARY, Miss Angeline Nickels Carver died at the home of her sister, Mrs. N. F. Gilkey, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 7th, after a long liness of a complication of diseases. She was the daughter of the late Capt. Phineas and Sarah A. (Webber) Carver and was born in Searsport in 1860. She was one of the best known school teachers of Waldo county, having taught school in different parts of Maine and Massachusetts for many years. Miss Carver was a lady of fine character and had a large circle of friends who regret her untimely demise. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. N. F. Gilkey of Searsport. The funeral services were held at her late home Wednesday and were conducted by Rev. Charles H. McElhiney Interment was in the family lot in Elmwood cemetery Marietta, widow of Capt. H. Park, died at the home of her nephew, John C. Blanchard, Saturday, Dec. 6th, after a long illness of a complication of diseases. She was the daughter of the late Capt. Woodburn and Mary (Pendleton) Carver and was born in Prospect, now Searsport, July 24, 1833. She married Capt. Hulbert H. Park April 26, 1856, who died many years ago. She had always resided at her home in Park until the last few years, when she lived with her nephew, John C. Blanchard. She is survived by two sisters' Mrs. A. S. Pendleton and Mrs. Sewell Lancaster, both of Park. The funeral services were held at her late home Sunday afternoon, Rev. C. H. McElhiney of the First Cong'l church officiating. Interment was in the family lot in

STOCKTON SPRINGS.

The schools throughout town begin next Monday after a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Samuel A. Rendell, West Main street, remains in a critical condition; gradually wearing out, apparently. The familiar figure of "Uncle Sam," is missed upon our streets.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Universalist parish will meet socially with Mrs. Alvah C. Treat, Church street, this, Thursday, afternoon. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Sarah Snell, West Main street, is still far from usually well, although she is slowly recuperating from her recent serious illness. We hope to see her again upon our streets be-

Mrs. Stubbs of Guilford arrived last Saturday to spend Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Foulk, Church street, a new resident in our village. Mr. Foulk is employed at the Cape

Mr. George F. Hichborn returned to Portland by train Monday after spending his vacation of two weeks with his sisters, Misses Faustina, Mary and Harriet D. Hichborn, Church street.

Mr. Flitner Staples, West Main street, is slowly improving, he tells his callers, although still confined to the bed or couch. His mother, Mrs. Horace Staples, is in poor health at present, although about the house. Miss Beulah Nickerson left Tuesday to return to her studies at the Maine Central Institute. Pittsfield after a brief vacation spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Nickerson, Church street. She will spend Christmas

Thursday from Newport News with 3,780 tons of coal to the Penobscot Coal & Wharf Co. at Mack's Point, finished discharging Friday and sailed for Norfolk.

Steamer Kentuckian, Capt. Frank Dow, arrived at Boston Sunday from Puerto Mexico. It was the incompanion of the American Steamer Kentuckian, Capt. A number of desirable articles of fancy-work suitable for Christmas gifts remain in the hands of the Ladies Aid committee of the Universalist society, which will be readily shown by those having them in charge to anyone wishing to buy. Don't fail to see them if in need of such pleasing hand-made pieces.

Mrs. Harry F. Hichborn of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived last Friday to visit her husband's mother, Mrs. Harriet (Clifford) Hichborn, West Main street. She icft Saturday p. m for Bangor, to call upon her mother, Mrs. Adelbert Crocket, formerly of this town, and will join Capt. Hichborn on the arrival of his steamer in New York.

Monday the rain of the morning changed at noon into damp snow which melted as it struck; but toward nightfall the sidewalks and housetops began to show a thin coat of white, suggestive of what is coming in Maine. Our weather has thus far been remarkably mild. Nothing in temperature has indicated winter's approach. Shall we have a Christmas without sleighing?

the enjoyment. Nearly every seat in the house was filled and after the rlay a cordial reception was tendered the visitors by their Searsport friends. A hop followed, with music by the ladies' orchestra, and was much enjoyed.

John Ward, who died in Bel'ast, Dec 5th, came to Searsport from Athenry, County Galwey, Ireland, in 1859, when he was 22 years an extra.

Upon authority it is stated that Stockton is to have a new steamer line; a regular boat running from Philadelphia, Pa., to Cape Jellirunning from Philadelphia, Pa., to Cape Jellison piers, making at present monthly trips and beginning, as now expected, on the 20th of December. Another large potato house is to be built near the wharves, having a railroad track directly into the building to facilitate safe unloading of the tubers. "The more the better!" we exclaim concerning business appliances within the town limits.

STOP CATAKRH.

Unless Properly Treated With Hyomei

This Disease May Become Serious. If you have catarrh, indicated by sniffling, stopped up head, dropping in the throat and morning choking, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrane which affords an ideal condition for the growth of disease germs. Do not allow these dangerous germ to begin the destruction of your health. The casiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by breathing Hyomei. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not upset the stomach, but is breated in through the Hyomei inhaler, directly following and surely destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled—the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs are quickly healed and vitalized.

Money refunded by A. A. Howes & Co. to anyone whom Hyomei fails to benefit. A com-plete outfit costs but $100.
