Note

Donald Joseph Fernbach was born April 10, 1925 in Brooklyn, New York. He served in the European Theater and earned a Bronze Star during World War II. He earned his Bachelor's from Tusculum College in Greeneville, Tennessee, in 1948 and his MD from George Washington University School of Medicine in 1952, and came to Houston to study pediatrics as one of Baylor College of Medicine's first residents. He also completed a residency at Children's Medical Center and Harvard University School of Medicine in Boston, followed by a fellowship in hematology and oncology. He returned to Houston in 1957 to join the faculty at Baylor and helped found the Research Hematology-Oncology Service (now the Children's Cancer Center) at Texas Children's Hospital in 1958.

Dr. Fernbach coauthored the first textbook on clinical pediatric oncology, led the effort to screen for sickle cell disease in newborns, and was the first to transplant bone marrow between identical twins to treat aplastic anemia. He was the director of the Blood Transfusion Services at Texas Children's from 1957 to 1971. He was one of the founders of Houston's Ronald McDonald House and led the movement to ban smoking in the Texas Medical Center.

Dr. Fernbach died September 22, 2013, in Houston and is buried at the Houston National Cemetery.

Scope and content

The Donald J. Fernbach, MD papers contain materials relating to his career in pediatric oncology at Baylor College of Medicine and Texas Children's Hospital.

A significant amount of material comes from the Southwest Cancer Chemotherapy Study Group, of which Dr. Fernbach was a founder, and its successors the Southwest Oncology Group and Pediatric Oncology Group. The groups would meet, correspond, and collaborate on grants to conduct clinical trials for research and to improve patient care. Dating from 1956 through 1990, these materials include meeting minutes, agendas, grant applications and documentation, correspondence, and reports. Many of these materials relate to the groups' Cancer Chemotherapy grants / Acute Leukemia in Children (ALinc) studies.

Another focal point of the collection is Dr. Fernbach's work at Baylor College of Medicine and Texas Children's Hospital. The materials related to these institutions span his career from approximately 1955 to 1991. A significant portion relates to his work on various committees within both institutions. Other materials relate to the Hematology-Oncology Service / Section, which Dr. Fernbach established, as well as the Research Hematology Laboratory. In addition, there are copies of several theses and dissertations written by Baylor students advised by Dr. Fernbach.

The collection also documents his involvement in other organizations such as the Ronald McDonald House in Houston, the American Cancer Society, and the University of Texas.

In addition to text and information pertaining to his book Clinical Pediatric Oncology, the collection also includes other publications, reprints, and presentations. Similarly, aside from the Acute Leukemia in Children (ALinC) studies, there is also research from other projects, such as the National Wilms' Tumor Study.

Dr. Fernbach's papers include extensive correspondence. Where clearly associated with a single organization or project, the correspondence has been filed within the appropriate series. In other cases, general or wide-ranging correspondence has been added to its own series.

A final small section of the collection documents Dr. Fernbach's anti-smoking advocacy within the Texas Medical Center and Houston.

Notes

Physical condition

Materials are generally in good condition. However, some have suffered water damage.

Immediate source of acquisition

Source is unknown. Assumed to be creator.

Arrangement

For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to certain organizations or topics are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place as one another.

An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access

This collection is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers or patient information. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist with questions.

Conditions governing use

Copyright restrictions may apply. Permission to publish from this material must be facilitated through the repository, McGovern Historical Center.

Series descriptions

Series MS085-S1: Southwest Cancer Chemotherapy Study Group

Date: 1957-1975 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains materials relating to the Southwest Cancer Chemotherapy Study Group from its inception in 1956 through its change to the Southwest Oncology Group around 1973. The materials in this series reflect the group's goal of leveraging cooperation and a larger patient population to design and conduct clinical trials in order to improve patient care and do research.

Many of the materials relate to the group's Cancer Chemotherapy grants / Acute Leukemia in Childhood (ALinC) studies.

Documents include meeting minutes, agendas, grant applications and documentation, correspondence, and reports.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to the Southwest Cancer Chemotherapy Study Group are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place. An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders containing Contracts are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers on the grant applications. Other folders containing Acute Leukemia Study materials are restricted due to the presence of patient information. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist.

Series MS085-S2: Southwest Oncology Group

Date: 1973-1982 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains materials relating to the Southwest Oncology Group from its emergence around 1973 through its change to the Pediatric Oncology Group around 1980. The materials in this series reflect the group's goal--continued from its predecessor the Southwest Cancer Chemotherapy Study Group--of leveraging cooperation and a larger patient population to design and conduct clinical trials in order to improve patient care and do research.

Many of the materials relate to the group's grants / Acute Leukemia in Childhood (ALinc) studies. Documents include meeting minutes, agendas, grant applications and documentation, correspondence, and reports.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to the Southwest Oncology Group are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place. An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders containing Contracts are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers on the grant applications. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist.

Series MS085-S4: Texas Children's Hospital

Date: 1958-1991 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains materials relating to Dr. Fernbach's work at Texas Children's Hospital and spanning his career from 1958-1991. A significant portion of the material related to his work on various hospital committees, including the Medical Executive Committee, By-laws Committee, Corrective Action Policy Committee, Clinical Investigations and Publications Committee, Cancer Committee, Pharmacy Committee, Nursing Committee, Planning Committee, Accreditation Committee, and Medical Staff Committee.

Some materials relate to the Hematology-Oncology Service at Texas Children's, which Dr. Fernbach established, as well as the Research Hematology Laboratory. Here there is some overlap with the Baylor College of Medicine series, and more materials relating to Dr. Fernbach's work with Hematology-Oncology can be found there.

This series also contains some administrative records and correspondence.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to Texas Children's Hospital are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place.

An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers or patient information. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist.

Series MS085-S5: Baylor College of MedicineDate: 1955-1990 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains material relating to Dr. Fernbach's work at Baylor College of Medicine, beginning with his correspondence with Dr. Russell Blattner in 1955 and carrying on until 1990.

A significant portion of the materials focus on Dr. Fernbach's role in the Baylor College of Medicine Hematology-Oncology Section. Some related Hematology-Oncology materials can be found in the Texas Children's Hospital series. Other materials in this series document the work of various Baylor committees on which he served, including the Self-Study Committee, By-Laws Committee, Department of Pediatrics Promotions Committee, and Radiotherapy Search Committee, as well as the Cancer Task Force. In addition, there are copies of several theses and dissertations written by Baylor students advised by Dr. Fernbach.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to Baylor College of Medicine are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place.

An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers or patient information. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist.

Series MS085-S10: Clinical Pediatric Oncology (book)

Date: 1970-1992 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains materials relating to the four editions of Dr. Fernbach's textbook, Clinical Pediatric Oncology. In addition to copies of the text, there are correspondence, permission requests, and some images. Materials range from 1970-1992.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to the book Clinical Pediatric Oncology are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place. An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research. At least one folder (3.2) contains images that some viewers may find disturbing.

Series MS085-S11: Research, Publications, and Presentations

Date: 1932-1988 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains research, publications, and presentations that Dr. Fernbach was involved in or was interested in. Among the research projects documented in this series, the National Wilm's Tumor Study figures prominently. Most items date from 1955-1988, though a few of the collected publications date much earlier.

Generally, this series contains research other than the major Cancer Chemotherapy Grant / Acute Leukemia in Childhood Studies carried out by the Southwest Cancer Chemotherapy Study Group, Southwest Oncology Group, or Pediatric Oncology Group. Materials from those groups are located within those respective series.

Theses or dissertations produced by Baylor College of Medicine students with Dr. Fernbach as an advisor are located within the Baylor College of Medicine series.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to Research, Publications, and Presentations are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place. An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers or patient information. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist.

Series MS085-S12: Personal and general correspondence

Date: 1945-1991 (creation)

Scope and content: This series contains of personal materials as well as correspondence that does not clearly belong to any of the other series in the collection. Some correspondence is filed according to the correspondant's last name (e.g., "Blatter", or "X-Y-Z"), whereas other files are kept according to topic (e.g., "Legislative").

Personal items include information about Dr. Fernbach's "Medical Student Days", residencies, and his Texas State Board of Medical Examiners license, among other topics.

This series also includes files of Recommendations and References.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to personal and general correspondence are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place. An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.

Restrictions on access: This series is open for research with some exceptions. Some folders are restricted due to the presence of social security numbers or patient information. In most cases redacted copies can be made available; contact an archivist.

Publication status:

Series MS085-S13: Anti-Smoking Efforts

Date: 1960-1991 (creation)

Scope and content: This small series contains seven folders of materials relating to Dr. Fernbach's anti-smoking efforts. The materials mostly relate to his advocacy within the Texas Medical Center and Houston, and date from 1977-1991, though there are some earlier items.

Arrangement: For the purposes of navigating the collection online, materials relating to Anti-Smoking Efforts are presented together as a series. However, the physical folders have not been rearranged to reflect this order, meaning related materials may not be located in the same place.

An inventory reflecting the physical arrangement of boxes and folders is available upon request.
