Message from the Library Director

Camille Broussard Associate Dean and Professor of Law

2022-2023

I am pleased to present the 2022-2023 Mendik Library's Annual Report. An annual report only presents a brief snapshot of a year, but I hope this report provides an adequate description of the breadth of our core services and the depth of support we provide to our students who are learning law; to our faculty who are teaching law; and to our alumni who are practicing law. As we do each year, our entire Library team continued to work together to participate in and contribute to the intellectual and community life of New York Law School and to provide an extraordinary level of service and support to our community and beyond.

The Mendik Library is a vibrant and continually evolving information and research center where users come to study, to access legal information and also to discover the breadth and complexity of the world of law. Our goal is to create an environment where our researchers can engage with us and learn to find the right resources for their particular tasks. As legal research continues to be an increasingly complex mix of print and electronic resources, the expertise of our dedicated staff becomes ever more relevant. This past year, we added and integrated many e-books and digital resources into the library's offerings while continuing to manage our substantial print collection.

Although the pandemic may be over, its impact and the lessons we learned about new, and perhaps better, ways to provide services will stay with us. We continue to work hard to provide the services and classes our students need to stay focused and successfully complete their studies. This past year, the reference and circulation teams provided a wide range of research assistance to students, faculty and alums answering over 12,000 questions. We moved many of our teaching operations to Zoom and offered over 80 research courses and workshops to the NYLS community. We taught six for-credit research classes, including our always popular Saturday Legal Research Practical Skills class. We continue to work with faculty in our instructional outreach program to integrate vital research skills and contextual research exercises into their classes. Our collaboration with the Legal Practice faculty becomes stronger each year as we continue to develop and teach a series of required research skills workshops within the LP curriculum for all 1L students.

The entire Mendik Library staff has joined our colleagues across the law school to provide a high level of service to the NYLS community members in their academic and legal pursuits. This report documents our sustained efforts and many contributions. It will not take readers long to see how far our contributions extend beyond the physical space we call the Mendik Library. Our report is called 'Mendik by the Numbers' – but numbers are only a small part of the picture.

Library Community, Facilities, and Operations

Reference Services Overall

Traditionally, access to our collection and to information services often begins at the Reference or Circulation Desks, and it continues in the stacks, in Librarian offices, in the elevators, and even in the coffee bar and cafeteria. The Reference Librarians, along with the Associate Librarians, the Director and our Assistant Director for Acquisitions and Collection Control, provided professional research assistance and instruction to faculty, students, staff, alumni, and attorney patrons. Librarians provided research instruction both in the Library and in the classroom (in person and virtual). They worked with the Legal Practice program to develop, coordinate, and teach legal research classes to 1L students.

During Academic Year 2022-2023, the Library was open 343 days; the reference desk was staffed 298 days either in person or virtually.

They also served as liaisons for NYLS faculty and deans, our academic centers, clinics, and the Law Review, as well as the Moot Court Association, Dispute Resolution Team, and other student organizations. The team coordinated interlibrary loan services, participated in collection management, and contributed content to the Library web pages, the Mendik Matters blog, the Elevator Ed series of Learn While You Ride Trip Tips, and Legal Lexicon, a biweekly post of legal terminology designed to give extra meaning to our students' legal education. The circulation staff also provided significant assistance (to students, faculty and alumni) beyond merely checking out and renewing borrowed items. They were essential information providers, helping students locate course and research materials, assisting with printing and scanning, and supplying answers to an enormous variety of other library (or law school) related questions. In short, they were an indispensable adjunct to the reference librarians.

Services to Students

The library quickly becomes a prominent feature in most law students' educational lives and we are committed to making that experience a rewarding one. A main goal is to provide support and instruction that helps students make meaningful and contextual connections between classroom learning, research skills, and the practice of law.

Reference Services to Students

The Reference Librarians serve as a crucial resource on a daily basis for students in search of answers. Whether questions relate to legal research, bluebooking, exam preparation, or law school information, the Reference Librarians are resourceful and reliable.

Legal Research Classes

OVERLOAD Might Out.

Reference Librarians provide research training throughout the year. They teach for-credit courses as well as Research Skills Workshops required as part of the Legal Practice curriculum. They also present research sessions in doctrinal courses, and regularly offer a variety of skills workshops.

I. Foundations for the Study of Law

Research instruction begins during Orientation, when 1L students actively participate in the Library's introduction to basic research resources and techniques as part of their Foundations for the Study of Law classes. Last year, 362 first year students attended the orientation sessions and explored the Library virtually, discovering the legal research landscape and some important navigational aids and approaches.

II. Essentials for Effective Legal Research

Research instruction for 1L students continues throughout the first year. Our most intensive teaching efforts for 1L students, Essentials for Effective Legal Research (EELR I and II), take place in the Fall and Spring. These 75-minute sessions, developed in conjunction with the Legal Practice program, help students learn to develop research strategies primarily using Lexis and Westlaw . During the 2022-2023 academic year we offered 29 EELR classes (16 for EELR I and 13 for EELR II) that reached 362 students in the first semester and 391 students in the second semester.

III. Research Workshops

Working with Legal Practice Faculty, we have developed a program of research instruction to complement the Legal Practice course. In addition to the EELR classes, all 1Ls were required to complete the four workshops shown in Table 3. (These classes are also open to upper division students.)

IV. Classes in the JD Curriculum

Each semester, we offer three credit-bearing research classes for upper division students.

Legal Research: Skills for the Digital World

A comprehensive three-credit course focused on advanced techniques using the latest practice resources.

Legal Research: Practical Skills

A one-credit intermediate level class that builds on the skills introduced in the Legal Practice course. Two sessions are offered each semester: a general research class and a class focusing on a rotating area of law of one of our academic centers or curricular concentrations:

Corporate & Business Law || Intellectual Property Law ||
Real Estate Law || Criminal Law || Family Law

Enrollment in these more intensive research skills classes is typically capped at eighteen.

Instructional Outreach

We work with faculty to incorporate subject specific research instruction into classroom teaching. Many of the sessions are team-taught, affording students the benefit of both the librarian's and the professor's perspectives. This year, we worked with 13 different faculty members in 14 classes to provide instruction to 809 students. We also conducted sessions for Law Review, Moot Court and OCEL, as well as provided instruction to all 1L students as part of the Orientation sessions of the Foundations for the Study of Law course. In May 2023, we joined with the Office of Academic Planning and Career Development in teaching the annual Professional Development 101 Workshop, Putting Professional Skills Into Practice: Practical Tips for Research Success, a class designed to help prepare students for their summer experiences with enhanced research abilities.

The Venable/NYLS Summer Associate Simulation Program

During June and July 2023, the Reference Librarians partnered again with faculty and Venable partners and associates in providing an intensive, simulated "Big Law" summer associate experience. We delivered virtual classroom instruction and conducted individualized virtual help sessions for 31 students who were divided into two practice groups (Corporate Law (19) and Litigation (12)).

Upper Division Training

Many upper division students request help at their point of need rather than take optional classes not linked to courses or assignments. The Reference Librarians work with these students one-on-one. Special classes are also offered for journal students, moot court competitors, research assistants, and students with judicial clerkships or other externships, and we reach many upper division students through our instructional outreach program discussed above and detailed in Table 5.

Student Publications Support

Meetings with Law Review Executive Board

The Library's liaison to the Law Review offers the Executive Board (E-Board) an overview of Library services and administrative procedures and provides suggested research strategies and other information to help in their editorial endeavors. The working relationship between the Law Review and Library Staff is a close and productive one. This year, with the Library's continued help and support, Law Review has expanded its presence in the Law School's Digital Commons repository. For the period July 1, 2022 to June 30, 2023, there were 56,034 downloads of NYLS Law Review articles. Since the inception of the project, there have been 169,458 downloads of NYLS Law Review articles.

Supplemental Training to Law Review Members

The Library liaison also provides comprehensive orientation for new Law Review members and coordinates specialized Lexis, Westlaw and Bloomberg Law training sessions over the course of the semester. He also conducts workshops on Bluebook citation skills.

Previous NYLS Journals

The Library has also uploaded to the Law School's Digital Commons Repository the full run of two former NYLS journals—the Journal of Human Rights (19 volumes) and the Journal of International and Comparative Law (22 Volumes). For the period July 1, 2022 to June 30, 2023, a total of 59,396 articles have been downloaded from those two journals (respectively, 28, 841 and 30,555). Since inception, there have been a total of 171,726 downloads of articles from these two journals (Journal of Human Rights 87,631 and Journal of International and Comparative Law 84,095).

Family Law Quarterly

The Library has also begun to provide research and citation assistance to the editorial board of Family Law Quarterly, the scholarly journal published by the ABA in collaboration with NYLS. In the coming years, more training will be offered to all student members of the journal.

Computer-Assisted Legal Instruction (CALI)

CALI offers more than 1,200 interactive online tutorials in over 50 legal subjects. CALI also offers a series of law casebooks and course supplements as part of their eLangdell Press division. These e-books are available to our students and faculty. Reference Librarians actively promote the tutorials and e-books and provide students with access and assistance. See Appendix Table 13 and 13a for details on lessons taken by topic and by month and on NYLS student usage of eLangdell titles. A total of 781 students from the classes of 2024, 2025, and 2026 have registered for CALI accounts. Students this past year engaged with a total of 3,118 lessons and 22 e-book titles.

Info Hunts

We resumed our three annual thematic Info Hunts–Legally Clueless during First Week, Haunted Halloween for Halloween, and Find Love in the Library for Valentine's Day–to enable students to hone their research skills while simultaneously having fun and winning prizes. All three events were conducted virtually. We had 393, 53, and 39 participants, respectively, and awarded a total of 40 prizes.

Research Guides (LibGuides)

Using the LibGuides web-publishing platform, we curate and offer a wide and growing array of subject matter resources. Overall usage of these tools is detailed below.

Book Jacket Displays

The Library regularly displays book jackets from our collection on the information boards near the elevators on L2, L3, and L4. These rotating displays center around important legal and historical events as well as current legal issues and new acquisitions. Some topics covered this past year included the Voting Rights Act, the Fair Housing Act, Federal Anti-Trust Law, Constitution Day, and the Bill of Rights, current Supreme Court decisions, Immigration, Family Law, Taxes, and Human Rights.

Connecting with Students

The Library staff is dedicated to supporting students in all aspects of their educational experience. Connecting with students and helping them achieve their goals is an integral part of our culture. Many of our activities extend far beyond the Library and our ability to check all of the boxes below is very important to us!

Services to Faculty

Library Liaison Program

The cornerstone of our faculty services is the Library Liaison program, which links each faculty member with a librarian who serves as a principal Library contact. Liaisons meet periodically with faculty members to stay apprised of their research and teaching needs. They also assist in research and citation tracking, help prepare materials for classroom use, train research assistants, and locate Library materials. Each librarian works with five to seven faculty members.

Faculty Reference Services

In addition to general reference assistance, our faculty services include:

- ♦ Library Links, a periodic email newsletter for faculty
- ♦ Current awareness routing and monitoring
- ♦ Instructional outreach
 - ♦ As detailed in Table 5, we work closely with many faculty members to incorporate subject-specific research instruction into classroom teaching
- ♦ Citation tracking
- ♦ Faculty committee support
- ♦ Classroom teaching support
- ♦ Scholarship support through research assistance
- ♦ Support for service to the Law School and the legal community
- ♦ Library Tours for Faculty Candidates

These numbers do not include direct borrowing by faculty, either in person or through research assistants or faculty assistants. In addition, we supplied 99 books and articles to faculty through the Interlibrary Loan process.

Digital Commons: The Law School's Dynamic Archive

Along with our physical archive of historic law school materials, we continue to grow our Digital Commons collection to highlight the law school's rich history. This year, 1,095 items were uploaded, bringing the total since inception to over 8,720 items as of June 30, 2023. And in early February 2023, we hit the milestone of 1,000,000 total downloads.

Collections within the law school's overall Digital Commons saw nearly 271,093 downloads. Table 9 details the 10 most downloaded collections over the year. Additional information about Digital Commons material appears on page 12.

Over the course of the academic year, the Library receives many requests from inside and outside the law school about the school's history and alumni. The inquiries come from alumni; relatives of alumni; scholarly researchers; the media; the Dean's office; and the Office of Institutional Advancement. Over the past year, we fielded 6 requests, relating to individual alumni and historical aspects of the school and faculty.

Whenever possible we provide copies or scans of the archival materials. Those who requested the information express enormous gratitude for the historical connection we are able to provide.

The Library maintains two public display cases on the first floor of the W building by the main elevators. The archive provides a rich source of photos and historical artifacts that we use to create informative and attractive exhibits for the public display.

Faculty Scholarship on Digital Commons

Since 2015, showcasing faculty writing in our Digital Commons has increased faculty exposure worldwide, due to the open access nature of the repository and the platform's optimization for search engine discovery. It also serves as a permanent archive.

During the 2022-2023 academic year, the Library uploaded 195 faculty works. As of June 30, 2023, a total of 2,653 works have been posted. For the 2022-2023 academic year, these works were downloaded approximately 114,927 times from 205 countries

Services to Alumni

Alumni are always welcome in the Mendik Library where they can access a wide array of research resources, including a dedicated Westlaw subscription with a generous selection of primary and secondary authorities. Alumni took advantage of both in-person and remote access to the Library's librarians, who provided help with 60 in-person and 173 remote requests for reference assistance.

Use of Library Resources

The Library was open an average of almost 100 hours per week during the fall and spring semesters. During final exams Study Hall period, hours were extended to 1:00 a.m. to provide additional hours of daily study time access. During intersession periods, the library hours were reduced to between 40 and 66 hours per week.

Interlibrary Loans

The library fulfilled 79 Interlibrary Loan requests for faculty, 32 for students and 1 for the law review. We made 74 loans to other libraries.

Access To and From Other Libraries

To ensure student and faculty access to materials beyond our collection, we participate in consortial relationships with many law school, university, and other libraries. Through our issuance of what are known as Green Letters, our students and faculty have access to other metropolitan area law school libraries. We provide access to additional libraries via METRO Passes through our membership in the Metropolitan New York Library Council. Through agreements with all but two local law school libraries (Columbia and NYU), we can provide our students who reside closer to another law school with a Letter of Introduction entitling them to semester-long access for convenience study. We extend a reciprocal privilege to students of the other participating law schools. On request, we also admit students from out-of-town law schools as a courtesy to our sister institutions. Finally, we provide complimentary Reader's passes to faculty guests and visiting scholars. Despite the lifting of COVID-imposed limitations, we did not issue or receive any Green Letters of Introduction this year.

Legal Research Database Usage

The major legal publishers, Lexis, Westlaw, and Bloomberg Law, as well as American Lawyer Media, HeinOnline, and PLI provide only limited and non-uniform usage statistics. These are presented in Appendix Tables 14-19.

Government Documents

The Library has completed its 43rd year as a Federal Depository Library within the Federal Depository Library Program overseen by the Government Publishing Office. We collect 2,437 of GPO-published "items," 1,704 of which are online and 733 of which are "tangible" (microforms, print, and CDs/DVDs).

Collection Management Services

Staff

The Technical Services staff focuses on the acquisition of digital and print materials and the maintenance and organization of the Library's entire collection. The latter efforts entail the design and regular updates of the systems and services, including the Library's online catalog and a variety of Library web pages, necessary for our patrons to access and use all our resources effectively. Among other things, the staff works closely with the Reference Librarians to monitor and update the Library's Treatises by Topic guides and maintain the A to Z list of electronic journal titles, ensuring seamless access to critical resources whose access points and protocols frequently change. They also work continually to maintain the Library's descriptive list of nearly 200 electronic subscription resources available to users from any location.

During the 2022-2023 academic year, the Technical Services staff added 4,567_records to the online catalog.

In addition to owned titles, the Library provides direct access to more than 20,000 online journals through either direct subscriptions or through various databases and aggregators (e.g., Lexis, Westlaw, HeinOnline, etc.).

Better World Books

This year, we donated 300 withdrawn volumes to Better World Books, a non-profit organization that helps fund high-impact literacy projects in the U.S.

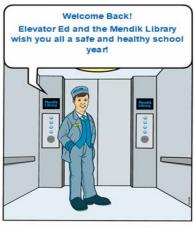

Library Publications

In addition to our Research Guides discussed on page 8, the Library publishes a number of other digital works each year, primarily in the nature of current awareness alerts. Our goal is to provide faculty and students a continual flow of information about recent articles, new acquisitions, and developments in legal publishing and research platforms.

Mendik Matters Blog

Our Mendik Matters blog, which debuted in 2004, publishes items of interest about current legal topics, new legal developments and legal history. It also serves as a vehicle for library-related announcements and information. It alerts faculty and students to new resources, providing an important form of continuing legal research education. During 2022-2023, we posted 44 items to Mendik Matters and reached an audience of over 4,820 subscribers. One of our Mendik Matters blog posts this year was picked up by AALL's Know It AALL daily newsletter, which is circulated via email to the nearly 3,500 AALL members nationwide.

Elevator Ed

Elevate your research. Ask a librarian!

Elevator Ed, the winner of AALL's 2013 Excellence in Marketing, Best Campaign award, has endeared himself to scores of our students through his frequent TripTips about legal research and library resources, which help students "learn while they ride." Ed's foremost goal remains elevating all of our students' legal research skills.

Legal Lexicon

Beginning in the fall of 2019, we launched a new bi-weekly elevator post designed to remind students of the importance of legal dictionaries and offering them a steady flow of new legal vocabulary. A large number of students have noted their appreciation for these regular tidbits.

Library Links

This short newsletter is sent to faculty on a periodic basis. It highlights new digital research technologies and resources available through the library.

Orientation Pizza Survey

For the seventeenth consecutive year, the Library conducted its Orientation Pizza Survey, designed to gauge the changing digital inclinations of each entering class (as well as their pizza topping preferences). The results from each year's survey are maintained in the Mendik Library section of Digital Commons. Pizza Survey Results.

Here are some key facts from the 2023 Pizza Survey:

- ♦ For the first time, we asked whether students had used a Generative AI/Large Language Model in various circumstances. Although 51% answered "no," 11% acknowledged using it in an academic setting, 19% used it for work outside of school, and 39% used it "just to see what it is all about."
- ♦ Instagram remains the most popular social networking platform, with 51% of students saying they spent the most time on it.
