EMMETT SCOTT HIGH SCHOOL

The Annual Staff of the Senior Class of Emmett Scott High School cordially invites you to review and enjoy the 1961 Rattler.

Dedication

Backward, turn backward, O time on your flight;
And he'll be a Senior in Emmett Scott—Just for a night.
Again as you turn, a teacher he'll be;
Working in Emmett Scott with vim and glee.
Then as the time continues to run,
The principal of Emmett Scott he has become.

Editor-in-Chief

Editor's Message

The 1961 Rattler is a helpful reminiscence of the years spent at Emmett Scott High School. As we view the contents of this annual, we will recall ourselves, first, as Freshmen; then, Sophomores, at last, Juniors, and finally, Seniors. These memories will aid us in treasuring this book more and more as the years shall pass.

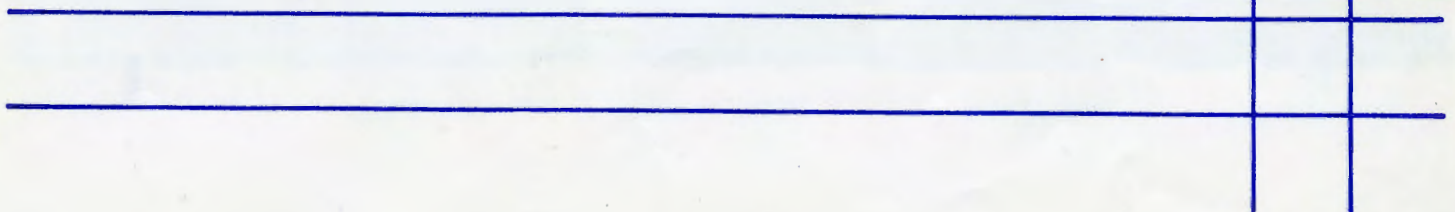

We hope that we have captured some of the seriousness, gaiety, work and play which has made our stay at Emmett Scott enjoyable and profitable.

Our challenge to those who shall follow is to move ahead with a determination to increase the meaningful value of our Alma Mater to others who shall come as students or visitors.

Class History

While observing the wild, unruly actions of the present Freshman Class, I often wonder, "Did we ever act like that as Freshmen?"

I remember, so plainly, that warm, rainy day of registration. It was late August, and the weather was uncomfortable. But this did not dampen our spirit, because we were entering the walls of our Alma Mater.

In September 1957, we started our journey with two hundred sixty four eager Freshmen, trying to reach our goal. As our advisors, Mrs. Boulware, Mr. W. T. Davis, Mrs. M. D. Steele, Mrs. E. J. Hall, Mr. N. Jones, Mr. G. Limehouse, Mr. M. J. Mack, and Mrs. R. C. Pharr did a diligent job.

During the year Aaron Mobley, Louise Badger, Ann Page, Lottie Berry, and Mildred Garvin reigned over us as President, Vice President, Secretary, Assistant Secretary, and Treasurer.

We were really eager beavers. We jumped at chances to join various clubs and organizations. Not only did we show that we were intelligent and eager, but we brought beauty with us as well. Gladys Roach represented us as Miss Librarian.

September 1958, a year has passed. One hundred and eighty nine of us returned as Sophomores. Again, our advisors were Mrs. R. Boulware, Mrs. M. D. Steele, Mr. N. Jones, Mr. G. Limehouse, Mr. W. T. Davis, and Mr. M. J. Mack.

This was a glorious year, filled with travel, leadership, and beauty. Buford Pate served as President; Mary L. Simpson, Vice President; Charlotte Jones, Secretary; Mildred Garvin, Assistant Secretary; Marie Mickel, Treasurer; and Howard McKinney, Business Manager.

Beauty! That we did have. Ann Page served as Miss Sophomore; Mildred Garvin, Miss New Farmers; Delores Hinton, Miss Chorus; Gladys Roach and Barbara Jennings, Miss Chorus Attendants; Joan Ruff, Miss Librarian; and Allene Barnette, Miss F.T.A.

To really top this year off, the band attended the Cherry Blossom Festival, on April 20, 1959, in Washington, D.C. How excited the band members were! How proud the school was! By the time school closed the excitement had dwindled, because we were thinking of the summer months ahead.

September, 1959, we returned to our Alma Mater to dwell for the next school term, with Mrs. R. Boulware, Mr.

M. J. Mack, Mrs. M. D. Steele, and Mrs. R. C. Pharr as our trustworthy advisors.

This year one hundred and forty five members of the Junior Class elected Johnny Williamson as President; Franklin Archie, Vice President; Marian Rucker, Secretary; Joan Ruff, Treasurer; and John Ellis, Business Manager.

Again our lovely ladies aided the call of beauty. Sarah Chisholm served as Miss Junior; Priscilla Lytle, Miss Speech Choir; and Sarah McCrorey, Miss Commercial Club.

"The Girl Next Door," a three act comedy, starring Catherine Minor, Lottie Berry, Aaron Mobley, James McCrorey, Sarah McCrorey, Frances Jones, Charles Bowens, and Franklin Archie, was one of the best performances given during the school term of 59-60.

Time passed, and another special event was approaching. The Junior-Senior Prom was being planned. Some weeks passed and then, prom-time. We were perfect hosts to the Seniors on that evening.

School closing brought tears to our eyes, which made us realize we had almost reached our goal.

On September 7, 1960, we again assembled together to travel the last mile before we would be able to reach our goal. One hundred and twenty nine of us started the year busily with football games, homecoming, Senior Class Play, and the electing of our Christmas Queen to represent us in our annual Christmas Parade.

Deloris Hinton was elected to serve as our Miss Homecoming during our homecoming festivities.

On November 22, 1960, the Senior Class presented a three-act play, "Man Alive," starring Franklin Archie, Mary Jo Moore, Cecelia White, Alice Robinson, Pauline Roach, Cora Douglas, Alexander Phillips, Aaron Mobley, and James McCrorey, which proved to be a success.

Time passed on and the Yule-Tide season was approaching. Mildred Garvin represented us as Emmett Scott's Christmas Queen. Oh, how proud we were! Not only because of our Christmas Queen, but the fact that we had traveled the first half of the last mile.

Now we have just a few more events to look forward to; our mid-term exams, the results, our annual talent show, class rings, invitations, final exams, again results, graduating exercises, diplomas, and our last farewell.

CLASS SONG
Tune: My Maryland

Time and tide awaits no man, so time has come for leaving;
Our love for thee will ever last, praise thou name forever.
Our years of toil and work seemed hard, the battles fought, the victory won;
O Emmett Scott, O Emmett Scott, we'll cherish thee forever.

Our teachers dears and love ones, too, we're thankful for your devotion;
We'll carry your ideals you've taught, for the life-long struggle.
We'll miss the fun and joy we've had, we'll miss the gold and blue;
O Emmett Scott, O Emmett Scott, we'll cherish thee forever.

Associate Editor-in-Chief

Associate Editor's Farewell Message

A stage in our lives is ended; our stay at Emmett Scott is over. As we leave these grounds and halls, we find ourselves burdened with a weight, a weight not unpleasant, the weight of growth, experience, maturity and knowledge. Here on Emmett Scott's campus we have sown the seeds that, on other grounds, in other years, shall blossom into fruits of success. Four years ago we entered Emmett Scott and began a journey — a journey not of space but experience. Yes, it has been four years, four hard years, four trying years, four glorious, happy years, four lifetimes.

Our thanks to those who have aided us in many ways.

Some patrons who wish to share our parting moments by extending congratulations to the Class of 1961 are listed on the following page.
