Dear Mr Remianka,

I have received your name from Mr John Alexander, conductor of the Pacific Chorale who was recently in Budapest.

He said you were interested in new and unfamiliar music and suggested that I write you.

Editio Musica Budapest is the Hungarian music publisher. Being the only one of its kind in this country, we represent all composers living in Hungary today.

We would be pleased to send you some scores /and where available, records/ in the hope that you will like the music and will include some of it in your repertoire.

The standing of Hungarian music in the United States is indicated by the fact that the Koussevitzky Foundation, the Elisabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation and the Boston Symphony Orchestra have granted Hungarian composers commissions.

I look forward to hearing from you,

Yours sincerely,

EDITIO MUSICA
