- By definition, any bank which is listed in the 2nd schedule of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 is considered a scheduled bank.

(https://ad-tech.byjusweb.com/revive/www/delivery/cl.php?bannerid=41&zoneid=200&sig=66e0429f9a523e264f69bdd124f05218db8d4ca7d980f

Scheduled banks include private sector banks (as specified in the schedule) and new (HDFC Bank Ltd).

- To qualify as a scheduled bank, the paid-up capital and collected funds of the bank must not be less than Rs5 lakh.

Co-operative Societies Offering Banking Services

- Cooperative societies are an important constituent of the Indian financial system, operating both in urban and non-urban areas.
- All banks registered under the Cooperative Societies Act, 1912 are considered Co-operative Banking Societies.
- These are cooperative societies/ institutions run by an elected managing committee with provisions of members' rights and a set of "communally developed and approved by-laws and amendments."
- In the urban centres, they mainly finance entrepreneurs, small businesses, industries, self-employment and cater to home buying and educational loans.
- In rural areas, such institutions primarily cater to agricultural-based activities, which include farming, livestock, dairies and hatcheries etc.
- They also extend loans to small scale units, cottage industries, and self-employment activities like artisanship.
- Unlike commercial banks, which are driven by profit, cooperative banks work on a "no profit, no loss" basis.
- These are regulated by the Reserve Bank of India under the Banking Laws (Application to Co-operative Societies) Act, 1965

Regional Rural Banks

- Regional Rural Banks or RRBs, simply put, serve the rural areas and agricultural sectors with basic banking and adequate financial services.
- They were set up in 1975, based on the recommendations of a committee.
- Based in Moradabad, Prathama Bank, established on 2 October 1975, is the first RRB to open in India. It was sponsored by Syndicate Bank.
- The RRBs are owned by the central government (50%), the state government (15%) and the sponsor bank (35%).
- Several commercial banks have sponsored RRBs. Prominent examples include the Maharashtra Gramin Bank (sponsored by the Bank of Maharashtra) and the Himachal Gramin Bank (sponsored by Punjab National Bank).

- RRBs were set up to eliminate other unorganized financial institutions like moneylenders and supplement the efforts of cooperative banks.

- The objectives of Development Banks may be enumerated as speeding up economic growth, rapid industrialization, rural development, support to industry, entrepreneurial development, project finance, refinance, development of backward areas, housing.

Conclusion

The banking sector is one of the crucial pivots of the Indian economy, seamlessly integrating rural and urban development, credit and financing for all major purposes. With the challenges of Non-Performing Assets (NPAs) (<https://byjus.com/free-ias-prep/npas/>) and several structural bottlenecks, the role of RBI in overseeing the institutional functioning for better efficiency and transparency is important. As the economy progresses more rapidly to catch up with the expected pace post-COVID-19, there is an increasing focus on indigenization and technological advancements.

Moreover, in an expanding global business landscape, India being one of the largest markets, it must streamline and address these challenges forthwith to take advantage of the change.

On the domestic front, the security, safety and interest of the small investors, depositors with local banking institutions have to be protected, provided challenges enumerated by the RBI across several quarterly briefs. It is high time, the challenges in this sector are addressed. The potential of an Atmanirbhar Bharat (<https://byjus.com/free-ias-prep/atmanirbhar/>)
