February 21, 1946

Dear President Lay:

We, the Student Council, request that you ac-cept this letter as our resignation.

In so far as possible, we have tried to serve our student body to the best of our ability, but for some time we have felt uncertain of our specific duties.

time we have felt uncertain of our specific duties. In the past we, as a Conneil, have been respons-file for the selection of our inauguration speaker and the lining up of the program. This year we had o voice in the matter. Also, in past years, it has been our duty to appoint two Student Council re-resentatives to fill seats in the Advisory Council to speak for students. In meetings of this group, they have always served adequately. They have had opinions on every subject discussed and felt free to state them. They could voice their ideas on va-cation periods, registration dates, summer sessions, and anything directly concerned with student life. This year we have loss the opportunity to place such students on the Advisory Council. We understand too that a committee of fac-

cil. Our resignation is not an act of haste, nor of rebellion. It is, however, the only way we see to meet the present situation. To take the Student Council oath would be hypocritical when we feel our services no longer live up to past standards of serv-ing the student body.

Resigning from posts of responsibility can some-times be interpreted as defeat, but in this case it is a matter of not knowing what exactly is expected of us,

Some of us have served on the Council for several years, others only more recently, but we ars agreed that ander the present setup, our old re-sponsibilities are being stifled, and to take initiative unwise is unwise. The Student Council was first established to ensure and provide a voice for the student body. It was composed of students with progressive ideas and ability to carry them out. Through the years students on the Council have passed their respons-tibility on to other thinking students. They have taken their duties seriously, and have acted on all matters concerned with them as best they could. Sometimes they have fumbled, but under all, they have learned and have grown into adulthood. They have learned high standards, and tried to live up to them. We have thought our action through council to the standards and the station through council to the state the state of the state of the state of the state the state of the state of the state of the state of the state the state of the state state of the state state of the state state of the state of t

Ing there. Under the present system the student must fill out a call card and if this book is already out the student must select another book. He is not always sure that his second choice is what he wants nor that it is not out. Under the proposal mentioned the student would be at liberty to examine the shelves of books and if the book on his reading list were out he could select another one with the assurance that his study could continue by his own efforts. If the student had permission to examine the books he would make sure that the volume he checked would serve his needs. his needs.

Also the student may want the book to read only a few chapters or to confirm a reference. This reading could be done in a short time if the student had the free use of the stacks. The student would be allowed to read the pertinent material in the book without the waste of time in locating it. When students are writing term papers, they sympathize with the librarians who must struggle un-der loads of bound editions of magazines. his purpose, and avoid the waiting. One might also point out that this suggested plan would provide more total study space on the library. By some students studying in the stacks more room would be available for other students to study in the main rooms. Besides these benefits the student would be better acquainted with the library and he might develop interest through perusing the volumes which interest would other-wise be dormant. The student would develop a personal responsibility for collecting information. Students would be encouraged in the good use of their leisure time. Such a a privileger would be a trust in the students. The institu-tion's confidence would be maintained upon the student's proper concern for its materials. Thus the students would be encouraged towards self-respect and reliability in view of this trust. This suggestion in behalf of more use of books re-

STUDENT OPINION POLL

MAJORITY OF STUDENTS PREFER SPRING VACATION BETWEEN TERMS

The student opinion poll was conducted this week The student opinion poll was conducted this week to find out when the majority of students prefers to have spring vacation. There were 477 answering the poll. Of this number 320 want spring vacation immediately fol-lowing the close of the winter term. Those who are sat-isfied with vacation as it is to be (the week preceding Easter) number 137. Twenty who answered are indiffer-ent. The percentages are as follows:

67.1 pct. want spring vacation immediately following the close of the winter term:
28.7 pct. are satisfied with it as it is to be;
4 pct. are indifferent.

22. pet. Are indifferent. This week's poll verifies the rumor that many stu-dents are dissatisfied with the time set for spring vaca-tion this year. Reasons stated for this dissatisfaction are similar, the most common being that it needlessly inter-rupts the spring term. When work is forgotten, as it in-evitably will be, time is wasted. Another reason given for dissatisfaction is the logical one that vacation duringwa term is not really vacation at all. If one is not able to for-get one's studies, there is no vacation for the mind, ro-gardless of whether the solid substance of the body is in the classroom or not. There can be an amazing amount of work given by most instructors in a period of three weeks. Then, when vacation comes, it is found to be meg-ly an opportune time for—of all things—more study! Still another fact leading to the dissatisfaction of students is that, with the time set as it is, many will spend Eagler Sunday on trains or buses. Time spent on trains and buses now-a-days is an unpleasantry at best, but on Easter Sun-day it is a sacrilege! The time for spring vacation this year has been set day it is a sacrilege! The time for spring vacation this year has been set at a time disapproved by most students. A seemingly great amount, of red tape will be required to have the time of spring vacation set at a desirable time, but it is within the power of the student body to petition the student council which can in turn "start the ball rolling."

which can in turn "start the Ball roling." Red tape is now universally recognized as a neces-terry evil. The longer one lives, the more of it one must deal with. Life should not, however, be started by shun-ning it as an obstacle, but by using it as a servant. Since between term vacation is wanted, it should be obtained for next year, regardless of red tape.

(A great effort was made to get enough students to answer the poll so that it might show a true coccensus of optimion. From now on student optimion questionnaires will be left in the back of the seats of the auditorium. They should be illed out by every student attending chapel, and they should be replaced in the back of a seat in the auditorium.)

Victory Over Macomb Assures Martinmen of First Place Tie in IIAC

By Richard Jackson

By Richard Jackson At least a first place tie for the Illinois Intercolleu-iate Athletic Conference baskeball championship was assured Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin's Maroons as the Southern squad made final preparations for the tilde bont against the Northern Iulinois Teachers here tonight. The Northern Huskies of DeKalb were knocked out of a chance for a clear hold on the conference crown when the Oil Aromal Redbirds, previously blanked in loop com-petition, upset DeKalb 49-46.
