TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1	1
INTRODUCTION AND MOTIVATION FOR THE STUDY: INTRODUCTION AND MOTIVATION
1.1 Background and Scenario.....	1
1.2 Alpha Co. Case Study and Research Approach	3
1.3 Research Aims.....	4
1.4 Research Questions	5
1.4 Contributions and Limitations of the Study	8
1.3 Overview of the Doctoral Research	11
CHAPTER 2	13
REVIEWING ERP IMPLEMENTATION FROM A LEARNING PERSPECTIVE
2.1 Chapter Overview	13
2.2 Introduction to ERP Implementation	15
2.3 Absorptive Capacity: Review and Reconceptualization of the Construct	20
2.3.1 Literature review of reconceptualizations of absorptive capacity	21
2.3.2 Inconsistencies in prior research on absorptive capacity.....	25
2.4 Loosely Coupled Systems and Ambidextrous Learning: Interpreting Links between Absorptive Capacity and Innovation.....	30
2.4.1 Loosely coupled systems and the efficiency vs. flexibility tradeoff	31
2.4.2 From the dialectic between efficiency and flexibility, to an ambidextrous approach to learning	37
2.5 A Synthesis of the Literature Review and Links to the Research Findings.....	42
CHAPTER 3	45
DISCUSSING METHODOLOGIES: PHILOSOPHICAL CONCEPTS IN INTERPRETIVE STUDIES IN IS

3.1 Chapter Overview	45
3.2 Methodology: Perspectives in Social Science.....	46
3.2.1 Epistemological approach.....	48
3.2.2 Ontological approach.....	54
3.2.3 Methods	56
3.2.4 Validity	58
3.2.5 Reliability	61
3.2.6 Research findings and expectations.....	62
3.3 Interpretive Research in IS: Methods and Expectations	64
3.3.1 Theory and Reality in Interpreting IS.....	66
3.3.2 Field-work: The case study technique	68
3.4 Alpha Case study: Data Collection and Analysis	70
3.4.1 Data collection.....	71
3.4.2 Using NVivo as a tool for data analysis and interpretation.....	86
CHAPTER 4	89
NARRATIVE OF AN ERP IMPLEMENTATION: RESEARCH FINDINGS
4.1 Chapter Overview	89
4.2 Research Context.....	90
4.3 Data Presentation and Analysis.....	93
4.3.1 Customization vs. configuration of Bubble.....	93
4.3.2 Business-oriented vs. user-oriented implementation.....	98
4.3.3 Short vs. long term performance	101
4.3.4 Organizational insularity vs. openness	103
4.3.5 Loosely vs. tightly coupled systems: absorbing capacity with ambidextrous learning	106
4.3.6 Multilevel focus of absorptive capacity.....	116

CHAPTER 5	119
WHAT HAVE WE LEARNED? CASE STUDY DISCUSSION
5.1 Chapter Overview	119
5.2 Lesson Learned: A Process View of Absorptive Capacity	120
5.3 Organizational Learning as a Long Term Process	122
5.4 Integrating the Needs of Different Organizational Units: Managing the Efficiency vs. Flexibility Tradeoff	123
5.4.1 Absorptive capacity to explore new knowledge and exploit already assimilated knowledge.....	123
5.4.2 Negotiation and organizational culture for explorative and exploitative learning: a literature integration	126
5.5 Prior Knowledge and Absorptive Capacity.....	128
5.5.1 Passive learning	129
5.5.2 Dis-learning	130
5.5.3 Unlearning and relearning	131
5.5.4 Does prior knowledge matter?.....	133
5.5.5 Multilevel perspective of absorptive capacity	135
5.6 Interpretation of Learning Paths at Alpha.....	135
5.7 Reconceptualization of Absorptive Capacity.....	137
5.8 Research Questions and New Insights	143
CHAPTER 6	153
CONTRIBUTIONS, LIMITATIONS, AND FURTHER RESEARCH
6.1 Chapter Overview	153
6.2 ERP implementation and absorptive capacity: what have we learned?.....	153
6.2.1 Descriptive results: interpreting the case study	154
6.2.2 Conceptual insights: theory development and reconceptualization of absorptive capacity.....	156
6.3 Limitations of the Study.....	157

6.4 Future Avenues for Research	158
