

Masthead Logo

The Iowa Review

Volume 36
Issue 2 Fall

Article 18

2006

Naked

Juan Ramón Jiménez

Follow this and additional works at: <https://ir.uiowa.edu/iowareview>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Jiménez, Juan Ramón. "Naked." The Iowa Review 36.2 (2006): 49-49. Web.
Available at: <https://doi.org/10.17077/0021-065X.6122>

This Contents is brought to you for free and open access by Iowa Research Online. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Iowa Review by an authorized administrator of Iowa Research Online. For more information, please contact lib-ir@uiowa.edu.

Naked

(Goodbyes, Absences, Return)

A gray moon rose, and Beethoven cried under her white hands at the piano...
When she played in the unlit room,
darling of the moon, she was three times more beautiful.

We two, drained flowers
of the heart, cried, perhaps, without knowing it...
Each note set fire to a wound of loves...
—...The sweet piano did what it could to include us.—

On the open, starry, mist-covered balcony,
came a sad wind from invisible worlds...,
She asked about unknown things
and I answered with the impossible...