Journal Request: Businessdate

Hello. I am a new faculty member here at the university and recently received a grant to produce a study in the area of International Business and Technology in Australia. Since this is an emerging discipline for the university and we will probably have an ongoing need for the Businessdate publication, I am requesting that the library purchase this journal.

Dr. Dean Dulles It appears that our money is being well spent! Thank you for continuing to promote our consortium resources. I believe we are in a good position to negotiate another year of this valuable resource with minimal price increase.

Mr. Jon Smith, EBSCO Sales Hello Michael. Thank you for your interest in a trial of Academic Search Complete. I have added this trial to your account which means your library should have access to it now and your library system should have all other data related to the terms (in brief, 60 days restricted to 10 simultaneous users). Have a great day! Jon.

PDA/DDA: 300+ new Humanities works

Hello. We have added over 300 new electronic eBook titles to our Humanities collection. Nearly all of these titles have or have had corresponding physical manifestations in our collection or have been borrowed from our global partners through resource sharing. This is a tremendous opportunity to not only offer our library users a new eBook selection but, also, to track usage of electronic versus physical over time. This thread will be updated every week with cumulative usage statistics but you have access to track real-time usage. Qualification for purchases are generally equivalent to 3 circulations. All Humanities department faculty and graduate students have received a notification triggered from this post inviting them to use the new collection.More details…

Resource Inaccessible: Proquest Platform

This is a system generated message. Attempts to connect to the Proquest platform have failed for the past 1 minute. The system is configured to test every 30 seconds thereafter and send a message to our Proquest technical support contact, Carrie Jones, with diagnostic information for each failed access attempt. To stop the automatic generation of these messages please click here. When a different event takes place (e.g. resolution of the issue), a new post and SMS alert will be sent to subscribed parties, per system configuration. In the meantime, according to system configuration, users will continue to see these resources in your Discovery application but will be diverted to other, similar resources available via your library or partner libraries or directed to your Resource Sharing Services.

New Package: Academic Search Complete

Like · Comment · Share · Create Task

Dr. Dean Dulles After a successful evaluation by the members of Bellingham Consortium, we have negotiated very favorable terms for the Academic Search Complete package! Thanks to all for your assistance. We've saved each member library an average of $28,000 per year by a combination of consolidation and removal of redundancies. The iii Analytics offering has already paid off!
