BJC COMPLETES NEW BUILDINGS

This shows the new buildings and the addition of the Student Union from the Administration building.

These dorms house seventy-eight students while the new addition on the Union serves as the dining room and, upstairs, the new ballroom.

Also shown in the picture, at the extreme right, is the Industrial Arts building. This building was formerly built as the student library, but which, for the past years, has, and will be used until a civic auditorium is constructed, as auditorium and choir and band rooms.

Student Information

ADMINISTRATION OFFICES

Administration offices are Dr. Eugene B. Chaffee, president; Conan Mathews, dean; Mrs. Mary T. Hershey, director of admissions and records; Clyde F. Potter, business manager; Elizabeth Adelman, chief accountant; Hattie Gesner, student union manager; Ada P. Burke, dean of women; Dr. Paul E. Baker, dean of men; W. L. Gottenberg, director of publications and student affairs.

THE STUDENT UNION

The Student Union building is for the use and pleasure of students registered at BJC. It is hoped that the students will appreciate the beauty and comfort of the entire building and will not disfigure it in any way.

The Union building is owned by the Associated Student body. Every student pays so much a semester for the maintenance and upkeep of property in the Union.

LOST AND FOUND

A lost and found department is maintained in the general office. Students losing or finding articles should report there for information.

SIGNS AND POSTERS

Permission to put up signs and posters on the campus must be secured in the general office before such signs and posters can be put up.

For the signs in the Student Union arrangements should be made with Hattie Gesner, director of the Student Union.

OUTSIDE SPEAKERS

Before engaging special outside speakers, either for classwork or for entertaining, a request must be

TEACHERS ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL

Over one-fourth of the faculty members at Boise Junior college pursued graduate studies in their respective fields during the summer vacation. These faculty members are: George Blankley, physical education, University of Idaho; C. Griffith Bratt, music, University of Utah; Jean Catherin, physical education, University of Colorado; Dr. de Neufville, French, the Sorbonne, France; Clisby Edlefsen, business, Stanford University; W. L. Gottenberg, Spanish, Escuela Interamericana, Saltillo, Mexico; Conan Mathews, are, University of Utah; Lester McCann, biology, University of Utah; Hazel Roe, business, University of Washington; J. Roy Schwartz, English, University of Utah; John Young, business, University of Iowa.

BJC CHOIR OPEN TO NEW STUDENTS

The Boise Junior College choir, under the direction of Mr. C. Griffith Bratt, is open to any student with previous vocal experience.

Every spring the choir makes an extended trip throughout southern Idaho and some neighboring state, bringing the best in choral music to the public in formal concerts.

The choir also offers concerts to the public throughout the school year.

Student handbooks, giving information about the college and the campus, are now available at the Union. The handbooks are free.

Drama Classes Offer Opportunities

Mr. Harold Wennstrom, dramatics coach of BJC, announces that there will be many opportunities for students interested in drama.

Students not taking a major course in dramatics but who want to do extr-curricular work in the field may work on the two major all-school plays which are presented during the course of the year.

filed with the office of Dean Mathews.

REPRESENTING THE COLLEGE

Students may not represent Boise Junior College nor any of its campus organizations at any national, state, or civic conferences, nor at any interschool meetings without first receiving authorization from the Student Council.

TELEPHONE AND MAIL SERVICE

Students receiving mail or phone calls at the college will be notified by a notice on the bulletin board in the main hall. Students should check the board for such information each day.

STUDENT SUPPLY STORE

A student supply store is located on the balcony of the Student Union and is for the convenience of the students on the campus. Supplies for various classes are sold there.

Dr. de Neufville Returns From European Tour

Dr. Robert de Neufville, Boise Junior College instructor, returned to Boise after a two-month tour of France, Switzerland, Germany, Luxembourg, Belgium, and England the early part of this month.

In France he attended courses at the Sorbonne and made a special trip through Burgundy and Touraine to study the cathedrals and old castles. He reported that he found less talk of war there than in America, and evidently less than there was a year ago.

"Outwardly Europe appears to be back to normal, with stores full of merchandise. Actually the mass of people are having trouble buying this merchandise because the prices, measured in terms of their pay checks, are so high," he stated.

High School Bands To Play At Bronco Grid Games

Mrs. W. L. Bottenberg, director of student affairs at BJC said that 19 high schools in southern Idaho and eastern Oregon had been invited to send their bands to the Bronco games this fall.

So far, Mr. Gottenberg said, four bands have accepted invitations. The Boise high school band, under the direction of Henry Von der Heide, appeared at the first game against John Muir college on opening night.

Mountain Home high school is sending its 50 piece newly uniformed band to the game with Westminster college November 4. This organization is under the direction of Deforest R. Chase.

At the Chaffey Junior college game on October 27, Homedale high school will appear under the direction of Bandmaster Rogers.

The game with Orange Coast Junior college on November 27 will feature the singing marching band of Wendell high school. This band has consistently won high honors.

Mr. Gottenberg said that the Boise Junior College band of 45 pieces, under the direction of Mr. John Best, will appear at all games. The BJC band took second place last year at the Junior Rose Bowl in competition against 14 other junior college bands.

Pictured above are, standing: Mr. Oscar Worthwine (l) and President Chaffee. Seated, from left to right, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn J. Driscoll, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Morrison. It is because of these people that Boise Junior college now has the new additions. Morrison Hall, the girls dorm, was named after Mrs. Ann Morrison, while Driscoll Hall, the men's dorm, was named after the son of Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll, who was killed in action during the last world war.

To Post on Board . . .

All jobs and rooms available during the year will be posted on the bulletin board, Dr. Baker, dean of men, announced.

YOU AND THE WORLD

Young people of today must take a side glance at the world around them as they enter college this fall. Their lives are keenly affected by world conditions.

On the one hand youth is solicited to take jobs with the government and private business for salaries far in excess of the remuneration offered other generations. They can secure these jobs with little effort on their part. In fact, business men are searching for dependable employees to serve their clintel.

On the other hand, youth is being commandeered to serve the needs of the nation. They must offer their lives in such service. Many cannot reconcile the friendly pat of solicitation with the command to serve. As a result, they lose their balance.

They fail to reckon with the fact that most of them, despite interruptions of military service, will live the normal life of marriage, parenthood, community life and eventually old age. If this fact is kept in focus they must realize that they cannot afford the luxury of the "eat-drink-and-be-merry" philosophy.

An adequate education is a greater need today than it was in the last generation. World conditions proclaim uncertainty. Uncertainty requires flexibility, an ability to shift vocations as the world changes. A college education is the chief source of flexibility and adaptability. With such an education you can meet a changing world. Now is the one and only time for youth to secure it.—Eugene B. Chaffee.

This Is Your College

Each of you students of BJC should be proud of your school and be willing to participate in the college life, whether it is in sports,

It is entirely possible to maintain a good grade point average while participating in various activities and it is worth it to you, in the future as well as in the present, to have the experience of working together to maintain recognition among the people of this world as a worthwhile character.

Through your association with BJC this year, you will have the opportunity not only to become more educated, but to have experience which will better prepare you for the business of life which you will soon meet.

If at any time you feel you are not getting your share of opportunities and fun that BJC offers you, stop and analyze yourself and see if you have put anything into the school which enables you to receive any opportunities.

Life isn't just a bowl of roses or a silver platter handed to you. One must give before one receives . . . Remember that, and be proud and willing to take part in the college life at Boise Junior College.

General Education In Boise Junior College

Being cognizant that, as a result of man's continual progress and advancement in all branches of learning and activity, society is today confronted with problems broader and more complex than those that have been presented to any other age for solution; and sensing, in part at least, some of the serious implications of such scientific discoveries as those involving atomic energy; and realizing that, in such complex and hazardous world conditions, the well-being of the individual, of the nation, and of the world can be promoted only by intelligently cooperative actions of individuals and groups who are alert to the problems before them and who are informed about them; and knowing that attitudes and habits acquired in school form the foundation for actions in later life, it is the policy of Boise Junior College to strive to give to its students what assistance it can in preparing them to take their places in such a society.

P. S. for P. E.

Beware! Watch out! Danger! It's new! It's colossal! In fact, it's pretty good.

Yes, it's new this year, and offers every P. E. student a beau, I mean a bow. In one sense of the word, the first beau is right as it is good training in the sport of hunting. For those who haven't caught on as yet, the surprise is field archery.

There will be six targets set up throughout the campus so keep your eyes open!

Also offered in the line of physical education, is social dancing. This course is for those who don't know how to dance or for those who wish to improve their steps.

Among the different steps which will be taught are the fox trot, waltz, rumba, and jitter bug.

Badminton is also offered for those who wish to attain a high degree of skill in one activity or who wish to have a lot of fun and exercise.

The next sport is for women only, so you men can skip this section and read on. Field hockey and volley ball will be for women only. The WAA will meet with this group to develop them for their annual Northwest Field Hockey Association tourney. The Women's Athletic Association will go to Moscow in November for the tournament and they invite anyone interested to come Tuesday or Thursday to the gym between three and four to sign up.

"Swim or Sink" is the motto of many students as well as those of the outer world. Don't you become one of these ignorant persons, enroll in a swimming class which is held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:30 p. m. at the YMCA. And for those who have strong strokes in the side stroke, or the crawl, a life saving course is offered. Students passing this course receive an American Red Cross Senior Life Saving certificate and emblem.

Student Regulations

Attendance and Absence from Classes

Students are responsible for their attendance in the courses in which they are enrolled. Absences are reported through the registrar's office to the student's adviser and the Dean of the college.

A student who has been absent from a meeting of the class has lost some of the content of the course, regardless of the cause of the absence. If any student accumulates absences to the extent that further participation in the class seems to be of little value to him and detrimental to the best interests of the class, the instructor shall warn such student that further absences may cause him to fail the course or to be dropped.

Withdrawal

A student may officially withdraw from college only by securing a withdrawal permit from the registrar, and having it signed by the same.

He may withdraw from individual courses by having the permit endorsed by his instructor and signed by the registrar, with whom it is filed. If a student withdraws before the end of the first three weeks of the semester, his grade shall be a W. After that time a grade of W shall be given if he is doing passing work at the time of withdrawal; if not, the grade of F shall be given. A student cannot take a W after the beginning of the last three weeks. Exceptional cases will be given special consideration. A student who discontinues a course without an official withdrawal shall receive a grade of F.

Auditing of Accounts

All funds for public purposes within the college and subject to the jurisdiction of either the college or the Associated student body and which are contributed to or collected by any student or faculty member shall be deposited with the business manager, subject to withdrawal upon written approval of the proper authorities. An accounting of all receipts and expenditures in the funds shall be made by those responsible for their collection immediately after they shall have been disbursed, this accounting to be audited by the business manager.

MRS. ADA HATCH RETURNS TO BJC

A year's sabbatical leave ended Monday when Mrs. Ada Hatch returned to her English class.

She has taught successively here since 1932, and is the first faculty member to ever receive the honorary grant.

Her European tour began last year "for the purpose of bringing literature more alive" to her and her students.

She visited literary haunts, secured manuscripts and absorbed the authentic and quaint atmosphere of four Shakespearean plays which were produced in the historical Stratford-on-Avon theater in England.

"They only pull the curtain once," she explained, "the plays are done in two heats."

New Editors Resume Positions

Dwight Dickey, New Plymouth high school graduate, was selected last year to edit this year's BJC annual, the Les Bois. He was formally installed in an executive board meeting last spring.

Last year Dwight was associate editor but assumed full editorship of the Les Bois when Berta Burgess, former editor, withdrew from that position. He is active in sports and is on BJC's basketball squad.

Ruth Pond was a journalism majour in high school and was on the Round-Up advertising staff from the first of January when she transferred to BJC from Brigham Young university.

Miss Pond has been active in drama productions here. She was on the production staff for the Cherry Orchard, one of the school plays, and gave a humorous solo in the 1951 Bach to Boogie. Miss Pond is also a member of BJC's a capella choir and International Relations club.

Former Student of BJC Receives Honors

WACO, TEX.—It was announced Sept. 24 that Donald L. Pape, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Pape, 1509 Boise Avenue, Boise, Idaho, has completed basic pilot training at Connally AFB, Texas.

Pape will complete advanced training at Craig AFB, Alabama in the F-51 "Mustang", a high speed fighter of the Air Force.

After completion of the month pilot training course, he will be awarded second lieutenant bars and silver wings.

Both bases in which he is assigned are under the jurisdiction of Flying Training Air Force Waco, Texas.

Valkyries to Sponsor Book Sale

Each year the Valkyries sponsor a book sale. They have a wide selection of text books which have been used by students of the previous year and are sold at a discount.

Other books are sold in the bookstore in the basement of the Administration building.

Get your dates early for the graduation formal. Only a few months left!

ODDS and ENDS

THE OFFENDERS

"The imposition of forced listening is viciously repugnant to the spiritual and intellectual assumptions of American life. It is the recognized symbol of totalitarianism, exhibiting the brute power of collective force at its ugliest and most dangerous incidence—on the mind. It offends the letter as well as the spirit of the Bill of Rights.

—Professor Black of Columbia University

CONVERSATION PIECE

People love to talk but hate to listen. Listening is not merely not talking, though even that is beyond most of our powers; it means taking a vigorous, human interest in what is being told us. You can listen like a blank wall or like a splendid auditorium where every sound comes back fuller and richer.

The best listener I ever knew was the late Clarence Day, author of "Life with Father." He did not listen in silence. He laughed, he groaned, he roared; his eyes shone with surprise and delight. However mild the anecdote you might be relating, it became significant through his exciting interest. The consequence was that, although he was crippled with arthritis and never outside the walls of his room for the last 15 years of his life, I don't believe anyone knew more of the human heart — knew more about what people were doing and feeling and how the world was wagging—than he did.

—Quoted by Henry Wise in "All Our Lives."

BULLETIN

Any student who wishes to help start a Boise Bronco Riding Club, and who has his own horse, please leave a note in Miss Catherin's box in the main office, or see her in person. This club could lead to parade riding and perhaps polo playing.

STATESMAN NEWSPAPERS

Dear Miss Dee Mener

Dear Miss Dee Mener: I plan to enter BJC as a freshman and have been told by some of the alumni not to let studying interfere with my education. What is your advice?—Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: Yours is a sage question indeed. I need help on such a matter. I shall interview some of the outstanding sophomores next week and then help you meet your problem.

Dear Miss Dee Mener

Everyone tells me the boys at BJC are very backward about asking girls to date them and that there are a lot of girl-ask-boy-boys. I just asked a boy who will be attending school this fall if he would go out with me and he said—"It will be a cold day before I will." Now, should I wait until November or December to ask him again?—Doubtful.

Dear Doubtful: If we have an early fall you might start wearing him down a little sooner.

Dear Miss Dee Mener:

The only time my boy friend spends with me is when he has no money to spend on himself; or when I have something for him to eat. Do you think he loves me really?—Bewildered.

Dear Bewildered:

Yours is a problem as old as the hills. If you remember, she and Adam and has been paying for ever since. My advice to you is to remember the apple like Texas and remember the Alamo—and fight for your rights.

Dear Miss Dee Mener:

My friends tell me I keep losing my head. What shall I do?—Worried.

Dear Worried:

If they are still your friends in spite of this odd characteristic, don't worry, maybe they think you look better that way.

College Quips

Turning to the best player of the bridge foursome, the novice asked, "How would you have played that last hand of mine?" "Under an assumed name," was the prompt reply.

"Where is Henry?" asked a neighbor boy.

"I'm not sure," replied Henry's mother. "If the ice is as thick as he thinks it is, he's skating. If it's as thin as I think it is, he's swimming."

Girl on garden bench to youth beside her: "I feel a little chilly, Lester. Will you run inside and get me Jack Davis?"

One girl to another: "Of course I wouldn't say anything about her unless I could say something good. And, oh boy, is this good . . ."

The master of ceremonies for a radio quiz, picking contestants from the audience, asked, "Is there a couple here who have been married less than 24 hours?"

A 12-year-old boy brought down the house by piping up: "What would they be doing here?"

Young thing, "Not only has he broken my heart and wrecked my life, but he's messed up my entire evening."

Straightforward Women Make Hit, So Men Claim

Men claim they like women to be straightforward with them—but . . .

If a woman points out what are to her obvious flaws in a woman a man is praising he is sure to mark it up to jealousy.

If a woman sets a man straight on a subject she knows more about than he does, he decides she isn't feminine.

If a woman keeps reminding her husband of a job he has promised to do, without clothing her reminder in flattery, he calls it nagging.

If a woman insists on airing a grievance that she hopes can be straightened out by honest discussion she is accused of trying to start an argument.

If a woman tells a man she thinks he is in the wrong when he gets into difficulty instead of championing him even though she is sure he is at fault, he tells her he didn't expect her to understand.

If a woman comes right out and says she doesn't believe something a man has told her, she is credited with being a suspicious person.

If a woman doesn't pretend to respond to a man's mood, she is "cold".

If a woman takes a straightforward way of getting what she wants, men call her bossy.

If a woman says what she honestly thinks about another woman, she is being "catty".

If a wife speaks her mind freely and forcefully, her husband is pitied as being henpecked.

And yet men claim—and probably believe that they like women to be straightforward and honest.

—Taken from the Idaho Evening Statesman

A gal we know calls her boyfriend "Pilgrim"—every time he calls he makes a little more progress.

It's love when she sinks in his arms—and ends up with her arms in the sink.

Job Applicant: "I'm Gladys Zell."

Personnel Manager: "I'm happy myself. Have a seat."

As far as the dollar is concerned, confidentially, it shrinks.

BJC Holds Open House

Boise Junior College held open house for the public to view the new buildings which were completed for the use of the students this year.

Two new dormitories were built with housing capacity for 78 students. The Student Union was also enlarged into a dining room for the dorm students, and a ballroom for Union dances which are held throughout the entire year.

HORSE BACK RIDING OFFERED AT BJC

Instructions in horse back riding are being offered at BJC this year by Colonel William C. Powers at his own riding ring with horses and equipment furnished free.

This very unusual opportunity to ride and to learn horsemanship can be had at very low fees because Colonel Powers is retired and teaching horsemanship is his hobby. It will cost you much less than straight horse hire, and you will receive instruction in accordance with U. S. cavalry methods. Before coming to Boise Colonel Powers worked with Colonel George H. Huthsteiner instructing the Los Angeles County Sheriff's (Mounted) Reserve. Colonel Huthsteiner was formerly head of the equitation department cavalry school, Fort Riley, Kansas, one of the foremost schools of horsemanship in the world. Colonel Powers has also been instructor of horsemanship for the Marine Corps Officer's School at Quantico, and for officers' wives and children and has given other private instructions at various times. For the past year he has been giving private lessons in Boise.

For further information, inquire in the office, or see Miss Catherin, P.E. instructor. This is for both men and women.

Three BJC Instructors Take Leave of Absence

Mrs. Camille B. Creamer is making residence in Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Catherine Vasquex, instructor in art, is on leave of absence to the Virgin Islands; and A. H. Chatburn, head of the education department, is on leave to study toward the doctorate degree at Washington State college.

It's All In the Game

John Barrymore, watching a tense football game, was distracted by the man next to him, who bragged, "When I was in college I helped Harvard beat Yale three times in succession."

"That so?", snapped Barrymore. "Which team were you playing on?"

Coach George Blankley and his assistant, Ralph Rodgers, were able to see the team's advancement during the past two weeks when the team met with a tough scrimmage against Mountain Home Air Force Base, and during their earnest practices while preparing themselves for Saturday's game. The Bronchos really made a good showing against John Muir college, which started the year rolling. The students of BJC tip their hats to you, team, and extend their wishes for a "better than ever" football year.
