

to lie beside
a girl with
brown skin and black hair, hear the slow
twirling chant of
a pan flute, break away,
out of this country's
vulgar mind frame,
to someplace where emotions and desires can flourish unfettered by greasy chains of colloquial
and sociological attitudes me, and my dark-skinned
girl, in truly
naked
love

Matthew Gordon