

HUGO CLAUDE HORACK

1877-1958

He was:

a member of the law faculty of Duke University	from 1930
Dean	from 1934
Dean Emeritus	from 1947.

He was a man of many and varied talents who lived a full and useful life.

Legal Scholars will recall him for his work with the Association of American Law Schools and the American Bar Association.

His friends will keep green his memory as a gracious, kindly, thoughtful individual.

His colleagues and associates at Duke University knew him to be a painstaking, competent, and faithful administrator.

The public holds him in recollection as a solid, public-spirited constructive citizen.

His students will continue to feel for him affection, respect, and a sense of obligation for what he gave them of himself.

He will not be forgotten.

Those who knew him will miss him.
