PRINCESS MARY WHITE

SHE'S just seven years old, she lives at 514 Plum Street, her father is plain Bill White. Most people notice her pigtails and her blue eyes, but they never guess they're in the presence of royalty.

But we know!

Maybe that's because we know more about her kingdom—the kingdom she'll be queen of one day—than these people. It's no ordinary kingdom, this—it combines the best features of all the fairy stories you ever read rolled into one. Instead of an ordinary marble palace, she'll have a real home made of inexpensive materials that you haven't even heard of yet, flooded with sunlight, and opening on the whole outdoors.

Instead of a pumpkin coach, she'll drive a car such as you have never dreamed of, and fly a plane as readily as you would drive a car. Plastic shoes will be her glass slippers. And her servants will all be electric, for electricity, in modern electric appliances for cooking, heating, cooling, and cleaning, is just about the best servant man has ever had.

Where is this fairyland? It's right here in America, tomorrow!

But how can we be sure that this is not just another fairy tale? Because American industry has already made enough discoveries and developments to reveal to us the shape of things to come. New materials like plastics, new developments like television, new sciences like electronics, assure us of this—and promise even more.

Today's job is fighting for that better world. But when tomorrow comes, American industry, once again busy producing things to make living better, will help to make tomorrow's young men and women more truly princes and princesses than the heroes of yesterday's fairy tales. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

The volume of General Electric war production is so high and the degree of secrecy required is so great that we cannot tell you about it now. When it can be told we believe that the story of industry's developments during the war years will make one of the most fascinating chapters in the history of industrial progress.

THELMA O. WOODS

From American youth has come the greatest sacrifice in the waging of World War II. America has had need for youth's physical hardiness and endurance, for its alertness, for its physical and mental bravery in the face of real peril. Our young men and young women have measured up to their responsibilities and proved on Bataan and at Midway, and are proving in the Solomon Islands, that American standards and American ideals do not foster a "soft" race with little courage.

It seems to me we can take pride in our University as one important factor in the moulding of youths into men and women ready for "the fiery ordeal of war." Not that the University trains for ruthlessness and bloodshed but rather for "sound, incisive, well-ordered thought," the sort of thinking and ability that young college-trained officers and men are revealing in today's struggle. Realizing now the value of its training in wartime as well as peacetime, the University has redoubled its effort to shorten its assembly line and to further improve the quality of its chief product—the resourceful and courageous man and woman of today—the rebuilders of tomorrow.

In mentioning contributors to the war effort, there is one group that certainly should be praised, for perhaps they make the greatest and most lasting sacrifice—that is wives, mothers, sweethearts.

Pierre Von Paassen declares that the death of men in battle does not constitute the greatest tragedy in war, but rather the sustained sorrow of those the dying leave to complete their lives alone. We can't be too sympathetic or appreciative of the mothers, wives, and sweethearts who give up much of their happiness, sorrowfully but without complaint or bitterness. The American woman has been complimented on a wide variety of virtues—beauty, brains, ankles, chicness. She controls 70% of all private wealth in America, but she is also brave and generous and thereby deserves our greatest praise.

I breakfasted recently at the Muehlebach with Fred Hatton who does a bang-up job of making friends and keeping them for his hotel. Every time I enter the Muehlebach lobby, Fred always greets me by my name so that everyone in the lobby can hear it and that makes me feel important. I like it and Fred knows it.

When people inquire about college students and Columbia churches or attempt blunt statements on the absence of religion among the younger generation, I can be pretty sure they've never been here on a Sunday morning.

Shortly before 9 o'clock (the hour for Burrall Bible Class) until 11 o'clock (the hour for Columbia's regular services) students can be seen dressed in their Sunday best and on the way to or from church.

Columbia's churches maintain student centers and various student organizations which provide wholesome entertainment and fellowship as well as many worthwhile lessons in community living and Christian attitudes. The sailors who are attending the diesel training school here are invited to attend the services and no opportunity is neglected to make them feel welcome. Our young people are learning that "a full, noble life is a better inheritance than riches, for religion is a commodity, the peculiar nature of which is that the more you give away, the more you have left."

It was my pleasure and privilege to speak at the six group meetings of the Missouri Bankers Association. W. M. C. Dawson, Grant City, president of the association; Kearney ("Sisyphus") Wornall, Kansas City, vice-president; A. J. Forsythe, Pierce City, treasurer; W. F. Keyser, Sedalia secretary; and Leslie Curry, of the Mercantile Bank and Trust Company, St. Louis, chairman of the committee on bank management, and I went to Farmington, St. Louis, Springfield, Chillicothe, St. Joseph, and Excelsior Springs, during early October.

The Missouri Bankers are staunch friends of the University and supporters of everything worthwhile and constructive in the state. One of the great assets listed by the University is the fact that heretofore the Missouri bankers held their state conference in Columbia. This meeting, however, has been postponed for the duration and we are sorry indeed the war makes such a worthwhile activity inadvisable.

Fred Harrison, a former member of the state legislature and an outstanding citizen, recently welcomed the president, secretary, treasurer, and the vice-president, of the Missouri Bankers Association, Leslie Curry and myself for a short visit in his office at Gallatin. Fred is editor and publisher of the Gallatin North Missourian and the Gallatin Democrat. The former is a republican paper and Fred is very systematic about the whole thing. He has a line drawn through his office delineating republican territory and democratic territory.

We were all the guests of President Dawson at a breakfast at Mrs. McDonald's Tearoom. The Tearoom is widely known as a place for good food and exceeds its reputation.

A slab of old Daviess County ham big enough for a harvest hand, a half settin' of eggs, hot biscuits, ham gravy, and homemade raspberry preserves, coffee, and good fellowship provided a really bang-up good time. While in Gallatin we also visited with Floyd S. Tuggle, an alumnus, banker, and also a former member of the legislature.

Secretary Keyser bought one of Mrs. McDonald's cook books and sent it to Mrs. Hill.

The members of the Missouri Press Association and their manager and president Mr. H. R. Long, and Mr. W. E. Freeland respectively, have honored me with an invitation to act as toastmaster at their annual banquet during the convention in St. Louis this year. It is a welcome opportunity to meet the fine men and women who contribute to the welfare and progress of our state.

Patience IS Patriotism

IN AMERICA TODAY, patience is patriotism. We, as citizens, must get along with shortages of goods and curtailment of services in order that we, as a nation, may be assured of victory over international gangsters.

Because the American Railroads were prepared for any emergency, there has been little noticeable inconvenience to the civilian population. The railroads have been and are doing their job in a magnificent manner.

To continue this type of service, particularly in the face of new demands resulting from the rubber and automobile rationing, the railroads may have to make changes which will affect civilian service. The big job, we all know and agree, is to furnish all the transportation needed, without delay, for military requirements.

Your patience . . . your friendly acceptance of new conditions will be a big help to the railroads. It is real American cooperation, fully appreciated by the world's greatest system of transportation.

President Middlebush Welcomes Old and New Students to the University of Missouri

As has been customary in years past Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University, welcomed the returning students with a brief address in Jesse Auditorium. The COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN also published a brief welcome by President Middlebush in their special fall edition. We reprint it here as a fine summary of the University and student purpose for this school year.

IN BEHALF OF THE University of Missouri I wish to extend to all old and new students a warm welcome as you resume or enter upon your University career.

Among other purposes, the citizens of our State maintain this University in order that you may have the opportunity to equip yourself for your life work and the high responsibilities of effective citizenship. As you enter upon or resume your University career you cannot help but be impressed by the tragic events occurring in the world of which you are a part and that millions of the youth of our day and generation are deprived of the opportunity that is yours. You are under a heavy obligation to equip yourself for the serious responsibilities which will soon be yours to carry.

The University has been organized in such a way that it can make its maximum contribution to our total war effort. You can complete your course in much shorter time than normally, under the accelerated schedule. You can also equip yourself for specialized service to your country in various fields of training. Also, you will be able to secure highly efficient training while pursuing your studies.

Your University is also co-operating with our government in making facilities available to the Navy Department for a type of training which will be of great service to our country. The service men of the Navy, resident on our campus, should, and I am sure will, receive every courtesy and consideration from the members of the regular student body. You can help make their stay here pleasant as I am sure it will be profitable.

As you embark on this critical year of work, I wish each and every one of you a stout heart, high courage, a grim determination to do your part exceedingly well, and Godspeed.

At the President's Annual Luncheon...

James E. Nugent of Kansas City chats with Gov. Forrest C. Donnell, as Mrs. Donnell comments to Dr. Thomas Orr of Kansas City. Mrs. Middlebush (in the background) leans forward to speak with Mrs. Jim Taylor of Kansas City.

At left: Paul Shepard of Mountain Grove, and John Stapel of Columbia, listen from the settee, and Mrs. Tidd listens, too, as husband, Harry Tidd of Hutchinson, Kan., makes a point.

Wallace Fry of Mexico, seems to be getting a lot of attention from John Stapel, Columbia; Oak Hunter, Moberly; and Sen. W. B. Whitlow, Fulton. Bob Woodfill, Bolivar, is "out of this world" on the right, while Arthur Bond of Mexico, holds his pipe and looks on at left.

President and Mrs. Middlebush Entertain With Their Annual Luncheon

Gathering Precedes the Colorado-
Missouri Game on October 3

The fifth annual luncheon was held on Oct. 3 by President and Mrs. Frederick A. Middlebush for officers, directors, district chairmen, and committee members of the general Alumni Association, the Board of Curators, and the Board of Visitors.

Entertaining at their home on the campus, President and Mrs. Middlebush provided a Boone County ham luncheon for the guests, including a much-praised dessert of gingerbread and whipped cream. Mrs. Hartley Banks and Mrs. Lindsey Nickell of Columbia, made the gingerbread.

The general Alumni Association is continuing its fine work for the University of Missouri and thereby, for the citizens of the state.

The Public Relations Program has been doubly useful during wartime in maintaining the steady growth and improvement of the University of Missouri. Through the district set-up the people of the state are brought into close contact with the work that is being accomplished by the University and are familiarized with the service which it, as a state institution renders to the people.

Another district has been added to the organization of the Association—District 13, Cole County, as shown on the map on page 6.

Following the luncheon, guests were provided with tickets for the Missouri-Colorado game.

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell and Mrs. Donnell were among those present.

M. U. Makes Final Plans For Annual Homecoming

The University of Missouri will hold its annual Homecoming Nov. 26 at Columbia.

Wartime conditions necessitate a modest celebration and alumni will find it extremely difficult to come long distances to participate in the annual activities.

On page 30 and 31 of this issue the Homecoming program is listed in detail. Missouri and Kansas will "fight it out" on the gridiron as they have since 1891, but a larger, more consequential struggle, involving countless Missourians, will overshadow events of the day. The between-halves program will be dedicated to University men and women who are serving with the armed forces of the United States. Moreover, committee members and administrative officers extend a special invitation to all alumni on furlough or on duty in the vicinity to attend the annual homecoming.

A wartime class will hold its twenty-fifth anniversary reunion during a war year, for the World War I class of 1917 is scheduled to reunite in this year of World War II.

Honorary organizations will hold their annual meetings. Times and places for the meetings are listed on pages 30 and 31.

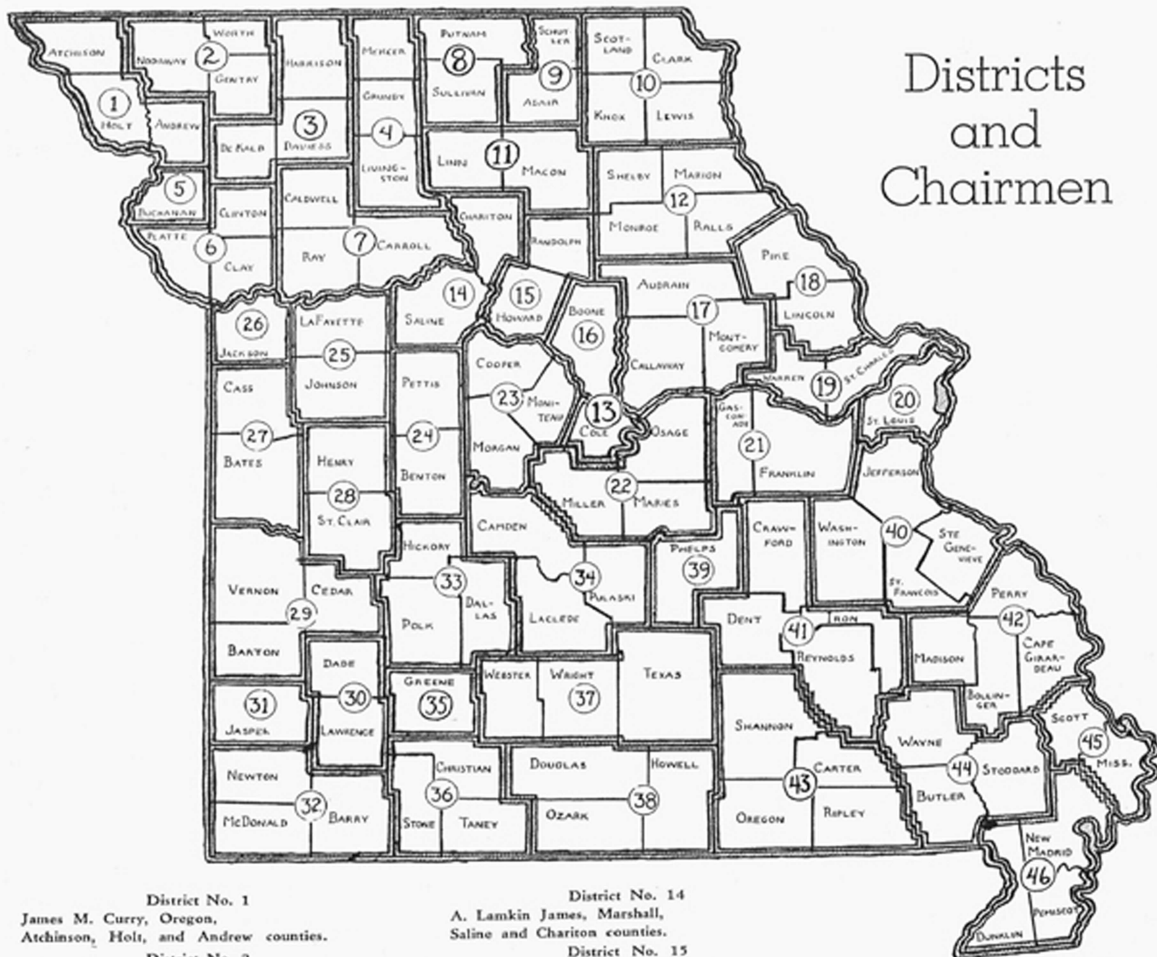

Business houses and organized groups on Campus will decorate for the event as usual. This year the activities must be curtailed, but to all who find it advisable to attend, we extend a most hearty welcome to return to old school scenes and friends.

Judge Laurance Hyde Announces the District Chairmen and Committees of the Alumni Association for 1942-1944

The District Chairmen and Committee Members for the coming years have a difficult task. Like other institutions, individuals, and families, the University has been hit by the war. The drafting of young men of 18 and 19 will further reduce the enrollment and will necessitate further adjustment to what has become of necessity "total war." However, the college as a center of culture and learning, as the training ground for citizens fitted for democratic government, Missouri University must retain her old standards while yet changing to meet new wartime demands. She must sacrifice many students for urgent war service and yet train technicians, professional students, and scholars for the future. The officers of the Public Relations Program participate in a complicated task. With the co-operation of citizen, student, faculty member, administrative staff, and alumni, we can retain our established standards while fighting for their preservation abroad.

Missouri Supreme Court Commissioner Laurance M. Hyde of Jefferson City, is president of the General Alumni Association of the University of Missouri.

The Terrible "T"

Terrible to Tiger Opponents but a T'n'T (Tried 'n' True)
Yard Gainer for Old Mizzou!

T—THE FIRST letter in "Tigers"—surname of the thrilling and explosive formation which has brought fame and recognition to the team of Old Mizzou.

On the opposite page are eleven Missouri stalwarts, arrayed in the form of their favorite letter. The lads pictured are the ones who opened this year's schedule at St. Joseph against the Ft. Riley Centaurs. Along with three other teams, they're the executors of the T. Don Faurot, Tiger coach, is the brain behind the execution.

It was just last September, 1941, that Missouri followers saw the Tigers first use the T. It was not an exact replica of the formation used by Stanford and the Chicago Bears to such advantage—it was Faurot's own peculiar version.

Sportsmen quickly termed it the "tossing-T," and it was an arrangement particularly fitted for the speed which Faurot saw in his backfield, the power of his line. Throughout the 1941 season the Bengals exhibited their brand of the T formation to their fans, and it swept them to the Big Six title and a Sugar Bowl contest against the Fordham Rams.

This season the Tigers are riding again—with the T as their chief weapon. Three victories in four starts is the 1942 record at this writing, and the Bengals are favorites to cop their third conference championship in the last four years.

Striking unexpectedly from their special arrangement, Missouri has unveiled the T in fourteen games since its inauguration and rolled up 330 points, an average of approximately four touchdowns per game.

Of course, the T had nothing to do with the defense of the Bengals, a defense which has limited foes in those fourteen contests to 75 points, an average of approximately five points per game.

Which all goes to show, that given the material which Faurot has built up, the formation used is merely an instrument which aids in the process of point-making. But we contend that our good coach has sure hastened the process with his "tossing-T."

Other schools in the Big Six have installed the same formation, although none have the brand which Coach Faurot conceived and exploited. And the main point in mind is the fact that Faurot worked out a system for his own team and its potentialities—like every real exponent of the coaching art, he formed an arrangement which made the most of the material at hand.

Throughout the T, the keynote is speed—speed and adept ball-handling. Harold Adams and Ervin Pitts, quarter backs and short men on the T, provide the ball-handling. Bob Steuber, Don O'Hara, Vern Bowen, Ralph Carter, and Jimmy Darr contribute the speed. Streamlined football—football filled with dash and excitement—good football. These are exhibited by the T formation—and more especially, by the Missouri Tigers.

A RESULT OF THE "T"

Don O'Hara, Tiger halfback, races 65 yards to score against Colorado on the first play of the game.

TIGER TALK

by George Kentera

AS THIS ISSUE goes to press, the Tigers of Don Faurot are girding themselves for their first Big Six contest in defense of the title won last season. Shot through and through with injuries, the Bengals will see some changes before the 1942 aggregation will be ready to complete the season with a record comparable to that of last year.

At the present time, prior to the coming game with Kansas State on Oct. 17, both the No. 1 and No. 2 centers are out of action. Jeff Davis and Bob Sweeney are doubtful starters and Jack Keith is expected to shift from guard to the pivot post until the injured list becomes smaller.

Don O'Hara, Vern Bowen, and Maurice Wade, halfbacks, are all out for some time, and before they return several reserve backs are slated for quite a bit of action. Harold Entsminger and Jim Austin, who have seen little competition so far, will probably get the call in the coming pair of games against K-State and Iowa State.

Thus far in the season, the Bengals have played four games, winning three and dropping one, that defeat being received from the mighty Wisconsin Badgers of the Big Ten. In all but that one game, the smashing Missouri ground offensive has averaged close to 400 yards per struggle. Before the loss to Wisconsin, the Tigers had won over Ft. Riley, St. Louis University, and University of Colorado.

Greatest trouble for the Tigers in defense of their Big Six crown is expected, as usual, to come from Nebraska and Oklahoma, with the greatest opposition expected from the Sooners, who held a powerful Texas outfit to a 7-to-0 contest. It is still too early to tell how the conference will come out, but the Big Six so far has suffered in comparison to other sections in the country. Nebraska was beaten, 12 to 0, by Indiana recently. Kansas State was shellacked easily by Ft. Riley, the same team the Tigers defeated, 31 to 0, while Kansas University has shown very little in the way of gridiron promise. And Iowa State was man-handled, 26 to 0, by Nebraska.

The feeling remains that the Sooners are the men to beat, with the Cornhuskers a close second. And the Tigers play both these outfits away from the friendly corners of Memorial Stadium.

Missouri's games thus far (to Oct. 12):

MISSOURI 31, FT. RILEY 0

Ft. Riley	0	0	0	0	0
Missouri	7	6	12	6	31

SCORING: Missouri touchdowns—Steuber, Pitts, Bowen, Carter, Morton. Point after touchdown—Steuber.

Officials: Referee—Arnold Embree, Kirksville. Empire—Fritz Kronkite, Maryville. Field Judge—James Streeter, Kirksville. Head Linesman—P. B. Springer, Grand Island.

The University of Missouri Tigers opened grid festivities for 1942 with a 31-to-0 victory over the first of three service elevens which will be met during the coming campaign. Picking up where they left off last year, the Bengals counted five touchdowns mainly because of a smashing ground attack which last year led the nation in yards gained.

A squad of forty-seven Tigers saw action against the Centaurs, and the Missouri defense proved so effective that not once did the soldiers ever seriously threaten the Bengal goal-line.

Bob Steuber, Missouri's leading candidate for All-American honors, crossed into pay dirt in the opening period to score the first Tiger touchdown. He also place-kicked the point.

Ervin Pitts, No. 2 quarterback, scored the second marker for the Tigers in the second period, bucking over from the 1-yard line after a sustained Missouri drive.

Excited and partisan St. Joseph fans saw the Bengals tally twice in the third quarter, both touchdowns coming on long runs by M. U. backs from the T-formation. Vern Bowen, right halfback, took the second-half kickoff and returned it to the 45-yard line. Then, on the first play of scrimmage, the Marceline speedster raced 55 yards to score. A few minutes later, Ralph Carter, who had replaced Bowen in the backfield, took the oval on the same play and raced 76 yards to the criss-crossed stripes on the longest run of the day.

Missouri's final touchdown came through the air. Maurice "Red" Wade tossed 18 yards to Jack Morton in the Centaur end zone to end the scoring for the day.

The Tiger line held extremely well all afternoon against Ft. Riley, and there was only one weakness discernable in the Bengal attack—place-kicking for the point after touchdown. Only one boot in five attempts was successful.

MISSOURI 37, ST. LOUIS 7

St. Louis	0	0	0	7	7
Missouri	6	12	13	7	38

SCORING: St. Louis touchdowns—Will. Point after touchdown—Brown.

Missouri touchdowns—Steuber 3, Adams, Bouldin, Wren. Points after touchdown—B. Ekern, Morton.

Officials: Referee—Dwight Reams, Washburn. Umpire—Grady Skillern, Oklahoma. Field Judge—Louis House, William Jewell. Head Linesman—Strong Hinman, Wichita.

Scoring at least once in every period, the Missouri Tigers rolled over the Billikens from St. Louis University by a score of 38 to 7 at Memorial Stadium. Bob Steuber, Bengal halfback, accounted for three Missouri touchdowns, and was on the tossing end of a ten-yard pass to Harold Adams for another, to pace the attack that rolled up 379 yards of the ground and through the air in a diversified onslaught.

Don Faurot used forty-four men against the blue-clad invaders, and the starting line-up appeared in the game only about twenty-five minutes. A crowd of 4500 spectators braved the chilling winds that prevailed throughout the contest to watch the Golden Tigers open their 1942 home season and mark up their fifteenth consecutive triumph at Memorial Stadium.

Showing a well-balanced assault, the Tigers struck quickly and brilliantly through the air for their six touchdowns, one of them a thrilling sixty-three yard gain in the fourth period. With the ball on the M.U. thirty-seven, Jimmy Darr pitched a twenty-five yard strike to Bob Wren, who snagged the ball on the St. Louis thirty-six and galloped the remaining distance to the goal-line.

The first three Tiger markers were contributed by Steuber. Seven and one-half minutes in the initial quarter were gone when Steuber took a short pass from Don Reece on the St. Louis 7-yard line and outraced the defenders to the last stripe. Early in the second quarter, the big halfback bucked four yards for the second M.U. score.

Seven minutes later that same Steuber took the oval on the Missouri 49-yard stripe, slipped through tackle, and raced 51 yards to score, aided by some timely blocking by Verlie Abrams, guard.

In the third quarter, Steuber appeared long enough to toss ten yards to Harold Adams for a touchdown, and late in that same period Fred Bouldin, No. 2 fullback, plunged over from the 1-foot line.

The Tiger defense held back the Billiken offensive throughout the game until the closing minutes of the contest when Tom Powers, St. Louis halfback, began connecting with desperate forward passes. The only Bill touchdown came with two seconds remaining on a throw, Powers to Herm Will.

MISSOURI 26, COLORADO 13

Colorado	0	6	7	0-13
Missouri	6	7	7	6-26

SCORING: Colorado touchdowns—Hendrickson, Woodward. Point after touchdown—Stearns. Missouri touchdowns—O'Hara, Steuber 2, Morton. Points after touchdown—Steuber 2. Officials: Referee—M. G. Volz, Nebraska. Umpire—Louis House, William Jewell. Field Judge—Jack North, Highland Park. Head Linesman—D. A. Pierce, William Jewell.

Sparked by the brilliant runs of Bob Steuber and Don O'Hara and the alert play of three forward walls, the Missouri Tigers ran up a 26-to-13 victory over a stubborn University of Colorado eleven as 4000 fans braved intermittent rainfall to witness the Bengals' sixteenth consecutive victory at home and their third of the season without a loss.

It was Faurot's T-formation against Jim Yeager's short punt arrangement, and while the going was anything but easy, the Tigers rolled up 434 yards in a smashing ground attack.

The game had an auspicious beginning. After Colorado's Jim Smith had kicked out-of-bounds on the opening kickoff, O'Hara took a lateral from Ervin Pitts on the first play from scrimmage and raced around his left and 65 yards for a touchdown without an opponent laying hands upon him.

Trailing by that six-point margin, the Buffaloes struck unexpectedly in the first forty seconds of the second period when it seemed the Tigers were on a touchdown march. With the ball on the Colorado 27-yard line, Stan Hendrickson, opposing wingman, broke through the line, intercepted Pitts' lateral intended for Steuber, and sprinted 76 yards for the score.

The contest stood at this 6-6 deadlock until ten minutes and twenty-five seconds of the second quarter, when Steuber broke around right end and ran 53 yards in a fancy exhibition of broken-field running for the score.

Steuber figured in the third touchdown for Missouri, tossing a 19-yard aerial to Jack Morton in the end zone. Colorado came back with a long pass, Tex Reilly to Dick Woodward, who caught the ball on the Missouri 2-yard line and fell over the goal-line, after a pass, Reilly to Adams and a lateral to Carl Stearns had carried the ball from deep in Colorado territory.

With Colorado within striking distance of the Tigers' seven-point lead, Missouri climaxed an 85-yard sustained drive with Steuber crashing nineteen yards through the line to score. The Missouri halfback crossed into pay dirt with two Buff defense-men on his back.

Steuber was the best answer to the Colorado defense. Besides scoring twice and pitching to Morton for another touchdown, he achieved Missouri's only pass completions, hitting two of four for 54 yards, and carried the ball thirteen times for 132 yards and an 8.2 yards average. He also topped the kicking department, averaging 35 yards on three punts and place-kicked two extra points.

And O'Hara seemed to solve the problem of the left halfback position vacated because of injury to Vern Bowen. The Lake Bluff speedster also carried thirteen times, and averaged 11.2 yards per try while totaling 163 yards.

MISSOURI 9, WISCONSIN 17

Wisconsin	3	7	7	0-17
Missouri	2	0	0	7-9

SCORING: Wisconsin touchdowns—Hirsch 2. Field goal—Harder. Points after touchdown—Harder, Ray. Missouri touchdowns—Darr. Safety—against Bauman. Point after touchdown—Morton. Officials: Referee—Lyle Clarno, Bradley. Umpire—M. G. Volz, Nebraska. Field Judge—Bat Shunston, Oklahoma. Head Linesman—Paul Goebel, Michigan.

Riddled by injuries and subsequent lack of capable replacements, the Tigers dropped their initial loss of the season to the University of Wisconsin at Camp Randall, Madison, 17 to 9. It was the first seasonal defeat for the Bengals since their opening struggle with Ohio State in 1941, and came after they had racked up three triumphs this year.

The answer to the final score showed in the final statistics, which pointed out that the Tigers accounted for only 122 yards on the ground during the entire contest, the smallest total since Faurot inaugurated the T-formation at Missouri.

Halfbacks Vern Bowen and Maurice Wade, center Jeff Davis, and linesmen John Reginato and Bernard Pepper were all absent on the trip, four of them because of injuries, and the Wisconsin machine rolled for 289 yards on the ground in hanging up the triumph after a 7-7 tie with Notre Dame and a 35-to-7 win over Marquette.

The Tigers made a hopeful start in the first few seconds of the game, counting a safety on two great tackles by Marshall Shurnas, and finished consolingly with Jimmy Darr crossing the goal-line in the final two minutes for a touchdown, but between those two events the Bengals could produce no scoring punch, even after penetrating deep into Badger territory.

Eloy Hirsch, Badger halfback, personally accounted for the deciding two touchdowns that iced the game for his outfit after Pat Harder had put his teammates into a lead that was never overcome with a field goal in the closing seconds of the first quarter. Hirsch rolled up 174 yards from scrimmage, a total that exceeds the yardage gained by the entire Missouri backfield, to lead his team to triumph.

Only consoling feature of the defeat was the 170-yard aerial attack disclosed by the Tigers, which led directly to their only touchdown.

Missouri's Varsity basketball team held its first practice Monday night, Oct. 12, led by Earl Stark, captain and junior guard from St. Joseph.

Only three lettermen from last year were available for early practice—Stark, Ed Matheny and Roy Storm. Ralph Carter, forward, is now with the football squad, while Ross Burns, center, will be unable to play because of scholastic requirements of the School of Law. However, Stewart Finlayson, reserve center and the one squadman to report, will be available.

A promising group of sophomores is expected to bolster the remnants of last year's outfit. Among them are: Thornton Jenkins, Wayne Hagedorn, and Robert Garwitz, forwards; Orrel Hahn and Charles Zurheide, centers; and Walter Robinson, Pleasant Smith, Billy Joe Clark, and Jackson House, guards.

Several sophomore possibilities now with the football squad include Jim Austin, Wilbur Volz, and Fred Kling.

J. B. Powell Receives Gift From Gen. Chiang Kai-shek

John B. Powell, alumnus and former editor of the China Weekly Review at Shanghai has been presented a check for $10,000 as a personal gift from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in recognition of Powell's "distinguished services to China."

Mr. Powell, who arrived on the liner Gripsholm in August, lost the greater part of both feet from gangrene, contracted in Japanese prisons.

A fund being collected by the National Press Club of Washington to be given to Mr. Powell for his "physical and moral courage" as editor of the Review has now reached about $7,000.

Mr. Powell graduated from the University School of Journalism in 1910.

A fine tribute to Powell and to his work was published in a recent issue of the Kansas City Star on the editorial page.

"In addition to the war correspondents who are risking their lives by going into the thick of battles are some who have paid the price in another kind of work. I am thinking of J. B. Powell, who served as an American journalist in China for so many years. The Japs had him marked for years and they finally caught him in Shanghai. They tortured him and left him broken and maimed for life. The National Press Club of Washington is raising a fund for him. Newspapermen all over the country are joining in because they recognize J. B. Powell as a man who has courageously and at fearful cost to himself stood his ground for freedom.

"Those are the lives that make newspapers something more than a 6 per cent investment, as William Allen White once put it. Those are the lives that give their inspiration to a whole army of newspapermen and women who would rather devote themselves to trying to find and report the truth than do anything else in the world."

In a letter, David Lu, chief correspondent for the Central News Agency of China and an alumnus, reports: "I thought you might be interested to know that Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese Foreign Minister, on behalf of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, presented J. B. Powell a check for $10,000, in recognition of Powell's distinguished services to China. Dr. Soong called on Powell at the Harkness Pavilion, Presbyterian Hospital, New York, on Sept. 25. Mr. Powell was visibly moved and tears came to his eyes when he read the brief note which accompanied the check."

"Mrs. Powell was present when the presentation was made."

Missing or Dead

"He who loathes war, and will do everything in his power to avert it, but who will, in the last extremity, encounter its perils, from love of country and of home . . . who is willing to sacrifice himself and all that is dear to him in life, to promote the well-being of his fellowmen, will ever receive a worthy homage."

LIEUT. MORRIS PENNER was killed on Aug. 22 in an airplane crash while on duty in England. He was 26 years old. Lieut. Penner, formerly a reporter on the San Antonio Express, enlisted in the army air corps in November, 1941, and was commissioned as a navigator. On the day of his graduation he married Miss Helen Shapiro of New York City. Lieut. Penner was buried in England and is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Jacob Penner of Kansas City, and three brothers and three sisters.

LIEUT. WILLIAM B. SHEA was one of eight army air force members who lost their lives in a mid-air collision near Williams Field, Ariz., on Sept. 23. Lieut. Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shea of Kansas City enlisted in the air force in October, 1941. He had been a second lieutenant since May. He attended the University from 1939 to 1941 and while here, was enrolled in the C.A.A. His lifelong ambition, his father said, had been to fly. Lieut. Shea is the nephew of Congressman W. L. Nelson and Mrs. Nelson.

ENSIGN WALTER E. PIERCE, a former student in the University, was killed in action in the South Pacific on June 4.

ENSIGN THOMAS FRANK HARRIS, graduate, was killed in action during the battle of the Solomon Islands. He was 23 years old. No information was available other than that he died from wounds received in the Solomon attack. Ensign Harris was an honor student in the College of Agriculture and left Columbia two days after graduation in 1941 to begin naval training at Northwestern University. He was at the Island of Oahu on Dec. 7 when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. He was thus present as a member of the naval forces at two of the most significant happenings of this war—the assault which precipitated the war, and the attack that marked the first American offensive on land in the Pacific.

LIEUT. JOHN DAVID BUSIEK was killed Aug. 12 in a plane crash near Phoenix, Ariz. Lieut. Busiek, who was formerly of Kansas City, is survived by his wife, the former MISS ANNE SIMRALL of Boonville also a graduate of the University.

Arthur Bassett Visits In Columbia, Sept. 30

In 1902 Arthur Bassett, prominent alumnus, went to the Philippines and began a thirty-nine-year career in the Orient.

Nineteen hundred and six found him in China as First District Attorney of the United States Court for China. On Sept. 30, 1942, he was once again in Columbia, visiting old friends and recalling college days.

R. B. Price of Columbia, an alumnus and schoolmate, entertained Mr. Bassett with a dinner at the Columbia Country Club.

Mr. Price, Frank G. Harris, W. W. (Bill) Garth, and Oak Hunter of Moberly, all schoolmates and fraternity brothers, attended the dinner where they discussed college pranks and foreign affairs with Mr. Bassett. E. S. Stephens, Frank Dearing, J. Sidney Rollins, and Bob Hill also attended.

Mr. Bassett related interesting stories of his three years in Mexico from 1910 to 1913; of his return to China in 1913; and of his service with the army in Peking and Tientsin in 1917. After the Armistice was signed he served as attache with the American Legation in Peking. In 1919 he returned to Shanghai where he lived until July, 1941.

At that time, Mr. Bassett returned to America with a vast and valuable store of knowledge regarding Eastern people and Eastern ways. Upon return his appointment as a special assistant to the Chairman of the Red Cross afforded the opportunity to utilize this knowledge of the East in aiding Americans interned in Japan, China, Australia, and the various islands of the Pacific.

Mr. Bassett warned that the war in the Pacific would be a difficult one, pointing out that distances were great and that supplies and men must be shipped by boat at great risk and with resulting delay and loss of time.

Widely known among Americans living in China, Mr. Bassett had long ago proved himself as gracious a host as he is a guest. He provided a splendid welcome for Mr. Bob Hill and Mrs. Hill when they visited Shanghai on their trip around the world in 1935.

University Enrollment Shows Loss of 812

Final enrollment figures for the University revealed that 4,338 students began classwork on the first day of school, Sept. 28. This represented a loss of 812 students as compared with last year's enrollment of 5,120.

Engineering and Business Public Administration were the only schools showing slight gains. The Graduate School lost heavily with only 149 enrolled as compared with 367 for the fall semester of last year.

Returning students found other changes wrought by a wartime world. The new dormitories at the University, completed over two years ago, now house the Navy's one thousand sailors who are taking courses in diesel engineering. Students were forced to seek lodging in rooming houses or in fraternities.

Perhaps this accounts for the bumper pledge classes at the University this year. Three hundred and fifty-six men were distributed between twenty-one social fraternities. The fifteen social sororities pledged a total of 211 women.

Students also returned to begin a new schedule which, for the first time, included a six-day week of classwork for all students. Each student was required to take two Saturday classes, at least one of them academic.

Campus organizations were also left without officers and directors due to draft boards, voluntary enlistment, and the zooming list of weddings.

The Savitar suffered most, losing editor Ted Burger to the Coast Guard. Assistant editor Joanne Boeshaar took time out to marry Lieut. Barrie Young, United States Army Air Corps. Carl Huffman, vice-president of Pan-Hellenic Council, was drafted during the summer, and the president of last year's Freshman Council has joined the Army. Jane Hugo, leader of the House President's Council, is also married.

The editors of the Shamrock, publication of the College of Agriculture, report, however, that they are going to publish seven issues instead of the usual five and that it will be enlarged to 32 pages. The first issue will go on news stands the middle of October.

The Student War Board will again function, planning entertainment for service men at Fort Wood near Rolla, and organizing and publicizing various campus drives to raise money for U. S. O. and Red Cross.

There were many individual changes that go to make school "not quite the same." Many old friends and familiar faces were not to be seen and there were vague rumors of "Joe" in Australia or "Bob" at Ft. Sill.

The scenery, however, remained essentially unchanged. Students charged the Library and Prof. Jesse Wrench to enroll, lined up in the basement of Jesse Hall to pay fees, and walked back and forth between the buildings in a drizzle of rain.

University Announces Concerts for 1942-'43

The University will offer two symphony orchestras, a violinist, and a tenor in this year's annual series of concerts beginning Nov. 12.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Goossens will play the first concert Nov. 12, followed by Jascha Heifetz, noted violinist, on Dec. 15. The St. Louis Symphony under the baton of Vladimir Golschmann will play its tenth annual concert on Dec. 23.

The only concert artist scheduled for the spring semester is Jan Peerce, tenor, who will sing April 12.

The University reduced concerts from five to four and consequently the price of season tickets to concert patrons this year is also reduced.

Student Jobs Are Plentiful This Year

Students at the University no longer have to wait several days or weeks to get a job. With the student employment bureaus confronted by an application shortage, most students are being placed the same day they request work.

Even though the National Youth Administration allotment is almost half of that last year, N. Y. A. jobs were available for every eligible student who applied. Miss Christine Hauschild, director of the Student Aid Service, said she believed the accelerated wartime program of the University caused applications to fall off.

"A good many of the students are carrying the maximum study load, and they just don't have time to work," she explained.

Campus Organizations Begin the New Year

Campus organizations have begun the year's work. Tryouts for "My Sister Eileen" are scheduled for Nov. 4 and 5 as plans get underway for the Workshop production of the current Broadway hit and popular movie. Other Workshop productions scheduled for this year are "Claudia," a Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, and the well-known and currently popular "Arsenic and Old Lace." Donovan Rhynsbarger, associate professor of speech, is director of Workshop.

The first torchlight parade of the year was held Oct. 2 before the Colorado-M. U. game. Coach Faurot addressed students assembled in Brewer Field House.

Freshmen in the University were entertained in Read Hall Sept. 25, with a "Meet Missouri" program. School songs were introduced by the University chorus and heads of campus organizations were trotted out to explain Missouri University to the new students. The program was concluded shortly before the annual Ice-breaker dance in Rothwell Gymnasium.

The weekly Friday coffee hour which was a popular Read Hall feature last year, has been resumed this year.

University Library Has 18th Century Collection

The University Library has acquired a collection of approximately 1000 titles, all eighteenth century American imprints of orations, sermons, and almanacs.

"While the collection is significant because it contains the speeches of such men as Edmund Burke, Nathaniel Emmons, Thomas Paine, and Jonathan Edwards," B. E. Powell, University Librarian said, "it is also valuable for the works of little known men whose speeches have not been included in present day standard reference collections."

Dr. John Cameron Gets Sigma Xi Grant-in-aid

Dr. John A. Cameron, associate professor of anatomy in the University, was announced as one of eighteen scientists in the United States to receive grants-in-aid totaling $2290, awarded by Sigma Xi, national society for the promotion of scientific research.

Dr. Cameron's study is of the action of higher respiratory centers. The grants were made to allow important research and studies to continue and to aid other projects of scientific importance.

"To Be or Not to Be That Is the Question"

The German Club, one of the oldest of the University's academic societies, is undecided as yet whether to function this year. Assistant Professor Herman Barnstoff, club president, stated recently that if enough students who enrolled in beginning and advanced German wish to become members, the club will resume meetings during October. The club won a name for the pre-Christmas dinners it stages as an annual part of Arts and Science Week at Missouri.

Conversation at the meetings is largely in German to help students master the language.

English Instructor In U. S. Diplomatic Service

Charles Eaton, teacher of English and creative writing at the University for the last two years, is now in Rio de Janeiro as vice-consul in the United States-diplomatic service.

Only 26 years old, he received his A.B. degree from the University of North Carolina. A book of poetry, "The Bright Plain," written by Mr. Eaton, will be released soon.

Alumni Write Regarding Amendment Number 1

As the University of Missouri stands at the head of the educational system of this great state, it is proper that its graduates be well informed about the problems of education throughout the state. They have a right and duty to know something of the origin and purpose of any amendment to the State Constitution which affects the education of the state.

Amendment No. 1, the St. Louis County School Amendment, is being sponsored by the St. Louis County Citizens' School Committee, many of whom are former students or graduates of the University of Missouri.

Some important factors concerning Amendment No. 1 are as follows: 1. It is merely an enabling act giving the citizens of the school districts in St. Louis County the authority to continue to vote the same local school tax levies which they have voted for about 25 years. 2. It applies only to St. Louis County. 3. It is an amendment to the State Constitution making it necessary for the entire state to vote on it. 4. It neither raises nor lowers taxes. 5. It will still be necessary for the various school districts in St. Louis County to pass any tax levies by a 2/3 majority, thus it does not destroy local initiative.

Briefly, the amendment will permit the people of St. Louis County to continue to levy sufficient taxes to support the school systems which they have developed over a period of years.

Why is an amendment of this nature necessary? Recent court decisions made the levying of certain school taxes invalid in the district in question although the voters of the district had voted the tax by a 2/3 majority. This decision has caused the other school districts in St. Louis County to be concerned about the validity of large portions of their local school levies. Therefore, Amendment No. 1 has been submitted to correct this situation which, if allowed to stand, would greatly handicap the schools in St. Louis County.

There are 67,372 school age children in St. Louis County, whose educational opportunities are seriously threatened. Additional families are moving to St. Louis County each week because of war industries, and the citizens of St. Louis County are trying to educate the children from these families also. They need the help of a favorable vote of the entire state on Amendment No. 1.

Signed,

WILLARD E. GOSLIN, Supt. of Schools, Webster Groves

GILES THEILMANN, Field Representative, St. Louis County Citizens' School Committee.

New J School Paper

Students of the School of Journalism now read a new monthly publication sponsored by the Journalism Students' Association. The new sheet is named "Press Time" and resembles a newspaper in make-up. Al Horowitz and Dan Bayless are the editors.

Mott Sends Greeting To Alumnus J. B. Powell

When J. B. Powell returned to the United States on the Gripsholm, Frank L. Mott, Dean of the School of Journalism, sent a greeting to the famous alumnus in behalf of the faculty and student body of the school.

"Heartly greetings and felicitations to you upon the happy occasion of your return to your native land."

"I have the honor and pleasure to convey these greetings from the student body, the faculty, and the alumni of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri. Your alma mater is proud of you and your achievements. We have followed your career with affectionate interest; and this letter is to tell you that we are glad that you are safely home again in the U. S. A."

Naval Training School Graduates Two Classes

The first class of sailors received ratings at the Naval Training School at the University on Oct. 7.

Graduating exercises were held in the University Auditorium and were preceded by a regimental review, led by the training school's newly-formed drum and bugle corps.

Francis E. Zearbaugh, 22-year-old trainee from Muncie, Ind., headed the list of graduates as honor man.

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell and President Frederick A. Middlebush were the principal speakers. Each graduate received a certificate of award from the University with his naval diploma. These were presented by Lieut. John Grotenrath, commanding officer of the Naval Training School.

"Yearbooks" for the sailors are being published and appear every eight weeks for each graduating class. They are patterned after a college annual, the booklet will contain pictures and write-ups of the blue-jackets' social and classroom life.

The second graduation exercises were curtailed because a large number of the graduates were quarantined for German measles.

Robert E. Lee Hill, director of alumni activities, delivered the commencement address on Oct. 23 and told the trainees that we will beat tyranny with a smile. "It will not be a smile of frivolity, but a smile of sincerity, courage, and determination," he said.

Richard Hatch of Big Springs, Tex., was honor man. His wife and two small children attended the graduating exercise.

Alumnus In U. S. N. R. Writes New School Song

Recently we received a fine gift from one of our alumni who is serving with the United States Navy. Lieut. (jg) Fred C. Akers has written a song "March On, Missouri" and after copy-righting both the words and the music, has donated the same to the Alumni Association of the University of Missouri.

Lieut. Akers is now serving overseas and we wish to commend him for his service to his country as well as his loyalty to and interest in his alma mater. On the opposite page is a copy of "March On, Missouri." We hope that it attains the popularity it deserves.

MARCH ON, MISSOURI!

HE-ROES SO BRAVE AND BOLD. MISSOURI! RAH! RAH! MARCH ON! MIS-SOUR-I TO YOUR COL-ORS LOY-AL WE'LL EV-ER

BE YOU WILL DE-FEND US AND YOU WILL SEND US MARCH-ING TO VICT-O - RY!

Vol. II

Detailed description: This is a handwritten musical score for a march. It features a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The key signature has one sharp (F#), and the time signature is 4/4. The score is divided into several systems. The first system shows the beginning of the piece with the title 'MARCH ON! MIS-SOUR-I'. The second system contains the lyrics 'SHOW YOUR COL-ORS FIGHT FOR THE BLACK AND GOLD ECH-OES WILL RING THE GLO-RY OF YOUR'. The third system continues with 'HE-ROES SO BRAVE AND BOLD. MISSOURI! RAH! RAH! MARCH ON! MIS-SOUR-I TO YOUR COL-ORS LOY-AL WE'LL EV-ER'. The fourth system concludes with 'BE YOU WILL DE-FEND US AND YOU WILL SEND US MARCH-ING TO VICT-O - RY!'. The piano accompaniment consists of chords and melodic lines in both hands, with some dynamic markings like '>' and 'f'. The score ends with a double bar line and the text 'Vol. II' written vertically.

Under the Stars and Stripes

One of our alumni has come through with a bit of advice for "married men who are joining up with the armed forces." CHARLES COX writes in the Atchison County Mail, "If the hard-boiled top sergeant yells, 'Button your coat,' don't forget and answer 'Yes, dear,' or it'll be fatal."

As usual there is plenty of activity "under the stars and stripes." Recently, LIEUT. MURLIN P. MERRYMAN, formerly of Rapid City, S. D., and a graduate, was sent to the Enid, Okla. Army Flying School where he is attached to the School hospital. He was a physician in private life and is a member of Phi Beta Pi, honorary medical fraternity.

WILLIAM BUY BENNETT graduated as honor man of his company at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Ill. He is a former student of around 1930.

JOSEPH FOLK BISHOP, formerly of Columbia, was graduated Aug. 31 from the Training Station at Great Lakes. He, too, was honor man of his company and is a former student of 1925-29.

LIEUT. JUDSON S. CORBIN is now stationed at Jefferson Barracks near St. Louis.

LIEUT. AND MRS. CORLISS L. JONES visited in Columbia during August. Mrs. Jones is the former MISS THELMA SUGGETT of Columbia, B. J. '32. They are now in Rhode Island.

Miss Thelma Loftin, alumna, and PVT. BAYLISS CORBETT, alumnus, were married Sept. 2 at Brownwood, Tex. Pvt. Corbett, B. J. '41, is stationed at Camp Bowie near Brownwood.

LIEUT. GENE C. FELLOWS of Columbia, recently received his commission as a bombardier at Midland Field, Tex. Gene was already a lieutenant before taking the course. He received his A.B. at Mizzou and took four years of R.O.T.C.

HOWARD LANG, JR., A.B. '34, LL.B. and M.A. '36, has received his commission as an ensign in the navy and reported to Ft. Schuyler, N. Y., on Oct. 22 for indoctrination. He was a prominent Columbia lawyer before joining the armed forces.

CAPT. LAWRENCE "LARRY" SMARR, who is now believed to be in the hands of the Japanese since the fall of Bataan, was promoted to the rank of major just before the peninsula was evacuated. "Larry" was a photographer for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch before his induction into the army.

Three former University students were commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Air forces on Sept. 24 at Midland, Tex. All are bombardiers. LIEUT. RUSSELL L. RAU, Columbia; LIEUT. RICHARD M. SCHARFF, St. Louis; and LIEUT. JOHN W. AUFDERHEIDE of Owensville, were the alumni receiving wings.

JOHN ROBERT TULL, B.S. in P.A. and LL.B., has enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve as a private first class, and left during October for officer's training at Quantica, Va.

COMMUNICATIONS

... directing arm of combat

"Get the message through!" That's the tradition of the men who wear this insignia. Of the 18,000 Bell System people now in the armed forces, nearly 4,500 are with the Signal Corps. Young men can serve their country and obtain specialized training in communications in this great branch of the Army.

...and Western Electric equipment goes to every battle front

Army planes fly and fight with Western Electric radio command sets, which keep the planes of a squadron in contact with each other and with the ground forces.

Wherever American soldiers fight in tanks, they get their orders over Western Electric radio sets—vital in coordinating today's mechanized warfare.

Observers report front-line action to Army commanders over Western Electric field telephones, field wire, field switchboards.

A major source for this specialized equipment is Western Electric—for 60 years manufacturer for the Bell System—one industry with over 70,000 skilled men and women dedicated to "keep 'em in contact."

Missouri Bar Meeting Held In Columbia

Members of the Missouri Bar Association gathered in Columbia on Sept. 24 and stayed until Sept. 26 participating in the activities of the Sixty-second Annual meeting of the Association.

Many members of the Association are University alumni and these alumni took an active part in planning the convention.

JOHN RHODES, retiring president, presided at several of the sessions and on Friday, Sept. 25, delivered the president's annual address to the convention. This year it was entitled "The Challenge to the Bar and the Courts of Missouri."

Judge Hugo L. Black, United States Supreme Court Justice, the Honorable Paul V. McNutt, head of the War Manpower Commission, and George M. Morris, president of the American Bar Association, were among the banquet speakers.

MR. AND MRS. BOYLE G. CLARK of Columbia, entertained with a reception for Justice Black and Mrs. Black at their new and spacious home.

MR. RHODES, the retiring president, entertained with a breakfast for the past presidents of the Missouri Bar Association on Saturday, Sept. 26, at the Tiger Hotel.

The Missouri Chapter of the Order of the Coif initiated Justice Black into the organization as an honorary member on Friday afternoon. At noon of the same day, the Law Alumni Association held its annual luncheon. PAUL KOONTZ of Kansas City, first vice-president, presided.

The Association concluded its three-day session with the unanimous election of ROYLAND M. ("PAT") O'BRYEN of St. Louis, as president. He was graduated in 1925. HARRY CARSTARPHEN, Hannibal, ARCH B. DAVIS, Chillicothe, and LON S. HAYMES, Springfield, were unanimously re-elected vice-presidents.

The 1890's

S. F. CRECELIUS, Corpus Christi, Tex., recently subscribed to the Alumnus. He says "our dun alone is worth the price" and we are very grateful indeed for such encouragement.

CHARLES PARSON SNELL, LL.B. '96, recently sent us a subscription. Mr. Snell lives at 27 Garcia Ave., San Francisco, Calif.

Dr. GAIL D. ALLEE, B.S. '96, of Wadsworth, Kans., also sent a subscription.

"Missouri Notes" in the Kansas City Star was recently devoted to one of our most loyal and well-known alumni, OAK HUNTER, of Moberly. "If you ever went to the University of Missouri," read the article, "and attended any of the alumni meetings, or if you ever were a resident of Northwest Missouri, then you know Oak Hunter. One just can't escape knowing him, even if one tried, and certainly no one would, because his personality inspires confidence and friendship. Named Silas Oakley when he was born in Middle Grove, Mo., he became "Oak" when he left the village to go to school. His public career started when he played football with M. U. in 1898 and 1899. In those days and for several years afterward he was easily identified by his weight. He weighed around 300 pounds when he played football, and once a sports writer called him a "stationary guard" which Oak didn't like a bit. After his graduation from M. U. he began in 1900, a law partnership in Moberly with A. B. Chamler. This partnership still exists and the firm is outstanding in the Middle West. Because of his popularity and acquaintanceship it was impossible for Hunter to avoid going into politics. He served in various Moberly offices, was circuit clerk of Randolph County, city attorney of Moberly, and assistant prosecuting attorney of the county." The article sums up Mr. Hunter's love of good food, a practical joke, and political meetings.

During August, ROY H. PINKLEY, president of the Milwaukee Transport Company, celebrated forty years in field of public utilities. Mr. Pinkley, B.S. in E.E. '09, is also Milwaukee administrator for the office of defense transportation.

The early 1900's

RAYMOND G. BARNETT, a student in 1902, recently sent a subscription to the Alumnus. Many thanks. In July he was appointed Chief Counsel for the State Highway Department.

J. A. HAMMACK, B.S. in C.E. '04, recently sent us a subscription. In July he began his twenty-third year with the State Road Department of Florida. He says he is always glad to see a Missouri Alumnus.

DEAN AND MRS. W. G. BEK of Grand Forks, North Dakota, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ellen Heatherly Bek, to Albert G. Selke. Dean Bek received his A.B. in '03, and M.A. in '05.

HARLEY HOWE, B.S. in Ed. '06, recently recalled some interesting experiments in a letter to us. "I was on campus intermittently in the years of 1899 and 1908. Moberly seemed quite a city to me then, when I used to make the trip from Linneus to Columbia, changing trains at Moberly (and also at Macon and Centralia) and taking the whole night to make 120 miles."

LOUIS J. SCHRENK, B.S. in M.E. '06, sent us some interesting clippings regarding J. B. Powell which we used in a previous issue. We appreciate the thoughtfulness and urge other alumni to send us timely and interesting items regarding other alumni at any and all times.

OSCAR H. SCHMIDT, B.S. in C.E. '07, sends his subscription to the Alumnus. He says, "since my two sons have graduated, I do not get to Columbia as often as I would like. I feel that I need the Alumnus more than ever now."

O. E. REED, B.S. in Ag. '08, M.S. '10, recently sent us a copy of the 1942 yearbook of agriculture entitled "Keeping Livestock Healthy." It is now in the University Library. It is a fine volume, the result of years of research and study.

WALTER G. SMAUDER, B.S. in E.E. '09, writes that his new address is c/o Seaboard Terminal and Refrigeration Company, 99 Hudson Street, New York City.

Mrs. B. F. Stammerjohn of Boonville, Mo., sends her subscription to the Alumnus. Many thanks.

AUBREY G. ALEXANDER, LL.B. '11, was recently given a fine write-up in the Ft. Worth papers. Aubrey, besides being an outstanding lawyer, is also commander of the civilian protection branch of local defense. He was a hero in two bloody World War I battles and also a football star at the University of Missouri.

WALTER HALE, B.S. in Ag. '12, writes that his eldest boy is in the naval reserve. Dick, is attending Rutgers University and is a member of the R. O. T. C.

GLENN BABB, B.J. '15, is one of the Associated Press correspondents who collaborated with Oliver Gramlin in writing "Free Men are Fighting" a dramatic narrative of World War II. Babb has been cable news editor of the Associated Press in New York since 1936. He began his first-hand study of the Far East as a reporter on the Japan Advertiser in Tokyo in 1915 and later became managing editor. He is a recognized authority on the Far East. His early newspaper experience was on the St. Joseph Gazette and the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard.

HITE SKINKER, JR., A.B. '14, LL.B. '16, has a son, William G., who entered the University of Missouri this fall. Hite's father, C. H., Sr., graduated in '55.

ARNOT M. FINLEY, B.S. in E.E. '16, writes that he is now working in Kansas City and hopes to get to see his usual quota of football games.

DR. LLOYD J. THOMPSON, A.B. and Cert. in Med. '17, sent us his subscription to the Alumnus. His daughter, Nancy, is now attending the University.

Mrs. C. F. Dawson, the former MARY ROBERTSON, A.B. '17, sent her subscription recently. She is now living in Kansas City.

Wartime readjustments . . . #1

THE EASBYS ENJOYED ALL THE DISCOMFORTS OF VACATION — RIGHT IN THEIR OWN BACK YARD

WAR calls for all kinds of family adjustments — some amusing, some not. But they do bring a new sense of values.

Most families are learning to know each other better—to live more simply—to do without little luxuries in order to take care of big necessities.

That usually means War Bonds first—then life insurance. Both are certain investments in an uncertain world. Both help check inflation. Both boost the war effort, for a good part of each insurance premium goes into Government securities.

Families need the protection of life insurance today more than ever before. No other purchase provides so much protection for so few dollars. Let one of our Career Underwriters show you how New England Mutual's contract helps to finance itself through times when premium payments may be more difficult than usual.

Here are some of the advantages of a New England Mutual contract

1. DIVIDENDS begin at the end of the first year.
2. CASH VALUES begin at the end of the second year.
3. A PREMIUM LOAN is available toward payment of the second annual premium.
4. CONVERSION to Retirement Income or higher premium plans requires the payment of difference in reserves only.

Here's help with your adjustments!

It's easy to agree that family readjustments must be made in time of war. But it's not always so easy to make them as Mr. Williams' cartoons suggest.

You can count on some real help, however, from any of the men listed below. They're alumni of your college and they talk your language. They are also trained representatives of the First Mutual Life Insurance Company Chartered in America.

Out of their experience you'll get practical, constructive suggestions. They'll help you make the most of your limited life insurance dollars—help you protect your present policies with premium loans if necessary.

Check your protection now when you need it most. If none of these men is near you, you can get similar service at the New England Mutual office in your city.

C. W. DIGGES, JR., '40,
Columbia

We're making readjustments, too. With some 15% of our field force now in military service, we have real opportunities for able men in several cities.

If you're interested in a satisfying career where you can be your own boss—and if your draft status is reasonably assured—we'd like to talk things over. Or perhaps you have a friend who might appreciate the tip.

In either case, just write to Wm. Eugene Hays (Stanford '26), 501 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., for information. There's no obligation, of course.

Bob 'n' Bette

Columbia. Mr. Tate has recently joined the faculty of the College of Engineering at the University.

LESTER E. FINLEY, B.J. '30, M.A. '40, who for the last five years has been a member of the faculty of the School of Journalism, has recently joined the Red Cross as Assistant Director of public information for the midwestern area.

MRS. JEWELL ROSS DAVIS, M.A. '40, is now director of public relations at Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville. She is president of the Missouri Women's Press Club. For the past seven years she has been publicity secretary of Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg.

Miss Doris Woodley of Texas and LIEUT. CHARLES MOSER, '40, were married Oct. 25. Lieut. Moser is now an instructor in the navigation school of the United States Army Air Force at Hondo, Tex.

HARRY BELTZIG, B.S. in Ed. '40, recently sent his subscription to the Alumnus. Many thanks. Harry is now in the Personnel department of the General Motors Corporation in Indianapolis, Ind.

MISS MARY CHRISTINE McCOMAS, B.S. '41, and LIEUT. NATHAN ROITMAN, M.A. '38, were married Aug. 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bryant Deaderick of St. Louis have announced the engagement of their daughter, DORIS DEADERICK, senior in the School of Journalism, to LIEUT. ROBERT PAUL SCHROEDER, B.J. '41, and who is now in the United States Marine Air Corps. Lieut. Schroeder is now stationed at Miami, Fla.

MISS PAULINE HAMRA, B.S. in Ed. '41, asks that we change her address to 528 Abby, Alton, Ill.

MRS. LOIS HEDRICK WILLEM, B.J. '41, became Mrs. Willem on July 2 in Walter Reed Chapel in Washington.

JANE ESPY, A.B. '41, B.S. in Ed. '41, sends her subscription to the Alumnus. Many thanks.

JAMES F. GRESSLER, B.S. in Ed. '41, is now sports editor of the Groversville, (N. Y.) Morning Herald. He recently sent his subscription to the Alumnus. Many thanks.

ERHART PAUL KRUSE, B.S. in Ag. '41, is now employed by the Glenn Martin Aircraft Company in Baltimore, Md. He recently sent his subscription to the Alumnus.

CLIFFORD CLINTON SUMMERS, A.B. '41, is now Lieut. Summers serving at Camp Wolters, Tex. While in school he was a member of Blue Key and Pershing Rifles.

JAMES POWELL BROWN, A.B. '42, sends his subscription to the Alumnus. Many thanks.

RUTH GMEINER, B.J. '41, 3829 N. Up-land, Arlington, Va., sends her subscription to the Alumnus and asks for the addresses of two friends.

WILLARD R. BOLTON, B.S. in C.E. '42, formerly of Monett, is now working on the production of the Curtiss Hordler bombers and Sengull scouting planes for the U. S. Navy in the engineering department of the Columbus, O., plant of Curtiss-Wright.

MISS MARIAN WARD GREENE, B.J. '42, has recently become flight mechanic at the Bell Aircraft Company in Niagara Falls, N. Y. Miss Greene is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary professional Journalism sorority. She was formerly in the advertising department of the Citizen-Advertiser in Auburn, N. Y.

LIEUT. ERNEST B. HUETER, B.J. '42, was commended recently for courageous action in maneuvers with a division of the Engineers Amphibian Regiment. The action took place in an unidentified sound off the coast of Massachusetts. Smoke pots in a small boat near Hueter's caught fire and the crew jumped overboard. Hueter saw that they were rescued, then, without regard to his own safety, put out the fire and stopped the boat.

Our Sympathy to Alumnus E. Kemper Carter

E. Kemper Carter, B.S. in C.E. '12, and his wife, the former MISS ANNA CURRY, had one child, a son, E. Kemper, Jr. On Sept. 8, E. Kemper, Jr. died. We extend our deepest sympathy.

Odds and Ends

Loney Bowman, an alumnus and publisher of the King City Tri-County News, gets off some pretty good ones in his weekly column. We've heard some pretty putrid war slogans and scrap drive slogans, but we'll have to admit that Loney has one that is pretty good. It is: "No scrap—no steel, and vice versa." It will take you a while to figure it out—but it's worth it.

Gene Sullivan, attorney of Marengo, Ia., has written a new Missouri State Song. Here it is:

On mules we find two legs behind,
And two we find before,
We stand behind, before we find
What the two behind be for.
When we're behind the two behind,
We find what these be for.
So stand before the two behind
And behind the two before.

When R. W. Ginsburg of Osceola, Mo., was inducted into the army at Ft. Leavenworth, it was because he drafted himself. He is chairman of the St. Clair County Draft Board. "I just wanted to get in," he explained. He served eighteen months and sixteen of them overseas as a sergeant in World War I.

Carl E. Bolte, A.B. '19, has had honor and fortune heaped upon him of late. He has been appointed to serve on Rotary International's Extension Committee for the United States by Fernando Carbajal of Lima, Peru, president of that organization. As a member of this committee, Mr. Bolte will take an active part in planning and supervising the extension of Rotary in the United States. Besides this, Mr. Bolte is president of the Missouri Chamber of Commerce and has been named first assistant to Lou E. Holland, chairman of the Small War Plants Corporation in Washington. He assumed his new duties there Sept. 7. Later, Mr. Bolte is to go to England to study methods used there in utilizing small plants and is to report back to Holland in Washington. Upon receiving his appointment, Mr. Bolte resigned the presidency of the state chamber of commerce, as well as the chairmanship of the Saline County defense council and rationing board. He has taken a leave of absence from the Slater Mill & Elevator Company, of which he was sales manager. His wife and two children have joined him in Washington, D. C.

Virginia Swain, B.J. '23, has recently published "The Dollar Gold Piece" a novel of early Kansas City. After graduation from the University, Miss Swain was employed by the Des Moines News,

Charles Wiggins, former president of the New York Alumni Association, was drowned in May. Ward Bloomer, the vice-president, is now in Washington, D. C. The members have gotten together and appointed new officers to finish out the year. They are:

James Wright Brown, Jr., publisher of Editor & Publisher, has agreed to serve as president for the remainder of this year and all of next year.

Janice Rentchler is secretary.
 James Brown is to appoint a vice-president.

Mrs. Walter Williams, widow of the late Dean Walter Williams of the School of Journalism, has been appointed director of Journalism and public relations at the Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, Tex. Mrs. Williams has taught Journalism at the University of Missouri, the University of Texas, and Yenching University at Peiping, China, and has been a free lance magazine writer and radio writer.

Miss Mary Estill, a former student in the University, has been getting a lot of publicity lately. The following excerpt is taken from an article about Miss Estill which appeared in a New York paper.

"A midwestern farm miss, too tall to be one of the glamour girls of the sky, an airline hostess, is now making history in her company by being its first feminine radio operator. The pioneer is Mary Estill and her low-pitched voice, precise and unburied, goes out over the airways from the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., radio office at La Guardia Field, Queens, to pilots aloft in their ships.

"She's been on her job since last month and indications are the masculine fliers have gotten over their surprise at hearing a dulcet voice say 'Roger' (That's the Okay-I-understand-you byword) and other word-saving phrases that help keep the big ships moving.

"To get her radio post, Miss Estill, a pretty brunette, first had to attend a radio school and earn a third class radio telephone operator's permit. She attended school for that out in Kansas City.

"Behind her desire to land a job, with an airline is several years' devotion to flying. She learned to fly out west, holds a private pilot's license and went so far as to buy a small plane.

"The way things are happening in the war, I'm hoping some day to become a co-pilot," she confesses. "A co-pilot, second in command on an airliner, does most of the paper work like radio, navigation and figuring fuel consumption," she said.

"Miss Estill, who has been associated with the airline for more than a year, is now giving a helping hand to other TWA workers studying to become radio operators, a new woman's field because of the war shortage of men. The tall western gal, who couldn't step into a hostess' shoes, has shown that women can handle the radio job."

The St. Louis Alumni Association of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, publishes a neat sheet going to members which is called "The Newscaster." This publication has all the advantages of a small private newspaper and a job-register besides—to help dissatisfied alumni find the job they will like better.

William W. Dalton, an alumnus, was recently named adjutant to the chief of transportation, Air Service Command, Army Air Force, Wright Field.

W. J. (Jack) Young, former publicity director for the University, left for Quonset, R. I., on Oct. 20. After an intensive training course, chances are that he will be stationed in Chicago for a short time.

Richard Tindall, B.J. '11, was recently made a Brigadier-General in the United States Army. During World War I, he was a captain overseas. His son, Lieut. Richard Gentry Tindall, Jr., was graduated from the United States Military Academy and is now stationed at Camp Murphy, Fla.

Our first alumna to join the WAVES (at least, so we think) is Miss Kathryn Wiss of St. Louis. She was sworn into the Navy on Aug. 31 and after specialized training will receive an ensign's commission.

Five more members of the University faculty have accepted commissions in the armed forces and left to serve their country. They are: Dr. R. A. Schroeder, assistant professor of horticulture, who joined Oct. 3 as a nutritionist in the Medical Corps. He holds three degrees from the University. Dr. David F. Gorelick, instructor in pathology in the School of Medicine, has received a lieutenant's commission in the Medical Corps. He is attached to the St. Louis University hospital unit which is subject to immediate call. He received two degrees from the University. Lieut. Willoughby H. Johnson, an instructor in English, is now

★ A colorful between halves program, dedicated to the University Alumni in the armed forces, has been planned by an able committee headed by Col. A. McIntyre, head of the University R.O.T.C.

★ Participating will be the Tiger Batteries, Students in the Naval Diesel Engineering School, and the Missouri University Band. Flags of all the allied nations will be displayed on the field and there will be brief addresses by prominent guests and administrative officials present at the Missouri-Kansas game.

★ The first Missouri-K.U. game was played in 1891, since that time they have won the tom-tom 24 times, we have won it 19 times, and there have been 13 ties. This year, we hope, will bring the M.U. total to 20.

To the Alumni:

Due to the war emergency and because of transportation facilities, we are not urging you to return to the campus for the reunion or the other activities scheduled for the two-day period. But, if you are in Columbia, we extend a cordial invitation to you to attend a get-together and to participate in the events of the day.

We want to extend a cordial invitation to servicemen in the vicinity, on furlough or on active duty near Columbia, to attend the Homecoming celebration and to participate in the activities whether they are alumni or not.

Stewart, associate professor of orthopedic surgery at the University, has been commissioned a major and ordered to report to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. Dr. N. R. Ziegler, associate professor of bacteriology in the University, received a commission as captain in the medical corps and is now stationed at O'Reilly General Hospital in Springfield.

Stop us if you've heard this one. It seems that Lieut. James McAttee in full dress naval uniform went to see the manager of a burlesque show in Kansas City about a float for a navy-day parade. He was waiting in the lobby with a far-away look in his eye when an irate customer called loudly, "Quit dreamin', usher, and tell me when the last show starts!"

Electrical Workers Are Production Soldiers

Like army engineers, the job of these "production soldiers" is to keep the supply lines intact; to carry vital electric power to war productions industries.

Before a wheel can turn, or a rivet be "set," factories must have an adequate supply of this "life blood" of industry . . . because power is as vital to industry as is the blood in your veins.

Today America has more electric power than Japan, Germany and Italy combined. It's a production war, and the power to produce will win.

That's why these employees, 2,200 of them, realize their responsibility as first line "production soldiers." They are grimly determined to furnish plenty of electric power, 24 hours a day, so that no war production will ever be delayed.

TRANSPORTATION DEMANDS OF WAR TIME INCREASE THE NEED FOR YOUR COOPERATION

Since December 7, Uncle Sam has had the right-of-way on the Missouri Pacific Lines. War traffic—the movement of men and materials essential to Victory—has first call on our equipment, our operating skill. But, thanks to extensive improvements made during the last score of years, to the increased efficiency of Missouri Pacific Lines employes and to the hearty and understanding cooperation of shippers and travelers we have been able also to maintain good service for civilian patrons.

Now, as the war-time load grows, the need for still greater cooperation becomes more and more urgent. This is asked for in the belief that you understand the difficulties we face in endeavoring to maintain normal service in abnormal times, and that you understand and heartily approve of our policy of placing Uncle Sam's transportation requirements above all else.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP TO "KEEP 'EM ROLLING"

IF YOU ARE A SHIPPER or a Receiver of Freight shipments, you can help by loading all cars to capacity, by loading and unloading them promptly, by not asking for cars in advance of actual loading time and by helping to keep freight equipment working — not waiting.

IF YOU ARE A TRAVELER you can help by trying to arrange to begin or end your journey on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, instead of on other days when travel is exceptionally heavy. You can help by buying round-trip tickets and as far in advance of train departure time as possible, by making your sleeping-car reservations in advance and by cancelling immediately if your plans are altered. You can help by checking all luggage you do not need on the train, by utilizing a minimum amount of time in the dining-car and by being understanding of our difficulties in trying to provide an unprecedented number of travelers with adequate and satisfactory service.

AND LAST BUT BY NO MEANS LEAST, you can be helpful if you will tell us — any Missouri Pacific Lines employe — how we can best carry out our earnest desire to serve you.

Chief of Army Transportation Says Railroads are Meeting Situation Satisfactorily...

Tire and gasoline rationing have compelled the nation to rely more heavily on rail transportation for land movement. Thus, in addition to the increased load to be expected in war, the problems of the railroads have been greatly increased.

As you well know, in instances, ships are unloaded at Ports to escape the submarine menace, freight being transferred to railroads. The increased necessity of hauling ore on the Great Lakes by vessels that ordinarily might in part have transported wheat, the supply of coal to New England and other major industrial areas, the transfer of lumber and war materials to factory and then to depots and camps, and the incessant moving of military personnel have skyrocketed the difficulties of the railroads. Years of increased efficiency in operation of the railroads, coupled with the patriotic desire to render a National service, has enabled the railroads to meet this situation most satisfactorily.

I wish to express to the Association of American Railroads through you my appreciation of the part they are executing in our National effort. The railroads of our country have shown once again that they are anxious to cooperate.

From letter by Brigadier General C. P. Gross, Chief of Transportation Service, United States Army, to J. J. Pelly, President Association of American Railroads.
