

Author

Ignotofsky, Rachel

Illustrator

Illustrated by the author

Reviewer

Shan Martinez

Pages

Unpaged

Price

$19.99

ISBN

978-0-593-17652-8

Publisher & Date

Crown, 2024

Classification

Nonfiction (598)

Grade Level

2-5

**

Book Review:
WHAT'S INSIDE A
BIRD'S NEST?: AND
OTHER QUESTIONS
ABOUT NATURE & LIFE CYCLES

This book is all about birds! The author and illustrator created a marvelous book. Each opening is full of birds in their natural habitat with a simple narrative that younger and older readers will enjoy. Beginning with descriptions of different kinds of nests and then moving on to eggs, the text will enable readers to learn something new with each page. Some birds sing a complicated song to attract a mate; others do a dance. Some birds pair for the moment, while most pair for the mating season. Hatchling, nestling, and fledgling are all names for baby birds at different stages of development. This book offers a lot of images to look at and a lot of information about birds to process. Readers will enjoy this book!

