

Auxiliary Gift to Hospital - - - $1 Million

The largest gift ever recorded nationally from a hospital auxiliary — $1 million, was announced by Mrs. Stanley M. Cohen, retiring president, and Mrs. Norman Drey, newly-installed president, at the Auxiliary Annual Spring Meeting.

Edward B. Greensfelder, president of the Hospital, commented upon accepting the gift, "The Auxiliary has provided major financial and supportive service to the Hospital and its patients from the time it was founded in 1952. This magnificent gift for our expansion program is further evidence of their dedication and belief in the Hospital's goal to promote better medical care for the entire St. Louis community."

For the past sixteen years the Hospital Auxiliary has occupied a unique and essential position in the Hospital family. As hospitals become larger and more comprehensive in scope of service, the need for an active auxiliary has increased proportionately.

The 3,000 member Auxiliary, the largest in the state of Missouri, provides financial support to numerous areas of the Hospital. These include the Hospital's celebrated 16-bed Medical Intensive Care Unit; the Department of Otolaryngology's programs in Audiology and Speech Pathology for sound booths and specialized equipment; a pocket paging system for interns and residents so they can be reached at any time for immediate patient care; an entire Surgical Research Floor in the nine story Yalem Research Building; and redecoration of the Moses Shoenberg Memorial School of Nursing.

The Coffee Shop, Gift Gallery and Clover Garden are given financial support as well as volunteer service as a comfort and convenience service for patient visitors and employees. Equipment is provided for the nurseries and obstetrical division from proceeds received from the Baby First-Foto service.

Also, the Auxiliary sponsors patient parties; distributes puppets to all pediatric patients; provides emergency nursing funds for indigent patients from their Life Membership Endowment; and sponsors the Tribute Fund which provides research support and appliances for needy patients.

Over 400 volunteers from the Auxiliary donate more than 56,000 hours as another service to the Hospital each year.

Reach to Recovery Volunteer Program Instituted at Hospital

Mrs. J. K. Lasser, president of the national organization Reach to Recovery, demonstrates exercise equipment.

Today Reach to Recovery has grown to 300 chapters in the United States, with 37 foreign countries receiving help. This rapid growth is explained by Mrs. Lasser's energy and determination to alleviate the suffering and fear of the loss of femininity that accompanies the operation. It is estimated that there are 63,000 women who undergo such operations every year.

Prior to making visits, at the request of the patient's surgeon, the volunteers are thoroughly screened and trained. Their personal experience and recovery is their primary comfort for the new patient—they become living proof that the operation is only a temporary setback.

Mrs. Helen W. Ross of Shaker Heights, Ohio, a volunteer instructor, has made several visits to the Hospital recently to organize the local chapter which will be under the guidance of Mrs. Gunter Schmidt of the Auxiliary. For further information about the program, call Mrs. Schmidt, V0-3-4450.

The Auxiliary has organized a new volunteer program to help dispel the fears of women who have undergone breast surgery. The program, part of a national organization known as Reach to Recovery, is staffed only by women who have undergone such an operation, called a radical mastectomy.

The program was initiated 15 years ago by Mrs. J. K. Lasser, now national president of the organization. Mrs. Lasser, who was in St. Louis to address the Jewish Hospital Chapter on May 5, supported the program for 12 years with the Fund provided by her husband from his business, and for the past three years has operated the ever-expanding program through grants and contributions from friends.

Dr. Jamison is Markle Scholar

Rex L. Jamison, M.D., Director Renal Division, Department of Medicine and assistant Professor of Medicine, Washington University School of Medicine is one of 25 medical scientists who have been named Markle scholars by the

R. L. Jamison, M.D.

John and Mary Markle Foundation.

Dr. Jamison was among 80 candidates nominated for the award of the New York-based Foundation. This award carries with it a grant of $30,000 paid at the rate of $6,000 a year over five years to the medical school where he teaches. The money is used to supplement salary, aid research or otherwise develop an awardee as teacher, researcher or administrator.

Dr. Jamison is also the recipient of a $34,000 Career Development Award from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for "Studies on Micropunctures on the Mammalian Renal Medulla." The aim of this work is to investigate the mechanism of the conservation of water of the kidney. This type of research began in Europe where Dr. Jamison became interested in 1951 when working with a European physiologist. In the United States similar research is being done in Chapel Hill, North Carolina and New York City.

$22,000 for Federation Drive

Hospital Federation Drive Chairmen, Armand F. Jaquier and Ernestine Scott prepare to distribute bread which has the 1969 slogan.

Armand F. Jaquier, Chairman of the Jewish Federation Fund Drive, has announced over-the-top contributions of more than $22,000 for the 1969 Campaign. This is $10,000 over the $12,000 goal.

The Fund Drive began April 14 with a "Kick-Off" meeting for department heads, with Mrs. Ernestine Scott, supervisor in Food Services, serving as co-chairman for the 1969 drive. She reported that the Department of Nursing alone had pledged and collected more than $3,000 from its personnel, and was very pleased with the donations from all departments. She concluded, "I only wish that those who worked so hard could be acknowledged personally for their efforts."

Mr. Jaquier, director of Building Services, said, "Employees have contributed generously in giving one hour's pay times six, allowing the hospital to far surpass its goal of $12,000 for this year. Department heads serving as team captains and the cooperation of many others did much to make this possible."

Miss Barbara Levy of the Public Relations Department served as Federation Drive secretary for the Hospital.

The income from the Federation is used to partially defray costs of providing care for needy patients and to support the medical and surgical teaching programs, the Chronic Disease Division, Aaron Waldheim Clinics, Department of Psychiatry and the Home Care Division.

Mr. Patz attended the 12th annual meeting of the American College of Hospital Administrators in Chicago, March 6-8.

Mrs. Sondra Gann, supervisor (2nd from right) is instructing Mrs. Jane Williams, evening nursing supervisor in the finer points of operating the Hospital switchboard. Other switchboard operators on duty are Pat Wild (next to Mrs. Gann), and Miss Lois Neal, Neighborhood Youth Corps Worker.

Miss Mary Grace Michael sorts the volume of daily mail which is routed to departments and patients.

Mrs. Fanny Finkelstein checks the patient information index to answer a telephone inquiry.

The Hospital's Direct Line of Communications

"A lack of communications is not our problem," smiled Mrs. Sondra Gann, Communications Supervisor, who is in charge of the mail room, switchboards, and the information desk.

"We have 22 employees in communications," she explains, "fulfilling more tasks than one would expect."

"For instance, the information desk, which is handled by Mrs. Mary Kearney, has an average of 64 inquiries per hour. The information desk clerk also marks the 'condition reports' on a patient card index and, in addition, routes patients' mail. We consider ourselves lucky when we have an Auxiliary volunteer to help out," says amicable Sondra.

Mailroom

In discussing the mail room, Sondra says, "One day we took a mail count, just to get an idea what the average mail load is. Including incoming and outgoing mail there were 4500 pieces. It is not unusual for one department alone to bring us 5000 envelopes to be mailed."

Two mail room clerks—Miss Mary Grace Michael and Mrs. Rosemary

Jackson—sort and deliver incoming mail twice daily as well as deliver mail addressed to patients to various nursing stations in the building.

Mail room clerks also operate the addressograph for all departments; deliver admission sheets and operating room schedules to nursing stations; handle telephone requisitions, and keep records of the postage due account with the post office as well as the permit mail."

Sondra has been with the Hospital since January, 1968 and looks back on a 20-year career which has always centered around the communications field. "Hospital switchboard operators must necessarily be more diplomatic than any other, I am sure," thinks Sondra, "because we have a public service to perform, whereas in industry there is not always that element."

Besides her regular duties, one of her current jobs is a special pilot endeavor to train nursing supervisors as P.B.X. operators, as an emergency measure. "Since they are already familiar with Hospital nursing stations, physicians, and general Hospital procedures, it makes my task much easier," she explains, "whereas normally an operator would have to be trained eight weeks at the telephone company.

Switchboard

"Our switchboard is controlled by four operators and each girl takes care of 16 lines. The 'message center' operator can put her finger on the time a physician enters and leaves the building. In case of urgency she can page the nursing stations or have a doctor's assigned number light on special panels throughout the building to contact him."

The flashing numbers, displayed at key areas in the Hospital corridors, are color-coded with white for visiting doctors and green for house staff.

During 1968 there were 286,000 messages received for physicians alone.

"There are 86 'beepers'—otherwise known as Multitone pocket radio receivers—which are carried by members of the house staff and designated Hospital personnel." Sondra keeps a set of tiny jewelers' tools handy since she is sometimes called upon to replace the small radio batteries.

"There are three different fire alarm bells, a burglar alarm bell and alarms for freezers that are also our responsibility.

"One of our switchboard employees, Mrs. Margaret Henson, has been with the Hospital for 23 years," says Sondra. Mrs. Mary Sargent, who has been with the Hospital for over five years, remarked, "Most people whom we meet over the telephone are extremely courteous," and its enjoyable talking with them. It's really nice to work with the visiting house doctors and house staff."

Other P.B.X. operators who work in the department are: Miss Beverly Brickey, Mrs. Pat Deans, Mrs. Fanny Finkelstein, Mrs. Ester Gerald, Mrs. Maxine Hanebrink, Mrs. Helen Moss, Miss Ella Ottinger, Mrs. Thursa Quillinan, Miss Ethel Ryan, Mrs. Opal Sherrill (on maternity leave), and Mrs. Eleanor Sweeney.

Evening and part time clerks are Miss Ann Blank, Miss Peggy Dodd, Miss Mary Beth Duerfahrd, Miss Erna Krainer, and Miss Pat Wild.

There is also a police radio in the communications department. "It is good in case of an earthquake or a tornado," advises Mrs. Gann, "to keep us informed on how extensive any damage might be elsewhere."

Service Awards Tea

The Annual Service Awards Tea honoring 100 employees was held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Moses Shoenberg Memorial Nurses Residence Auditorium, Thursday, May 15.

Mr. Edward B. Greensfelder, president of the Hospital, and Mr. David A. Gee, executive director, congratulated the awardees and presented each with a gift.

Mrs. Barbara Janes, Director of Community Relations, presided as Mistress of Ceremonies.

Awards were given to 48 employees for 5 years of service, while 24 received 10-year awards, 17 received 15-year awards, 3 received 20-year awards, and one received a 25-year award. Seven Retirement Certificates were also given.

Awardee names and photographs will appear in the July issue of 216.

Mrs. Gretchen Huff, secretary in the Department of Community Relations, pins on her new employee identification badge. The new badge system was instituted in May so that employees can be identified more easily.

Dr. Laurence A. Sherman, M.D., director of the new comprehensive diagnostic clotting laboratory, prepares samples for diagnostic information related to bleeding disorders.

Dr. Sherman Director of New Diagnostic Clotting Laboratory

The Jewish Hospital Department of Medicine has announced a new comprehensive diagnostic clotting laboratory for the evaluation of bleeding disorders. Officials of the Department explain that in addition to performing routine clotting tests for Hospital patients, the new unit will be the most complex and integrated clinical coagulation laboratory in the St. Louis area. According to Dr. Laurence A. Sherman, director, the laboratory "will be so staffed that the blood of area patients with complicated or emergency bleeding problems can be tested and analyzed to establish diagnoses and to guide treatment."

It is planned that the new laboratory will include a "reference library" of blood samples from patients with unusual bleeding disorders, so that newly recognized bleeding disorders can be matched with samples already on hand. The laboratory will also play an important role for complicated cardiac surgery and difficult obstetrical and cancer cases. The laboratory will be located on the third floor of the new nine story Yalem Research Building.

Dr. Sherman, the director, is a graduate of the University of Chicago and the Albany Medical College of Union University. Dr. Sherman was born in Boston and is currently completing his last year of residency in internal medicine at Barnes Hospital. He has devoted two years to research of blood clotting problems at Washington University's Medical School, working with Dr. Sol Sherry, former Physician-in-Chief at Jewish Hospital and now head of the Department of Medicine at Temple University in Philadelphia.

"At the present time," Dr. Sherman explained, "there is no central laboratory in St. Louis for the evaluation of clinical bleeding disorders. Having a central laboratory will make emergency coverage available with faster diagnoses." Dr. Sherman said that the facility will be available to all institutions in the Washington University Medical School complex. He expects the laboratory to begin operation in the fall and to be fully operational by the beginning of next year.

Appointments Approved

The Hospital Board of Directors has approved the following new appointments, at its March 20 meeting.

In the Department of Medicine—Louis V. Avioli, M.D., has been named consultant to the division of nuclear medicine; Leonard N. Newmark, M.D., assistant in the division of internal medicine; and William Parker, M.D., promoted from assistant attending dermatologist to associate attending dermatologist, division of dermatology.

In the Department of Psychiatry—Doris C. Gilpin, M.D., and Elizabeth H. Levy, M.D., have been named assistants.

Department of Otolaryngology—Herbert A. Leeper, Jr., M.D., has been named associate.

Department of Surgery—James B. Brown, M.D., has advanced to the emeritus staff.

Promoted at Medical School

Ee Thye Yin, an investigator in the Department of Medicine, has been promoted to the rank of Research Assistant Professor of Medicine at the Washington University School of Medicine. Mr. Yin joined the Hospital in 1965.

Washington University Appointments

Six Jewish Hospital staff physicians have been promoted to the rank of assistant professor of clinical medicine at Washington University School of Medicine. The appointments were made based on their contributions at both Jewish Hospital and Barnes Hospital. Left to right are: Benjamin Borowsky, M.D., Sidney Jick, M.D., Herbert B. Zimmerman, M.D., Robert S. Mendelsohn, M.D., and Alvin S. Wenneker, M.D.

Pathways

Pauline Whiston is a five-year-old paraplegic patient who underwent an intensive rehabilitation program which culminated in her being able to walk successfully with forearm crutches.

Dr. Arnold Goldman is examining a home care patient and discussing the program with the home visit as part of their training program.

The Department of Dentistry at Jewish Hospital, under the direction of Calvin Weiss, D.D.S., director of the Department of Dentistry, set up a special dental clinic at the United Cerebral Palsy Association, to provide dental care for children with muscular control problems. This out-of-hospital service provides a valuable convenience for handicapped children who are unable to visit a dentist's office or the Hospital. Pictured above are Earl Woerner, D.D.S., Mary Ann Peacock, the 1968 United Fund Poster Girl, and Mrs. Trisha Schiff, a Red Cross Worker.

In keeping with its tradition of meeting needs, Jewish Hospital provides extensive community services through evaluation, therapy and research. Many of these services include free care for those persons in the area who cannot afford to pay for them.

In 1968 $1.6 million was spent to provide health care for indigent patients of all faiths. The United Fund and Jewish Federation contribute 40% of this amount, while the remaining 60% is derived from the Hospital's operating income and endowments.

Long Term Care

The Department of Long Term Care performs significant community services. Its Divisions of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation take care of many patients from the metropolitan area as well as out of state areas of Illinois and Missouri. Through restorative programs of the inpatient and outpatient service, disabled patients are saved many days of hospitalization. Many of them are restored to independent living with their families and are able to return to remunerative work.

The pioneering Home Care Program of the Department of Long Term Care offers care and service to patients in the familiar surroundings of their own homes at a greatly reduced cost. It has served as a model for nationwide programs which are now encouraged by Medicare legislation. The Home Care Program has an average daily census of 81 patients and provides more than 30,000 days per year. It has been estimated nationally that only 1/10 of the number of patients who need home care are now being served by our cities. In 1968 Jewish Hospital served 1,149 St. Louis patients through this program.

Because of the achievements in Home Care, Jewish Hospital now serves as one of the Public Health Service Regional Home Care Training Centers, a unit which trains health leaders from all over the country in developing their own community programs of extended care.

Audiology and Speech Pathology

Through the Division of Speech Pathology the Hospital provides comprehensive evaluation and treatment for children in the Eastern half of the State suffering from cleft palate. More than 900 persons in the area have cleft palate. Of this number, 400 are children. Jewish Hospital serves 60 of these children (or 15% of those needing care). This two year old program will be expanded further to meet the demands of the community.

In addition, the Division of Speech Pathology, in conjunction with the Central Institute for the Deaf, held a summer camp program for cleft palate children in 1968 which was funded by the Missouri Crippled Children's Service. During 1969 this program will be doubled to accommodate the many children who have requested participation.

blem with two student nurses who are making

The Division has also received a grant from the Department of Education to study "Voice Disorders in School Age Children." The project involves screening 30,000 St. Louis area children for detection of speech disorders. In addition to the screening and therapy program, the grant provides for training and demonstration of the techniques developed in the Jewish Hospital program so that speech pathologists throughout the country can be kept current on developments in diagnosis and therapy for voice disorders.

Other Community Programs

The Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology maintains a Public Health Service Cancer Detection Program which is available to all indigent women in the St. Louis area. More than 3,000 women take advantage of this service each year.

The Department of Dentistry has extended its benefits beyond the Hospital walls by setting up a free dental clinic for children suffering from cerebral palsy. Other retarded and underprivileged children from Missouri and Illinois are seen in the Hospital. Approximately 40 handicapped children undergo oral surgery at the Hospital each year. 200 more are treated in the outpatient clinic.

The Medical Care Research Center, established originally as a cooperative effort of the Social Science Institute and Jewish Hospital, is now linked with the St. Louis County Health Department and the St. Louis University School of Medicine. With headquarters at the Hospital, it has undertaken some forty projects: the development of two community laboratories; a medical education project; a series of gerontological investigations; and studies concerned with preventive medicine services for different population groups.

In addition to the services and involvement already mentioned, an understanding of the total impact which the Hospital has on the health care of the community requires some statistical overview. In 1968:

—More than 15,700 patients were admitted to the 530 private beds and wards.

—Outpatient clinic and emergency rooms took care of 39,000 patient visits.

—528,220 laboratory examinations were performed.

—8,000 surgical operations were performed.

—52,500 radiologic procedures were done.

As a major teaching affiliate of Washington University's Medical School, all of these community service programs enhance Jewish Hospital's role as a university hospital in implementing its philosophy of comprehensive service to the total community.

Miss Kathy McCarren, M.A., Research Associate, division of audiology, Department of Otolaryngology, operates the new averaging computer which was purchased with funds donated by the Auxiliary. Approximately fifteen children with auditory problems compounded by suspected psychologic and/or neurologic disorders are referred to the division of audiology for this Averaged Electroencephalic Audiometry (AEA) test each month.

Herbert A. Leeper, Jr., Ph.D., speech pathologist, division of speech pathology, Department of Otolaryngology, records four-year-old Maureen Kelly's voice for acoustic analysis. With funds from a Federal Grant from the Department of Education, the division screens 30,000 St. Louis area children for detection of speech disorders.

Doctor's Day Reception

Physicians at Jewish Hospital were honored at a reception in the M.A.C. Room on March 27, as a Doctor's Day tribute by three sponsoring organizations—the Auxiliary, the Associates of The Jewish Hospital of St. Louis and the Board of Directors of the Hospital.

Members of the three Boards were on hand to greet the guests. Hosts and hostesses included Edward B. Greensfelder, president of the Hospital, David A. Gee, executive director, Mrs. Stanley M. Cohen, president of the Auxiliary, and Julian L. Meyer, president of the Associates.

The Auxiliary also provided new medical books to the Medical Library in honor of the occasion.

Morris Abrams, M.D., samples the refreshments.

Julius Elson, M.D., (left) and Alexander S. Geha, M.D. do some serious pondering.

At ease, Norman W. Drey, M.D., enjoys the occasion.

Courtney A. Gould (left), a member of the Board of Directors of the Associates, chats with Burton Shatz, M.D.

Coulter Counter Model S First in St. Louis Area

The Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine has recently acquired the first Coulter Counter Model S in the greater St. Louis area. This push button unit provides seven different blood determinations in 40 seconds.

According to Herbert Silver, M.D., director, Hematology and Blood Bank, "One technician using this instrument can now accomplish in two hours what formerly took two technicians eight hours each. This will result in expanded services. All routine blood work is now completed and available to physicians soon after a patient is admitted to the Hospital; heretofore results of blood determinations often were not available until the day after a patient was admitted.

The Coulter Counter Model S performs red counts, white counts, hemoglobin and hematocrit, in addition to the determination of the values for the mean corpuscular volume, mean corpuscular hemoglobin, and mean corpuscular hemoglobin concentration. These values are important in the evaluation of such diseases as anemia, and will be supplied at no additional cost to the patient.

Herbert Silver, M.D., director, Hematology and Blood Bank in the Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine, examines the new push button Coulter Counter Model S, which provides seven different blood determinations in 40 seconds.

Israel Hosts Sonnenwirth

Dr. Alex C. Sonnenwirth, Director, division of microbiology, was invited by Dr. T. G. Sacks, Chairman of the Department of Medical Bacteriology of the Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School, Jerusalem, to deliver two lectures in February at the Medical School, and to spend some time in the bacteriology laboratories of the school.

Titles of the lectures were: "The newer classification of Enterobacteriaceae and Pasteurella and its clinical significance" and "Anaerobic infection with special references to Bacteroides and other non-spore-forming anaerobes."

Dr. Sonnenwirth, accompanied on the trip by his wife, Rosalie, left for Israel via El Al Israel Airlines.

"After delivering the lectures," remarks Dr. Sonnenwirth, "and spending another two days in the laboratories of the Department of Medical Bacteriology in Jerusalem, we met six of my first cousins whom I had not seen in more than 25 years. . .and then toured the country for two weeks, from 'Dan to Beer-Sheva,' as the biblical phrase goes.

"Among the many people we met were Dr. and Mrs. Warren Jacobsohn. On Purim, when the biblical book of Esther is read, we enjoyed a festive meal with them. Dr. Jacobsohn is a member of the staff of Jewish Hospital on a leave of absence, and presently residing in Jerusalem.

"We were much inspired," says Dr. Sonnenwirth, "by the Hadassah Medical School and Hospital, its up-to-date facilities, and its dedicated personnel who continued without interruption to treat patients, including war casualties, during the six-day war. But, most of all, we were impressed with the tremendous vitality, determination, and fortitude of the Israelis, who continue to develop the country in the face of many hardships."

The Jewish Hospital division of microbiology has been named one of ten referee laboratories to participate in a national proficiency testing program.

Gee, executive director, then discussed with Mr. Berke "What Makes Jewish Hospital a Good Hospital."

Opening remarks are given by Mark Berke; Louis I. Zorensky, program chairman, is seated left.

Harold Zager and his wife, Emalie, smile happily over the success of Mr. Zager's intricate gastric operation which was performed in March.

New Method of Treatment A First in St. Louis Area

For Harold Zager, a hemophiliac since birth, the internal bleeding caused by his ulcerous stomach was a critically dangerous matter. Each year Zager required an average of 350 units of a coagulant factor extracted from blood and administered in concentrated doses. Yet in the face of seemingly insurmountable problems a successful operation, in which 65% of his stomach was removed, took place.

Prior to last August there was a high mortality rate whenever this operation was performed, due to uncontrollable hemorrhaging, and in Zager's case this danger was particularly acute. In addition, Glycine-Precipitate, a compound of the blood basically containing Factor 8, was not available. There are a total of 12 clotting factors in the blood; Zager lacked the important Factor 8. Fortunately for him, Glycine-Precipitate became available seven months before his operation in March.

Zager's four-hour operation was performed by Sam Schneider, M.D. It was prompted when a careful review of x-rays taken over several years revealed an abnormality thought to represent a bleeding point in the lower part of the stomach.

A team of physicians were involved in the success of the operation. It included Harry Agress, M.D., attending physician in Internal Medicine who is an internist specializing in hematology; Dr. Schneider, associate attending surgeon in General Surgery; Lamont Gaston, M.D., senior attending physician in Internal Medicine who is a coagulationist; and Burton Shatz, M.D., senior attending physician in Internal Medicine and associate director of the Department of Medicine who is a gastroenterologist.

Dr. Schneider noted that this was the first time in the Greater St. Louis area that planned gastric surgery and a "gastric resection" had been performed successfully.

Dr. Shatz spoke about the newer developments which made the operation feasible at this time: "In normal individuals with gastro-intestinal bleeding, more than 90% stop spontaneous bleeding without a surgical procedure being necessary. With the introduction of new methods of treatment, patients with hemophilia can be treated in the same fashion as normal individuals and operations can be performed when indicated."

Commenting further on this point, Dr. Gaston said that at the present time it is possible to turn severe hemophilia patients into normal individuals for periods of from 10 days to two months by the injection of anti-hemophiliac concentrates.

Zager, who is a stock broker with Kohlmeyer and Co., is married and the father of two children.

"216" Named Best Publication

The Hospital newspaper, "216" was selected as "Publication of the Month" for February, 1969 by the Industrial Press Association of Greater St. Louis.

Accompanying the IPA certificate, a letter addressed to Mrs. Lydia Motchan, editor, read: "Content, overall readability, attractiveness of layout and clarity of pictures were the bases for the selection of Jewish Hospital's '216' as the best February newspaper effort by a St. Louis IPA member.

"The central spread feature on the Central Medical and Surgical Supply Department, the Awards Committee felt, surely achieved a maximum, positive impact on the employee public at Jewish Hospital and, coupled with the balanced coverage of other activities in and around the hospital, made for a most excellent issue."
