Julius Cohen, Board Member, Dies at 72

Julius Cohen

Julius Cohen, a member of the Hospital's Board of Directors, died of a cerebral hemorrhage in his home in St. Louis County on August 19, at the age of 72.

Mr. Cohen, former President and Chairman of the Board of Central Hardware, also served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Center for Aged and as a trustee of the Jewish Community Centers Association. He and his wife established the Julius and Dena Cohen Unrestricted Endowment Fund at The Jewish Hospital. At the time of his death, Mr. Cohen was serving his third term on the St. Louis County grand jury.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dena Cohen; two daughters, Mrs. Adolph Frank and Mrs. Edward Schapiro; three sisters, Mrs. Jenny Broida, Mrs. Minnie Blass and Miss Sarah Cohen; two brothers, Isadore and Ruben Cohen, and eight grandchildren.

Groundbreaking Ceremony Held For New Parking Facility

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new, multi-level parking facility were held August 25, 1970. The site of the new garage is just east of the Yalem Research Building on Parkview Place. Construction of the garage marks the beginning of Phase I of the Hospital's $21,500,000 Expansion Program for Excellence in Health Care.

The 577-space parking facility was designed by the architectural firm of Schwarz and Henmi and construction of this self-liquidating facility is expected to take one year.

Edward B. Greensfelder, president, took part in the groundbreaking ceremony and reported that the Hospital has already obtained more than $7 million in pledges and gifts toward the $18 million public support goal which was announced earlier this year.

"We feel very encouraged by the response of those in the community who have endorsed this program, and are extremely grateful to those individuals and corporations who have made major commitments," he said. "The present economic condition has caused many donors to delay in making pledges, but we are hopeful that we can achieve a substantial increase before the end of the year."

Others taking part in the ceremonies conducted by David A. Gee, executive director, were Louis S. Sachs, vice chairman of the Building Committee, and Morris Alex, M.D., president of the Medical Staff.

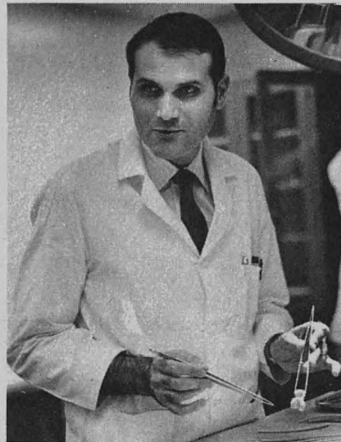

In addition to the construction of the parking facility, the Hospital will build a nine-story patient care building adjacent to the Aaron Waldheim Clinic on Forest Park Boulevard. Construction of the tower building is slated to begin next year.

The first floor of the building will contain Radiology facilities and the second floor will contain new operating rooms.

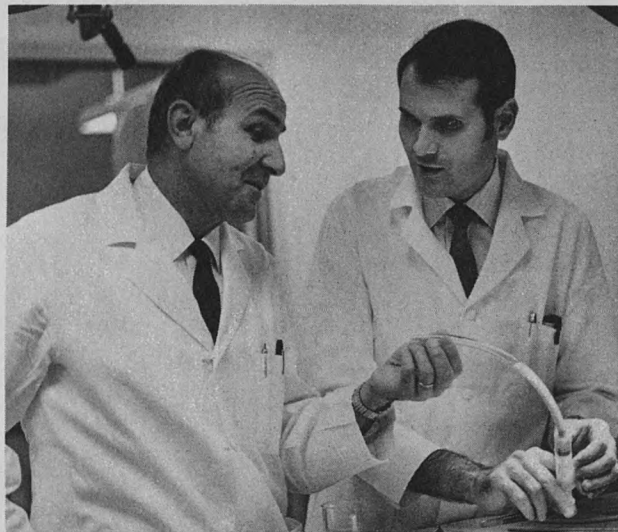

The third through fifth floors will be nursing divisions containing 60 beds each, with the sixth and seventh floors initially being built as unfinished shell spaces for future nursing divisions. The top floor will be used for air conditioning and ventilation equipment. An additional nine floors may be added as needed at a future date.

Dr. Geha Researches "Harvesting" of Heart Valves

Dr. Geha exhibits
a Silastic mold of a dog's heart valve.

Dr. Geha, right, injects
Silastic into plastic tubing as Dr. Muhammad Salaymeh, a Fellow in Surgical Research who works as an associate on the project, assists.

A person with a diseased heart valve, artery or vein may eventually be able to replace the diseased one with a new one grown in his own body.

A process under development by a team of scientists directed by Dr. Alexander S. Geha, director of Jewish Hospital's Division of Thoracic and Cardiovascular Surgery, has shown that grafts grown in this way are not rejected by the body as artificial ones are. This is because they are made of the body's own tissue.

Blood clotting is also not a problem.

The work to date has been confined to laboratory animals. "The process," Dr. Geha said, "is working well with no complications."

(Editor's Note: This article, written by Jerome P. Curry of the Post-Dispatch Staff, has appeared in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the New York Times newspapers. The article is printed here for the benefit of those readers who may have missed it.)

Dr. Geha began to work on the new process after it was noted that the body caused a membrane to grow around heart pacemakers — mechanical devices to maintain regular heartbeat — implanted in patients. This membrane, a fiber-like tissue, followed the contours of the pacemaker. Pacemakers are covered with a synthetic, highly inert, silicone-based rubbery material called Silastic.

He made molds of heart valves from the Silastic, placed the molds under the skin of the abdomen of laboratory animals and allowed a membrane to grow around each mold. Then the mold with its covering of body tissue was removed from the animal. The tissue with the same shape as that of a heart valve was harvested and used to replace the heart valve of the animal.

"Actual implantation began about eight months ago," Dr. Geha said. "Animals that received the implantation then are doing well today."

The surgeon has just begun to use the same method to develop replacement blood vessels — arteries and veins.

"We allow the body response tissue to form around cylinders for vessel substitution."

Dr. Geha's investigation was first focused on heart valve replacement. His method is the latest in a series of advancements in heart valve surgery that began about 10 years ago.

There are four valves in the heart that regulate blood flow. These valves can become damaged as a result of birth defects or rheumatic fever. Usually the damage is not evident until middle age. Then the valves begin to collect calcium deposits and narrow or they become leaky. The condition, if not corrected, can be fatal.

Until a decade ago, surgeons worked with the damaged valve alone. Then in the early 1960s, prosthetic or artificial valves were introduced. This replacement was beset by problems of clotting and sometimes mechanical failure. Agents that could inhibit the blood's tendency to clot — anticoagulants — were required.

Homografts, sterilized valves taken from cadavers, ensued. But the problem here was that the replacement tissue was dead tissue, prone to degeneration and calcium deposits. Live homografts were tried, but as in heart transplants, the supply problem was acute.

Surgeons then began to use tissue taken from the patient's own body. Valves were fashioned from body tissues. But duplication of the shape of normal valves was difficult and was not always achieved.

Study of the operation of valves that were fashioned from the body's own tissue directed Dr. Geha toward the mold concept.

"This is purely laboratory research now," Dr. Geha said. "We have tried it in animals and have had good results. After much work, we will move to clinical experimentation (in human patients)."

The physician said that it took about three months for the body's tissue response to form the membrane around the heart valve or vessel mold implanted under the skin in the abdomen.

"Because the progress of heart disease can be charted, it is possible to say approximately when a patient would require heart valve surgery, and there would be time to grow the valve replacement."

They Can't Get Their Minds Off of Food

If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, the five dietitians on the Hospital staff must have captured the heart of every Jewish Hospital patient . . . male and female alike.

They concentrate on what goes into the stomachs of patients, and would probably like nothing better than to see all patients eating their way back to health. In promoting this prospect, they spend their time making sure the right combination of nutritious foods are ingested.

A dietitian has been described as a person with "a degree and advanced education or qualifying experience in the sciences of nutrition and management," and it is in applying these sciences that the dietitians play an integral part in the effort made by Hospital personnel to provide quality patient care.

Working closely with Bo Axelrod, director of Food Services, the dietitians also maintain close contact with patients and members of the Medical Staff. Despite this fact, probably few persons are aware of the contributions made to patient care by the dietary staff.

An individual admitted to Jewish Hospital may be placed on any one of eight diets — including seven special ones. These diets are prescribed by the physicians, are designed to restrict food intake to selected beneficial ones, and are meant to provide therapeutic measures as well.

It is the job of the dietary staff to design these diets, making sure only the permitted foods are included, yet offering the patient a variety. Then, to bring the full therapeutic measure directly to the patient, the dietitians visit and instruct patients on general and special diets, that they may continue the principles of good nutrition as part of their daily routine.

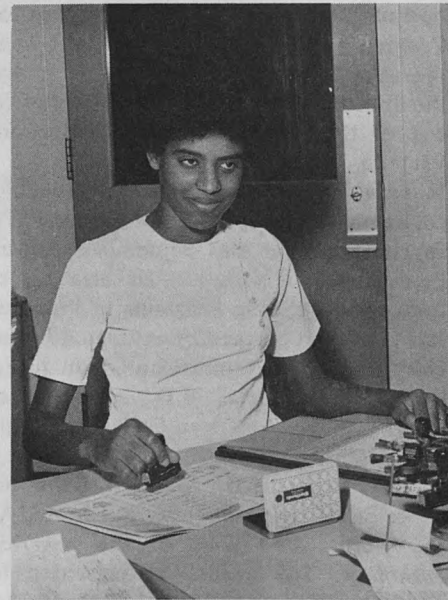

Taking a viable interest in the welfare of Hospital patients, the dietitians do not limit themselves to second-hand knowledge, but as part of the medical team attend rounds with physicians, gaining an opportunity to know the patients and their problems directly.

Although dietitians work primarily with in-Hospital patients, they share their knowledge about nutrition with personnel and out-patients, by making available balanced meal patterns according to the Basic Four food groups.

They teach patients in the out-patient clinic the general principles of nutrition and explain procedures when special diets are involved. In a wider area of service, one objective in the process of being accomplished is the dissemination of nutrition information via lectures to community organizations.

Sister Eleanora Marie

In an effort to update information on nutrition, the dietary staff is in the process of revising the existing diet instruction sheets, nourishment procedures and procedures for distributing special diet menus. This move keeps them in step with advancements in the field of dietetics.

The women on the dietary staff come from varied backgrounds and educational experiences, but have formed a team that works together to the best interest of the patients.

Mrs. Hannah Foster, head dietitian, is a graduate of Fontbonne College, with a bachelor's degree in Dietetics. She completed a year's internship at the St. Louis University Hospitals and later joined the staff of Missouri Baptist. She has spent seven years with The Jewish Hospital and can be credited with initiating programs and projects now in use in the department.

Miss Vicky Fernandez, a graduate of the Phillipine Women's University with a bachelor's degree in Foods and Nutrition, has been with the Hospital staff since April. Prior to joining the staff she was associated with St. Mary's Hospital in St. Louis.

Miss Lerma Anonuevo is also a graduate of the Phillipine Women's University with a bachelor's degree in Foods and Nutrition. Before joining the staff in January, she gained experience at Zamboanga Doctor's Hospital and Brent Hospital, both in the Phillipines.

Miss Peggy Wright joined the staff in February and was graduated from Grambling College in Louisiana with a bachelor's degree in Institutional Management.

Finally, the most recent member of the dietary staff, Sister Eleanora Marie, was graduated from Fontbonne College with a bachelor's degree in Dietetics. She completed an internship at St. Mary's Hospital and Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. She was granted a research assistantship from Stout State University in Wisconsin where she received a master's degree in Food Science and Nutrition. Before joining the Jewish Hospital staff, Sister Marie was an instructor at Eau Claire State University in Wisconsin and at Belleville Area College.

The aim of the dietitians is to make sure that if "You are what you eat," that what you eat is good for you. They are now accomplishing one of their main goals, to be a part of the medical team, to share and apply knowledge of nutrition to aid in improving the health of patients.

Give Them Hope . . . That

The United Fund is an organization with unbounded optimism in man's ability to help himself, because it believes, "There is HOPE . . . it's in your hands." This optimism must be contagious because the various units that make up the Jewish Hospital team are swinging into action to do their part in raising funds needed so desperately for the 100-plus United Fund agencies (The Jewish Hospital included) to continue their work.

These agencies serve more than one-half million persons of all economic groups, from all neighborhoods in the greater metropolitan St. Louis area. One out of every four St. Louisans uses one or more agencies, which require a total of $13,000,000 to meet their expanding needs. But wait, that one out of four persons is not always someone else, someday it might be you.

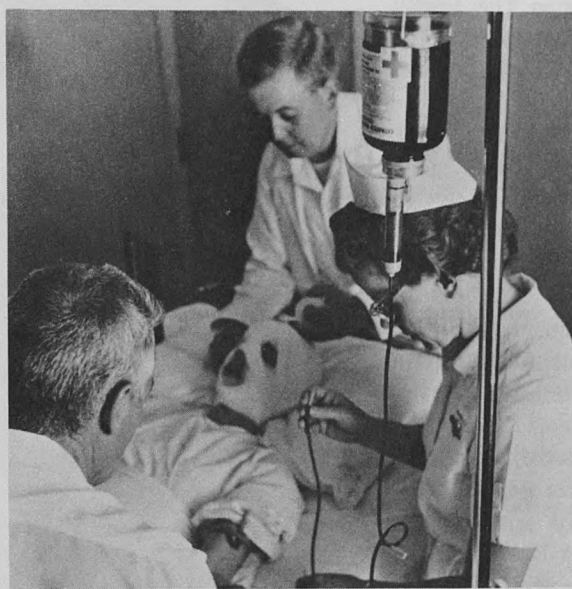

Contributions to the United Fund allow the agencies to continue saving lives by providing urgently needed medical aid and treatment; to continue saving marriages on the verge of breakdown by making possible counseling agencies; to continue providing vocational guidance and vocational training for the handicapped, showing them the road to happy, productive lives; to continue working with young drug addicts and juvenile delinquents who are youthful law breakers, offering them organized off-the-street activities; and to continue brightening the lives of elderly citizens by providing them with needed services and homes for their care.

The Employees' 1970 United Fund Drive, headed by over-all co-ordinator William Chiles, administrative assistant, is being organized by three co-chairmen, Mrs. Sandra Leimer, Acting Co-Ordinator of Physical Therapy; Albert Ross, X-Ray

Co-chairmen of the Hospital Drive, Albert Ross and Mrs. Addie Wiggins, R.N.

They May Have Reason to Smile

Technicians Supervisor; and Mrs. Addie Wiggins, R.N., Assistant Supervisor for Surgery in Nursing Service.

The Employees' Drive is scheduled to run from October 15 through October 30 and will aim for a goal of $18,950.

At the same time, David A. Gee, executive director, is serving as co-chairman of the United Fund's Hospitals' Section. Not to overlook the medical staff, Dr. Richard Sisson, a member of the Department of Surgery, is serving as team captain in the United Fund's Medical Section.

Members of the Jewish Hospital Auxiliary participated in a new feature of the United Fund Drive, the "Pledge-a-thon." Twenty-one members of the Auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Lowenbaum, III, vice president of Volunteer Services, were among the more than 1,000 women volunteers who for the first time are making some 20,000 telephone solicitations.

The volunteers representing the Hospital were: Mrs. Lil Abraham, Mrs. Jerome Barder, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. M. E. Bry, Jr., Mrs. Stanley Cohen, Mrs. Donald Cornbleet, Mrs. Norman Drey, Mrs. James Dreyer, Mrs. Sheldon Fisher, Mrs. Harris Frank, Mrs. Sam Heymann, Mrs. John Isaacs, Jr., Mrs. John Isaacs, III, Mrs. Tobias Lewin, Miss Frances Levis, Mrs. Ralph Lowenbaum, III, Mrs. Harry Rosenbaum, Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, Mrs. Ben D. Senturia, Mrs. Ben H. Senturia, and Mrs. Murray Steinberg.

The United Fund needs your help to make its campaign a success and if you need a reason to help, just think, in the half-million people served year-round by the 100-plus skillful United Fund agencies are faces and names you know.

Like yours.

Make your Fair Share Pledge . . . Now!

Not only are Candy Stripers able to volunteer for work during the summer, but according to Mrs. Mordecai Brown, director of Auxiliary Services, there is a great need for their assistance at the Hospital on weekends and holidays. She adds that Candy Stripers may fulfill their original commitment by working during these times.

Women's Auxiliary members participating in the program were: Mrs. Norman Drey, president of the Jewish Hospital Auxiliary; Mrs. Louis Susman, chairman of the Candy Stripers—Teen-Aiders Program; Mrs. Jonas Weil and Mrs. Lloyd Arkin, co-chairmen of Volunteers.

Miriam Lodge Gives Continued Support To Hospital Rehabilitation Division

In applying the adage "Behind every successful man there stands a woman" to the Jewish Hospital, one may say that behind the Rehabilitation Division stands a group of women — Miriam #17, United Order of True Sisters.

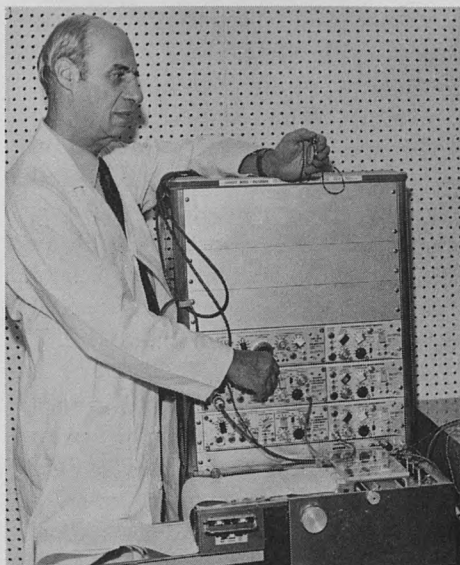

This group contributes support to the Miriam Rosa Bry Rehabilitation Division of the Hospital, which offers comprehensive treatment to some 280 in-patients annually. In lending its support, the Miriam Lodge has donated more than $25,000 to the Hospital and has recently presented its latest gift of $1,000 for 1970.

Originally, in 1913 Miriam Lodge established and began operation of the Miriam Rosa Bry Convalescent Home in Webster Groves. The Home was expanded to include rehabilitation activities in 1947, at which time physicians, nurses and therapists were hired to provide appropriate care for the patients.

Recognizing the advantage of running a rehabilitation unit in conjunction with a major medical center, the decision was reached in 1951 to merge the Miriam Home with The Jewish Hospital of St. Louis. In 1956 the facility was physically merged with the Hospital, resulting in the present Miriam Rosa Bry Rehabilitation Division, located on 1-South.

Since the merger, Miriam Lodge has annually donated funds to the Hospital which are usually applied to the purchase of needed items not in the department budget. Among the equipment purchased has been physical therapy equipment, a dictaphone for a full-time physician, a slide projector used for teaching purposes, and a Grass Model 7 Polygraph, a unit used to measure muscle strength and muscular electrical activity.

Miriam Lodge has not only given the Rehabilitation Division monetary support, but its members have given of their time, serving as volunteers. Presently, one member, Mrs. Clarence (Janet) Mange, tutors young people and children, spending three days a week in the department.

The Miriam Home was a pioneer in the field of rehabilitation, and the Rehabilitation Division of the Hospital is working under the direction of Franz U. Steinberg, M.D., to maintain the high standards set.

The department is staffed by three full-time physicians, physical and occupational therapists, rehabilitation nurses, recreational therapists, social workers, speech therapists and counselors, all dedicated to providing a broad spectrum of medical and therapeutic services for short and long-term patients of all ages.

In addition, the department is accredited for training resident physicians in the specialty of physical medicine and rehabilitation, making it the only such educational facility in the St. Louis area.

Hospital Appoints Psychology Interns To New Program

Carl Hoppe

Peter Di Nardo

A new program providing one year of full-time, clinical training for psychology interns enrolled in university programs leading to a doctoral degree, has been announced by the Department of Psychiatry of The Jewish Hospital.

The goal of this training program is to prepare interns for future independent practice in the various settings in which clinical psychologists work — including mental health activities, scientific projects and clinical work. With this goal in mind, intensive supervised clinical experience and training are offered in a wide range of evaluation, therapeutic and consultative services.

The program is an integral part of the complete mental health teaching program of the Hospital's Department of Psychiatry, which emphasizes an interdisciplinary approach to a wide variety of clinical responsibilities.

The first internship appointments, beginning in September, are Carl Hoppe and Peter Di Nardo, graduate students in the Department of Psychology at Washington University.

The new psychology internship program is under the direction of Dr. Norman J. Matulef, Psychologist-in-Chief. Dr. Nathan M. Simon, director, Department of Psychiatry, is chairman of the Interdisciplinary Training Committee responsible for the training of psychology interns, psychiatric residents and social work trainees.

Women's Auxiliary Sponsors Flower Arranging Course

Registration is now open for a flower arranging course, to begin January 16, 1971, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary, it has been announced by Mrs. Irving Goldstein, chairman of the Clover Garden, and Mrs. Jerry Grodsky, co-chairman.

The course will be under the direction of and conducted by Ed Young, a professional flower designer. The sessions will be held on six successive Saturdays, from 12:30-3:30 p.m. at the Hospital. All registrants are requested to pledge a minimum of six months of volunteer service to the Clover Garden, the Hospital's flower shop, for three and one-half hours, one day each week.

During their volunteer hours, students will learn how to handle flowers and plants, wait on customers and learn the general duties of a Clover Garden volunteer. After completion of the course, those students whose designing skills meet the requirements of the Clover Garden will become apprentice designers.

Cooking up a storm for the Jewish Hospital Auxiliary's Fall Meeting, held October 21 in the Moses Shoenberg Memorial Nurses Residence, were Mrs. Norman W. Drey, Auxiliary president, Mrs. Roswell Messing, III, and Mrs. Arthur Sprung. Guests at the meeting were treated to a complimentary luncheon prepared entirely by the Auxiliary Board Members. They also heard the topic, "Legalized Abortion and the Pill," discussed by David A. Gee, executive director, and Dr. Michael Freiman, assistant attending Obstetrician and Gynecologist.

Better than a handshake and a gold watch is the kiss given to Mrs. Virginia Reisinger by David A. Gee, executive director, at a party given in her honor by the Committee on Nursing, marking her retirement after 34 years of service to the Hospital. Mrs. Reisinger was also honored at a party given for her by the Hospital.

Explaining the workings of the fetal heart monitor donated to The Jewish Hospital by The Life Seekers is David Rothman, M.D., director of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. The unit gives continuous evaluation of the fetal heart rate in relation to uterine contractions during labor, and has been found particularly valuable for "high risk" mothers. Life Seekers members listening are Mrs. John Toth, North County Chapter Fund Raising Vice President, left, and Mrs. Philip Siwak, West County Chapter President.

The Jewish Hospital of St. Louis notes the passing of two men who had distinguished themselves as major benefactors of the Hospital.

Arthur B. Baer, former president and executive committee chairman of Stix, Baer & Fuller, died on July 1 at the age of 75.

Mr. Baer made generous contributions to Jewish Hospital building fund drives, and in addition to his philanthropic work took an active role in civic leadership. He was a member of the city's Board of Parks and Recreation, the Metropolitan St. Louis Hospital Planning Commission, the Anti-Slum Commission, the St. Louis County Board of Police Commissioners and the board of trustees of KETC television station.

Leon J. Leonson, formerly of St. Louis and former owner of Leonson Corrugated Box Co., died September 19 in La Jolla, Calif., at the age of 78.

Mr. Leonson and his wife established the Frieda Leonson Nursing Scholarship, awarded annually to a graduate nurse for continuation of graduate studies, and established the J. G. Probststein Visiting Professor of Surgery Fund, which enables the Department of Surgery to bring nationally prominent surgeons to speak at The Jewish Hospital. He had also made donations to the Hospital Chapel and the Elsie Probststein-Harry Koplal Brace Fund.

Mr. Leonson was active in numerous Jewish charities in St. Louis, particularly those benefitting education and children's facilities.

The Lisa Bry-James Dreyer Memorial Fund was recently designated by the Bry and Dreyer families for use in the Hospital's Division of Rehabilitation. The fund, which totals approximately $10,000, is a combination of tributes made in memory of Lisa Bry, James Dreyer, Mr. and Mrs. M. Erwin Bry, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dreyer. It will be used in conjunction with matching funds from the Hospital to launch a two-year pilot project for psychological rehabilitation of teenage and young adult patients.

According to Dr. Franz U. Steinberg, director of Long Term Care and administrator of the Fund, plans are underway to engage the services of a psychologist to counsel young patients permanently disabled by accident or disease at a critical stage of vocational and social development. Psychological and vocational testing will be part of the program during the patient's stay in the division and will be followed up after the patient is discharged.

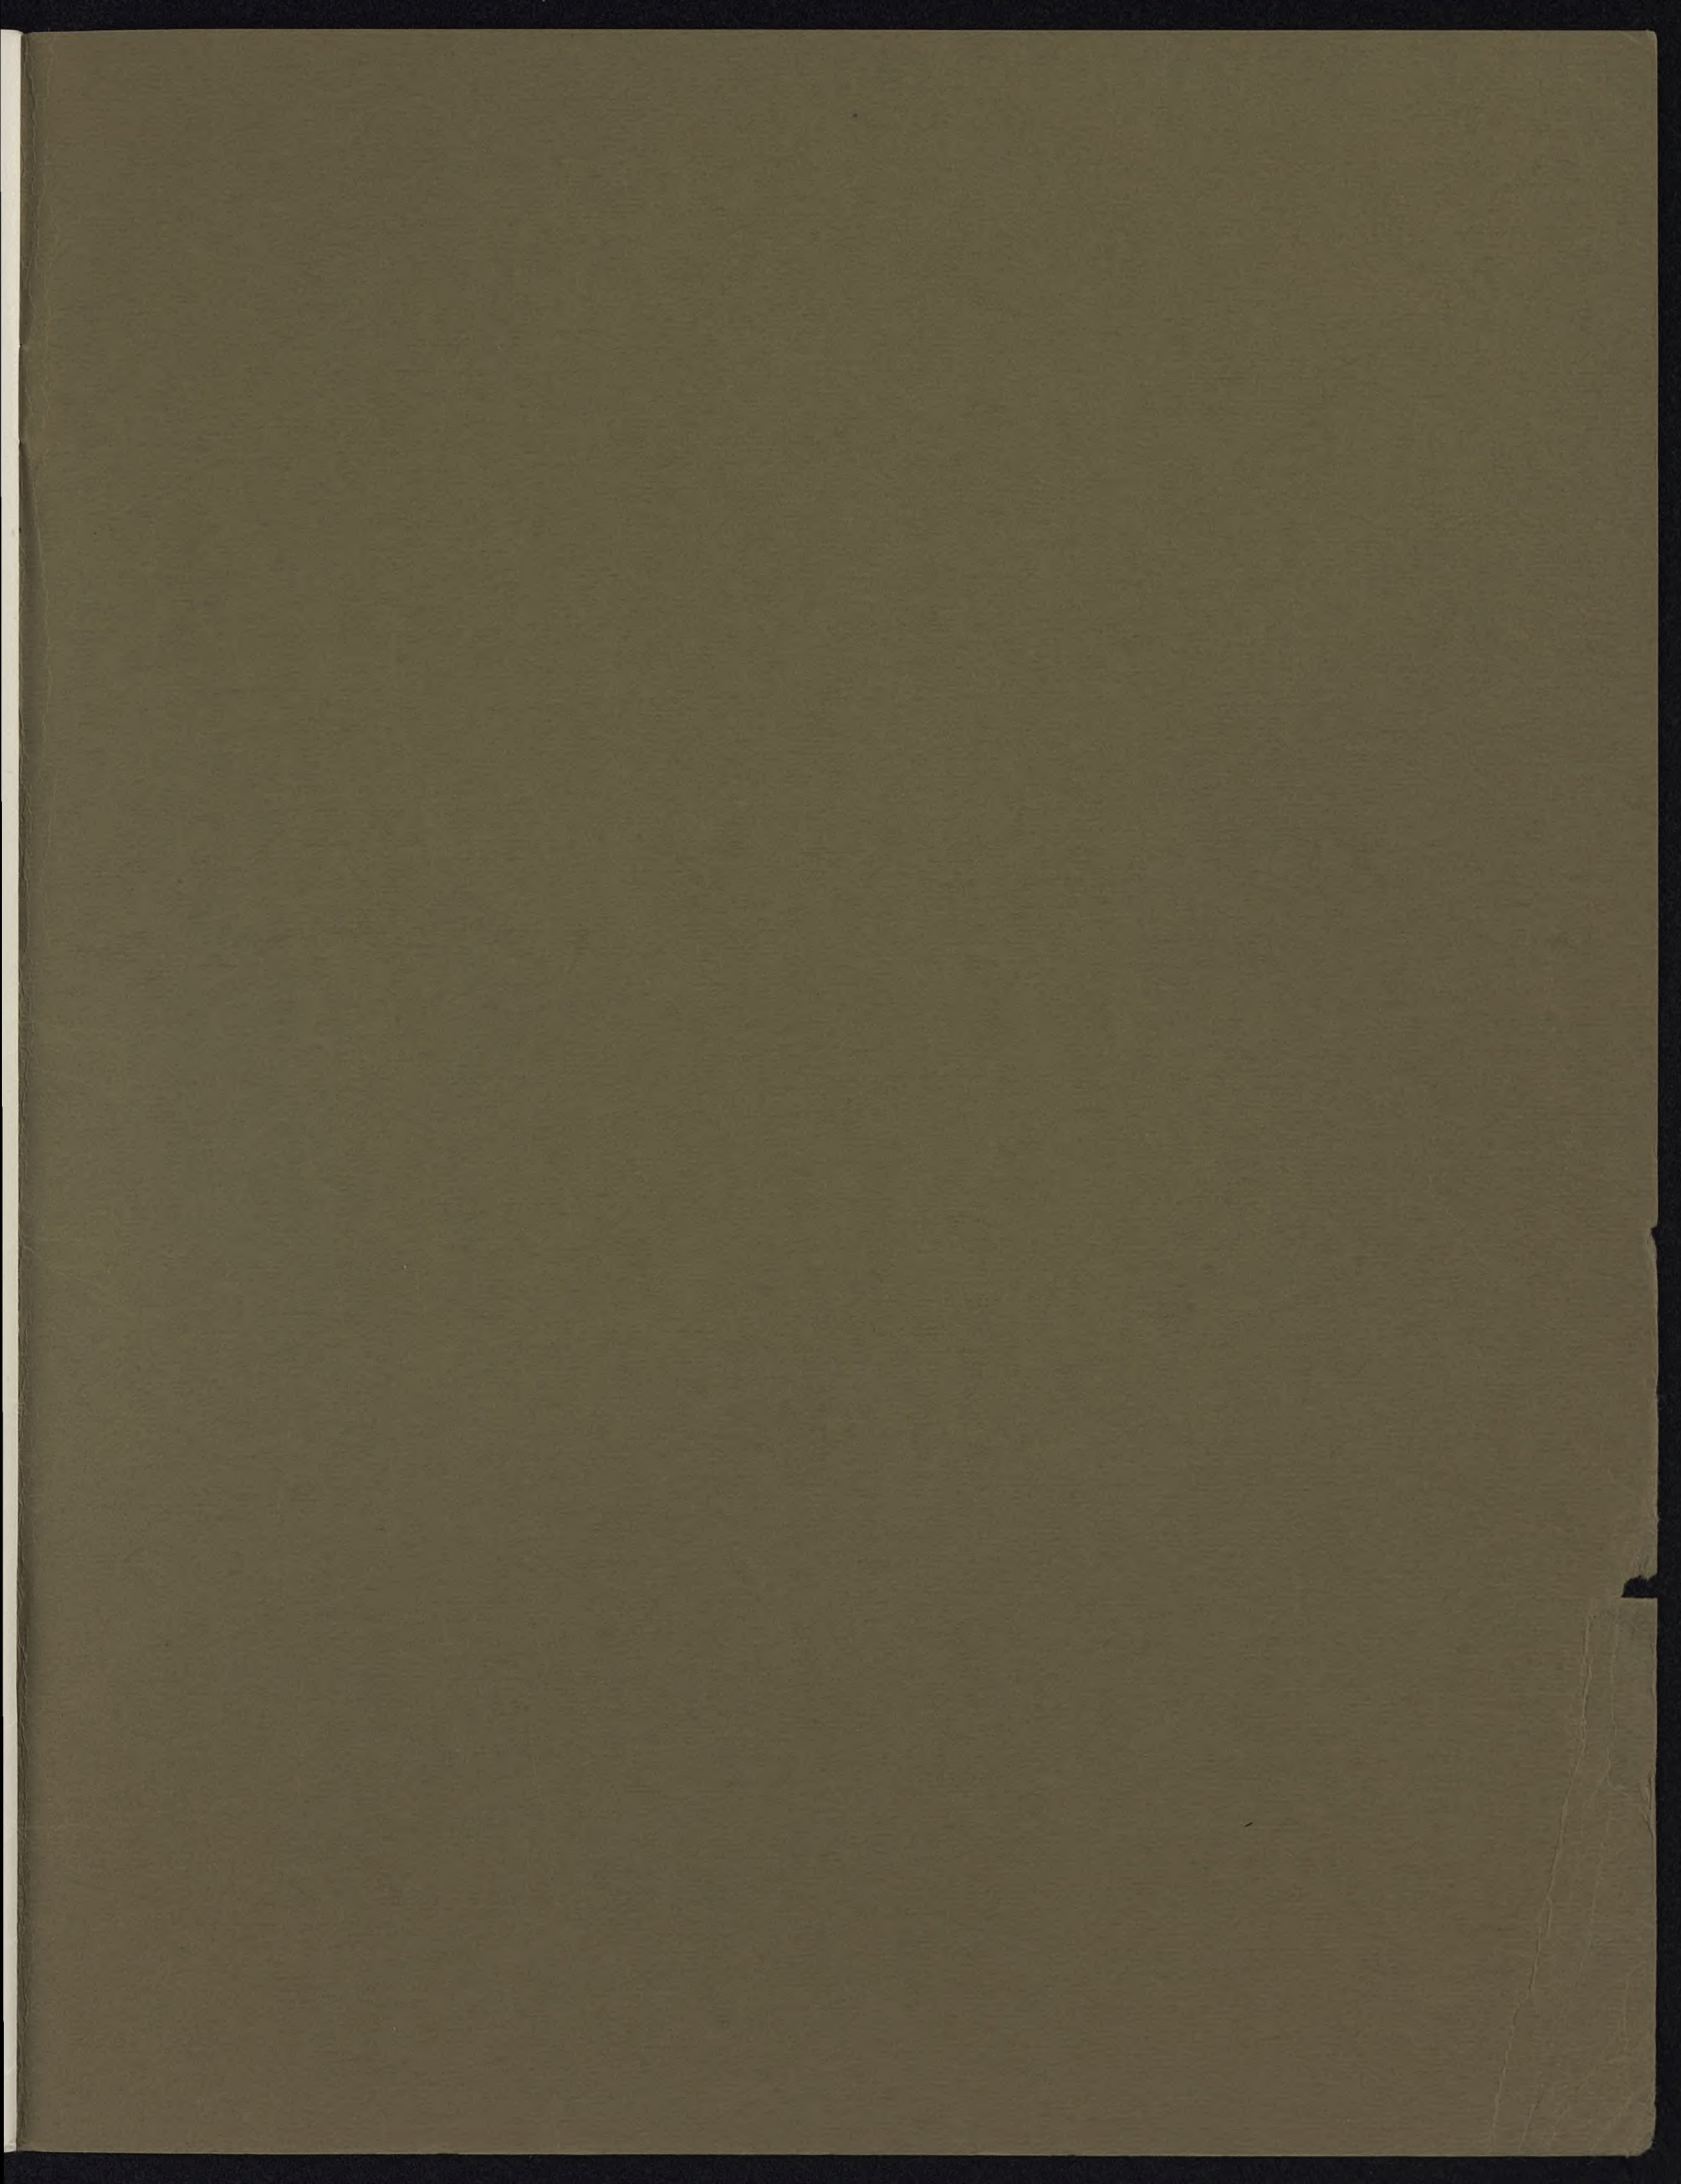

"So many youngsters are completely demoralized following a serious accident or crippling disease. We believe that this project will enable us to return productive citizens to society," Dr. Steinberg said.
