VETERAN STUDENTS FEATURED IN SPARTAN DAILY

On May 12th, San Jose State's student newspaper, The Spartan Daily featured an extensive article entitled "U.S. Veterans Transition to College Life at SJSU." The feature, written by Hannah Keirns, included interviews and a large color picture of the Veteran Students Organization president Mark Hannah, in his Marine dress uniform. An on-line version of the article can found at <http://www.news.sjsu.edu/16550/u-s-veterans-transition-to-college-life-at-sjsu>

VETERANS/MILITARY STUDENT TASK FORCE TO MAKE FINAL REPORT

In 2009 outgoing SJSU President Jon Whitmore established the Task Force on Veterans and Military Veterans. The Task Force, which held its last meeting on May 13th, will submit its final report over the summer to interim president Don Kassing. The Task Force's top recommendation is the creation of a permanent committee or entity to represent the interests of veterans and military students on campus. The task force will make other recommendations on how to help veterans and military students at SJSU, as well as goals for the university's Diversity Master Plan, as veterans and military students have been categorized as a "diverse group."

BURDICK MILITARY HISTORY PROJECT MOVING

On June 30th History Department's Burdick Military History Project, presently located in Industrial Studies 219C, will move to a new location. The new space is on the same floor, Industrial Studies 239, and across the hall from the AFROTC offices. The Project plans to dedicate a portion of the new room as a lounge for veterans.

AID TO VETS OFFERED

Dr. Richard Francisco of Counseling Services has established "Spartan Roll Call" for all SJSU veterans. The group provides peer-to-peer networking, consultation and collaboration. It is designed to assist student veterans in navigating the academic maze and provide a safe and confidential place for student veterans to discuss any issue of concern. For more information contact Dr. Francisco at (408) 924-5910

SURVEY MADE OF VETERANS AND MILITARY STUDENTS

Dr. Anne Demers of the Health Science Department reports that she has completed a survey of veterans and military students attending San Jose State University. Eighty-two individuals responded to the survey, representing all five branches of the military. Of those surveyed, fifteen percent were females and more than half were veterans of the war in Iraq and/or Afghanistan.

The data from the survey will be analyzed this summer and results presented to the university community in the fall. Dr. Demers thanks each of those who participated in the survey this spring to help in better understanding their experiences as veterans on SJSU's campus.

VETERANS ENCOURAGED TO APPLY FOR $2500 SANTIAGO MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Veterans and military students are invited to apply for the Lt. José Santiago Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship was established by family, friends and colleagues in the honor Lt. José Santiago, a veteran and a retired Lieutenant with Santa Clara County Department of Corrections, in order to help a college bound students fulfill their educational goals. The amount of each scholarship is $2,500.00 and this year $10,000 will be awarded. Applicants must have a minimum GPA of 3.5, and show a preference for a career in Public Service or Community Service.

2010 BURDICK SYMPOSIUM ON WRITING MILITARY HISTORY

On Saturday April 10th, the San Jose State History Department and the Burdick Military History Project presented the 2010 Burdick Military History Symposium. This year's symposium was entitled "Writing Military History: A Panel Discussion" and was held from 1:00 to 4:00 pm in the Engineering Auditorium, on the San Jose State University campus.

The panelists (in alphabetical order) were: Michael Green; Hans Halberstadt; Dwight R. Messimer, and Amy Goodpaster Strebe. The moderator was Jonathan P. Roth. The panel discussed many aspects of writing military history, including the problem of the reliability of veterans' stories and the future of print publishing. Copies of a DVD of the proceedings can be obtained through the Burdick Project.

Their clinic provides free and confidential psychological therapy for up to six months and welcomes all military branches, regardless of duty status or discharge type.

PROJECT HIRED COMES TO SAN JOSE STATE UNIVERSITY

Since 1978, Project HIRED has been assisting adults with disabilities to gain and sustain employment through partnerships with business and the community. In 2009 they began their Wounded Warrior Workforce Program, designed to specifically help injured veterans returning from Iraq and Afghanistan and other disabled veterans transition back into the civilian workplace.

The Wounded Warrior Workforce Program is a portfolio of people, resources, and services that specifically supports disabled veterans as they evolve their military training, resourcefulness, and resilience into a successful civilian career. All of their services are free of charge. Call 408-557-0880 or visit their website www.projecthired.org for more details.
