VERSE CHOIR TO REPEAT PERFORMANCE TONIGHT

VERSE SPEAKING CHOIR WILL REPEAT PROGRAM AGAIN THIS EVENING

Memorial Day Poems Will Be Feature Of Evening

Following a more-than-successful program in the Little Theatre last evening, the Verse Speaking Choir will repeat its annual Spring Concert again tonight at 8:00.

Playing to a capacity house the smaller groups of the Choir combined voices to do many numbers which are favorites with everyone. There were several poems in honor of Memorial Day, and "The Walrus and the Carpenter" was selected for its appeal to old or young. Johnson's "Creation" received a large ovation from the audience.

Among special numbers which were also well received Miss Dorothy Viera's women's choir and the men's quartette ranked high.

Miss Jenks is to be highly complimented on her excellent work with the choir which is a new idea in

Rules Published For Absentee Voting In August Primaries

Since the Primary Election on August 28 falls at a time when most of the teachers will be away from their home precincts and many of the students will be vacationing, it is important that the rules for absentee voting be known. Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie just received a letter from Mrs. Harriet J. Ehl, president of the California League of Women Voters which called attention to this fact and gave the following rules for absentee voting:

Not earlier than August 8th nor later than August 23rd, the absent voter must have a letter in the office of the County Registrar of Voters, asking for an absentee ballot. The letter should be signed exactly as the voter registered and the home address given in the letter.

When the absentee ballot is received the voter must go before the Registrar County Clerk or a notary where he or she is temporarily residing and stamp and seal his ballot under the scrutiny of the officer.

In order to be valid, the absentee ballot must be received by the Registrar or County Clerk of the voter's home county not later than September 4, 1934.

Change in party may be registered up to forty days before election.

La Torre Appears On Campus Early Next Week

Modernistic Yearbook Features Attractive Color Scheme

Ranging from the paper covered "Senior Yearbook" of 1915 to the modernistic annual of 1934, an interesting display of San Jose State College yearbooks is being featured this week in the library case off the main corridor. The exhibit was planned as an illustration of the development of La Torre from the old "Normal" school days to the present and also includes a review of features contained in the 1934 annual, which is scheduled to appear on the campus either Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Cover designs include tan, brown, black, red, and blue, with the latter color predominating. The 1934 La Torre cover features a modernistic design in turquoise blue, silver and black, the theme colors of the entire book. Expected to attract a great deal of favorable comment on the Pacific Coast for its unique design and coloring, as well as its elimination of whitecaps, the 1934 La Torre is a larger, finer book in every way. Ray Rhodes and Mary Binley are the co-editors for the unusually attractive annual.

Members of the faculty appear in department sections instead of alphabetically as before, and this is considered an outstanding improvement over the stereotyped form of yearbooks.

Action pictures of all athletes are featured in the sports department, with full length pictures of varsity men, and clever cartoons showing the results of conference games, in the football section.

Since a limited number of La Torre's have been ordered, prospective purchasers are urged to place their orders immediately with a salesman or at the controller's office. La Torre's are three dollars a copy.

Mr. Blesh Undergoes Operation On Skull

Coach Erwin Blesh, present track mentor and newly appointed basketball coach was operated on yesterday at the Stanford Hospital in San Francisco.

Coach Blesh has been suffering from a growth at the base of the skull which has been pressing on the nerves, causing a partial paralysis of the face. The operation is an extremely delicate one, and although no word has been received as to the outcome, the entire student body and faculty join in hoping for the utmost success.

FROSH-SOPH DANCE AT WOMEN'S CLUB TONIGHT TO ATTRACT STUDENTS

Semi-Formal Affair to Feature Fidanque Orchestra

Tonight the first cooperative social function attempted by the Freshman and Sophomore classes will be ushered in, when students and friends will gather at the San Jose Women's Club at 11th and San Fernando Streets to enjoy the much anticipated Soph-Frosh semi-formal dance.

Decorations consisting of colored balloons, and prize dances, intermission numbers, refreshments, and harmony, will provide entertainment and amusement for the entire evening.

Although yesterday's Daily said there would be no bid sale at the door tonight, the chairmen announce that a few will be available and they will be on sale until five o'clock at the controller's office.

From 9 to 1 o'clock guests will enjoy dancing with Jack Fidanque's Coakley unit orchestra, with harmonica intermission numbers by Frankie Bonnett, spot dances, delicious refreshments, and spot light prize dances in an atmosphere of colored lights and gay balloons providing the entertainment.

Paul Junzerman, Bill Moore, and Lucile Moore are in charge of bids which are selling at 75 cents each, and the remainder of the committee is composed of Emile Bourret, Patricia Healy, Bud Everett, Carey Gulchard, Kenneth Davy, Bill Roberts, Elizabeth Simpson, Kathleen McCarthy, John Leo, Sidney Abramson, Louella Fencil, Mary Koshenko, and Jim Grimsley.

Placement Of Seniors Is Announced

As further evidence of San Jose State College's established reputation for placing such a large majority of its graduates in schools throughout California, reports from Miss Innes, Secretary of the Appointment Office state that five more graduates have been placed over the weekend.

Following is the list of the recent appointments:

Miss Valerie Turner will teach kindergarten and music at the Howard avenue school. Beulah Eltvins, fifth grade and physical education at Hoover school. Eleanor J. Zelman, English, dramatics, and physical education at McKinley school. Lois Webber, first grade and orchestra at Coolidge school, and Frank H. Gibson, elementary science, band, orchestra and physical education at Roosevelt school.

SIR PETER

James Fitzgerald who closes his four years of College dramatics with the men's lead, Sir Peter Teazle, in the play to be given in the Little Theater Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week.

Players To Give Show Next Week

After seeing so many recent excellent productions of plays, both one-act and three-act, it is with the greatest interest that the student body awaits the coming of "School for Scandal", which is to be presented Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week.

Featuring many old favorites in the dramatic field here at State, the production should be a finished one. Jim Clancy who has advanced through hard work and natural talent, Dorothy Viera, who will be well-remembered as the Isben heroine, "Hedda Gabler", Fitzgerald, who has appeared in numerous plays and always gives charming characterizations, Louis Scales, who plays brittle comedy well, and Joy Arps, who once played the role of "Juliet" here a few years ago they are all in this one comedy which is a satire on the gossiping tendencies of English society in particular and human nature in general.

For future young stars we advise you to keep your eye on Elivra Pierri, as Mrs. Candour and Robert Baines, as Crabtree, Wesley Goddard as Backbite, and Ray Ruff with his infectious laugh as Sir Oliver.

All seats will be reserved for the three-night's performances. Tickets are now on sale and can be secured from the Speech Arts Department. The admission price is fifty cents, and it is expected that the play will go on before capacity houses all three nights.

PLANS FOR ELECTION COMPLETE; POLLS TO BE OPEN AT EIGHT TODAY

Majority Is Needed To Carry Vote, States Election Judge

With the announcement that Bill Moore, sophomore Council member, had dropped out of the running, the plans for the election of president and vice-president of the Associated Students were completed.

The two council members who were elected to this body Monday and who are running for office of president are Dario Simoni and Ronald Linn.

Rae Dobyns and Hugh Staffebach are competing for vice-president.

The election is to be held from 8 o'clock until 5 o'clock and any member of the Student Body is allowed to vote.

The procedure for the election will be the same as during the Council election. There must be a majority to elect. In case of a tie a run-over election will be held next week. The polls are situated in the main corridor where members of the election committee will be present to assist.

A.W.S. Sponsoring Program for Parent, Faculty Reception

"Hidden Music" will be one of the features of the Parent-Faculty Reception which is being sponsored by A.W.S., assisted by all of the women's organizations on the campus on Monday night, June 4th in room 1 of the Art building. Both men and women students are invited to attend and bring their parents or favorite faculty member. In case they are not living at home they are asked to invite any other relative or adult friend.

A.W.S. council is to receive in organ-die and other summer formals, and will be assisted in the serving by representatives of women's societies. Screens, flowers, and potted plants will be used to decorate the art room and also the adjoining terrace, according to Barbara Bruch who is in charge of decorations and arrangements.

A program consisting of a String quartette and other musical numbers has been arranged by Evelyn Cavalla. Rae Dobyns is in charge of the refreshments which will consist of punch and cookies and will be served during the evening. Kathleen McCarthy is general chairman for the event, which will be the last big affair sponsored by A.W.S. this quarter. Miss Elma Boyer is in charge of publicity.

Salvato, Taylor To Compete In Western Championships

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By
Conroy and Cox

New Angle On Relay Flat Century

Living under the impression that the over-discussed Kiesel-Salvato duel at the Fresno Relays, was stored away in record books to collect dust, an article bolting from the pages of last Sunday's Los Angeles Times brought us out of our lethargy with an entirely new angle on the affair. A third person has been introduced.

Irvig Echloff, feature columnist of the Times, has the following to say in connection with the race.

"There seems to be much discussion being kicked about regarding Bob Kiesel's victory over Lou Salvato in the open hundred at Fresno some weeks ago."

Most of the experts who were gathered at the finish believed that Lou was "done wrong". But consider for a moment the statement of Vincent Reel, Occidental dashman, who was fourth in the race.

"I talked with Salvato after the race and he did not believe he had won. In fact, I led the darn race myself until the last five yards. The finish was so close that Joe Pipal clocked me in 9.6 seconds. It was the first time this season that anyone has passed me in the last twenty yards, but I'm not kicking."

All very interesting. We wonder where Reel has been keeping himself. He seems to be making a belated appearance on this particular controversy.

Reel claims he led the race for 95 yards—yet fell back to fourth position in the final five yards. In spite of this he was clocked in 9.6, which, incidentally, was Kiesel's winning time.

Remarkable Mr. Reel! Quite remarkable!

Pollock to Compete in East

Riverside Junior College is sending its greatest of all track and field performers, "Mushy" Pollock—to Milwaukee, Wisconsin on June 29 to compete in the Annual N.A.A.U. meet.

Pollock is no doubt the outstanding junior college performer in the country this year. His marks of 9.6 in the hundred yard and 24 feet 7 1/2 inches in the broadjump will make him no small contender in the Nationals.

Salvato Runs June 9.

Captain Lou Salvato, Spartan track captain, and one of the outstanding sprinters on the Pacific Coast will not compete in the Marin Track meet this Sunday, contrary to reports appearing in the San Francisco papers recently.

In the first place Salvato has not received word from Charlie Hunter, Olympic Club coach, who was supposed to take him to the Marin meet.

Secondly, Erwin Blesh thinks Salvato should steer clear of these small meets, confining his efforts to training for the Far Western Championships at Berkeley on June 9 and the N.C.A.A. meet in Los Angeles on June 22 and 23.

Tomorrow night the members of the Physical Education faculty hold their annual barbecue in honor of high school graduates and Junior College transfers, who are expected to enroll here at San Jose State next fall.

The purpose of this affair is to give those future Spartans a chance to acquaint themselves with the men that will see them through their stay on Washington Square.

Members of the coaching staff and guests will be the only ones in attendance.

Graham Peake, Local Business Man, Is Donor

Wesley "Bud" Hubbard, outstanding Spartan football, basketball, and track athlete, has been selected as the first receiver of an honorary athletic award, to be given annually by Graham Peake.

Graham Peake, a San Jose business man, and former San Jose State student specifies that the athlete receiving the award must be outstanding in one sport, take part in another, maintain a scholastic average of "C", and have a high moral standing.

Bud Hubbard meets all qualifications. Football has been Hubbard's fortune at San Jose State. He captained the 1932 grid machine to a Far Western Conference title, and in the following season of 1933 lead the Spartan eleven to a second place in the Conference. In both these years he won end posts on the mythical all-Conference selections.

Aside from football, Hubbard lent his prowess to the basketball and track fields. He ran the quarter mile in track, being one of the premier performers in that event in his two years of competition. As a senior he gave up track for basketball play. Hubbard's great guard play during the past hoop campaign was instrumental in the winning of the Conference crown by the Spartans. He was a unanimous choice on various sport writer's and coaches all-conference basketball teams for a guard position.

Hubbard will receive the first Peake Athletic Award on Recognition Day, this June 6th.

Breastroke Strong State Swim Event

With Captain Harold Houser leading the list, the Spartan mermen had their greatest strength in the breaststroke races this year. Besides Houser there were Dave Lynn, Jerry Tuxford, and Fenton Murray to make up a strong quartet of breast stroke men. Ky Martin, another good man, had to drop from swimming at the early part of the season due to sinus trouble.

Houser was consistently good for a first place in the breaststroke events. He defeated Bob Foster, the Stanford captain - elect in a 100-yard race in the only meeting of the two men during the season. Hal was one of the two men to bring a first place to the Spartans in the Northern California Championships, winning the first place medal in the 100 yard breaststroke race.

Captain Houser is the holder of the pool and school records in the 100 yard event in the fast time of 1 minute 13.1 seconds. He also holds the school record in the 200 yard event in 2 minutes 41 seconds. The pool record in the 200 yard event was set by Bob Foster in the championships in 2 minutes 41 seconds in a race in which Houser did not compete.

Dave Lynn was another very consistent man in the breaststroke and although his times are overshadowed by Houser's work, he was very valuable to the team. Although not brilliant,

INITIAL AWARD WINNER

Bud Hubbard, Spartan football, the past year. He will receive the track and basketball star, has been first Peake Athletic Award Recognition Day.

Hopkins Twins Marion And Virginia, Florida's Gift To Swimming World, Assault Records

Hollywood, Fla. (UP)—This city, nationally known to the swimming world because it is the home of Katherine Rawls, world's champion swimmer and diver, has a couple of red-haired twins coming along so fast that soon Miss Rawls will have to step over and give them a large part of the national spotlight.

The twins, Marion and Virginia Hopkins, age 12, and weighing about 100 pounds each, were "discovered" by Mollie Grimshaw, one-time world's champion high diver, less than two years ago when at a community swimming class she was teaching.

They first caught the public eye last winter in a meet at the Miami-Giltmore pool. The judges considered them so lightly that they did not enter their names and had to call time out so they could find out and announce who won.

Dave, who was last year's captain, consistently scored points for the locals in this event, as well as being a good freestyler, and swimming the medley swim when the occasion demanded.

Jerry Tuxford and Fenton Murray are two freshmen who with a little experience and more development will make valuable additions to the strength of the local mermen.

The same oversight occurred at the Roman pools, Miami Beach, the following week.

Two oversights and two "firsts" caused officials to start keeping an eye on them at the Southeastern A.A.U. meet.

Here is what they did:
Marion Hopkins—high point individual of junior meet for girls, 19 points; 1st, 880 yard freestyle, time 13:22.3, 32.1 seconds less than old mark of Evelyn Rawls, sister to the world's champion; 1st, 440 yard freestyle, time 6:26.5; 1st, in mile swim; brought home three gold medals and silver trophy.

Virginia Hopkins—in junior meet did 110 yard back stroke in 1:32.3, bettering Evelyn Rawls' record of 1:36; 3rd, junior 300 yard and individual medley; 3rd, 330 yard medley; in senior meet was 3rd in 110 yard freestyle; 3rd in 440 yard free-style; 2nd in mile, and 2nd in 880 yard freestyle; brought home six assorted gold, silver and bronze medals.

Coast Track Stars Meet At Berkeley On Ninth Of June

Lou Salvato will get his last taste of competition before the N.C.A.A. when he goes to Berkeley to compete in the Far Western track and field championships June 9. This also will be his last collegiate appearance before northern California audiences.

Fast Competition

This will not merely be a meet of exhibitions; some of the best performers in the country will be there, because every amateur is eligible to compete. Bob Kiesel, the California speedster, will be Salvato's chief competition. George Anderson the Golden Bear's premier and much heralded Frosh sprinter, has already started his summer vacation's work so it is unlikely that he will compete.

Contrary to all reports, Lou Salvato will not compete in the Parent Teachers Association Field Day this Saturday at Kezar Stadium, nor will he compete in the Marin County Track Meet Sunday.

Kiesel will be the strongest competitor Lou will have to face and will give him a good idea how fast he will have to run in Los Angeles at the National Collegiate. Salvato has an excellent chance of reversing the decision Kiesel gained at the West Coast Relays in Fresno a few weeks ago. The airplane trip from the east to compete in these championships will take something out of the "Berkeley Bullet" and he should be at his best if he expects to take the local runner.

Metcalf

May Compete

Ralph Metcalf, colored speedster from Marquette University and recognized co-holder with Wyckoff of the world's record of 9.4 seconds for the 100 yard dash, may enter and attempt to add another title to his many victories.

If Metcalf on his way to the N.C.A.A. stops over at Berkeley for that meet it will bring together three of the nation's greatest sprinters.

No matter who competes though, it is safe to say that Captain Lou Salvato will give a more than excellent account of himself.

OUTSTANDING CAST IN PRESENTATION OF PLAY FOR FRESHMAN CLASS

In a production that was outstanding primarily because of the acting of Gary Simpson in the role of James Dyke, "The Valiant" under the direction of Al Siegler was presented before the Freshman Class at orientation yesterday.

It is quite unusual that a freshman distinguishes himself to such an extent that he is obviously one of the best actors in the school, and it has not been accomplished by anyone during the past five years except in the case of Jim Clancy, but by his performance in this play Gary has made it evident that he will undoubtedly follow Clancy to "stardom", if such a thing is possible at San Jose State.

Simpson's portrayal of James Dyke was heightened by one of the most pleasing voices ever heard on the State stage, and was especially effective in contrast with the higher tones used by Sally McConaghey in her portrayal of "The Girl".

The latter was especially convincing in her last scene, but throughout the preceding scenes seemed to lack a sincerity that would have aided the characterization immensely.

Bob Wright, as the Warden; Frank Hamilton, as the Priest; and Jim Mathieson, as the Guard, completed the excellent cast, and were largely responsible for the success of the production in view of the fact that a weak supporting cast will ruin the good work done by the remainder of the group.

Al Siegler is to be congratulated for the directing and stage management that made this performance of "The Valiant" the most successful one-act that has been presented under student-direction in the history of San Jose State.

Bids On Sale for Senior Formal Ball Now

Bids are now on sale for the Formal Senior Ball to be given June 15 at the Sainte Claire Hotel, it was announced today by William A. Moore, head of the bid committee.

Only 150 are on sale, Moore said and they may be obtained from John Evans, Moore, or from the Controller's office for $1.75.

Craigs Cardinals will probably furnish the music, according to Moore. Decorations will be in charge of Lucille Fonfara, Margaret Rosebrook, and Betty Gill.

The Western group will be on the field June 9 to August 13.

The Eastern will begin about July 1 to the middle of September. Glamour, sheer beauty, the revelation of nature as she really is will enthrall the members of the expedition.

FROSH-SOPH DANCE

By Michael Angelo

Just Among Ourselves

Of course, you'll rush away just as soon as classes are over Commencement Week. If you haven't immediate, pressing engagements other than just getting away from where you are, I believe you would find it worth while to attend the Commencement ceremonies. We're making a bit of show of Commencement. We don't go in for shows very often, but Commencement is the time when we put on the dog as it were, show that we have academic gowns, show that we know the traditions connected with our profession, and give ourselves a good time being performers again. The academic procession, the music, the presentation ceremonies, honor graduate, friends and visitors, all make up a day of considerable beauty and thrilling interest. There's something rather fine about it all, truly inspiring. You might enjoy it. We don't need spectators, since we usually have a large crowd. I am thinking only that it may be of interest to you.

I have no doubt many of you will be looking for athletes to come to San Jose next fall. You may do some encouraging to certain undecided husky individuals, but in your enthusiasm don't forget that State offers opportunities to all sorts of abilities, music, art, dramatics, speech, debating, writing, and scholarship. Let's encourage good stuff of all kinds. If the FERA continues next year, we shall be able to help out with jobs a good many young people of outstanding ability. If the FERA does not continue, then we hope to find some funds that will permit us to offer jobs to a smaller number perhaps.

I attended our A Cappella Choir concert in the Stanford church last Tuesday evening, and it was one of the finest things I have ever heard. In those beautiful surroundings, the truly remarkable productions put on by our choir had a perfect setting, and I am sure were a great inspiration to all who attended. It struck me afterwards that possibly we should pay more attention to encouraging people with good voices to come to San Jose. Certainly they can here receive a remarkable training, and it is truly to their interests as well as that of the college for them to come here for a continuance of their work. I can hardly believe that we can find fifty-five such excellent voices in any single year's group of students. I suspect that we are particularly fortunate at this time. Excellent voices, of course, will be attracted to San Jose when they know we are offering such opportunities, but it is up to us to let every one know about it. Such a development is cumulative. The more good voices we have, the more good voices that will come.

I feel very definitely that San Jose is on the up-grade and improving in all departments. For many years we have done excellent work, but particularly recently more young people of ability have decided to come here, the result being that our products in many lines are of outstanding merit. If you want to do some bragging, now's a good time to do it.

overdone in view of the fact that the only other alternative is to believe Mrs. Penn to be somewhat of a mystic possessed of extremely amorous tendencies. She is, it seems, forever bumping into God or being torn by the bleeding anguish of her frustrated passions. While oscillating between eleven of these orgies, however, Mrs. Penn has produced three charming works: "Connoisseur," "Sorrow," and "Bossue at the Organ" whose subject chose places all three in that class whose appeal is one to be felt by all.

Experiments with new broadcasting locales seem to be the style now with the air concerns. The latest, performed by Captain Charles Scully of the American Red Cross for N.B.C., was an underwater broadcast made with a microphone installed inside a watertight life-saving mask.

The performance was so successful—since it was made in the swimming pool of the Park Central Hotel in New York—that N.B.C. is intending to go ahead with definite plans for a broadcast from deep water under the surface of the ocean early this summer.

However, the original plans called for a description of sea life in the harbor of N.Y., but the water was murky enough to vaguely resemble Seal Rocks in a fog. So now the scene for the broadcast probably will be shifted to Jones Beach, State Park.

Another hotcha quartet, the Beale Street Boys, who have been aising 'em in the South, are offering five popular song arrangements on their regular Friday program via KFRC at 3:45. The first offering, "My Gal Sal", will be the feature number with a new version of "We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines" following a close second.

If these boys ever get as hot as the song after which they are named it'd be safe to dial 'em with asbestos gloves.

A bit of good news from the Armour Company comes in the statement that the whole cast of Phil Baker, Bottle, Beetle, Mabel, and Roy Shield will continue to carry the torch for the ham concern through the summer. They are heard Fridays via KGO at 5:30.

TONIGHT'S BEST IN BRIEF:
KGO Phil Harris' Orchestra with Leah Ray, Vocalist, 5; First Nighter, 6; Jack Benny and stooges, 6:30; One Man's Family, 7:30; Dancing with Tom Coakley, Williams-Walsh, and Happy Felton at 9:30, 10:15, and 11.

KBO—Adventures of Frank Merriwell, 5:15; Clef Dwellers, vocal trio, 7; Comedy Stars of Hollywood, 7:30; Eno Crime Clues, 8:30; Through Looking Glass with Frances Ingram, 9:15; Night Court, 10.

Qualifications Of Ronald Linn Given

There are certain qualifications which we as students demand from our Student Body President.

We demand someone who is willing to work for us and do his utmost to further the interests of all. Someone who is equal to the job we give him. Among the students qualified for this office none stand higher than RONALD LINN.

He is a member of Spartan Knights, Spartan Senate, and of Tau Delta Phi, Men's Honor Society, and has recently been elected president of Kappa Delta Pi, National Education Society.

For the past two years a member of the Verse Speaking Choir, Ronald Linn has been one of those whose untiring efforts have made this organization into one which has gained not only State-wide recognition, but honor outside of California.

In public speaking, Linn is a seasoned veteran. His participation as one of the six key Debaters last year had behind it three years of debate work during which he has participated in more than thirty collegiate Debates.

Many students can give us the activities we want and Ronald Linn is one of them. He can, and will, however give us more. He can give us the Student Body government we want. He understands our problems. He knows how to meet them. He is a hard worker; one on whom we can depend for square shooting and partiality to all.

We want some one with a keen interest in the affairs of our Student Body. Someone who knows how to further all of our interests. Someone who is a member of no clique, but is for the students as a whole. Someone who is a leader.

That someone is Ronald Linn.

ting on the part of WJSV announcers was noticed in Washington, D.C. last week following the announcement that Dr. James L. Hambleton's best flock of live bees would perform before the microphone over the C.B.S. chain during the Science Service program.

The sudden shyness of all station announcers when called up to confront Dr. Hambleton's bees in the privacy of a WJSV studio was finally solved by drawing straws—and Harold Gray was chosen to do the announcing. Harold is a lad measuring six feet three over all and weighing just 250 pounds.

After reading this, Hash will probably pun-ish us by saying, "Plenty of parking space, bee-lieve me!"

Student Criticizes Writing Ability
Of Phelan Literary Contest Winners

The second Phelan Literary Award Contest brought to light, or rather substantiated, the fact that though the aspirants have no lack of technical skill their efforts lack the feeling of genuine reality through a failure to put themselves in harmony with the main, all absorbing currents of today. Good work was done, but examination of the subject matter—over the vital part of any true Literature—proves discouraging.

Allegorically speaking, writers of today stand by a chasm wherein a roaring turbulent flood thunders away into darkness. Smoke, mist, and vapor hover luridly over it—there are flashes of lightning—the thunder rumbles—the wind whines. These waters are swift, white-capped, living; they are the life of our day—vital, dramatic, flamet. Yet those who should chronicle the mighty scene seem blind. They do not see the dizzy flow, but dip from the stagnant pools along the banks and save the tepid mixture as their contribution to the morrow.

So with our college Literati. They waste their technical abilities on trivialities. Where the great of past ages dipped deeply into the life about them, these, our fellow students, are unable to lay aside their personal egos for something bigger, but, under the delusion of creating Literature, search their deepest psychological bogs and disgorge the purely personal results, naked and throbbing, before the eyes of all. It is this mistaken outlook which has been responsible for nearly half the material in the El Portal prize number.

Mrs. Penn expresses the attitude in her "De Gustibus Artis" therein claiming that art is "non utilitarian" and "useless". Mrs. Penn loses sight of the fact that the basic law of life is the discarding of the useless. Art cannot be useless and survive. She forgets that the Acropolis, every slab of which is pure utilitarian, after two thousand years still stands as the lively ruin of something which for sheer beauty has never been surpassed. It was a piece of art built by an artist—and it was not useless.

Miss Jean Vera Smith seems to have usurped the position the former Jean Sewell Smith occupied. Also, her subject matter seems to have been drawn from somewhat the same source—the vagrancies of cupid. Three of her four contributions are built about this theme being "Sonnet", "Mystery", and "Love Affair". The style is more direct and clear than is that of Mrs. Penn; however, being much less florid. No doubt readers will divide opinion on this point some inclined to consider its lack of ornamentation a sign of immaturity in style, others upholding it.

"The Man Who Lost His Umbrella" is the story of weak-chinned soul who goes adventuring into the big bad world with an umbrella for a lance. The author has treated what should have been humorously handled with painful sobriety. The result is regrettable.

"Carnival", by Florence Wright, is an interesting and well written chronicle of the general history of the carnival, tracing it from its earliest recognizable forms to the present. The subject is competently handled and presented in a smooth easy style pleasant to the reader. An interesting method of putting the reader into the mental state of a carnival has been employed toward the end of the essay where the rapid skipping from one subject to only partially related subjects gives the reader that sense of confusion and joyful disorder which is the essence of Carnival.

It is regrettable that the great ability which Robert J. Wright and Gary Simpson both show in short story writing could produce, no matter how well written, just another story. This is, of course, due to the common fault, failure to write of realities. The one goes back 2000 years to exume the much tried form of Pheidippides; the other back to the Battle of New Orleans. Both, had they looked at life just off our campus and not dreamed in the past, might have produced something unusual. As it is—

In his "Science and Religion" Adrian Wilbur gives voice to an experience all thinking persons have encountered. However, not all have, like Mr. Wilbur made a philosophical circle and arrived at the point of starting. This is a well written piece of work.

The depth of feeling with which Mrs. J. S. Penn habitually embues her verse leaves little room for doubt of her sincerity. One cannot but be inclined however, to the suspicion that it is a bit
