NEW BUILDINGS ARE SOUGHT BY COLLEGE PREXY

Projects For College Will Be Discussed With Architect

Dr. T.W. MacQuarrie left for Fresno yesterday to attend a conference of state college presidents, where he plans to ask for a sum sufficient to cover the purchase of the city library, and for an amount large enough to build a music plant for the college.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss new building projects. State architect George B. McDougall, chief of the division of Architecture, and Mr. P. T. Poag his assistant, will talk over plans with the various presidents.

The proposed music building will have 100 practice rooms, classrooms for voice, piano, brass, reed, and stringed instruments, four rooms for theory, a music library, one lecture room with capacity for 100 students, a little theater to hold approximately 700, instrument rooms, lockers, storage, offices, etc.

Dr. MacQuarrie will ask for a deisel engine lighting power plant, in order to lower the high lighting rates we are paying at the present time.

If the administration is establishing a policy of a comprehensive building program, he will ask for a new English building for San Jose State, and rather a large addition to the library.

Meet Held By Kappa Delta Pi Council

Members of the council of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity on the campus, held their first meeting of the quarter last Tuesday evening in room 155 to discuss plans and activities for the fall quarter.

Mrs. Lillian Gray, counselor of the organization, gave a brief talk about the purpose and activities of the Patron's Association of the college. She stated that Kappa Delta Pi has been invited to participate in important community service work.

According to Ronald Linn, president of Kappa Delta Pi, the first regular meeting of the society will be held on October 9 in room 155 at 7:30.

Dr. Margaret Jones To Be Guest At Staff Tea

Dr. Margaret Jones, head of the homemaking department, will be the guest of honor at a Russian tea to be given this afternoon by the staff of the department. The college faculty has been invited.

The Russian theme will be carried out in the invitations, decorations and food. Gay peasant dolls, Russian pottery, and brassware will be part of the attractive decoration scheme.

One of the important social events of the quarter, the tea will welcome Dr. Jones to the college faculty.

Re-opening Of Library Looms As Students Promise Reform

Day Study In Library Causes Fall in Grid Attendance

Despite intense interest in football and the Spartan varsity, a host of San Jose State students spent the day of the Spartan-Stanford clash in the San Jose State college library, records show.

"More than eighty volumes were checked from the library and all facilities were in use during big game afternoon," declared Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian.

Unless the library is re-opened for use, a lessened attendance at San Jose State games is anticipated by authorities. With the library closed evenings, many students must avail themselves of its facilities on Saturday, they declare.

With the library still closed to evening users, many students will be unable to attend next Saturday's Spartan Varsity-Santa Barbara Athletic Club clash, it is feared.

Tryouts For Players Will Be Held Friday Before Mr. H. Gillis

Students who are interested in things dramatic will have an opportunity to display their talent this afternoon and Friday from four to six.

San Jose Players are holding their semi-annual tryouts for new members at this time, and a great many applicants are expected, according to Mr. Hugh W. Gillis, director of the Player's organization.

Those interested in belonging to this club, may sign up for the time at which they wish to try-out, on the bulletin board outside of Room 165. Try-out sheets may be secured from Mr. Gillis, in room 51, or Miss Jenks, head of the Speech department in room 57.

Those not interested in acting may take a written tryout on lighting, costuming, make-up, etc. These written try-outs may also be secured from Mr. Gillis.

Berta Gray Is Delegate At Illinois Convention

Attending the National Council of Methodist Youth as a delegate from California, Miss Berta Gray, assistant to the director of publications, enjoyed a two week's summer trip to Evanston, Illinois, and the World's Fair in Chicago, leaving San Jose for the East late in August.

While at the Council Miss Gray visited with Miss Evelyn Miller, former president of the College Alumni Association and teacher at the San Jose High School. Miss Miller is now dean of women in one of the large eastern universities.

Over one thousand young people from forty-three states were in attendance at the four-day conference.

Miss Gray served as secretary of the Findings committee, one of the major bodies.

Linn To Name Group For Investigation Of Conditions

HEAD TELLS CASE

Backus Favors Plan, Waits Action By Protest Group

Re-opening of the San Jose State College library at night, and removal of the six o'clock "curfew" which resulted from misbehavior of students frequenting the college reading room during the evening, appeared imminent this morning as Student Body President Ronald Linn, heading a special committee appointed by the student council, prepared to consult with Miss Joyce Backus, librarian, regarding the necessary moves to re-establish the former library evening closing hour.

The library committee consists of eight students from representative organizations on the campus, appointed at a meeting of the student council Tuesday.

This group will determine what action is necessary to clear up the present "undesirable" situation, and to consider some form of student control which will insure good conduct on the part of student users in the future.

Both Linn, representing the Associated Students, and Miss Backus, have expressed willingness and a desire to cooperate in the reopening of the library, indicating that action will be taken shortly.

"We will be willing to re-open the library nights if the students feel as the council does, and if the committee investigating the matter represents the student body," declared Miss Backus, when informed of Linn's plan.

"The conditions have become very serious. Students are reporting that it will be impossible to continue in school if library material is not accessible at night," she said.

Linn stated that the student executive group stands ready to cooperate in every way necessary to insure the library's re-opening. He made it clear, however, that the student library committee is not to be considered as a "monitorial" group which will stand guard over library visitors during the evening.

"Unless the entire student body is willing to assist in this effort, the present attempt of student officers must end in failure."

Details of the specific plan to be followed by the library committee were not forthcoming from Linn.

Probably due to the increased statistical work since codes and the N.R.A. started, according to Dr. Earl W. Atkinson, there is a record enrollment in beginning accounting classes. The college budget has been stretched to cover an additional class of figure jugglers.

Rushing Rules Include Conduct-Code For Use Of Library

Furthering the movement to abolish misconduct in the San Jose State college library, and thereby bring about a resumption of library service after six o'clock at night, a code of conduct issued yesterday by the Inter-Society council in connection with the 1934 Sorority rushing rules specifically provides for good behavior in the library on the part of associated women students.

Under the heading "This Group Stands For", the provisions that there is to be "no talking in the library", and "no sneaking of books from the library", have been specifically included.

This definitely throws the Inter-Society council, representing all college sororities, into line with a powerful student movement to lift the six o'clock closing rule which became effective with the opening of the new Autumn quarter.

The customary detailed regulations governing sorority rushing

Hiking Club Will Hold Jaunt To Mission Ridge Plan For Next Sunday

With a jaunt to the summit of Mission ridge as its objective, the San Jose Hiking Club will set forth Sunday morning on the initial outing of the quarter.

The organization consists of a student executive committee under the leadership of Mr. Elmo Robinson, faculty member in the psychology department; and invited students, the faculty, and their friends.

Planning to drive about 17 miles to a ranch on the mountain, and hike the remaining two miles to the summit, those who attend will make the return trip early in the afternoon.

Hikers are asked to bring their own lunches and meet at 7th and San Fernando streets at 8:30 Sunday morning. People who have cars and wish to drive are asked to meet at the appointed place to take passengers. Transportation expenses will be defrayed by placing a toll of fifteen cents per person on those who furnish no cars. This sum will be allotted to the drivers.

Spartan Grid Heroes Receive Show Passes

San Jose State football men, with their managers and coaches, will receive free passes to the Mission Theater from time to time during the playing season, it was announced by Si Simoni, captain of the team.

Forty-eight members of the team, players and managers, attended the Mission Theater as guests of the management last Friday night on the eve of the Stanford Game.

According to Simoni, if arrangements can be made, a theater party will be held the evening before each game.

PLAYERS SHOW "STILL LIFE" TO NEW ENTRANTS

Dramatic Organization To Entertain Frosh With Comedy

The San Jose Players, college dramatic organization, will entertain the Freshmen at Orientation in the Morris Dailey auditorium today with a one-act play, it was announced yesterday.

The play is Molnar's "Still Life," and promises to be highly entertaining.

Whether the players wish to make a good impression on the incoming students, or wish to start the year on a high standard, has not been divulged. At any rate, a large amount of time, energy and ability have been put into the presentation to guarantee its smooth and creditable performance.

Joy Arps, director of the play, and Lawrence Mendenhall, of the speech arts department, who are putting the finishing touches on the presentation this week, have expressed confidence in the outcome of their efforts.

Sophisticated Farce

The play "Still Life" is one of Molnar's sophisticated farce comedies. Molnar keeps the dialogue and the situation deftly balanced between farce and high comedy, and the directors have made every effort to retain this mixture of the slightly artificial and broadly humorous.

The cast includes Joy Arps, remembered for her Juliet and her Lady Teazle, Jim Clancy, seen as Romeo and Lilliom, and Jean McCrae, who, in the play, further justifies the praise she won as Mother Hollunder in Lilliom.

Dr. Carl Duncan To Open First Science Seminar on Monday

"Hibernation and Related Types of Dormancy in Animals" will be the topic of a talk to be given Monday at 4:15 in the large lecture room by Dr. Carl D. Duncan, member of the Science department faculty.

To be continued as a regular weekly feature of the science department program, the seminar this quarter will offer several interesting speakers in a variety of instructive, entertaining talks.

All senior and junior science majors are expected to be present at the weekly meetings, and anyone else interested in the program is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Olive Kuntz To Print History Book

Dr. Olive Kuntz, professor of Ancient History, left Monday for New York, expecting to confer with the publishers of her book on ancient history, written last year on a research leave of absence, spent at University of California.

During the week and a half absence of Dr. Kuntz, her classes are being taken by Mr. Bernard Weber, a former State student and, at present, teaching fellow at University of California, where he is working for his Doctor's degree.

How About It?

This editorial might rightly be entitled "So What?" The subject is the present library situation.

When classes were resumed for the fall quarter, it was announced that the library would not be open in the evening as has been the custom in previous years.

Editorials and comments by prominent students against library-less nights were printed in the Spartan Daily every day.

Football players, and others whose hours outside of classes are taken up with work, condemn among themselves the closing of the library at night because it is impossible for them to get the books they want during the day.

In two interviews, Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian, expressed a willingness to keep the library open at night again provided the students would study instead of making a social hall out of the place.

The student council voted Tuesday in favor of re-opening the library at night.

It is possible for this sort of thing to go on forever. The students may continue to moan about being unable to do their work because the library is closed at night, and the library staff may continue to express their willingness to keep the library open at night provided it is used only for studying, and still the library will stay closed.

The affair has to be brought to a climax soon or we may be facing this same problem for years.

Just what are you going to do about it? We have been trying, and we still are, to get the library to open at night again. So far we have been unsuccessful because we have been unable to arouse the students as a whole to some definite action in the matter.

Have all of you been able to finish during the day whatever work you have to do in the library? Is that the cause of the apparent lack of interest? Or is it because you have assumed a "don't care" attitude about everything that doesn't cause you actual physical discomfort?

There are many of us who are so unfortunate as to be unable to even pass the library during the day. Because we belong to this group, the problem has been brought home to us in full force.

There are a few students working for the many all during the day—publishing this paper, planning dances, organizing the year book, practicing football, and working at numerous other activities that the remainder accept without question as their right.

These workers are able to study only at night. We are not asking only for justice for them, nor are we doing any flag waving, or shouting for the students to rally round to support some abstract cause.

This library situation has now arrived at the point where it becomes a matter of deep personal concern to every student in this college.

What are you going to do about it?

Got Five Centavos?
Mexicans Sell Goods
Cheap Says Visitor

"If you want to buy many things, and yet spend very little, you should go to Mexico," declares Miss Winifred Ferris, instructor in the modern language department, who returned from a summer spent traveling in Mexico with many samples of native handicraft.

Some of the things she brought back with her may be seen in the exhibit case at the entrance to the library. Other articles in the case were loaned for exhibit by Miss Bernice Tompkins of the Social Science department, who made a similar trip to Mexico a year ago.

"You can buy so much for a peso, which is worth about thirty cents that you come to regard it as a dollar," Miss Ferris explained, and identified the peso as being the largest coin on the market. The smallest is a centavo, worth about one hundredth of a peso. And take it from Miss Ferris, the number of things you can buy for five or ten centavos is surprising.

"An interesting piece of money is the toston, worth about half a peso," said Miss Ferris. "This coin is useful in paying taxicab drivers, as this is the usual fare. When you approach the cab, you ask the driver, 'Toston la viajada?' If he answers in the affirmative, then you get in, but if he answers 'no' then you gesture negatively and try another cab."

Besides the coins, Miss Ferris brought back some glassware and some blankets, or "serapes" which are displayed in the exhibit. The glassware is typical Mexican bubble glass, and is very expensive. The largest blue piece is upright in the form of the Virgin Quadaupe, patron saint of Mexico.

The clay figures were brought by Miss Ferris from some Indians at the site of the old pyramids, San Juan Teotihuacan, and Tenayuca. These are examples of prehistoric art in that section and were unearthed there by Indians while ploughing the fields.

"The articles on exhibit are very common in Mexico," Miss Ferris explained, "but are nevertheless picturesque to us."

From college trees and hedges.

The faculty may walk in peace
Enjoy their shining bubble
No longer need they fear the reds
Will cause the slightest trouble.

Too bad for the Czar, that this

Has vanquished all the wicked reds
Was not in office then.

Santa Barbara Looks Strong In Opening Game

By Dick Edmonds

When the Santa Barbara Athletic Club football team meets the Spartans here this Saturday, it will be fighting for its second victory of the season, having defeated Santa Barbara State last Saturday by the score of 6 to 0.

In defeating the collegians, the clubmen accomplished no inconsiderable feat, as the Hilltoppers, coached by "Spud" Harder, are considered strong in their section of the state.

With a wealth of material following Harder from Bakersfield, where he formerly coached, the collegians made stiff opposition for an opening game and served as a true test of the ability of the clubmen.

The club's victory makes them loom as a very tough assignment for the Spartans this week.

Reports received from Santa Barbara show the Clubmen to be a well-balanced outfit, capable of giving any team a real tussle.

Larry Lane, left end for the club men, is an outstanding player, and was the manufacturer of the only score of the game with the Santa Barbara Hilltoppers.

Lane, just before the close of the first half, ripped into the backfield of the Gauchos where he took a lateral pass at top speed and tore off for a 55-yard gallop to the goal line.

Harry Gallagher, in the opinion of the southern scribes, is one of the best ball carriers in the West, and is touted as being a fine defensive fullback. Gallagher is a former Santa Barbara Jaycee star.

Laurie Stevens, a veteran back for the Orange and Black, is said to be an exceptionally fine field general. Besides calling the signals Stevens serves as an assistant coach under Shutte, the boss of the clubmen.

In the line, the Orange and Black has weight and experience on its side. The Haggerty brothers, Moose and Bob, offer small chance for gains over the tackle positions. Roger Watson, guard, also promises to make it tough for the Spartan backs.

Word has been received that the names of two former U.C.L.A. players may appear in the club lineup Saturday. Norman Duncan and Bob Hendry are the Bruin pair mentioned as possible starters against State.

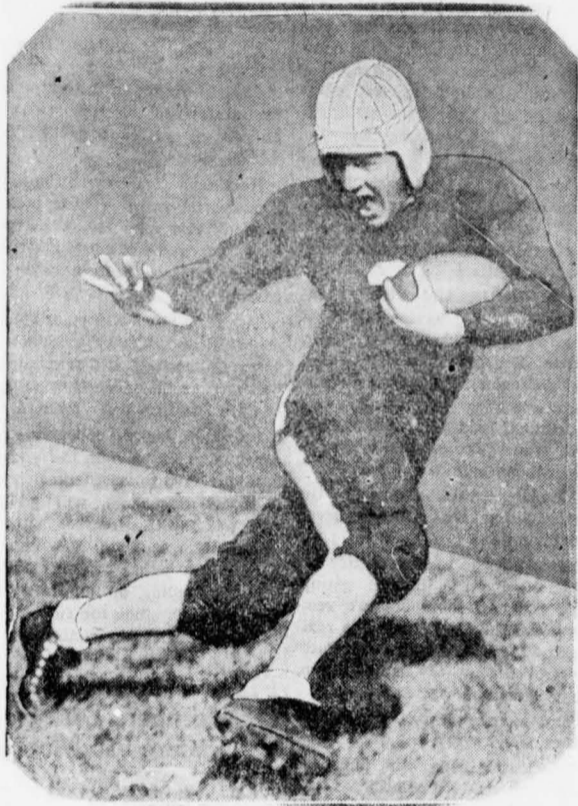

Duncan will be remembered as the slashing halfback at U.C.L.A. several years ago. Hendry was with the Bruin squad last year and is known to be a topnotch performer.

San Jose will have to be in top shape if it hopes to escape defeat in Saturday's clash, but judging from the spirit of the squad, the Spartans should enter the game at least an even choice.

SPORTS

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER, 27, 1934

ARJO . . . Watch For Him Saturday

Ray Arjo, who wears jersey 13, and plays halfback on Coach DeGroot's varsity, will probably see plenty of action Saturday when the Spartans meet the Santa Barbara A. C. in the Stadium.

DEE SHEHTANIAN

178 pounds — half back

The "bearded beauty" will be playing his last year of football at State this season and, judging by his outstanding work in the Stanford game it will be his biggest. If there were to be a choice of "inspiration man" for the football squad, Dee would probably be a unanimous choice. Shehtanian is a fighting type of player who never lets down, even when the going is the toughest. His defensive work is characterized by a devil-may-care attitude which bids no good for the opposing backs.

The "Tulare Flash" is not a one sport man but, on the contrary, he nearly won the California State track meet single-handed. All he did was take first places in the broad jump, high hurdles, and low hurdles for a grand total of 16 points.

Chico To Have Light Grid Team

CHICO, Sept. 24—After two nights of scrimmage Coach Art Acker's light weight Chico gridgers begin to look like a real football squad.

Ten lightning fast backfield men and two good, though light, lines make things appear more encouraging than at any time since Chico's surprise win over San Jose State last Turkey Day.

Two legitimate 9.9 sprinters are leading the backs in a race for positions with Jimmy Haynes, 185 pound half back from San Fernando, on the first team. His speedy teammate Hank Henry, winner of the conference hurdles two years ago.

A fighting line that will average a little better than 170 pounds from end to end is the question mark in Chico football so far. Another Frosh, Clarence Pentico, is holding down one wing post and has shown himself to be a fine pass receiver and a good defensive man. The other end is veteran Odell Applegate, a steady, reliable performer. Bud Asher and Howard Schmidt, veteran tackles, are leading the field for their job.

There is still room for one or two more people in the horseback riding class, Miss Doris Dean, riding instructor, announced yesterday. The class will be held from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock, Monday afternoon at the Toyon stables.

This class is open to men as well as women students.

The fee is $16.50 for ten, two hour lessons.

Plans for an All College Play Day to be held on October 13, in connection with Homecoming festivities, will be discussed at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Women's Athletic Association, today noon.

The Play Day, similar to the successful one held last autumn, will be open to all women students at the college, according to the physical education instructors.

Miss Helen Hardenbergh, instructor of women's gym, is to serve as faculty adviser for the Play Day, which will be the first fall activity of the Women's Athletic Association.

The Social Dancing Club, an organization of San Jose State students, elected Wilbur Davis to the presidency at their first meeting of the year last Monday. Angelo Covello was named vice president; Lois Foy, W.A.A. representative.

The dancing club anticipates an active season according to the new president.

Shining new arrows and targets have been provided for State's co-ed Archers to start their shooting season, which will begin next Wednesday on the green in front of the Women's gym.

The Archery Club plans got well under way at the first club meeting held last Monday. The members have selected Wednesday from 12:20 to 1:00 o'clock as their regular meeting date, according to Helen Maxwell, the president of the club. The club also plan for a social meeting once a month.

Miss Helen Hardenbergh, the Archery Club adviser, has extended invitations for membership to all women students interested in archery.

Dancing the "light fantastic" will occupy the attention of a large number of San Jose State women during the autumn quarter if enrollment in Junior Orchesis, womens' classical dance society, is any indication.

Twenty students have already enrolled in the club, and an unusual

Sophomore Grid Managers Needed, Says George Cash

Opportunity to Travel With Grid Teams For Managers

An opportunity to see the football games from the sidelines, and earn a half unit of credit at the same time, is waiting for about a dozen San Jose State students, George Cash, senior football manager, announced this morning.

"The quickest way to be recognized as somebody on this campus is to be a football manager," Cash said. "You are given a sweater with ensignia, and are sent on trips with the teams."

"It's little work, lots of fun, and a grand opportunity to earn your block," he added.

"According to the managerial system used here, about twelve sophomore managers are chosen each year. Sophomore does not refer to the student's year in college, but to the number of years he has been manager.

FOUR MANAGERS

"Each year there are four junior managers, chosen from the preceding year's sophomore managers.

"From the junior managers are chosen the senior manager and the assistant senior manager."

Duties of the sophomore managers consist in setting up the equipment for the football team," Cash explained.

"Junior managers supervise the work of the sophomore managers. Two are chosen through a rotation system to accompany the team on all trips.

"The assistant senior manager has charge of the Frosh team equipment. He accompanies the Frosh on all trips.

At the head of the managerial system is the senior manager. He has charge of all equipment, and is responsible for its repair and replacement.

SWEATERS ISSUED

Sweaters are issued to each manager. The sophomores may receive sweat shirts this year. The junior managers will get white sweaters with the ensignia "Junior Manager" on them.

The seniors sweaters are alike, white with a block letter and the manager or assistant qualification."

Manager Cash announced that any student who wished to become a sophomore manager may see him at the men's gym between four and six.

amount of enthusiasm was shown at the first meeting held last Tuesday in the dance studio of the women's gym, according to Miss Margaret Jewell, adviser of Junior Orchesis.

Beginners are especially welcome, Miss Jewell stated.

The club meetings are held every Tuesday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock in the dance studio, and new dance problems are presented each meeting, according to Miss Jewell. Additional information concerning attendance, or material presented at Junior Orchesis can be furnished by Beth Simerville, president of Orchesis, or by Miss Jewell, the club adviser.

Of interest to sports fans are the action pictures of the San Jose State-Stanford game last Saturday, now being displayed in the windows of J. S. Williams' clothing store. The pictures were taken by Frank Gordon of the San Jose News and Lomar Engraving Service, and are said to be especially good. The exhibit will be changed each week.

SERA WORKERS TO BE INSURED FOR INJURIES

Aid Is Voted to Guard Student S.E.R.A. Workers

That student SERA workers will be covered by liability insurance, in order that they may be protected in case of accident, was decreed today by the State Emergency Relief Association, which supplies the money for the employment of student at San Jose State College.

A case involving SERA student injury has recently arisen in one of the state colleges, and the situation has resulted in the action of the Association.

It has been the policy of the state of California for many years to refrain from carrying insurance, since the actual damage amounted to far less than the insurance payments, and on April 11, 1934, the State Board of Control passed a resolution "obligating themselves to request the legislature for deficiency appropriations to cover any expenditures made on account of claims for injury." This resolution was accepted last spring by the Emergency Relief Administration as satisfying insurance requirements.

The deficiency appropriation is an appropriation to be made by the state legislature after the student is injured, and the expenditure made.

San Jose State is vitally involved in this problem, since approximately 300 students are employed in the part-time relief work. Students not permanently injured will be cared for in the Health Cottage, but the more serious accidents must be taken up by the state.

JERRY BUNDSSEN STEPS FROM SPARTAN DAILY TO RADIO ADVERTISING

Stepping from the feature department of the Spartan Daily to the Radio and Advertising department of Columbia Broadcasting System and the Harry Elliott Agency, Jerry Bundsen, a student at San Jose State last year, is rapidly becoming recognized as a potential leader in the field of radio publicity.

Located alternately at station KFRC, the Don Lee studio, and at the Harry Elliott Advertising Agency in San Francisco, the former "Daily" columnist divides his time between writing automobile ads and publicity for radio artists of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

A motor tour of the northwest taking him as far north as Vancouver, British Columbia, for the purpose of meeting radio editors of leading coast newspapers, was among the first experiences enjoyed by Jerry.

His job will call for a similar trip to Los Angeles in the near future. He is already being mentioned as KFRC's "rising young radio columnist" by rivals in the same field, and admits to the hope of opening a publicity bureau of his own soon.

The November election will be the motif of a fall party to be held by the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society Friday evening at the First Presbyterian church.

Guests at the affair will impersonate various candidates, and will give campaign speeches during the evening. Games and refreshments will add to the evening's entertainment.

Classical Dancing For Graceful Men Is Offered Here

Miss Jewell's Course Modern Terpsichore To Be Presented

Modern classical dancing, as it has been developed in Germany and the United States during recent years, is now offered to men students of San Jose State College, according to Bill Jennings, student chairman of this new and unusual movement.

This is the first time such a course has been offered in any western college or university, Jennings declares.

Miss Margaret Jewell, dance instructor in the women's physical education department, who recently studied with Harold Kreutzberg, an internationally known Viennese concert dancer, and who completed a course last summer under the direction of Hanya Holm, famous dancer and teacher, will instruct the class.

Miss Jewell said that last year San Francisco State college used a few men in the dance program presented by the women's honorary dance society, but no regular course of instruction was offered.

"The University of Wisconsin is the only University in the United States to give degrees in dancing where classes are held for men." The dancing instructor further stated: "At the University of Illinois there are no dancing classes, but a course in rhythms is required for all football men, and Notre Dame grid stars are now practicing their shifts to music."

Beginning at 7:15 on Monday evenings, the course will be a regular two hour class in the Men's Physical Education department, for which credit will be given. The class is open to all men students but will be closed when the limit of twenty members has been reached.

A meeting will be held Friday at 12:30 in the Men's gym for those who are interested. For further information students should see Bill Jennings.

Interesting Topics Mark New Program For State Debaters

The possibility that Henry Ford will be patron saint of a future world of mass production and super-intelligent beings as suggested in Huxley's book, "Brave New World" was proposed as the subject for a debate at the first meeting of the intercollegiate debate class held Monday.

Other subjects suggested for coming inter-collegiate debates included, "the abandonment of state's rights", "the failure of the capitalistic system," whether "talkies are reflections of, or creation of the public mind", and "the inevitability of further inflation."

"There is still room in the class for a few more students, and anyone interested in the course should see me," Debate Coach Ralph Eckert stated.

Debate teams to represent San Jose State in inter-collegiate competition will be selected from the most forceful speakers of the class.

Registration at San Jose State college reached a new peak yesterday when it was announced by Mr. Joe West, registrar, that the total number of students now in attendance at the college was 2673, topping the previous high by 24.
