TALBOTT SPEAKS TO STUDENT GROUP ON PREVENTION OF WAR

International Relations Club Secures Noted Authority To Discuss Problems

"War is inevitable only if nations continue their present feverish preparations for war," Mr. E. Guy Talbott, Western Secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, told a large group of students and faculty members Wednesday afternoon in room S112.

"There is no categorical 'yes' or 'no' answer to the question: 'Is war inevitable?'" the speaker declared. "To the extreme militarist, war is always 'just around the corner'. To the absolute pacifist, war is inherently evil and never necessary."

WAR PREPARATIONS

"If nations could learn from experience, they would have discovered a long time ago that preparation for war leads to war, and that armaments are no guarantee of peace."

"The verdict of all history since the dawn of the modern technological era is that inordinate armaments are a constant threat to peace and an incitement to war, Mr. Talbott stated, giving examples of the practice of many countries manufacturing explosives to sell to rival countries."

"With few exceptions, anthropologists agree that there is no warrant for the assumption that either murder or war is inherent in human nature. But, unfortunately, nations still are in the state

STATE STUDENTS INVITED TO JOIN PILGRIMAGE TO JORDAN'S CAMPUS HOME

The David Starr Jordan gardens on the Stanford campus, known throughout the peninsula for their beauty, will be open to the public Saturday, October 6th, from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. for the first time in their history.

For the benefit of San Jose State College students desiring to attend, Dr. Carl Hazeltine and Dr. Carl Duncan have invited anyone interested to join the Nature Study club on the trip. Admission to all students in this group will be fifteen cents, otherwise adult admission will be fifty cents.

Tea will be served in the gardens from 3 to 5 p. m. and all San Jose State faculty members have been cordially urged to attend. The event is being given as a benefit for the Children's Museum of Palo Alto.

TRIO TO OFFER PROGRAM AT FRESHMAN PARTY

Victoria Parsons, violinist, Maurine Cornell, cellist, and Lola Kinn, pianist, music students, will offer a program at the Freshman Reception to be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T.W. MacQuarrie on Sunday between 2 and 8 p. m.

Entertainment and Business Feature Class Gatherings

Seniors Witness Play, Dr. Elder Speaks To Freshmen

Entertainment as well as business featured the two orientation and junior class meetings held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

In the senior group a one-act play entitled "Still Life" was presented. This play was written by Molnar, and is a farce-comedy giving an insight into the private lives of a temperamental actress and actor.

JOY ARPS DIRECTS PLAY

The play was under the direction of Joy Arps, who also designed and built the set and furniture, besides taking the feminine lead. The leading masculine part was taken by Jim Clancy.

In commenting upon the play, Mr. Mendenhall said, "The only more finished productions I have ever seen were two plays produced on Broadway."

The junior group, after voting Adrian Wilbur the chairman to lead the activities for the quarter, ended the meeting with a program of popular dance music.

SWEENEY TO BE ADVISOR

Mr. William Sweeney, instructor in the Speech Arts department, will be the junior class advisor.

Speaking before the freshman group, Dr. J.C. Elder, lower division dean, gave them a few pointers on how to make use of their time in college.

During the meet signatures of those who will attend Dr. MacQuarrie's party on October 6 were obtained.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR OVERNIGHT HIKE AT DEN

Plans have been completed for the Y.M.C.A. overnight stag to be held at the Lion's Den this weekend. Loren Wann, general chairman, announces that arrangements for transportation, food, entertainment, and sleeping quarters, have all been made.

The boys are asked to meet in front of the Industrial Arts building, Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. They will leave immediately in the cars, which will be waiting.

TO BE PUBLISHED SERIALLY IN DAILY

The story of San Jose State, the first and oldest state normal school in California, will unfold its pageantry in a series of historical sketches to be printed in the Spartan Daily every Monday and Thursday.

Although the pioneers whose flaming spirit and daring founded and perpetuated San Jose State College have faded into the dim past, they leave an inspiring story of traditions, famous graduates,

DANCE WILL BE HELD THIS AFTERNOON IN WOMEN'S GYM

Hops Planned For Regular Intervals During Year Says Lamphear

The women's gym will be the scene today of the first of the year's afternoon dances. Dancing will begin at four o'clock and end at six.

Music for the affair will be furnished by Bill Chevrais' orchestra. There will be a ten cent admission charge.

Byron Lamphear, chairman of the committee of student affairs, has announced that student body dances will be held during the afternoon at regular intervals throughout the present quarter.

This custom received decided impetus last year after a ruling was made limiting the student body to three evening dances a quarter.

Meeting For Students Interested In Drama Will Be Held Today

Failure of many students to pass the San Jose Players tryouts does not mean they will not be able to participate in dramatic activities here, according to Miss Elizabeth Jenks, head of the Speech Arts department. There will be a meeting today at noon in room 165 for all students, exclusive of Players, who are interested in dramatic productions. Those who attend this meeting will be drafted to start production of a series of one-act plays, under the sponsorship of the Speech department.

These one-act plays are expected not only to serve as a training ground for the more sustained effort requisite to the production of a full length play, but to also have a production value of their own.

Injuries Hurt Spartan Chances In Game With Olympic Club Saturday

Ye Ed Embarrassed; Laments Misnomer Labeling "Prodigy"

No besmircher of character is the Spartan Daily. So imagine the embarrassment—yea, consternation—of the editor when he read in Wednesday's edition of his first love, his brain child, his pride and joy, that Miss Maurine Swift, State's youngest freshman, is "no respectable bookworm". Intimating of course, that Miss Swift is a bookworm, but not a respectable one.

Such is not the case. Miss Swift is eminently respectable and is not a bookworm. The story should have read, "No bespectacled bookworm is Miss Maurine Swift." (Just wait until I get my hands on that proof reader.—Editor.)

Music Pupil To Sing On Half Hour Vocal Program This Noon

Eleanor McKnight, talented music student, will be featured in the Musical Half Hour today at 12:30 in the Little Theater.

She will present several vocal solos, accompanied at the piano by Jean Stirling. "Hush a Bye Lady" and "Croodlin' Doo", by Margaret Davenport, which were awarded prizes in the alumni sponsored contest last spring; and "Till I Wake" by Finden, and "Bird of the Wilderness" by Horsman, will be numbers on the program.

Dallas Tuellar, tenor, will sing a duet with Miss McKnight and two solos.

The Musical Half Hour is a weekly feature sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. with the assistance of the music department. It is free of charge, and all students and faculty members who enjoy music are welcome, according to Helen Johnson, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Those who assist her in planning the programs are: Elizabeth Simpson, Eleanor McKnight, Dorothy Pritz, and Blanche Corriveau. Miss Theta Manning serves as advisor for the group.

Aeronautics Class Will Sponsor Movies Today

Six reels of moving pictures showing army aviators in action will be flashed on the screen in the little theater today at two o'clock.

There will be no admission charge, and the student body is invited to attend.

Fort Randolph and other army air bases are the scenes of the pictures. Four reels entitled "Wings of the Army", and two reels entitled "Flying Cadets" will show maneuvering experimental work, and will depict the life of the air cadets at Randolph Field.

The pictures are being sponsored by the newly formed aeronautics class which is instructed by Mr. Frank E. Petersen.

Game to Start at 2.30; Frosh Preliminary Tilt At 12:15

By GIL BISHOP

The first of a long series of rigid tests will face the football men of Sparta when they trot down the pebbled incline into Spartan Stadium at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. San Francisco's prize team of ex-collegians, the renowned Olympic Club, will pit football tactics with the DeGroot me before what is expected to be the first major crowd of the local season.

CLUB HAS MANY STARS

Mike Voyne, Club coach, has on his roster some of the outstanding players on the coast, numbering Howie Morris, Gordon Partee, Bill Denser, Ike Britschgi, and San Jose's "Bud" Hubbard among those on the imposing list. The "Winged O" will present a front that will outweigh the Gold and White by some twenty pounds per man, a disadvantage which was not overcome against the Stanford eleven.

STATE REGULARS INJURED

DeGroot, on the other hand, is faced with the possibility of several first-stringers hugging the bench tomorrow because of injuries. The last week has found the Spartan head man shifting men and designing new plays to meet the situation. It's a case of make the best of what you have, and the heretofore second-

Regional Secretary Of Y.W. To Speak

Miss Helen Price, regional Y.W.C.A. secretary, will visit the campus next Monday and Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by Miss Caroline Leland, college "Y" secretary.

Always one of the outstanding speakers of the year on the Y.W.C.A. calendar, Miss Price will appear before college women on two occasions during her stay.

Members of the Freshman luncheon Club will have an opportunity to hear her speak on "The Y.M.C.A. and You" Monday at 12:30 p. m. in room 1 of the Home-making building.

Miss Price will also be guest speaker at the Association Supper Tuesday evening at 5:30 in Schofield Hall at the city "Y". She will take "If Only" as her topic.

Special appointments with Miss Price for short conferences on Monday afternoon may be made today and Monday at the "Y" headquarters, room 14 of the main building.

During the past several years she has held the position of National Secretary for the Asilomar region and has made many friends on the San Jose State College campus. The Asilomar region includes California, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico.

Two New Features

Monday's issue of this much discussed (editorially) Spartan Daily will contain, as usual, two new features. One a review of "The Story of an Inspiring Past", the history of San Jose State College, will begin Monday and continue every Thursday and Monday thereafter.

Written by Estelle Greathead, a graduate and former faculty member of the college, "The Story of the Inspiring" past will be reviewed serially by capable members of the Spartan Daily staff.

The other feature will be a second issue of the student-contributed Daily, which enjoyed quite a successful debut last week. Contributions already in the hands of the editors show great diversity of interests, and (may we be so bold?) seem to eclipse last week's crop as a whole, in value of subject and opinion.

For those who still have the urge to relieve the mind of any weight, see their literary works in print, or offer comments on contributions or daily material in the paper, there is still time to dispose of them before the noon deadline today. If your article requires a little more time than that to be drummed into shape, remember that another student-faculty issue is forthcoming. Articles must not exceed 500 words in length, and the name of the author must be signed.

FASHION HINTS

By Hilda Gussefeld

Football! Rush parties! Many are the demands on the wardrobe of the well dressed miss; but isn't the fall season thrilling?

However, one must not ramble; so let's confine ourselves to a consideration of campus apparel. For instance, a green and black plaid wool with the most unusual cork buttons and buckle for that additional touch.

And while we're on the subject of plaids, you may find any number of simply grand ones in any color you desire. Nothing could be more attractive for any informal occasion than a certain black and rust diagonal stripe of softly woven wool enhanced with black velvet trim—particularly stunning if worn with black accessories.

Stand up and cheer! Clad in a flattering oxford gray rabbits wool with checked top and dolman sleeves you will be the object of admiration of the entire rooting section.

A particularly smart campus dress is one of gray and rust wool with yearn fringed on the pockets and scarf collar. Another is of yellow and brown plaid made on the bias, featuring a novel high neckline and large brown buttons.

Just Among Ourselves

By DR. T.W. MacQuarrie

Note: This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

There's snow on the high mountains. I saw it from the San Joaquin highway last week. The Valley was hot at midday, but as evening came on, there was a suggestion of autumn. Very soon now that great towering Sierra will be a marvelous sight in the blue gray of the skyline.

As a football scout, I'm afraid I'd make a good sailor, or something. I saw the Bulldog-Spartan (!) game Saturday evening, as the guest of President Thomas. I thought we should have some scouts on hand, some experts, but I couldn't locate any in the crowd. (And there was a crowd, about 7,000.) So I thought I'd risk a headache, and make some notes myself. It was an awful struggle to try to see everything, and I was relieved to learn later that the Ol' Man himself was there, and had it all classified, tagged and ticketed before you could say "Hike"! What I did see of that game, by the way, didn't help my nerves any.

And that word, Spartans. The U.S.C. road show team is called "Spartans". I suppose they never heard of us down L. A. way. I don't think the name's so very "hot", if you know what I mean, and I hope some day we can think of something better. With all the brains we have around here, we should get a good one. Santa Barbara, by the way, changed names this year. They used to be called Roadrunners, but they changed it to some Spanish name that I didn't quite catch.

It's just possible the state will put on a building program during the next administration, partly because the plants are needed, and partly to provide work. There's a real distinction on the part of the unemployed to accept charity. Most of those men prefer to earn their money. And of course we couldn't kick on a few new buildings. It's an ill wind.

As our program looks at present we have four major projects. First, purchase of the City Library; second, construction of a new music building; third, a substantial addition to our library; and fourth, proper accommodations for our English department. I've already presented our needs, and we have had estimates of cost on some of the buildings. Everything is, of course, tentative, nay, problematical. How'd you like to have a date room in the new library?

DRAMATIC GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS AT FIRST MEETING

Theatron, San Jose State's honorary dramatic society, held its first meeting of the year yesterday, following a luncheon given for the group by Mrs. E.S. Arps of San Jose. Joy Arps was elected president of the organization for the coming school year, and James Clancy and Dorothy Vierra vice president and secretary respectively.

Under the leadership of these officers, new members will be installed during the latter part of October. The list of the students chosen for this honor will be announced within the next two weeks.

QUALIFICATIONS

The membership of the organization is drawn from those active in dramatics, who receive points for all parts and work that they do in the activity. When vacancies occur in the organization, those with the highest number of points are admitted.

MEMBERSHIP LISTED

Active and alumni members of Theatron are Jim Fitzgerald, Elizabeth Allampress, Kathryn Epps, Joel Carter, Louis Scales, Grace Murray, Wallace Murray, Alice Culbertsen, Katherine Hodges, Dorothy Vierra, James

COLEMAN TELLS PLAY SCHEDULE TO JR. HI MAJORS

Mr. Hugh Coleman, physical education director at Theodore Roosevelt Junior High School, told of the growth of the recreational program of San Jose, under his guidance since 1930, at the first meeting of Junior High Majors held Tuesday evening in room one of the Homemaking Building.

Through the cooperation of the Board of Education, it has been possible to use Theodore Roosevelt Junior High School as a recreational center. Some splendid work is being done there, according to Mr. Coleman.

President Edwin Olmstead, presided at the meeting, which included two beautiful violin solos by Jack Carnow, and a delightful travel sketch by Mr. William McCoard of the Speech Arts department.

Mr. McCoard spoke informally of his trip through Europe this summer. His talk was very interesting, and was given in a chatty humorous manner, according to those who attended. Following the talk, Emil Miland sang two very lovely songs. At the close of the evening light refreshments were served.

Clancy, and Joy Arps.

Frosh Gridders Meet Mission Hi Saturday

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By Bob Spotswood

You may be proud of San Jose's football team yet, dear readers, even if they did take an awful shellacking from Stanford in their first venture of the season.

The Spartans, it seems, are meeting the Olympic Club from San Francisco tomorrow in the local stadium, and, in so doing, are making their second bid to "big league" football. The Winged O eleven is definitely in the class with coast conference teams and a victory over them or even a one-touchdown loss would look well on the San Jose record of games won and lost.

DeGroot's men scored a victory over the Santa Barbara A.C. last Saturday, although it has failed to create much stir. Nobody around here knows whether the southerners were very good, although it is certain that they are not in the class with the Olympic Club.

Consequently, the local boys have an excellent chance to wipe away the stigma of that Stanford disaster with a showing against the Club.

Coached by Mike Voyne, who is one of the best, the Winged O team has an array of former college stars who will be hard to put down. The Spartans will have to show a lot of "fire" for sixty minutes to match such players as Dowd, Baat, DuBose, Par-tee, Leahy, Ahearn, Denser, and Bub Hubbard.

DeGroot's men will be without the services of Soapy Johnson and Jim Stockdale, both better-than-average performers, while Baracchi is bothered by an injured hand and may also be unable to see action Saturday. Captain Si Simoni is being made over into an end, which should find Becker and either Hardiman or Daily at the tackle positions, with the center of line composed of Whitaker, Pors and Azevedo.

DeWitt Portal's freshmen make their initial appearance tomorrow, playing Mission High School. A victory over the San Francisco preps will mean little or nothing, even though the Bears have a strong team, while a loss for the Spartan Babes to a high school eleven would be very sour indeed.

The San Francisco papers have their Dr. Ouija and Professor Opple Soss, to call the winners of the various football games, but the Spartan Daily has the best open field picker of them all, so here goes!

I'll make my debut by saying that Stanford will trounce Oregon State by three touchdowns, so place your bets accordingly. Grayson runs wild in his home town.

U.S.F. one touchdown over Santa Clara, despite the winning ways of those Bronco Sophs. The Dons have the same old line, while Pederson and Baccarini will stringers who have been moved up to plug the breaches in line and backfield have shown up well in the past scrimmages.

WARNER TYPE OFFENSIVE

The Spartans seem to have discarded the open style of play used against Stanford and in the first half of the Santa Barbara game, and returned to the old Warner system which gained results in the fourth quarter last week. DeGroot has no back man with the speed needed for the key post; but with Dave Barr's ability in the Warner offense, the Staters should pile up plenty of yards from this formation.

CLUB MAY USE PASSES

State's inability to cope with passes during the Santa Barbara fracas will probably cause the redshirted eleven from the bay city to fire plenty of spiral tosses at the Spartan defense. With Jack Baat of St. Mary's and Bob Norton of Temple handing out the pigskin to such capable receivers as Hubbard and Jim Lahey of St. Mary's, any costly slips by the DeGroot defense will mean more touchdowns than garnered by the southerners last week.

The Spartans starting eleven will probably be composed of the most experienced veterans DeGroot can assemble. Whitaker, Pors, Azevedo, Burt, Daily, Simoni and Brunning will be in the front line of defense, with Corbella, Shehtanian, McLachlan and Barr comprising the backfield quartet. The notable change is the shift of Captain Simoni to end for the contest. Injuries to Laughlin and Baracchi have forced a shift to strengthen the much weakened wing posts.

Tomorrow's game should be a forecast for the Far Western Conference battle. A tie or win over the "Winged O" will be a huge step in reassuring State prestige in the Conference race. A bad defeat—and it will be a case of working from the bottom up.

U.S.C. is still a little too much for Washington State and Chico will come out ahead of Sacramento, although they lost to the Sacto Jaysee last year.

Intramural Activities

The ambitious program of intramural activities is successful only when a large number of students participate. For this reason all classes are expected to co-operate with the sponsors of the program by participating in the contests. No special abilities are required, nor is it necessary that participants be in good condition. The games are not strenuous and the periods in all games are short.

The freshmen are expected to be well represented in the intramural games. This class has the great advantage of numbers and has an excellent opportunity to organize its teams in the orientation class. In other years the

PORTAL'S TEAM MAKES BOW TO SPARTAN FANS IN PRELIMINARY GAME

The 1934 freshmen football squad, coached by De Witt Portal, will make its debut tomorrow in a clash with Mission High of San Francisco. The game will be a preliminary to the varsity tilt and will get under way at twelve noon sharp.

The frosh eleven has been turning out for three weeks and should be in fine shape for the hard battle which Mission is expected to furnish. Only one major injury has been recorded. John Costa, basketball man from Sequoia, has a wrenched knee and will not see action tomorrow.

At the flank positions Portal will start Owen Collins and Art Hanson. Collins hails from Hayward and is reputed to be an excellent end. Hanson followed his former coach at Fort Bragg to San Jose and has shown up very well in practice.

Portal has a great source of worry in his tackles who are not lacking in ability but are light for the competition that will be met this season. A Yuba City lad by the name of Trowbridge will hold down one tackle berth. On the other side of the line Westall will find the tackle position.

At the guard positions Portal is well fortified with Willie Swartzell, brother of the varsity player, and Herbert Hudson from Tracy getting the starting positions. Clyde Vorhes, 180 pounder from Hayward, will open the game at the center position.

The all-around star of the squad, "Bull" Lewis, will hold down the fullback position. Lewis is a fine blocker and defensive player and is considered to be the most valuable man on the team. The big dark boy hails from Sequoia.

Talbott Speaks On Possibilities Of Future Wars

EXPLAINS FACTORS

"In the field of international relations, as in the field of chemistry, when two chemical elements are brought together, invariably and inevitably there is the same result," the speaker said, and continued to explain the psychological, political, and economic factors which always promote and provoke war.

After quoting the former Czar of Russia and President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the subject of international armament races, Mr. Talbott concluded his lecture with the statement:

"Another devastating war can not be averted if the stupidity of statesmen permits it to come, and

Interesting Discussion Led By Dr. Peterson

Dr. P. Victor Peterson, chairman of the natural science department at San Jose State College, led a panel discussion on science in the Elementary School, at a district convention called in Modesto last Saturday, by Miss Helen Hefferman, head of the division of elementary education of the State department. About 200 district superintendents and principals were present.

Dr. Gertrude Laws, head of the bureau of parent education, led a discussion on "Home and School Relationship."

Miss Hefferman is calling another convention to be held in San Jose on October 10, and has invited Dr. Peterson to again lead the discussion, using the same subject.

Shouts Of Protest Die; Students Flock To Reopened Library

All's quiet on the library front. The shouts of protest have died away, the library is open again, and everyone seems to be satisfied.

About 150 students took advantage of the lifting of the six o'clock "curfew" Tuesday night and came to study in the library. According to Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian, they were "very quiet" and "very busy".

This seems to indicate that a number of students really find it necessary to use the library in the evenings, that the protests which raged during the weeks of the early closing were sincere, and that the students are ready to cooperate and observe all the rules in order to keep their privileges, she declares.

The committee chosen to observe library conditions will probably have to see if the good behavior continues.
