CLASSES CONTRIBUTE TO COMMUNITY CHEST DURING CLASS MEETS

'Sophomore Freeze' Chosen New Name For Former Class Cotillion

Progress towards the realization of State's $3,000 Community Chest quota was made yesterday when "The platter was passed" among freshmen and seniors during orientation, and a call for volunteer contributions was made before sophomores and juniors at class meetings.

Urging the seniors to think about the big problem of human need, Dr. James C. DeVoss told of the beneficial work done by the agencies of the Community Chest. His challenge for a round table discussion of that agency's efficiency will result in a noon session for those interested, time as yet unset.

Ray Ruf and Dean Cowger presented three groups of poems, using the verse speaking method.

SOPH DANCE

"Sophomore Freeze" was chosen yesterday, at a turbulent meeting of the sophomore class, as a name for the annual dance formerly known as cotillion.

The reason for the change in names, as advanced by Jack Hanley, committee chairman, is that the name cotillion denotes a formal affair, while the sophomore dance will be informal.

A determined but doomed minority, led by Paul Jungermann, fought the motion to change the name of the traditional cotillion. They argued that the old name was already well known, and that the success of the annual affair depended upon the quality of the dance itself, not upon the name.

The freeze, it was announced at the meeting, will be held on Friday, January 25. The entertainment committee is investigating dance floors available.

Charles Gubser collected money for the community chest fund at the meeting.

S. J. Debate Team To Face Stanford Tonight over KQW

Strauss and McCartney To Take Negative Of Question

Initiating the plan of weekly half-hour radio debates over local station KQW, the San Jose team meets that of Stanford University tonight at 9 o'clock in the first of the Friday debates of the season.

"That international trade in arms and munitions should be prohibited", is the question to be discussed. This contest promises to be one of the most interesting of the schedule with a discussion of feasible ways to avert war and its horrors.

Two debaters of wide experience, J.D. Strauss and Everett McCartney, who have each debated several times this year, and once upon tonight's topic, will defend the negative for San Jose.

Prominent universities and colleges throughout the state will meet with San Jose State to further forensics interest and provide an outstanding feature for the radio audience throughout the year.

Debate Coach Ralph Eckert and Adrian Wilbur, forensics manager, have arranged with station manager C. L. McCarthy to present the weekly broadcasts sponsored by Spartan Senate.

Mr. Leland T. Chapin, coach of debate at Stanford University will act as chairman of the discussion.

"Tune in on local station KQW tonight from 9:00 to 9:30 for a close-up of a debate contest that you cannot afford to miss", is the advice of forensics manager, Adrian Wilbur.

For those who prefer seeing their debaters during discussion, facilities are provided for a small audience at the studio.

Red Cross Membership Drive To Open Today

With college students participating in an extensive door-to-door campaign, the local and national Red Cross membership drive will open today and continue until Thanksgiving day, November 29.

The local chapters perform the majority of the work done in the field of relief and charity, the duty of national chapters being mainly supervision.

A.W.S. Council Plans Supper Next Thursday

A.W.S. Council is planning a supper meeting for next Thursday at 6 p.m. to which all interested women students are invited.

The supper will be held in the A.W.S. room at the west end of the Spartan Union building, and notices will be posted on the main bulletin board next week which all those who wish to attend must sign.

The price for the supper will be 25 cents, payable at the meeting. Freshmen and new women students who are interested in A.W.S. and would like to know more about its organization and the opportunities it offers for participation in activities are especially urged to attend.

CHEST BAROMETER GETS BOOST WITH OFFERINGS BY FRESHMEN, SENIORS

Dr. Elder Urges Yearlings To Make Small Sacrifices For Fund Cause

The community chest barometer, placed in the corridor, was given another boost today when the freshman class collected $54.39 of the $85 pledged by the class.

The sophomore class pledged itself to contribute $15.00, while the seniors collected $17.92 of the $30 pledged.

The chest contributions was the topic of interest at both freshman and senior orientations this morning. Dr. James C. DeVoss, dean of the upper division, spoke to the seniors and Clyde Fake, senior class president, urged cooperation with the community chest committee.

Dr. Jay C. Elder, dean of the lower division, urged the freshmen to make small sacrifices and thus contribute to the chest funds.

Silver offerings were taken at freshman orientation by the freshman commission under the direction of Benita Hooker, and at senior orientation by the Spartan Knights.

Adrian Wilbur, chairman for all classes, arranged for all collections. Contributions are to be turned in at the Y.W.C.A. office, room 14, where pledge cards may be secured.

How About a Ribbon On The Daily News?

How about a ribbon on your Spartan Daily?

Perspiring journalists are hoping that their "public" does not demand any such frills, for they have no desire to emulate their predecessors, however worthy.

Back in 1867, when the first college paper, the Acorn, appeared in the then San Jose Normal School, the sheets were daintily tied together with ribbons, and the outside covers were attractively decorated.

This paper consisted of witticisms, poems, and essays on literary, scientific and educational topics, all written in the best penmanship.

Today State students take their news with less trimmings, and the staff thanks its lucky stars that printing has come into wider use.

ART DEPARTMENT TO HOLD SECOND 'LITTLE BAZAAR'

Though it is to be run on a much smaller scale, a continuation of last year's art bazaar, known as the "Little Bazaar", will be held in the art department on December 4th.

Christmas cards, seals, fancy wrapping paper, and foods, including candy will be made by the art students and put on sale at reasonable prices. Booths will be scattered throughout the art department at this time.

Mr. John French, art teacher, says that the theme for the bazaar has not yet been chosen.

Spartans Will Clash With Willamette Armistice Day In Non-Conference Game

SPECIAL PRICE TO BE OFFERED FOR BENEFIT TONIGHT

The special student rate of twenty-five cents, plus student body card, for the benefit performance of "Michael and Mary", to be given tonight by the Santa Clara County Women's Federated Clubs, has been announced by Mrs. Dora W. Laughlan who is in charge of the program.

Dale Winters (Mrs. Henry Duffy) of New York and San Francisco, and Jim Fitzgerald, prominent San Jose State college actor, are to be co-starred in the play which will be presented at the San Jose Women's Club.

Following the performance, a reception will be held affording an opportunity for the audience to meet and talk with Mrs. Duffy, as well as Kathleen Norris, and Ruth Comfort Mitchell (Mrs. Sanborn Young).

Education Head Meets With Principals For For Program Revision

Revision of the state elementary science course of study will occupy the attention of delegates to a convention of elementary school principals and district superintendents Saturday morning on the local campus, continuing the work which was begun yesterday on revising the monthly bulletins published by the State Department of Education.

Members of the West Coast School of Nature Study, a project sponsored every summer by the local science department, are meeting today with Miss Helen Heffernan, chief of the division of elementary education, and Mrs. Gladys Potter, her assistant.

Miss Heffernan and several other members of the state department staff met with representatives of the California State Teachers colleges yesterday in the science building to plan the revision and publication schedule for the "Science Guide for the Elementary School", a bulletin issued by the various teachers colleges and sent to all the elementary teachers of the state.

Besides being honored with the presence of Miss Heffernan, the college will be favored with the attendance of Dr. E.L. Palmer, one of the foremost educators in the field of science. Dr. Karl Hazeltine of the local faculty secured his doctorate under Dr. Palmer at Cornell University.

Bearcats Are Reported To Be Real Grid Menace

By C. GIL BISHOP

Amid the usual blare and noise which accompanies an Armistice celebration, San Jose's Spartans tackle their second out-of-state opponent in sixteen days next Monday. This time the Spartans are confronted with the ominous Bearcats of Willamette University, potential conference champions, of Salem, Oregon.

The Keene-coached aggregation from the Northland bears the reputation of having the strongest gridiron galaxy of stars in their conference and November 12 should settle the comparative strengths of the northern circle and the Far Western Conference.

MEAGER REPORTS

The Spartans are at a loss as to what to expect from the Oregonians in the way of formations. Very meager reports have reached San Jose, none of which convey the slightest information of the Willamette system. The Bearcats evidently have a package of dynamite in the personage of one Johnny Oravec, considered the shiftest piece of furniture in the Bearcat neck of the woods.

Oravec should offer little difficulty to the DeGrooters, however, who literally stopped Walt Byrd in his tracks last Saturday and kept Sauer of Nevada pretty well cornered. The entire problem is the difference in the two lines, the northerners possessing a distinct advantage over Washington (Continued on Page Three)

Kappa Delta Pi Holds Formal Initiation Next Tuesday for Neophytes

Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor fraternity, will hold formal initiation for 39 pledges next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 155.

A program of entertainment has been arranged for the event. Included in the program will be music by a Kappa Delta Pi instrumental quartet led by Don Madson. The speaking choir will present several numbers.

Ronald Linn, president of the fraternity, will pay tribute to John Dewey, internationally known educational philosopher, who is a member of Kappa Delta Pi.

COLLEGE BUDGET INCREASED DUE TO ADDITIONAL STUDENT ENROLLMENT THIS QUARTER

Due to the additional student enrollment this quarter, San Jose State's budget will undoubtedly be increased in proportionate ratio, according to Mr. E. S. Thompson, financial secretary of San Jose State.

Mr. Thompson left for Sacramento Thursday to make minor adjustments on the estimated revenue for the budget.

The increase in the number of men after 1921 at San Jose State was due to a certain extent to the enrollment in junior college courses.

Journalistic Freedom

An editorial in last Monday's Daily Californian, student publication of the University of California, said: "The Californian has followed with great interest the strife of collegiate editors at other coast universities. As we have pointed out in previous editorials, most of them are stooges." taking orders from either faculty or student body officials."

An editorial in Wednesday's Daily Californian addressed to Governor Merriam and President Sproul said: "The Californian views with alarm the present red-baiting and anti-liberal campaigns which are being conducted on the campuses of some of our state-supported institutions. The Californian itself has nothing to fear; we justly refuse to be classed as a 'radical'—but if denouncing organized warfare and red-baiting be construed as 'radical', we should be mighty proud to claim the title."

The Californian, after setting itself up as a criterion of college papers, has evidently assumed that because the editorial policies of other campus publications do not conform with their own, the editors of these publications are stooges.

The right of free speech at San Jose State has never been questioned. The Spartan Daily is a student publication and no influence direct or indirect, is brought to bear upon any member of the staff by faculty members or outsiders. The policy of the paper is determined solely by the students in charge of the paper.

Long have we admired the Daily Californian. We believed and still do believe that in all but editorials it compares favorably with professional newspapers. Why editorial writers in the Daily Californian should feel qualified to condemn other papers for taking a stand opposed to theirs is beyond our comprehension.

In the editorial of the Monday's issue of the Californian was the statement that "Such a condition is surprisingly different from that on our own campus, where censorship—either from University or A.S.U.C. administrative officials—is totally lacking so long as discretion, rather than detrimental sensationalism, is the watchword."

Perhaps it would be better for the Daily Californian if they were subject to a censorship.

Just Among Ourselves

By Dr. T. W. MacQUARRIE

Note: This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

"All its begs in one ask it." Some bright person concocted that for the Community Chest. And it's just right.

A Community Chest is an organization for efficiency. It concentrates effort. It enormously reduces the cost of collection, and saves us all from a succession of small drives limited by haphazard planning and inexperienced managers.

In one way the Chest is a protection. In another, it helps us to support desirable community activities that are not and probably shouldn't be supported by taxation. It's a good thing for us to have a little freedom in our benefactions. Chest budgets are gotten up most carefully, and I can say from personal knowledge that the job is intelligently, courageously, and honestly done.

In any Chest campaign, there's always a snarl or two from those who have no interest in anything but their own immediate gain. If those persons only knew it, the Chest really helps to guarantee an ultimate gain. For the better our standards of civic life the more stable our government and the more certain the advantages to the individual. "But you can't make us give", they answer, and that's true. If the cause doesn't appeal to you, if you can't see the need, and realize your responsibility to assist as you are able, that's just that. Those who do will make the effort to carry your load.

Some people honestly think they should not be called upon to support relief agencies, but are willing to back the character building agencies, and vice versa. That's natural, and arguments seem to them sufficient. On the other hand, we can't expect a perfect result from every effort. A good average is the sensible goal. Personally, I prefer the character building agencies. I think they are most important. But I'm willing to be Jack Spratt, and disagree harmoniously. I honestly find a true satisfaction in my Chest investment.

One more thing, please and sorry to detain you. I don't believe in 100 per cent drives. When I was a young teacher, with a seventh and eighth grade room. I started a drive for 100 per cent attendance. Those poor little kids didn't know what I was doing to them. They did their best. They came when they should have remained at home. Many came with colds, one boy came with a broken shoulder, another with a sprained ankle, and one actually had scarlet fever.

100 per cent in any human situation is probably not desirable. Give if you honestly can, and of your own money. Skip a lunch perhaps, if you are "well-favored", and stick in the amount you would have spent for it. Of course, you'll have a terrible afternoon, but you'll have a deep appreciation of hunger in others.

So, give if you can, and in any case be courteous to the Chest worker. Those faithful souls get nothing but personal satisfaction for their efforts.

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By Dick Edmonds

SPARTAN DAILY SPORTS

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1934

Military Pageant Will Precede Willamette Game On Monday

WILLAMETTE STRONG

In each of their last five conference games, the Willamette team has run up between 20 and 40 points over their opponents, which in itself presages an extremely well-oiled offense. Featuring Oravec and 210 pounds of Weisgerber at Fullback, the Salermite has the material to more than worry San Jose's light line.

DeGroot, Hubbard and Tod have simply gone ahead in preparation for the College of Pacific game a week from tomorrow, taking the northern in stride next Monday. The squad is in full strength and just beginning to click, something which induces the Spartan mentors to look beyond Monday's game in anticipation of the Conference battle with the Tigers five days later.

DeGroot has not released a starting line-up as yet, but Monday afternoon should find the Spartan first string taking the field against Willamette. The invader's are far from set-ups in anybody's league, and State's head man will be on the lookout for a battle.

With that probability in view, the line should read Baracchi, Simoni, Pors, Whitaker, Azevedo, Hardiman, and Laughlin from end to end, with Corbella, Shehtanian, Wren and Stockdale in the backfield. With the potential speed in this back quartet, the Staters hope to offset the Willamette line power with a barrage of speed attacks.

TENTATIVE LINE-UP

Should the game develop into an apparent win for the locals, the line-up will probably be somewhat changed with Carpenter, Barr, Pura, MacLachlan, and Watson getting into the backfield and Baldwin, Lantagne, Johnson, Burt, Leo, Jackson, Becker, Cannell and Spalding all taking a shot at the line assignments.

Monday will find the return of Burt Watson, who starred in the early part of the season, back in the fray. Watson has been slowed down considerably by a leg injury, but the Armistice game will find the Pennsylvania boy ready for duty.

CAPT. SIMONI O.K.

Captain Dario Simoni, who has been favoring a badly bruised leg himself, is reporting daily to practice and the two additional days before the game will do the State leader no harm.

Monday is supposed to be a celebration dedicated to peace, but local followers who turn out to the game will see the war re-enacted with a football used for a siege gun and the scrimmage line the front trenches. This is San Jose's first chance to see a colorful team from the north playing its first game in California for some years.

HOCKEY

This week's preliminary hockey games resulted in a 2 to 0 victory for the winning team of each hockey group.

The team captained by Catherine McNally was victorious, with a 2-0 score, over Frances Scott's team, in the 9 o'clock hockey section.

Eva Gerkovich's team defeated Lenore Norona's team, 2-0, in the 4 o'clock hockey class.

Mr. Wilbur H. Moreland, physics instructor, and Mr. F.F. Petersen, aviation instructor, have been appointed advisers to the group.

CAL AGGIES HOPE FOR UPSET IN ARMISTICE DAY GAME WITH BULLDOGS

Preparations are going forward for the Armistice game at Fresno next Monday. This will be the last conference game of the season for the Aggies and one which they can win. After the heartbreaking loss at Chico last Saturday, the Mustangs will be out to seek revenge at the expense of the Bulldogs.

The Mustangs deserved to win last week. A touchdown was missed by only the length of the ball. It was after Wineman had blocked a Chico punt on the four-yard line that the score was so narrowly missed. With first down on the four-yard line, the light Aggie backs took four cracks at the fighting Wildcat line but could not quite put over a score. The Wildcats made their score on a series of line plunges early in the first quarter and failed to convert. The Aggies came back and scored their three points on a perfect drop kick by Leonard Coombs, versatile Aggie quarterback.

Monday's game will find the Aggies pitted against one of the strongest teams Fresno State has ever had. They have defeated C.O.P. and held San Jose State to a tie. Three weeks ago the Aggies and San Jose played to a scoreless tie so it would seem that on the basis of this, the two teams will be about even.

The Bulldog backs will outweigh the Mustangs considerably and are more versatile and experienced. However, the Mustangs are asking no odds and are going to Fresno with the idea of upsetting their favored opponents. Two years ago the Aggies were in much the same spot and outfought the Bulldogs to win by a 3-0 score.

Friday night Coach Sam Emsweller's reserves will tangle with the C. O. P. frosh at Stockton in a preliminary to the C.O.P.-Nevada game. Jim Camp is expected to bear the grunt of the Aggie attack. Camp is a big fullback from Bakersfield J. C. The reserves after their victory last Saturday, can be expected to give the Tiger frosh a battle this Friday.

S. G. O DANCE

The high light of the week-end's social events will be the S.G.O. semi-annual pledge dance tonight at the beautiful Los Altos Country Club in the western foothills.

The dance is presented in honor of the pledges recently admitted to the fraternity. The pledges are Pete Bateman, Jim Welch, Russell Azzara, Cecil McDonald, Mamilton White, and Ed Moldt.

The ballroom of the country club will be decorated with the insignia of the fraternity on the walls and on the orchestra stands in silver and black.

Yell Leader Saxon Downs Asks State Rooters To Report

Recognizing that Willamette is a strong enough team to hold Oregon, one of the leading teams of the Northwest, at a score of 13-0 this year, State realizes that it is to have a hard fight this Monday. Lots of support from Staters will be necessary to give the Spartans the stamina for the battle. All the yells ever known to the college will be given Monday.

Saxon Downs, yell leader, urges that students bring all the noise-makers available. A special section is to be reserved for rooters, and Downs requests that all State students occupy these seats in order to make a stronger rooting section.

The yelling done at the Willamette game will be fine practice for those who plan to support the Pacific game.

"Developing from the paper-covered Penant with little interest to its readers, the present La Torre has undergone a most progressive change in both artistic and literary interest," according to Miss Elizabeth McFadden, president of the Health Cottage and head of the health department of San Jose State college.

"The Penant of 1910 was appreciated by State college students of that time, but student interest has developed through the years as has the La Torre itself.

"However," Miss McFadden stated, "every student should be proud to own a La Torre because it is a most valuable asset to us inasmuch as we can refer to the past volumes and see ourselves as we were during our college career at San Jose State."

$3,000 IS QUOTA PLEDGED BY S.J. TO CHEST FUND

(Continued from Page One) chest plan of upbuilding is needed greatly in this territory, Dr. Jay C. Elder addressed freshmen orientation yesterday. He pointed out that more than 700 people of Santa Clara county are on probation, and that of these, 300 are boys and girls.

"No nation rises higher than its youth," Dr. Elder reminded the freshmen, and then appealed to them for their support in helping the community chest's program of upbuilding and overcoming such conditions that lead to the probation courts.

A collection for the chest drive was taken and Dean Charles B. Goddard announced that the newly formed "outside of the State" group had a membership of 38 students and was planning a social program.

LEAF-TOBACCO EXPERTS AGREE:

"Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

MOUNTAIN CLIMBER. Miss Georgia Engelhard says: "Plenty of times I have thought 'I can't go another step.' Then I call a halt and smoke a Camel. It has been proved true over and over that a Camel picks me up in just a few minutes and gives me the energy to push on."

PRO FOOTBALL ACE. "Cliff" Montgomery of the Brooklyn Dodgers says: "After a tiring game, or any time when I feel like it, I light up a Camel and get a swell 'lift'—soon feel 100% again. I am seldom without a Camel—they don't interfere with healthy nerves."
