Hope Expressed That
High School May Be Moved Off

By CATHERINE GUNN
1937! "San Jose State via San Jose High School is no more! Washington Square and San Jose State are synonymous. College students may walk about the campus at noon without having their thought processes, deep that they are, disturbed by childish cries of high school students getting away with peanut-butter sandwiches. San Jose State music department is once and for all left without competition on the part of San Jose High's brass band. In brief, San Jose State has moved into San Jose High school. The college has passed the stage of infancy and is now entitled to a campus all its own." Such might be an article in the Spartan Daily two years hence if Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie's expectations are fulfilled.

COLLEGE NEEDS SPACE
After all, San Jose State has outgrown its respective corner of San Jose's educational center known as Washington Square. Every large college has its own campus, why should San Jose State be crowded into half of one occupied by the high school? The

French Society Rehearsing Play To Present Soon

"Madame Sans-Gené", the play now being rehearsed by Iota Delta Phi, French honor society, for April 11 and 12 will be successful even if the audience doesn't understand French, according to Dorothy Pritz, president. Mr. Lawrence Mendenhall of the Speech department is directing the play without being able to understand the French dialogue and is basing his criticisms and comments on pantomime telling the story.

Dr. A. H. Lubowski of the Language department is also handling the direction.

Two members of the cast, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien de Cauniere, are leaders of the French colony here and prominent in its activities. Mr. Cauniere portrays Napoleon and Mrs. Cauniere takes the part of Madame Sans Gené.

Stage sets designed by Mr. Hugh Gillis, dramatics coach, depict elaborate court scenes in the time of Napoleon. Costumes are being obtained from a San Francisco company.

Suicides Not To Be Excused, Is Student Opinion

Self Destruction Said To Be Indication Of Cowardice

By ELMER LADINE

Suicides are not to be condemned, we are told, in an article that appeared in the Spartan Daily, for they have reasons which are sufficiently valid to themselves. But, let us remember, that there are other and more tenable opinions on the subject.

Is man born merely to die? If he were, then there would be ample reason for ushering in the main event. But don't you think that he is here for a more inspiring purpose? I am sure that I do.

From a purely human point of view, is it a display of manliness for a person to take his life? It seems to me that it requires more courage to face the issues in life, no matter how severe, than to take action to escape them.

Does man live and die to himself? Are not others influenced by our actions? Ordinarily we strive to make our loved ones happy.

A suicide must have either believed that death annihilates man or that man's spirit passes into a realm of bliss, regardless of how he has used his time here. No doubt, that is why suicides are so common. It is pitiable but not excusable; and therefore not to be defended.

It has been said that there are three sides to every question, namely, your said, my side, and the right side, but it doesn't hold in this case. The insane are not to be criticized for their actions but others are not to be excused.

Mrs. McLaughlin To Speak At G.E. Meeting Tuesday

Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin of San Francisco, speaking on the problems that commonly confront teachers of social studies, will talk tomorrow at the most important meeting of the quarter for General Elementary Majors to be held at 7:30 p.m. in room 155.

Mrs. McLaughlin will deal primarily with the questions of Pan-Pacific relations, having recently attended a three-day meeting in San Francisco of the Committee for the Cause and Cure of War. The objective of this group is to substitute intelligent procedures based upon carefully ascertained facts for the emotional approach to this problem. Mrs. McLaughlin will approach the discussion from the standpoint of what the average student should know and what the teacher, particularly, should know in organizing her treatment of social studies.

Faculty members and other students are invited to attend the meeting. Aurelie Antron will sing two vocal selections and refreshments will be served.

CO-ED CLAIMS COLLEGE LIFE AND LOVE MIX

By FRANCES BRITTON

In the article "College Life and Love Do Not Mix" Mr. Eaton has given us a very amusing personal opinion. However, I'm afraid that's about as far as it goes. Mr. Eaton has gone sadly astray in his inferred definition of the term "love", about which his whole theme revolves. He apparently confuses the deep and noble emotion rightly called Love with affected sentimentality. The term "love" as Mr. Eaton consistently uses it has no other significance than an adolescent preoccupation with the opposite sex. If what he means to say is: "chasing around with girls (or boys) is not conducive to good grades"—all right!

My contention is that if young people are really in love (and the fundamental meaning of love is to wish good for another) the seriousness of it will have a sobering effect on their whole course of thought and action. Life takes on a new purpose for them, and blurred and nebular ambition assumes solid and distinct form. People who are really in love, and especially those who intend to marry, realize their added responsibilities to themselves and to society.

Because of the steadying influence that Love has upon a person, because of the hopes and aspirations that it arouses in one, and because College is a place where one can receive preliminary training in the desired fields, I say that College Life and Love Do Mix.

Suggests Bigger Parts For Taormina; Lauds Randle Acting

By F. S. HOWARD

In the teeth of the fact that the long established tradition has been unfavorable criticism of nearly everything, I feel quite certain that the consensus of conflict will permit my indulging in an encomium to Thursday evening's performance in the Little Theater.

SUBLIME EXPERIENCE

It was truly a sublime experience to witness a play in which the preparation of a simple brandy and soda was not accompanied by a clamor resembling in many ways the performance of a third rate Marimba band, or, perhaps, the arrival of Saint Nicholas. Then too, consider the somewhat extravagant consumption of tobacco, the inevitable by-product of nearly all our more recent plays. Had it not been for the program, I would have guessed that the setting of Chimera was somewhere in the immediate vicinity of the altar in the Temple of Venus.

TWO ACTORS WORTHY

But to return to "Rope's End": Of the actors, at least Mr. Randle and Mr. Taormina seem worthy of special consideration. Randle, given the more fortunate part, was thor-

Artists Combine

Two well-known student artist-craftsmen have decided to combine their talents this quarter and, through the Spartan Daily, give the associated students the benefit of their efforts.

Michael Angelo, versatile staff artist, will produce five cartoons weekly this quarter for the Spartan Daily; one of these will be made into a zinc engraving by Raymond Verdier, photography student who completed San Jose State's first photoengraving last quarter. Verdier's first accomplishment appears in today's paper, and his work will be continued every Monday henceforth.

The Spartan Daily is proud to recognize the efforts of these two ambitious students, and we feel that our readers will realize that a great amount of time and patience is required for work of this type.

Photo-engraving will develop slowly but successfully at San Jose State, it is conceded, through the conscientious laboring of such students as Verdier, with the guidance of capable instruction such as Mr. George Stone is able to offer. The Spartan Daily's two young artists are making an excellent beginning. D. F.

Night Symphonies

"Symphony under the stars" for San Jose State? And why not? True, we have no Rose Bowl, but we have a very attractive Quad, and after listening to the symphony concert recently, any one would agree that we have a very fine symphony orchestra.

The Quad is enclosed enough to give a feeling of privacy and yet if chairs and benches were provided for the listeners an informal air would be assured, that, combined with the beauty of the Quad at night, should make delightful and unusual concerts during the warmer months of the year.

We have the orchestra, the Quad, and music lovers here at State. Combined with warm evenings that are for San Jose during the last quarter, they should make a perfect combination for "symphony under the stars."

S. J. Matmen Preparing For Coming Meet

The Spartan wrestlers are busily engaged in preparing themselves for a return meet with the San Mateo Junior college matmen. The match will be held in the men's gym Wednesday night.

In an early season match the junior collegians eked out a hard earned victory by winning the final match on the program. The final count was 18-16.

Coach Hubbard yesterday spoke very optimistically on the probable outcome of the return meet.

IMPROVEMENT

According to Hubbard, co-coach with Gene Grattan, the local grapplers have improved almost 100 per cent since the earlier match with San Mateo.

He pointed out that the addition of Chernoff into the ranks of the 135-pounders would strengthen the team to a great extent and add the missing balance of the squad.

THREE WINS

Following the two early season losses to the San Mateo team and the Air Base squad, the Spartans have shown great ability in gaining two verdicts over the strong California Frosh squad and a revenge victory of a sensational type over the Sunnyvale men.

EXPERTS

Coach Hubbard believes that San Jose has two of the best novice wrestlers in the college ranks in Clover and Enos, both of whom are in the same weight division. The coaching staff has been unable to decide the lineup heretofore because of the closeness in ability of the two.

Another Spartan who has attracted special notice from the coaches is Philpott, who wrestles in the light heavy weight class.

The squad is really determined to gain this win over San Mateo and extensive daily workouts are planned for the remaining time.

Golden Gate J. C. Wins Swimming Meet; S.J. Third

With Art Lindegren, Ralph Gilman and Bob Mowat starring for the Wandering Raiders, the Golden Gate Jaysee merman Saturday night took the majority of first places and walked off with team honors in the third annual Northern California Swimming Championships. The final score was Golden Gate 63, Stanford 47, San Jose State 31, Menlo Junior College 5, and Fresno State 3.

Lindegren won the 100 yd. freestyle besides being on the winning freestyle relay team and placing second to his teammate Gilman in the 220 yard freestyle. Gilman scored a double victory for the Wandering Raiders by taking firsts in both the 220 and 440 yard races. Bob Mowat was the other double winner for the Jayseers, taking both the 100 and 150 yard backstroke races and swimming a lap on the victorious medley relay team.

The final event of the evening, the 300 yard medley relay, developed into a duel between Stanford and Golden Gate with the Golden Gaters, swimming Bob Mowat, Winberg, and Haines Freeland, eking out a win by inches over the Indian team composed of Fitting, Bob Foster and Harvey Kuhn. Foster turned in two victories for the Stanford Red by winning both the 100 and 200 yard breast stroke races.

The fifty yard freestyle race developed into a duel between Haines Freeland and his teammate George England with Freeland touching out England in the time of 25.3 seconds.

Tom Boothe, last year's runner-up in diving, managed to score a four point victory over Johnnie De Smet of the Spartans to add another five points to the total for the Stanford Indian.

Golden Gate scored her other points in the opening event of the evening when a freestyle relay team made up of Gilman, Weatherbe, England, and Lindegren coasted to an easy win over Stanford and San Jose State.

Bergman of Stanford scored an easy win over Dave Lynn and Bill Draper to score five points for the Indians in the three hundred yard individual medley swim. The time was slow with Bergman leading all the way.

The next meet for the Spartans will be with Golden Gate Junior College in San Francisco on Wednesday followed by the Stanford Relays Friday evening.

Cammack, Cunningham Win Only S.J. First Places

By AL COX

Showing unpredicted strength the University of San Francisco Track team defeated the Spartan varsity by a score of 82 to 48 last Saturday morning at Spartan field. The Spartans were held to two first places and a tie, with the Dons taking five points per remainder of the events. Cunningham won the javelin easily with a winning heave of 168 feet; while Cammack took the low hurdles from Stith of U.S.F. Harry Murphy got off to a poor start in the high hurdles, but managed to catch the flying Don at the tape to emerge with a tie for first.

Poor times and distances marked the outcome of the meet. Elmo Ferreri of U.S.F. captured both the sprints, and two of his teammates finished in close order to shut out the Spartan dashmen. A different story came in the longer dash with the entry of Jim Stockdale for the Spartans. Jim chased the fleet Ferreri down the straightaway to be nosed out for first place. The winner's time was 22 seconds flat.

In the quarter mile event Sparta's ace one-lap man got off to a very poor start, and was boxed on the first turn breaking his stride putting him back into the rear guard and a fourth place at the finish. However, Gearhart pulled up at the finish to capture one point for the Spartan cause.

The 880 yard run provided the spectators with one of the thrills of the day. The battle was between Daily of the Dons and Everett of San Jose. The visitor set the pace for the first lap and then it was nip and tuck for the remainder of the race. Everett made a strong bid at the finish but it was not enough to fill the gap between the two runners. Daily was a scant two yards ahead at the finish and was clocked in 1:59.6.

Wall of the visitors showed some beautiful running in the mile and two mile events. In the former, he led the way for Harper and Hicks of the Spartans who finished second and third respectively. Harper who has been showing marked improvement with each successive race matched strides with the San Francisco star on the back stretch but the Don runner proved to be too fast for the Hubbardman. The two mile run found Gates and Wall matching strides for seven laps, and the latter pulling over the line first with a heartbreaking sprint. Gates made a brilliant effort to match the Don star's sprint, but failed and finished second with Everett taking the third spot.

Mile run—won by Wall (S.F.); Harper (S.J.), 2nd; Hicks (S.J.), 3rd. Time 4:31.3.

100 yds.—Won by Ferrari (S.F.); Weslen (S.F.), 2nd; Rice (S.F.), 3rd. Time 10 flat.

440—won by Douglass (S.F.); Wistler (S.F.), 2nd; Gearhart (S.J.), 3rd. Time 50.5.

880—Won by Daily (S.F.); 2nd, Everett (S.J.); Wood (S.J.), 3rd. Time 1:59.6.

220 yards—Won by Ferrari (S.F.); Stockdale (S.J.), 2nd; Hanley (S.J.), 3rd. Time 22 flat.

Health Cottage Reaches Size Of Small Hospital

Too Much Studying, or Overeating, Cited By Mr. Thomas

San Jose State college students are losing the ability to take it. Hard times are softening the toughest of them.

Although Controller Neil Thomas says, "maybe it was something they ate."

He even somewhat feebly suggests that it might have been caused by "overstudy".

But whatever the reason, attendance at the Edwin Markham Health Cottage shows nearly 100 percent increase over last year, Thomas reveals.

Prior to this year the maximum cases confined to the Health Cottage was eight per day. During the last two quarters that number has been the minimum, with the maximum listed as 14.

During the autumn quarter this year the Health Cottage cared for 272 students who required 730 days nursing. During the winter quarter just past 228 students were cared for.

Because of the increase, one full time nurse has been added to the staff, with several others placed on call.

Miss Viona Ramelli, a March 1935 San Jose State college graduate, has temporarily replaced as Dietician Constance Knudsen, now on sick leave.

Senior Co-operation Asked By Registrar

Less than ten weeks until Commencement!

Already preparations are being made. In the Registrar's Office credentials must be prepared; Dr. MacQuarrie signs them; then they are sent to the State Department of Education in Sacramento for further official signatures, numbering, recording, etc. Diplomas are engraved in Los Angeles, shipped to the college for checking, Dr. MacQuarrie does some more signing, and then they are re-packed and shipped to Sacramento for further signatures. At the same time Sacramento is handling thousands of diplomas and credentials for all of the other California teachers colleges and universities. You can see how very necessary it is for you to be prompt if you expect to find diplomas and credentials in your diploma folder when you step onto the platform at Commencement time.

The Registrar's Office will do its part if the seniors will do theirs. First, the senior must file his application for graduation in that office not later than Friday, April 19. If he has not been in to see Miss Palmer since the first of the year he can be certain that he has not applied.

If the graduate is to receive teaching credentials, he is required to pay an application fee of $3.00 for each. This must be given to Miss Palmer not later than April 22, in the form of postal money order, certified check, or cashiers check, made payable to the State Department of Education. She cannot send the credentials to Sacramento unless they are accompanied by the application fees, and Sacramento requests that they be there not later than May first.

In addition to the credential fees, there is the graduation fee, to be paid to Neil Thomas, Controller, not later than June first. It is $10.15 for the graduates receiving teaching credentials, and $9.15 for those who will not receive a credential.

A health examination is required of everyone who is to receive a teaching credential. It must be taken within six months of the date of the credential. The Health Department will appreciate your early attention to this requirement. Go in to see them soon;—do not leave it until that last minute.

The Appointment Office wishes to see all seniors, too. If you are interested in securing a position when you graduate, go in now and make yourself known to them. Otherwise they have no way of knowing about you.

Army Officer Will Be Host To Men's Honor Societies

Aide To T. Roosevelt To Entertain Students With Own Memoirs

General Grote Hutcheson, U.S. A., retired, a man who probably has had more personal contacts with United State's presidents than any other living person, will be host to several college honorary men's societies next Sunday at 7:30 at the home of Charles B. Goddard, dean of men at San Jose State.

General Hutcheson numbers among his personal acquaintances all of the presidents from Hayes to Hoover and expects to entertain the students with personal reminiscences of these friendships. The retired soldier who was military aide in the White House during the Theodore Roosevelt administration and prominent in early Indian warfare in Dakota and Wyoming, promises to tell along with many other recollections, the story of a "hilarious" poker game with the son of one of the presidents, while the general was still a cadet at West Point.

Library Fines On One Day Books Increased

Following are directions for use of reserve books in the library, outlined by Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian!

RESERVE ROOM RULES

There are two minor changes in the regulations for the Reserve Book Room, both pertaining to one day books. The first—and it will perhaps seem the best—is that any one-day book taken either on Friday or Saturday may be kept until Monday at 12.

The second change is in respect to fines for one-day books. Because in many cases much needed copies were kept out for a day or longer, it has been decided to increase the fine to five cents an hour on overdue books.

If you have left a book at home please report it before the hour due. It may decrease your fine.

It may not be clear to all students using reserve books that the files in the hall outside Room 122-4 tell you not only whether the book is on reserve for a given course but also what the time-limit is on the book.

Books listed on white cards may be used for one hour at a time with privilege of renewal on request if not in demand. Make out a pink slip for these one-hour books. They may be taken out at 4:30 for overnight use on a white slip, but must be returned within 15 minutes after the reserve room reopens. And remember that the room is open on Saturdays from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5.

Certain books are available on the one-day reserve. These are listed on yellow cards and are taken out on yellow slips any time during the day. They are due before 12 the following day.

Please look in the hall file behind the guide for your course to see on what basis the particular book circulates.

Before filling out slip please look up your book in the reserve file in the hall.

Joyce Backus, head librarian.

Photography Class Wades To Darkroom

Pictures, rain or shine! Photographers, floods or not! State photography students splashed their way through three inches of water on the floor of the Science building basement Wednesday morning to get to the darkrooms.

After having stood in the water for a half-hour, they were told to leave as it was highly dangerous to be there when the electric lights were on. With protest, the group filed out thinking nothing of water and electric currents as obstacles to their being photographers.

Poytress Offering New Course In Economic Plans

A new social science course for the spring quarter is being offered by Dr. William Poytress, head of the social science department. It is "Economic Planning" and has to do with conscious attempts to centralize the control of the activities of a people in producing and consuming goods and services. The class meets on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday in room 20.

The general aims of the course, according to Dr. Poytress are:

1. To survey the literature of Economic Planning—the authors, their plans, and criticisms of them.
2. To question the feasibility and desirability of planning.
3. To investigate the approaches of the plans—that is, whether to attempt control through production, consumption, prices, investment, etc. and whether to operate through a short or long term program.

Several projects will be worked out by the students, says the instructor, and the major requirement for those desiring to sign up for the course is that they have "good common sense and an interest in the subject". Schlichter's "Towards Stability" has been chosen as a text.

Mr. Fred McKnight of Modesto Junior College conducted the girls' combined glee clubs in a group selection, and Mr. Fred Roehr of San Mateo Junior College directed the men's combined glee clubs. All the organizations joined together under the leadership of Mr. Clinton Lewis of Marin Junior College to present the "Gloria" from Mozart's "Twelfth Mass", accompanied by members of the college symphony orchestra.

Writer Commends First Showing Of Hamilton Thriller

(Continued from Page One) oughly competent throughout. Taormina showed real talent in his superb handling of the difficult role of the cowardly Granillo. It is sincerely hoped that more may be seen of this gifted newcomer in a role that he may bring out in fitting style—for instance as Baron Fuggalotti in "The Dawn of Social Justice" or as Pancho Lopez in "The Bad Man". And that, come to think of it, may be a swashbuckling hit—Sam Taormina in the "Bad Man". Take heed, Mr. Gillis.

CATHERINE GUNN SAYS HI SCHOOL MUST BE MOVED

(Continued from Page One) college is dissatisfied with the situation and the high school is indignant. When I attended S. J. High school, I heard long discussions among students in regard to the unfairness of having the high school situated next to the college. It was said that such an arrangement hurt the pride of high school students. College students made them feel inferior. College students do not feel superior to high school students, generally, but they would take a great deal more pride in a college campus for the use of college students!

Fire recently destroyed a major part of the high school. A new building entailing considerable expense will be necessary. If San Jose State would purchase the high school at this time, the money might be used to construct a classroom building and repair some of the older buildings instead of for a new high school assembly hall. We need more room. Come on, California, divvy up!
