

Senior Week, Frosh Dance Plans Made

Juniors Choose Doerr To Head Class for Spring Quarter

FROSH ADJOURN Dance, Games Follow Short Meeting of Underclassmen

Senior week calendar, election of Junior class officers, and plans for a freshman student body dance were the results of three class meetings held yesterday morning.

Joel Carter, president of the seniors, appointed committee chairmen for senior week, the dates for the activities being: Friday, May 31, Senior Sprawl; Thursday, June 6, Recognition Day; Friday, June 7, Senior Ball; Saturday, June 8, Homecoming; Sunday, June 9, Baccalaureate; Monday, June 10, Mt. Hamilton trip; Tuesday, June 11, Senior Reception; Wednesday, June 12, Senior Banquet; Thursday, June 13, Commencement.

Heading the committees will be Clyde Fake, Senior Ball; Dorothy Vierra, Senior Banquet; Kenneth Addicott, Homecoming day.

Ray Ryan, chairman Bill MacQuarrie, Robert Jardine, Ralph Pisor, and Ervin De Selle are members of the Spardi Gras Pageant committee.

Miss Lydia Innes, appointment secretary, announced a meeting of those who did student teaching last quarter in room 116, Monday evening.

Bob Doerr was elected president of the junior class for the spring quarter yesterday at a meeting in room 1 of the Home Economics building at which time details of the class dance on May 4 and picnic May 31, were submitted to the group for approval.

Other junior officers chosen were Paul Becker, vice-president; Alberta Jones, secretary-treasurer; Gertrude Erz, A.W.S. representative; Charles Leong, reporter; Byron Lanphear, sergeant-at-arms, and dance chairman. Bill Moore is the retiring president of the class.

After a short meeting in the auditorium when plans for a dance May 10, open to the student body, were announced, freshmen adjourned to the women's gym for sports and dancing. Music was furnished by Bill Thurlow's orchestra, and games included baseball, volleyball, ping pong, and horseshoes.

Spartans In Search For Costumes Loot Old Trunks, Attics

Wardrobes, attics, old trunks, and rag bags are undergoing a thorough overhauling in Spartan homes as would-be Spardi Gras day participants search for suitable costumes for the traditional day that occurs this year on April 26.

Everyone on Spardi Gras day appears in some kind of get-up—members of the old guard state that back in '28 Dr. William Poytress appeared with a long flowing white beard, a tramp's get-up and a derby with a hole in it.

This year, not to be outdone, students are already planning costumes that will probably represent everything under the sun. Costumes are worn from the first morning of class throughout the half holiday.

Mr. N. Befuddled By Foreign Accent, Pals With Litvinoff

(Editor's note: Mr. Yliad Natraps was finally contacted through the assistance of the Russian Police and will start today his day by day account of his journey to San Jose to take part in the Spartan Revelries.)

By MR. YLIAD NATRAP (Spartan Daily Foreign Correspondent)

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., April 18. —Here I am in Moscow with Stalin and Litvinoff pestering me with questions about the Spartan Revelries—wanting to know if it's a "Working Class Problem Play" or essentially bourgeoisie. They have asked me if it can be brought to Russia and if not can all of Russia come to San Jose State to see it. They ask me etc., etc., until I'm almost crazy.

I told them that it was more of a "Get Out of Working In Class Problem Play". I said that there was nothing bourgeoisie about it after I looked up the word and found out it meant "middle class". "The Spartan Revelries are", I declared vehemently, (Pretty good, hey editor?) "first class entertainment."

Stalin has been showing me around town quite a bit and he's not a bad egg when you get to know him. The biggest trouble I have over here is that the people I talk to all speak English like a bunch of foreigners. I guess they didn't get to go to school much.

El Circulo Cervantes to Discuss Sigma Delta Pi Initiation at Meeting

To discuss the coming installation of Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary members of El Circulo Cervantes, will hold an important meeting tonight at 345 South Ninth street, according to an announcement by Wilbur E. Bailey, president.

YW Conference Topic Announced, "Security in the Modern World"

Taking "Security in the Modern World" as its topic this year, the annual Y.W.C.A. conference at Redwood Lodge in the Santa Cruz mountains will be held on April 27 and 28. Security from the present and social angle will be discussed.

Hiking, picnicing, round-table conferences, and lecturing by outstanding speakers of San Jose State and other colleges will be featured during the two-day stay at the lodge.

A similar conference was held last year and, according to those attending, was greatly enjoyed by all. The fee asked is one dollar and twenty-five cents for the two days. Students and faculty are invited to attend. Sign up on the Y bulletin board.

Spardi Gras Hop Will Have Circus Theme Decoration

BAND WAGON ERECTION FOR ORCHESTRA STAND IS ANNOUNCED

Carrying out the festival idea of Spardi Gras, a "circus" theme will prevail at the first Student Body evening dance of the quarter next Friday evening, April 26, in the men's gymnasium, it was announced by Warren Tormey, social affairs chairman, following a meeting of his committee yesterday noon.

CARMEN DRAGON Carmen Dragon and his 13-piece orchestra will furnish the music for three hours of dancing, with plans for several intermission numbers nearing completion.

Under the direction of chief artist Michael Angelo, who suggested the theme for the dance, and Bob Schnabel, chairman of the decoration committee, a high platform will be erected in the gymnasium so that the orchestra can play from a band wagon. The walls of the gym will be decorated by the committee members.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS Lowell Smith, Burton Smith, Barney Watson, Tom Gifford, Bill Wetsel, Betty Bruch, Alice Wilson, Jim Welch, Hugh Staffelbach, Joyce Grimsley, Bob Doerr, and Mary Louise Brown.

Other committees are: properties; Angelo Covello, chairman, Joe Maynard, and George Whiteman; publicity, Paul Becker, chairman, Ed Moldt, and Lela O'Connell.

Student Prexy Ronald Linn: "pleased with opportunity."

LINN IS NAMED HEAD OF LOCAL RURAL SCHOOL

Teacher Placement Is Lauded By Student Teacher Prexy

By CHARLES LEONG Whole-hearted support and recommendation from both the administration and the faculty members was largely instrumental in his appointment, modestly insists Ronald Linn, student-body president of San Jose State college, who has been named principal of the Evergreen school for the coming year.

FACULTY SUPPORT "I am pleased with the opportunity presented me . . . it is more than I had hoped to secure," said Linn, "and it is largely due to the splendid support given me by members of the faculty and the administration."

Lauding the placement service of San Jose State, Linn declared, "Any student with the proper qualifications, I feel, will also get the same fine appointment services."

Linn, who is prominent in varied aspects of school life, participating in dramatic, debate, service, and administrative groups, attributes much of his opportunities to activity contacts.

"Participation in activities is worth its weight in gold," points out Linn, referring to his appointment in competition with two more experienced and older candidates for the position.

Appointment to a principalship is an achievement of high honor for a student-teacher, and San Jose State's student prexy feels that his activities gave him added weight to his recommendations.

Spardi Gras Final Plans Made Today

Grand Parade Entries To Include National Stooges League

MENU BIG SECRET

Cake Bakers Dig Out Recipes; Hairraisers Shun Razors

With entries ranging from a National Stooges League to a novelty fire engine, final plans for the Grand Parade, one of the big novelty features of Spardi Gras, annual half-day holiday festival, will be made at a meeting today at noon in room 53.

PARADE EVENTS This will be the last opportunity for organizations to sign up for entries in the parade, with more than 30 having already announced their intention to compete, according to Russell Azzara, parade chairman.

Apparently intent on secrecy, the food committee, with Adrian Wilbur and Mary Youngren as co-chairmen, still refuse to divulge the menu but deny all rumors that it will include beans.

GENERAL HILARITY Cake bakers are digging out recipes, beard growers are shunning the razor, and the entire campus is becoming Spardi Gras conscious as the big half-holiday nears.

Hugh Staffelbach, general chairman of the day states that nearly every student on the campus will have an opportunity to take part in some contest, and all can take part in the general atmosphere of hilarity that prevails on the traditional day.

Kappa Delta Pi Pledges Largest Group in History

Bearing the distinction of being the largest group ever to qualify for membership in Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society, 77 State students were pledged Tuesday afternoon at a traditional candlelight pledge service held in Room 155 of the education building.

Candidates were chosen, according to Mrs. Lillian Gray, advisor of Kappa Delta Pi, on the basis of high general scholarship, high achievement in educational courses, and the endorsement of education faculty members.

Dr. George Freeland addressed the group on the ideals of the honorary fraternity, after which, Ronald Linn, president, spoke on "What It Means to Me to Belong to Kappa Delta Pi". Richard Hughes discussed the service angle of membership with the pledges.

After the service was read by the president and vice-president, attired in cap and gown of green and orchid, six members of the council pinned badges on the pledges which will be removed only after they have passed a test on the Kappa Delta Pi constitution. At the close of the candle service the group sang the pledge song with music furnished by Robert Rath. Refreshments were served.

Those pledged were: Atthowe, Marjorie C.; Banwell, Katherine; Bauer, Dorothy; Bewley, Rose; Billwiller, James; Boltshouser, Alice; Bond, Edith; Brady, Marshall J.; Brekelbaum, Gertrude; Brown, Robert V.; Bruch, Barbara; Byrne, Kathleen.

Just Among Ourselves

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

Note: This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

Just a word to crusaders. There's a great kick in the dramatic situation, the limelight, the publicity, the daring when you attack constituted authority. There's something of a boot in all that, and many of the public will applaud and urge you on. Look out for your enthusiastic supporters.

I have received a great many missives of one kind and another recently, most of them based on inadequate information, some of them vicious, demanding this and that, some written on dirty typewriters, and some in quavering longhand. Most of the writers this time have signed names, but a few still hide behind anonymity. One of the letters really tickled me. Usually I don't read anything anonymous, but since most of my recent fan mail was signed, I read an anonymous one before I noticed it. It was intended to be commendatory. The writer had read into the newspaper reports much that wasn't even there. He wanted me "to know, Doctor, that we are all behind you, thousands of us. Keep up the good work." I began to see myself on a prancing charger, a silver shield before me, a flashing sword in my trusty right. After further insistence on his til-death-do-us-part support, he signed himself "A Loyal Citizen and a Taxpayer". I would like to know that fellow. I'd give him a little job to do just to see him run.

Sorry as I truly am that we have failed to secure his cooperation, I found it my duty to expel from the college Arthur Mintz, one of our freshmen. The action was taken on the ground that he played a part in the disgraceful disturbance which occurred in our Quad last Friday. Arthur Mintz is registered as an adult special. He is much older than most of our students. He has had a good deal of experience already in this world, and his report indicates that at the present time he makes his living in the Christian ministry. Since my first acquaintance with him, I have been increasingly conscious that his attitude has been out of the ordinary for either a freshman or an adult. He came in to see me some time ago with another student, requesting college recognition for a so-called national students' organization. I told him that my information about that organization was of a disquieting nature and that I didn't believe it was honest nor was it made up of students. It was just another racket, in fact, feeding in this case upon inexperienced, unsuspecting students, young people who, perhaps rather suggestible, had some inclination toward the role of the crusader. I told him that the college would not tolerate that organization, and yet he continued to be interested in it and finally became the most prominent speaker in a strike which seems to have been called largely by the New York group.

This student has undoubtedly done a good deal of public speaking, has a strong voice, and managed to make it reach, as far as the sound was concerned, to the far corners of the quad. I couldn't help hearing a part of what he said through the open windows of my office, although I did not get his whole argument since the matter was in the nature of a disturbance and did not interest me. I may say that what I did hear, however, did not sound like the sermon on the mount.

I am not concerned with what those people said that day, but I am concerned about the fact that they said it at such a time and in such a manner as to constitute a disturbance of the work of the college, and it is on that account that I have had to take the action mentioned here. I am indeed sorry that this has been necessary but in view of the fact that a very large majority of our students are thoroughly in sympathy with San Jose State, I am not willing that their rights shall be invaded by people who force their own personal opinions upon us.

Demi-Tasse

By CHARLES LEONG

All this soul-satisfying sunshine is welcome as "A" grades after a lean quarter. For a while we thought that the legislature would change the Normal's monicker to Lake Washington Square.

But we mustn't expect too much of this golden-beamed weather. The weather, especially this unusual California variety, is as fickle as a woman.

Spartan Brevites: . . . the eye-filling beauties and crooning cuties . . . betcha even Dud DeGroot envies the snap and precision of the stepping sirens in their line scrimmage . . . and broken arches are as big a risk as deformed grid-iron noses . . . whoever first made the crack that Spartans have "strong backs and weak minds" is sadly mistaken.

Because Fitts' fascinators prove that the Spartanettes also have strong (we mean well-muscled) feet and strong minds . . . cuz these babes certainly must have strong, alert minds to mind their "nyahs" and buckity-buckities (apologies to D.F.) . . . press cards are at a premium these days, we hear . . . rumored reports say that the sale of hair eliminators and bald-head processors are mounting daily.

The other day the serene experience of age taught youth another lesson.

A gray-haired centenarian, a 110 year old grandmother to be exact, preserves her youthful attitude by entering an amateur radio audition just for a lark.

She won the first prize in this national hook-up audition, and is now appearing in the big-time as a singer.

One of the brightest and most amusing spots of Spardi Gras day is the motley show of originality and color in the carnival procession of costumes.

Besides the incentive of winning one of the worth-while prizes, which is only of secondary importance (mmm-hummm), the fun-fest of wearing clever and funny costumes is well-worth the while.

After-dinner dessert, so Susie the Cynic tells us, is just something to flick cigarette ashes upon.

Mr. Tassi discourages Mr. Demi, the Dim-one, by telling him that his chances of winning the whiskerino contest are as bright as trying to fly a kite in a subway.

Let 'Em Eat Cake

By RAYMOND WALLACE

There is no more lonely, disolate feeling possible than that occasioned by being alone in a mine. The thousands of tons of rock and earth above seem to press down upon one with actual physical power, as if one bore their entire weight upon his shoulders, and no matter how interested or busy one may be with other matters, there is always in the back of the mind, the consciousness of the tremendous mass above. Once, as a small boy, I saw a drift whose roof had fallen through clear from the surface, three hundred feet above, and I then and there determined never to be a miner.

When I was about twelve, I was playing one day in an excavation in which a sewer pipe was being laid. The street had just been cut through, and the pipe covered over except for the ends, which remained open, about eight feet below the surface. I had crawled into the pipe, when the walls of the excavation collapsed, blocking off the end of the pipe. I crawled through it for three blocks to the other end, and was surprised to find that my hair had not turned white by the time I reached daylight again.

The preceding bit of verse inspired me to try my own hand at riming, and I managed to produce a little versicle. It went along well enough for four lines, and there I was stuck, until my mercantile nature got the better of me, and I finished it off in a businesslike style. Here it is:

Are slowly coursing, drop by drop,
Along her face, enframed in curls,
And since I cannot make them stop,

"Suppose," said the Campus Philosopher the other day, "you take a case like this. Would you call a man insane if he himself firmly believes that he was?"

"I suppose so," I answered. "He wouldn't believe he was if he were not, would he?"

"That's just it. Those who are really insane never realize it. They can never be convinced of the fact that they are insane. So then a man who believed he was, couldn't really be, could he?"

"Well, perhaps not. I suppose he could really be sane."

"Ah," he exclaimed triumphantly, "but wouldn't a man be crazy to go around believing he was a lunatic when he really was not?"

I looked about for a blunt instrument, and the Philosopher beat a hasty retreat.

CINDER TEAM LEAVES TODAY FOR FRESNO

BY AL COX

At noon today the Spartan varsity track team will leave to meet its old rivals on the cinder path tomorrow at the Raisin City oval. The Bulldogs boast of a team that outclasses their last year squad, with which they won the conference title. With several junior college transfers to fill in the gaps left open by graduation, the '35 edition of the Fresno team is undoubtedly very strong.

Many old feuds will be held again when men of the two teams meet in the respective events. The most outstanding of these is the battle in the mile run. The contestants being Glen Harper and Hotchkiss of Fresno. For the last three years these boys have battled out the curtain raiser in real fighting style. Last year at Spartan field, the Bulldog four lap man was unfortunate enough to run Harper off the track as they rounded the second lap. This incident caused much talk about disqualification, but in the end nothing was done. This '35 meeting of these two boys, which should be their last individual meeting, will be interesting to watch. Both having run the event around 4:36, with probably the Fresnan having the slight edge.

Dee Shehtanian will have to fill Doug Taylor's shoes to continue the Wilson-Taylor battle that has always ensued in the broad jump. Wilson of the Hanner tribe has been jumping consistently around 23 feet; while Dee's best mark stands just slightly under this mark. Maybe another battle.

Frank Cunningham will endeavor to knock off the favorite in the javelin with one of the throws that he has been holding back so far this season. Two years ago he startled the Pacific Coast with a heave of 215 feet, which incidentally is the Fresno lad's best throw this season. This toss was made in the Bulldog's meet against U.S.C. last week.

The majority of sprint points should go to the Fresno squad. Holt, a junior college transfer, has been running quite consistently around 9.18 in the 100 and 22 flat in the longer dash. However, Stockdale should be counted for a place well at the top. His times have not been as good, but his competitive ability has yet to be matched.

The hurdles find the veteran Harry Murphy running in this dual meet with Fresno. Last year Murphy won the highs in the dual meet, but this year as yet he has not matched his '34 season time. Carl Cammack will make his debut against Fresno this Saturday. Carl has been doing some nice work in the hurdles this year, especially in the longer race. Here he will have to compete against the veteran Floyd Wilson who has been running the low sticks for years and years. With a few more races in fast company under his belt, Cammack will stick with the best.

BADMINTON CLUB

A badminton club was organized yesterday at a noon meeting held in the women's gymnasium.

Betty Brainard was selected as president, and Miss Gail Tucker, physical education instructor, is the faculty advisor and badminton instructor.

Students who attended the first meeting include: Bessie Lugonja, Marjory Currell, Dorothy Sanor, Grace Knowles, Lydia Innes, Gladys Whitney, and Ruth Ulrich.

The Badminton Club is open to both men and women students, and instruction is to be given in the game.

Club meetings are to be held every Wednesday at 12:10, at the women's gymnasium.

A Badminton tournament is to be scheduled later in the quarter and the finals are to be played off Field Day.

ARCHERY CLUB

An Archery shoot is to be held today at 12:15, on the San Carlos turf.

Both men and women students are invited to come out.

Intramural Activities

Today is the last chance for playing of preliminary singles matches. Four matches were scheduled for this week and so far only one has been played.

In the first match of the Inter-class tourney, Tognazzini defeated Landon 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Judging from the scores of the first match, there should be hotly contested meetings between the members of the various classes.

The golf chart is now posted on the bulletin board in the men's gym and students are free to sign up any time. A qualifying round of 18 holes must be played in order that each man will be placed in the flight in which he has a chance.

Yesterday's turnout for the valley ball trials promises that the sport is gaining in popularity and that the competition will be keen in this division. The schedule for games will be posted soon. All games will be played during the noon hours on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Much interest is being shown in the doubles matches of the tennis tournament. Joe Salameda may be heard at any time of the day and McPhetres will meet their rival Maloney. The Fresno lad will have the edge in both events due to this season marks. McPhetres has beaten him for two years in a row in the discus event, but Mac has not hit anything near his past year's form. Kinnard does well in practice, but does not seem to do as well in competition. With a Hannarite doing around 45 feet in the iron marble contest, Doug will have to duplicate a practice throw to finish on top.

State Wrestlers Journey To Berkeley Tonight For Initial Major Encounter

A determined band of Spartan wrestlers will make their first big-time start at Berkeley tonight.

Entering a full team, eight men, San Jose will be opposing squads from California, Stanford, California Aggies, and San Francisco University. This will be the first time that the Spartans have been called upon to meet the varsity teams from these schools.

Yesterday's workout, which took place at Palo Alto, the lair of the Stanford Indians, Coach Grattan's men showed that they will be in the midst of the battle for top vowing that he and his partner are going to walk right off with top honors. He's betting a couple of cokes on it too.

The entries in the tennis tournament are pretty evenly divided and points for the sport will undoubtedly lie with the classes that win the most matches.

honors. Holding the powerful Redskins to an even count in a series of informal bouts, the Washington Square men gave an indication of what the larger and more famous institutions will be up against tonight.

California will be top heavy favorite to win by the final score, but it is doubtful if the Bear matmen will get through the evening unscathed by the new-found power of the San Jose Spartan.

Grattan, pleased over yesterday's showing, has indicated that he will leave the lineup practically intact. This means that Salameda, Haerberle, Roumasset, Lucky, Enos or Glover, Philpott and Maynard will probably crawl through the ropes against the mixture of Dons, Mustangs, Bears and Indians.

The bouts have attracted quite a bit of interest at the Berkeley school and a full house is expected to witness the contests.

Complete Cast Chosen for Prize Play by O'Neill

"Beyond the Horizon", Eugene O'Neill's first full-length play will be produced by the San Jose Players on the evenings of May 2, 3, and 4 in the Little Theater, with a cast composed entirely of experienced actors.

Considered by many critics to be O'Neill's best play, "Beyond the Horizon" was the Pulitzer prize winner for 1920. Within six months of its publication, it had been translated into more than a dozen languages.

The play is a mixture of the realistic and the poetic. It presents a picture, from scene to scene, of the gradual degeneration of the main characters as fate gets the upper hand—the old theme of fate against the individual.

One of the most difficult plays that has ever been produced here, "Beyond the Horizon", because of the competent cast, is expected to become one of San Jose Players' major successes.

Virginia Maddox and Gary Simpson, both of whom have done fine work in previous performances, are well cast in the two leading roles.

Mae Wilburn, who has done a great deal of back stage work for Players, will make her first appearance in a full length play miles instead of reams, just to save time. Two hundred miles of mimeograph paper stock amounting to $800 is the yearly expenditure in that particular department, to say nothing of the estimated expense for labor required to operate the machines.

The Spartans and Spartanettes have to be kept clean and warm, too, it seems, or at least the consumption of towels and soap would lead one to think so. State students keep clean to the tune of 1,875,000 towels and 8 barrels of soap, while bills for heat run close to $4,000. Lighting costs amount to $8,000 a year.

Uncle Sam and the telephone company come in for their share too. The average monthly cost of postage is close to $125, with a like amount being paid for the 57 telephones that are in the college buildings.

The teachers don't seem to want to work for nothing, either. The salaries for the 173 faculty members and the 20 persons on the maintenance staff add up to $37,000 a month, $25,000 of this amount going to members of the teachers college staff and $12,000 for junior college teachers.

And that's only the beginning! No wonder it's hard to keep the pen out of the red ink bottle.

One-Act Play To Replace Regular Music Half Hour

In place of the regular music half hour, "The Valiant", a one-act play by Hall Middlemass, will be presented under the direction of Jim Clancy, prominent dramatics student, at 12:15 today in the Little Theater.

"This performance of 'The Valiant' promises to be the finest all-student production I have ever witnessed," said Mr. Hugh Gillis, of the Speech Arts department, "and all of the principals in the cast are well able to hold their parts, each of them having had prominent roles in past productions."

Besides directing the play, Clancy will enact the leading character, that of a condemned man in prison who has the courage to keep the knowledge of his coming death from his sister, who unknowingly visits him just before he is to be hanged.

Admission is free, but doors will be closed at 12:20, as the tragedy requires complete silence for its effectiveness, Mr. Gillis stated.

The complete cast is as follows:
The Condemned Man—Jim Clancy.

His sister—Jean McCrae.

Warden—Ray Ruf.

Prison Priest—Harold Randle.

Jailer—Wendell Huxtable.

Smoking a cigarette gives a lot of pleasure—it always has.

Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it.
