Spartan Revelries Opens Tonight In Morris Dailey at 7

Capacity Audience Is Expected To View Student Show

The general public of San Jose will see tonight for the first time the wealth of student talent that has been rehearsing daily in various hideouts of Washington Square, when the 1935 Spartan Revelries show opens at 7 o'clock on the stage of the Morris Dailey auditorium. Fifteen cents will be charged for admission.

DRESS REHEARSAL

A dress rehearsal last night behind locked doors indicated that the large cast will give superior performance tonight for the capacity audience which is expected. Paul Becker, popular entertainer, will officiate as master of ceremonies, with Carmen Dragon's rapidly rising twelve-piece band providing the music. The show is under the direction of Randolph Fitts, who also directed the 1934 show.

SPECIALTY SINGERS

Marian Lee Barnes, Marian Melby, Burt Watson, Aubrey Nunes, a girls' trio composed of Elree Ferguson, Evelyn Cavala, and Margaret Davenport, and a male quartet of Aubrey Nunes, Ralph Claypool, Marvin Hockabout, and Ray Sherwin are among the singers in the show. They will present the original songs which were submitted by Gil Bishop, Carmen Dragon, Marian Melby, Emilie Bouret, Mary Thorpe, Eugene Shimmin, Saxon Downs, Randy Fitts, Thelma Watts, and Genny Hoaglan.

A variety of comedy skits and individual acts will be distributed throughout the three units of the show. Among these is the present-

Mrs. Hanchett Presents Own Music Program Assisted By Students

An interesting and unusual program attended by an appreciative audience was presented last night by Mrs. Sybil Croly Hanchett, pianist and composer, who was assisted by a number of music students and three faculty members.

Besides being an accomplished pianist, Mrs. Hanchett has devoted considerable time to other phases of music. A number of vocal solos written by her were sung by Aurelie Antron, mezzo-soprano, Evelyn Cavala, soprano, Maurine Thompson, contralto, and Emil Miland, tenor. Mrs. Margaret Osterstein was the accompanist.

Original poems written by Mrs. Hanchett were interpreted by Mr. William McCoard, of the Speech Arts faculty. Several of these poems were winners in the Phelan contest years ago. The string ensemble, composed of Victoria Parsons, Mildred Carman, Jessie Applegarth, Roberta Bubb, and Lola Kinne, and the Woodwind ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Thomas E. Eagan, played selections which had been arranged by Mrs. Hanchett.

Natraps Lands At Sunnyvale; Thumbs Way To Revelries

SUNNYVALE AIR BASE, Calif., April 25. (Special to the Spartan Daily)—Mr. Yliad Natraps, foreign correspondent for the Spartan Daily, arrived here at 4:44 p. m. in a Russian plane which he said Stalin and Litvinoff had forced him to take because of the loss of his own plane, the "Minnie O."

Mr. Natraps though seemingly clear in the head, was prepared to complain of many things. After effecting a one-point landing on the nose of his 'borrowed' plane was, "Where's everybody? Say, what's going on around here?"

"Huh? Who? asked a land marine who was leaning against the big, empty hangar. Natraps muttered to himself for a few minutes, then threw up his head and began a speech.

"I am an actor in the Spartan Revelries," he said, "and I am to go on tonight. I haven't got time to give you my autograph now."

"I didn't . . ." the marine began.

"That's all right, some other time. Well—I guess the governor's late with his car."

Whereupon Natraps grasped the hand of the befuddled marine, and after mumbling something to himself, walked down the road past the sign which said "San Jose, 9 Miles" with his thumb in the air.

Importance of Groups 'Get-together' Stressed By Student Body Head

The importance of the organizations' "get-together" dinner to be held Wednesday evening, May 1, in the college cafeteria is far-reaching, stresses Ronald Linn, student-body president, who urges ALL ORGANIZATION HEADS UNABLE TO ATTEND THE DINNER TO SEND A REPRESENTATIVE.

A round-table discussion of student body problems of the past year will be the chief topic, and suggestions for the elimination of these problems will be the objective.

Several well-known speakers and entertainers have been secured for the dinner, which starts at six p.m.

The price of the dinner is 40 cents and organizations are requested to notify the controller's office by Tuesday, April 30, in order to have the exact number on reservation.

American Destruction Of Civilization Is Fault Of Women, Holliday

Wimmin are to blame, insists Dr. Carl Holliday of Genius class fame, for the imminent destruction of our civilization.

Why? Because they demand too much of this world in general and of their husbands in particular. Girls will not marry, explained Dr. Holliday.

Circus Theme To Prevail At Spardi Gras Evening Hop

BandWagon Orchestra Lotta, Hooley Dooley, Perform Tonight

A circus theme will prevail at the first student body evening dance of the quarter tonight in the Men's gymnasium, carrying out the festival idea of Spardi Gras, traditional annual half holiday of entertainment.

Carmen Dragon's 12-piece orchestra will play for the dance from a gayly colored band wagon and will furnish the music for a short and peppy intermission number.

Lotta, the Fat Woman of the Circus, Admiral Hooley Dooley, and the Austerbaum Brothers will line both ends of the gymnasium, while to further carry out the carnival idea in the decorations the main door of the building will be transformed to resemble the entrance of a circus tent.

The hop will be a regular sports dance, not a costume affair, and admission will be the same as for all student body dances, according to Warren Tormey, social affairs chairman.

Michael Angelo, art chairman, and Bob Schnabel, chairman of decorations, with the help of the committees, have taken charge of the decoration of the gymnasium.

Science Faculty Gives Field Courses To Santa Cruz, Marin Teachers

Two series of extension courses illustrating the importance of science in the new elementary school curriculum, are being conducted for teachers in other counties by members of the San Jose State college science faculty.

Dr. P. Victor Peterson, chairman of the science department, states that this is the first venture into field extension work that has been attempted by any group in the state.

One of the series is with 30 Marin County teachers who meet every Saturday during a six weeks' period. Dr. Carl Duncan, Mr. Fred Buss, and Dr. Karl Hazeltine, have already lectured and the course will be concluded with instruction from Dr. P. Victor Peterson, Dr. Gayle Pickwell, and Miss Emily Smith.

The other extension section, in elementary and junior high school science, is being conducted in Santa Cruz every Thursday by Dr. Peterson with a group of 52 teachers. This course will consist of 15 meetings.

NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE TECHNICAL JUNE GRADS

On the afternoon of April 30, which is next Tuesday, I must report to the Registrar's office the names of students for whom technical diplomas are to be ordered. Only those whose fees have been paid by that time will be included. This is a hurry-up call for fees that have not yet been paid.

Harrison F. Heath, Technical Councilor.

SpardiGras Half-Holiday Of Fun, Food and Frolic Begins Today At Noon With Dance Followed By Grand Parade

Recreational Swimming To Be Replaced By Meet At 4:30; Free Meals To Vie With Pie-Eating Contest As Most Popular

When classes are dismissed at 12 o'clock today, Spartans begin their annual Spardi Gras half holiday of fun, feed and frolic lasting from 12 noon to 12 midnight, and including dances, eats, contests, show, and parade.

Callendar for Spardi Gras Includes 5-cent Lunch and Contests

- 12:00—Five cent lunch special sold by Co-op.
- 12:30-2:00—Noon dance, women's gym.
- 1:00—Parade assemblies near men's gym.
- 2:00—Parade starts.
- 2:30—Judging and contests. Float and costume, beard, pie eating, cake baking, relay, tug-of-war, push ball, football game.
- 4:30—Swimming meet.
- 5:30—Free feed in Quad. (Student body cards necessary.)
- 7:00—Spartan Revelries.
- 9:00—Student body dance, men's gym.

The free food will be dished out in the Quad at 5:30. General chairman Hugh Stafflebach especially stresses the fact that student body cards must be shown by those attending the feed. The crowd is asked to stay outside the Quad until 5:30.

4:30 SWIM MEET

A swimming meet at 4:30 is one of the last minute developments in the day's program, and will take the place of the recreational swimming previously announced.

Food for the noon meal will be handled by the Co-op, which is featuring five cent specials to be sold adjacent to the women's gym.

PARADE PARTICIPANTS

After the noon dance that will take place from 12:30 to 2:00 in the women's gym, where student will dance to Carmen Dragon's orchestra, the parade will pass in review before grandstands erected on the San Carlos turf. Organizations participating in the parade will form at the side of the men's gym and will appear in the parade in the following order: Spartan Knights, Senior Class, W.A.A., Iota Sigma Phi, Phi Kappa Pi, Play readers, Spartan Spears, Freshman Class, Kappa Kappa Sigma, Delta Theat Omega, Home Making Club, Y. M. C. A., Allenian, Japanese Club, Alpha Pi Omega, A.W.S., San Jose Players, Radio Club, Beta Gamma Chi, Newman Club, Sigma Gamma Omega, Delta Phi Upsilon, Tau Delta Phi, Smock and Tam, Tau Mu Delta, Ero Sophian Society, Sappho Society.

CONTEST JUDGING

Those wishing to enter the costume contest should march in the parade. Two $3.50 merchandise orders will be awarded the boy and girl winners.

At 2:30 contests and judging will take place when cake bakers, pie eaters, pig chasers, relay runners, tug-of-war pullers, and pushballers will contest for honors. The individuals winning will be awarded, and the inter-class games will be totaled for the winning class. The organization with the best entry in the parade will also be announced.

Italian Club Plans May Benefit Dance To Be Held At Newman Club

A benefit dance to be given in the early part of May was planned by the Italian Club at their Tuesday night meeting at the home of Dorothy Ratto, 494 South Sixth street.

President Vincent Giordano appointed committees to take care of the sale of tickets for the dance which will be held at Newman Hall.

The rest of the evening's meeting was devoted to playing games and conversing in Italian. Refreshments were served.

De Groot Outlines Personality For Freshman Group

What goes to make up the personality that lays 'em down in rows when you walk by? That's simple, says Coach Dud DeGroot.

Addressing the freshman orientation meeting yesterday morning, Coach DeGroot stated that personality may be divided into three parts.

"There are three parts to personality," he stated, "what you actually are, what you want others to think you are, and what others really think you are."

Stating tersely his method for developing a desirable personality, the football mentor explained that "everyone should analyze himself and correct his faults, for it is up to him whether he will become a success or a failure."

"But above all things," he added, "don't be a masculine co-ed or an effeminate man if you would be popular with the opposite sex."

Defining a wholesome character, he gave honesty, courtesy, tact, ambition as requisites.

Playing another angle on the personality question, Miss Lydia Innes, appointment bureau head, presented a stage skit emphasizing the value to the individual of embracing in his character the elements making up a pleasing personality, and the part which experience and recommendations play in the securing of a job.

At the senior class orientation meeting, Bud Applegarth was named chairman of the senior hall by class president Joel Carter. Assisting Applegarth will be Clyde Fake, Evelyn Cavalla, and Barbara Bruch.

Stealing a march on other classes, the seniors witnessed a special program of acts from tonight's Revelries.

SPARDI GRAS

DEMI-TASSE

By CHARLES LEONG

The American public, including college students, no doubt are seeming to elevate their literary tastes in the field of magazine consumption.

A casual look-around in any magazine shop reveals a brightening up of literary standards. The maggies no longer go in for flashy covers and bright colors. Some of the most erudite ones come out plain as an old maid . . . but with plenty of stuff inside.

In fact, a few, such as the New Republic, or the American Spectator, which carry plenty of big names, look like the Spartan Daily—tabloid size, newspaper stock.

POST MORTEM: THEY WERE STUCK IN A CORNER . . . DEJECTED AND GLOOMY AS A PAIR OF TATTERED AND WORN SHOES. WE PICKED THEM UP AND EXAMINED THEM . . . THERE WERE CANDID CAMERA SHOTS . . . STEEL BRACES, FABRIC, MACHINERY, MOTORS, POWER . . . OFFICERS AND MEN WITH CONFIDENT SMILES BORNE OF FAITH IN A GREAT MILITARY MACHINE . . . THEY WERE DESCRIPTIVE FOLDERS OF THE DIRIGIBLES AKRON AND MACON.

Over a national hook-up the other night, one of the now too-popularized "amateur nights", an all-college amateur competition was on, with contestants from many eastern schools, such as Yale and Princeton.

One thing was significant in comparing the amateur program put on by the college boys and the—well, say, Susie Jones the stenographer—the college amateurs were quality performers throughout. The collegians all had that "sing for deah ole . . ." spirit and plenty of class.

Hot and heavy speculation has created a mutinous atmosphere around the feature desk—all because of the pros and cons about whether the "KISSERS" in Tuesday's Daily cut are coming to claim their linoleum block which is all theirs. All is forgiven . . . come and claim it.

Speaking of class, the wealth of entertainment material to be flashed on tonight's Spartan Revelries show makes old man Croesus look like a pauper.

We, Messrs. Demi and Tasse are NOT trying to give the show a build-up . . . that's already been done and the excellence of the entertainment speaks for itself. It's just a spontaneous gesture of lifting the brown derby after having seen some few rehearsals, at which time the derbies were doffed to . . .

The hard-working nyah gals on the line . . . Fitts, the eternally-slaving director . . . Lee Barnes, crooner par excellence . . . Sax Downs, who sings and clowns . . . Mowitza Johnson, feminine counterpart of Fred Astaire (you know, the world's best dancer) . . . Paul "M.C." Becker, the smooth heart-wrecker . . . the Forrest-Huxtable dream-waltzers . . . of course, there are others too, which we haven't seen and can't comment upon . . . YES, and a slightly wilted orchid for Mr. Natraps for his coming back to Washington Square in time for the Spardi Gras.

Spirit of Sparta certainly is rising to a new high . . . what with such all-campus cooperative affairs as the Spardi Gras and Revelries, and the more serious gathering next Wednesday evening, the organizations' dinner and round-table conference.

Looks like they're finally heeding what has been our unofficial motto for years . . . "PUN FOR ALL AND ALL FOR PUN".

"THE GREASED PIG BELLOWED, "GRUNT! GRUNT!"

You Finish It!

Let 'Em Eat Cake

By RAYMOND WALLACE

The marathon walkers out on North Thirteenth have been walking for several weeks now. In about two or three more weeks, as soon as they get a little nearer dead, I may go out and look the exhibit over. I understand that the object is to see how exhausted they can become before collapsing, so I want to be sure I get my money's worth.

They tell me that only about fifty per cent of the entries are the local yokels, and the rest are professionals who follow the show. That certainly is no life for the weak in spirit—nor the strong in mind, I might add.

A young fellow I know walked for three months in an Emeryville walkathon. They were allowed to sleep about ten or fifteen minutes out of every hour, and when he got through, he was unable to sleep any other way. If he were walking down the street, when his forty-five minutes were up, he would have to stop and hang around a lamp-post for fifteen minutes. I knew a girl in the same contest, who only lasted a week. Her feet spread out so that she now buys her shoes two sizes larger than formerly, and she got a kink in her neck which six months of chiropractic treatment failed to remove.

It would never do for me to look up a word in the dictionary if I had any pressing business on hand, for I can hardly ever put a dictionary down under fifteen minutes. If I go to look up a simple word like "couthie", before I even find the place, I run onto "ciborium", the definition of which requires digestion, and also refers me to "baldachin" and "pyx", both of which have to be looked up. Having assimilated the information, I came back to "couthie". I no more than grasp the definition of that, when my eyes, straying down the column no more than half an inch, encounter "cuvade", which is defined as the primitive custom of putting the father to bed after the birth of a child.

This reference to primitive customs recalls the fact that both

Just Among Ourselves

Note: This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

That symphonic band concert was worth any one's time. The artistry and musical accomplishment shown was truly remarkable. I was so proud of that gang. Mr. Miller, Miss Thompson, Mr. Eagan, and all who participated are to be congratulated and thanked.

Do you ever read the program notes? Miss Williams does them. I find them most interesting and educational. I could stand more of them if space were available. They give me some idea of what to look for, and also this time a jolly big word—contrapuntist. I tried to figure it out from my Latin residue but failed to note the letter t so I tried to use the word punire and all I got for my effort was "punishes against" and that didn't help me much. So I looked it up afterwards. It must be wonderful to be a skilled contrapuntist.

BAND COURTESY

It's a nice little courtesy for the band to stand when the conductor enters. There are few enough courtesies in this snarling old world. We shouldn't mind being courteous to one another, it helps us to live.

Incidentally, it's wonderful to have an evening's music without any junk, no contortions, no clap trap. I am sure the audience was inspired. I heard many fine expressions of pleasure. The college contributed to the community in Tonga and in Samoa, the canoe-maker occupied a high, almost hieratic position, approaching that of the priest. Even among ourselves, the word "pontiff", from the Latin "pontifex", or bridge-builder, remains a title of high respect. Another curious custom among semicivilized people is that among the Mohammedans of exchanging salt as a pledge of friendship. The origin of this custom is now ob-nubilated in antiquity, but it may be of significance that in Sanskrit, Persian, and Arabic, the word for salt denotes not only a physical taste, but is also the name for luster, grace, and beauty.

No, it wouldn't do for me to pick up a dictionary if I were in a hurry.

that night.

GIFT OF STYLE BOOK

Another matter which I wish to explain has been bothering me just a little bit. I just about broke my neck last summer, begged, borrowed, stole, browbeat, and juggled until we had that publications office all dolled up like a bride's kitchen, and what do I get for it? A Style Book. Can you beat that? (Never use slang.) I had heard rumors that I was spoiling the discipline among the journalists and all that, but I claimed the immunity of age and thought little of it. Nothing doing. (Dear me!) Comes the Spartan Daily Style Book, and ergo, the faintest, daintiest, slyest suggestion that there are often better ways of doing things. But it's so late for new tricks.

COMMA DOUBTS

Still, that Style Book is quite a production, "Compiled by Olive Street", proudly on the cover. Miss Olive has a way with her. And the Style Book is creditable. I found it so interesting that I read it through, academically, you understand, not professionally. It gave me a great respect for reporters (assuming that they pay any attention to it) and some realization of the job it must be to get out that Daily every morning. Human sort of thing, the Style Book. A misspelled word or two, all simple of course, and patently typographical, so I may indulge in my slang upon occasion. I was so comforted by your little couplet, too. "In case of doubt, leave the comma out". Comma doubts are my stock in trade.

MACQUARRIE LIMERICK

I have a feeling that recent editions of the Daily have been particularly good, so readable, even the features have been good stuff. I worked for days on Natraps. I thought last Wednesday's issue was particularly fine even if we did have a few extra limericks. I wrote a limerick myself using the standard line: The greased pig bellowed grunt! grunt! in the Spardi Gras pig-catching stunt. Go ahead, piggy boy, now's the time to enjoy some day you'll be part of a punt.

SPORTS

Blues, Whites Will Meet In Grid Contest

By RANDY SMITH

Two picked squads of Spartans will hammer away at each other in an exhibition tussle as part of the general entertainment for Spardi Gras this afternoon.

After witnessing the Spartans scrimmaging Santa Clara's huskies Wednesday afternoon, and doing very well despite the fact that the Broncos failed to adhere to the set defense which they were asked to use, head mentor Dud DeGroot and assistant coach Dee Portal have revised the lineups for today's contest.

BLUES STRONG

There really isn't much to choose on the comparative strength of the two squads. Both, while lacking experience, have plenty of averdupois, ability and agressive-ness.

For example, the Blues boast of four lads who stood out in Wednesday's scrimmage like a diamond on a hitherto ringless finger. Harold Buffa and Ronnie "Rollie" Redmond showed coaches DeGroot and Portal that they pack plenty of dynamite at the guard spots. And Herb Hudson, making his first appearance as an up man, also impressed the coaching contingent. Last, but far from least, is big Bill Lewis, the dusky, husky bruising fullback of the Blue contingent.

WHITES TOUGH

The opposition has a few diamonds in the rough also. Hugo Boschetti displayed more swivels than a swivel chair when he dashed straight into the Santa Clara line and came out dashing to the goal line, without a damaging finger being laid upon him. And then there is Glenn DuBose, who formerly scintillated in the Olympic Club line, and who showed the Santa Clarans plenty in the role of an offensive full Wednesday.

TODAY'S LINEUP

The teams will lineup like this for today's tussle:

BLUES		WHITES
Voorhees	C	Hill
Redmond	G	Henning
Buffa	G	Dunlap
Wilson	T	Fowler
Martin	T	Abernathy
Glover	E	Brunning
Wing	E	Baracchi
Hudson	Q	Boschetti
Sanchez	H	Sanders
Collins	H	Peach
Lewis	F	DuBose

Spartan Tracksters Head For Chico To Tangle With Wildcats Tomorrow P.M.

By AL COX

On to Chico! The Spartan Varsity headed for the distant goal of the Wildcat lair at 8 o'clock this morning. They should arrive around noon time, and have a short workout this afternoon on the field of battle. The outcome of this meet is quite undecided. Many dopesheets have been made as to the outcome, but what is so rare as a correct dopesheet? The correct data as to the performance of the Chicoites is not too accurate. If the results of the Chico-Nevada meet were to be taken as the best Chico can do, the Spartans should come home with victory written on their faces.

INJURIES

The Spartan injury list is not as great as it was in the Fresno meet. Carl "Rabbit" Cammack has a doubtful injury on his right ankle. Whether this will keep him from taking the Chico boys in the two hurdle events, nobody will know until the events are over. Dee Shehtanian, who has been bothered all week with a pulled muscle, seems to be in fairly good shape to leap to a victory. The most seriously injured of the Hubbardites is dusky Doug Kinnard who will probably be left home because of a wrenched muscle. His place will be taken by Les Carpenter who now has a week's training in the iron marble event. This is where the Chico fans expect to take many, many points due to two stalwart Wildcats who push the ball well over 43 feet.

MAC COMES UP

Jordan McPhetres has come to the conclusion that he is not going to wait for a favorable wind to get his discus out to winable distance. At the end of this week's day, unless they think they will be able to lead a life made easy and pleasant by a complete assortment of the latest products of America's industrial efficiency.

This attitude on the part of young American women delays marriage until middle life, which, continued the State professor of English, is all wrong.

Seventeen or eighteen is the age to marry, he asserts. Marriage postponed until thirty or thirty-five, Dr. Holliday bluntly declared, causes a nervous strain which is undermining our efficiency and threatening to destroy our civilization.

practice, he has a surprise for the Chico huskies. His chief opponent, Mealife, who is favored to win this event, has met defeat at the hands of McPhetres for the last two years, and the Spartan giant can see no reason why this season should not follow in order.

HI, MANAGER

Manager Mel Isenberger should be mentioned for a medal of honor for his splendid work in fulfilling the wants of the tracksters. His work of "checking up" in the Fresno meet was not a managerial duty, but he performed it with diligence and exactness. First, the measurement of the Javelin throw which Cunningham won by a bare one-half inch; then the watching of the broad jump for stray inches that could have been left off; all of which nominates Isenberger for the big medal of the year.

STATE SWIMMERS MEET MENLO J. C. THIS AFTERNOON

Heavy favorites to win by a comfortable score, Coach Charlie Walker's Spartan mermen entertain the Menlo junior college swimmers in the local pool at 4:30 this afternoon as a part of the official Spardi Gras Day festivities on the local campus.

The Menlo team will offer no serious threats to Spartan supremacy with the possible exception of the 220 yard freestyle race, which promises to be the feature of the afternoon. Harold Sexton, Menlo star, is favored to take this event, while Bill Draper and Norman Fitzgerald will renew their two year old feud in an effort to settle a long-standing argument as to which is the better distance man, which may result in one of the locals stepping out and taking the Menlo boy into camp as well as a possibility of breaking the present school record of 2 minutes 35.1 seconds which is held by Fitzgerald.

LAST DAY TO PAY FEES—Wednesday night, May first. Pay now. After May first $1 late fee will be charged. No alibis are acceptable.

Gypsy Supper To Be Gala Event Of Junior Hi Group

Junior High Majors' are planning a gala event in the form of a "gypsy supper" to be given Tuesday evening, April 30, at six o'clock at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School, according to Mrs. Cecile Hall, adviser of the group.

Dr. Verna A. Carley, director of teacher training at Stanford University will be the guest speaker for the affair.

Tickets to the dinner will be sold for fifty cents and a limit of 150 has been put on them. Reservations should be made early for this reason.

Other speakers for the evening will be Dr. T.W. MacQuarrie, Dr. George Freeland, Dr. Elmer Stafflebach, Mrs. Cecile B. Hall, and Edwin Olmstead, president of the Junior high group. Heads of departments in charge of special secondary teacher training, principles of San Jose Junior High Schools and members of the education department will be guests at the supper.

A fine program has been arranged with Verie Jones acting as toastmistress. Robert Rath and Alfred Smith will play a piano duet, and Joel Carter will sing with Blanche Corriveau accompanying. Selections by the verse speaking quartet consisting of Lo-

Dr. Mosher Visits U.C. To Make Comparison Of Teaching Methods

A comparison of methods of teaching at the University of California and San Jose State college was the subject of a visit to various classes there, when Dr. Raymond M. Mosher of the psychology department attended the Western Conference of Music Supervisors at Pasadena recently.

Extending his trip for a visit to the university, Dr. Mosher, who is in charge of teaching improvements here, observed particularly methods used in the men's physical education and the music departments.

D.T.O. Discusses Plans For Entry In Grand Parade

Plans for their "National Stoooges League" entry in the Spardi Gras parade were discussed at a meeting of Delta Theta Omega fraternity Wednesday night at Hotel DeAnza.

Arrangements for the rushing season and a reunion in June were also made. Charles Pinkham, president of the fraternity, presided at the meeting. Bud Thompson is general chairman of the reunion and Robert Tonkin is in charge of rushing.

Following the meeting pledges were entertained at a smoker.

Mild Ripe Tobacco... Aged 2 years or more...

- the farmer who grows the tobacco...
- the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder...
- every man who knows about leaf tobacco—will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette; and this is the kind we buy for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

All of the tobacco used in CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes is aged for two years or more.
