Special Train Will Leave For Santa Cruz Tomorrow With Picnickers

Surf City To Be Wide Open To San Jose State Student Body

A specially chartered all-school picnic train will leave tomorrow morning at 9:15 from the front of the school, 4th and San Antonio, taking Spartan picnickers to Santa Cruz for a full day of beach and board walk entertainment.

A stop at Los Gatos for those wishing to get on there will be made, and the train will arrive at the beach at about 11 o'clock, where it will remain on an adjacent spur track so that students may change for swimming if they do not wish to rent lockers.

Picnickers will be given an hour of free time before lunch and a tug of war will be held on the beach, followed by a free box lunch at 1:30.

As a special concession to those who have not yet been able to buy either their 75 or 15 cent tickets to the all-school picnic, sales will continue today until 12 o'clock in the controller's office, and in the Quad from 12 to 1 o'clock.

From 2 to 3:30 games will be held on the beach, including baseball games between faculty and students. At 3:30 swimming races will take place in the plunge for all types and classes of swimmers, and from 4:30 until the train leaves at 6:30 will be set aside as play time on the concessions. Five dollars worth of concession script will be given away during the day to the winners of the various games.

Russell Azzara and Jack Reynolds, as co-chairmen for the picnic, arranged with the Seaside Company for the special rates and privileges. They declare that the vice-president of the organization announces that Santa Cruz will be "wide open" to members of the San Jose State student body tomorrow for their first all-school picnic to be held in 10 years.

Azzara and Reynolds are assisted by Bettie Jeanne Keller, chairman food committee, with Janet Roberts, Margi Belle Landis, Ruth Lawry, Lela O'Connell, Frances Gibson, Margaret James, Kathleen Gibson, Kathleen McCarthy, Cecil McDonald, and Jim Walsh members of the committee; entertainment, Hugh Staffelbach; publicity, Michael Angelo, chairman, Jewel Spangler, Charles Leong.

Spartan Daily Banquet Plans Made At Meet

Plans for a final Spartan Daily banquet to be held within two weeks at one of the local Italian hotels were made at a meeting of the Spartan Daily editorial board yesterday afternoon.

The banquet, a quarterly affair, was omitted in the winter quarter because of the lack of funds. The tradition will be maintained, however, during the coming year, according to Dolores Freitas, editor-elect.

Besides members of the editorial staff of the Spartan Daily, various members of the faculty will be invited.

Kathleen Norris Is Guest Speaker At Phelan Contest Award Program Held In Morris Dailey Auditorium

'Rebound' Lead

FRANK HAMILTON

By JIM CLANCY

Frank Hamilton, prominent speech arts student, will play one of the important roles in San Jose Player's coming production of "Rebound", Donald Ogden Stewart's scintillating comedy.

Hamilton began his dramatic career at San Jose State as a butler in "Lillies of the Fields", which was presented here two years ago.

Since then he has taken part in several Player's productions. Among the various roles he has played are: the Heavenly Magistrate in "Lilliom" Tom Cardieux in "Three To Get Ready", Rosen-crantz in "Hamlet", and Richard in "Hayfever".

Though Hamilton has had quite a variety of roles, he has usually appeared as the suave and polished diplomat, a type of part for which he is well suited.

As Les Crawford in "Rebound" he again takes the part of the pleasant, sophisticated gentleman, though this role has more lightness and buoyancy than any of his previous ones.

Florence Murdock will play opposite Frank in the part of Liz, his wife.

"Rebound" will be given in the Little Theater June 6, 7, and 8th. Ticket sale starts on May 29.

Columbia Records A Cappella Choir

A Columbia record of the "Cherubim Song", by Glinka, reproduced by the A Cappella choir during their recent coast to coast broadcast over radio station CBS in San Francisco, is now on sale at the Controller's office.

All orders should be placed in the office before Monday, in order to determine the number to be sent for. The regular price for the record is $1.25.

Total Of $238 Given To Winning Students By Noel Sullivan

"Character is the basis of any successful life," and "Character is fate".

These two quotations constituted the theme of an inspiring talk graciously delivered by Kathleen Norris, world-famous novelist, during the program in honor of the 1935 Phelan literary contest winners yesterday at 11 o'clock in Morris Dailey auditorium.

CHARACTER NEEDED

Indirectly referring to the selected "genius" class of 25 members who worked under the guidance of Dr. Carl Holliday last quarter, Mrs. Norris emphasized the fact that not only an unusual gift is conducive to success, but that strong character must be combined with it if the "genius" is to combat the many trials and disappointments in his way.

"If I asked you to pick from these talented students the few whose names will be household words in 20 years, you would almost invariably pick the wrong persons," Mrs. Norris declared. "To overcome the many beatings which face every beginner in the field of writing, as in any other, it takes the unusually fine character to arrive, and not only the unusual gift—that is the tragedy of writing."

KEEP TRUE VALUES

"A happy life doesn't always depend on a momentary success," she reminded her listeners in conclusion. "You are bound to find your avenue in life if you look honestly enough. Don't find it at the expense of true values. Keep them intact always." She was given an ovation at the conclusion of her talk.

Prizes amounting to $21, $14, and $7 in the plays, essays, and story divisions; and $28, $14, and $7 in poetry, were awarded by Mr. Noel Sullivan, nephew of the late Senator James Phelan. Several of the poems were read by Dorothy Vierra and James Clancy, while Miss Aurelie Antrop sang another which had been set to music by Margaret Melliar. She was accompanied by Dorothy Currell. A group composed of Randy Fitts, Robert Baines, Wilbur Davis, Carl Palmer, Wesley Gordon, and Myra Eaton, presented Chandler Tripp's third-prize winning play, "Judgement".

AWARDS

Awards were made as follows: Plays: James Clancy, first, "Pegasus Needs a Shoe"; second, "Chimera"; Chandler Tripp, third, "Judgement".

Stories: James Billwiller, first, "Repetition with Elaine"; Harriet Feldman, second, "Karl"; James Bilwiller, third, "True Friends".

Essays: Charles Leong, first, "Shadows on the Altar"; Wilbur Bailey, second, "First Man"; Esther Hendriksen, third, "Phantasy".

Today's Election To Choose Prexy Of Student Body For Coming Year

Winning Candidate To Head Council As Chairman

The student body president for 1935-36 will be chosen at a run-over election today between William Moore and Hubert Staffelbach, the candidates who received the most votes in Wednesday's election.

The polls will be open from 8 until 5 o'clock in front of the Morris Dailey auditorium. Ed Hillyer and Rex Dunipace have been appointed election judges.

The president of the student body is also chairman of Student Council, whose members for next year were elected Monday. They are: Alfred Azevedo, Howard Burns, Gil Bishop, Bob Doerr, Kathleen McCarthy, William Moore and Hubert Staffelbach.

Bob Doerr was chosen vice-president of the student body at the election for officers Wednesday, and the secretary will be elected by the new council at their first meeting next year.

A.W.S. Will Elect Officers Tuesday

Elections for the A.W.S. council will be held Tuesday following the same procedure as the student body elections, although only women are eligible to vote.

Competing for the office of president are Mary Youngren and Alice Wilson. The vice-presidency will go to the one receiving the lower vote.

Lela O'Connell is the only candidate for recording secretary, while June Rayner and Robin Bruch have been nominated for corresponding secretary.

The offices of treasurer to be taken by Dorothy Maddock and reporter to be taken by Jewel Spangler are uncontested.

A banquet has been planned for June 3 for the installation of the new officers.

Dr. J.W. Slattery Joins Health Department As Co-Physician On Staff

Dr. J. W. Slattery, a graduate of San Jose Junior college and of the College of Medical Evangelists, has joined the staff of the Health department as co-physician. Miss Elizabeth McFadden announced yesterday.

Assisting during the usual spring rush of teacher-training examinations, Dr. Slattery will do part-time work for the rest of the school year, Miss McFadden disclosed.

Dr. Slattery was a personal friend and fellow student of Dr. Bruce George, young college physician who was killed in an automobile accident two weeks ago.

First Annual Reunion To Be Held By Spears

Let 'Em Eat Cake
By RAYMOND WALLACE

Yesterday I was accosted on the street by a boy of about eight years wearing enormous dark glasses. "Do you know where I could get some caps for my gun?" he asked, exhibiting an ancient rusty cap-pistol which I suspect would not fire, even provided with ammunition.

"No", I replied, "I used to know where to go for such things, but not any more."

"Oh well, I know where to get them; all I have to do is get the money for them. I guess my father will give it to me."

I saw his drift, then, and hardened my heart. He walked on beside me a few steps in silence, and then remarked, "You know, you look kind of like my father. He has lots of money."

I looked at him sternly, and said, "Young man, your father may be wealthy; he may be a great and good man; he may be the kindest person in the world. I've no doubt he is. But you make a sad mistake when you suggest that I am in any way like him. I have no money; I am not generous; I am not good-hearted. I make it a matter of daily habit to kick crutches from under cripples, and I push children in front of street-cars. And if you bum me for money to buy caps, I shall cut your throat and drink the blood through a straw."

He looked at me disapprovingly for some seconds, and then said, in the austere manner of one trying to save a blunderer from the consequences of his own folly, and not entirely succeeding, "You'd catch the measles. I'm not clear over'em yet." Then, as an afterthought, which obviously gave him some gratification, "Maybe you will anyway."

Just Among Ourselves

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

Note: This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

If and when the Governor signs that name change bill we should have some sort of a celebration. I'll feel like making a paper hat and parading around the Quad with a tin pan and a stick. It's something we've looked forward to for so long, and it was such a simple request, so truly innocent, that we can hardly understand the vicious opposition it has encountered. I am inclined to think the Governor will sign it. I sent a telegram yesterday to Dr. Dexter, chief secretary to the Governor, asking him to let us know when the bill is signed.

The college may well feel proud of the fine spirit that prompted more than fifty students to offer blood transfusions during Mrs. Hamilton's recent fatal illness. Word was passed around that help was needed, and such a large number reported to Dr. "Marshall" that it was quite impossible to test them all. Young people show up with the stuff in an emergency. They may grumble about little things but usually show a fine quality in a crisis.

That political torchlight procession in the quad Tuesday night didn't help the campus any. The plan was probably all right, but its execution got away from the sponsors. That often happens. The mess caused the janitors a lot of work and left marks which only time can erase. Not so hot.

I doubt if the denizens of the Tower really thought out that political banner which hung from their windows. It smacked a bit of an unfair advantage. No permission was given for such advertising in the Quad, and it only forced the opposition to make a counter effort. The college had to permit the second banner on account of the first. Not any hotter.

But that Orchesis entertainment Wednesday evening was just about perfect and a credit to the college. It was thoroughly artistic, beautiful, and well done.

Experience has made me somewhat fearful of college entertainments. Late starting, ominous bumps and scratchings in the background, curtain obstreperous, lights nervous, and the ventilation modernistic. So I sat me down with unconscious misgivings, but none of the usual irritations occurred. The lights came on, the curtain opened smoothly, the music began quietly, and the first number just blended itself into the situation. It was a grand show, interesting, and high class in every respect. I am glad there was such a good audience, and I think most of us felt we would have liked to remain longer. On behalf of the college, may I congratulate Miss Jewell and the young women who took part.

QUOTH MRS. DINGLEBERRY . . . "MEN MAY TALK ALL THEY PLEASE ABOUT THE WEAKNESSES OF THEIR WOMENFOLK, BUT JUST THE SAME, IF ADAM COULD HAVE SPARED MORE RIBS I BET-CHA HE'D HAVE HAD MORE WIVES."

Did you ever talk in a radio microphone? I'd heard a lot about the particular brand of the jitters talking over the air generated, but never experienced it until the other day when I visited the Radio shack to examine the 160 meter telephone set constructed by Jack Wagner in Radio lab . . . it was quite an imposing arrangement—a suspicious looking conglomeration of wires, tubes, dials and gadgets.

Somebody hands you a long piece of wire attached to what looks like a telephone mouthpiece and says, "All right. Go ahead. You're on the air."

So you begin very intelligently. "Uh . . . Ah . . . Uh . . . etc" for at least a minute and a half before you get the hang of it and your ability to produce conversation returns.

Some people argue that broadcasting is no different from talking over the telephone, but I didn't think so. Over the telephone there is give and take, and you can make snappy comebacks . . . if you can think of any. Over the air one person talks for five minutes, then the other party can talk for five minutes or so . . .

A telephone party line allows only three or four listeners-in, but not the radio. Other operators scattered over the country from here to yonder can and do "tune in" on airwave conversations.

Some of the trickier boys—as many as four at once—tune their sets to each other and hold regular bull sessions without seeing each other or anything. Isn't this edifying.

The loneliest sound in all the world is the wail of a locomotive in the middle of the night. You wake up at two o'clock in the morning in a thin and painful silence, when it seems as if the very rotation of the earth has stopped, and nothing can ever start it again. Even the mice have found the burden of the night too heavy and remain cowering in their holes, for fear of disturbing the delicate balance by which life hangs poised.

Suddenly from the far distance, with a heart-shaking suggestion of the last trump, comes the appalling cry of a locomotive, to freeze you into instant cataleptic rigidity. ## JUNIOR OLYMPIC BOXING-WRESTLING TOURNEY THIS WEEK-END

Rhines Summarizes State Swimming Squad Feats

By AL RHINES

A resume of the Spartan swimming season just past shows some very interesting results plastered to the season scoreboard. With the help of the little white sheet of paper on Coach Charlie Walker's desk we glean the following information:—the Spartan paddlers won nine and lost four dual meets during the season just past.

The first meet of the year found the varsity stacked up against the Bulldogs from San Jose High, with the Spartan coming out on the long end of a 66-7 score, never relinquishing a first or second spot to the prep paddlers. This meet was featured by the 56.4 second 100 yard time turned in by Captain Bill Ambrose, the fastest time of his career. Ex-captain Dave Lynn turned in the other best performance when he toured a 75 yard medley swim in 51.1 seconds which still stands as a combined school and pool record.

FRESHMEN COP MEET

Later in the season the Spartan Freshmen, led by Captain Howard Withycombe, and with only six other men, defeated the prep boys by a 57-26 score.

STANFORD'S INDIANS

The first reversal of the season came to the locals when they traveled to the Farm and met a close defeat at the hands of the Stanford Babes by a 44-40 margin. This meet featured Norman Fitzgerald who won both the 440 and 220 yard races from the Babe representatives, setting school records in both events which still stand.

STANFORD WINS

Two weeks later the Stanford Varsity traveled to San Jose to defeat the locals 56-37, but not after Nort Thorton's men stared at a scoreboard which showed the Spartans to be in the lead up to the halfway mark. A freestyle relay team composed of Fitzgerald, Draper, Douglas, and Ambrose opened the scoring with a bang to show the Cardinals their heels and set a school and pool mark of 3:54.8 which promises to stand for some time. This race was no sooner finished, than Fitting, Cardinal backstroke had to be content with a second to Withycombe of the locals as he showed his real speed for the first time to win going away in 1:10.4. Bob Foster, Stanford captain and ace backstroke, defeated Hal Houser of the locals to set a new pool record in the 100 yard sailor event.

GILMAN SETS RECORDS

Golden Gate Junior College were the next visitors to the local plunge. In their trip to San Jose, the Jayseers managed to hang up quite a few marks for future paddlers to shoot at. Bob Walker set a new pool mark in the 100 yard backstroke when he traveled the distance in 1:07, while his teammate, Art Lindgren toured the pool four times to set a 100 yard freestyle mark of 54.3 seconds. A medley relay team from Golden Gate broke the pool record in this event. The outstanding performance of the evening, however, was Ralph Gilman's time of 5:00 for the 440, which bettered the then existing Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Record by about four seconds. The Wandering Raiders defeated the Spartans in this meet by a score of 50-34.

Two months later the Spartans traveled to San Francisco and lost a second encounter to the Jayseers by a 55-34 score. This meet was again featured by the stellar performance of Gilman, who again broke the existing record for the 440 when he covered the quarter-mile in 4:59.2.

Intramural Activities

Yesterday's baseball classic resulted in a 11-7 victory for the inter-class all-stars. The varsity played fair ball in the field, but evidently found the tosses of Johnny Leo rather hard to solve. The chunky pitcher held the varsity at bay throughout the game and of the seven runs scored, only about three were of the earned variety.

The all-stars began the game by lambasting the offerings of Bud Swanson to all corners of the field. In the first inning Martin Olavarri, the catcher and lead-off man, opened the game with a home run over the left-fielder's head and later in the inning Dick Edmonds, buckshort, hit another, this one over the head of the center fielder.

Errors were responsible for most of the varsity runs although Bishop, Swanson, Garcia, Carpenter, and Atkinson got some timely basehits. For the all-stars, besides the home run hitters, Merritt, Minor, Castleman, Kelly, and Maffey were handy with the stick.

Following the game Manager Hardiman of the varsity asked for a return game for Tuesday at noon. The request will be granted if sanctioned by Coach Charles Walker, intramural head.

The finals of the tennis tournament will be played today. Following is the schedule of matches:

2 p.m.—Hugh Cramer vs. Forrest Brown.

3 p.m.—Hugh Cramer and Dick Edmonds vs. Fred Yonemoto and Phillip Farley.

4 p.m.—Edith Norton and Dick Edmonds vs. Lou Fencil and Byron Lanphear.

The second day of Intramural track concluded with two records broken. The first came in the 100 yard dash when Higashiuchi of the sophomore class ran 10.1 to beat Bob True's record established in 1933. The second was in the football throw. Castleman tossed out the pigskin 170 feet to null the toss made by Carl Biddle last year. This toss was 30 feet in front of the second man who was Lanphear of "Sneak Day" fame. Another record was smashed in the high jump event. It may not be official due to the old record being made on the San Carlos street turf last year. Nevertheless Thompson of the class of '37 attained a height of 5 feet 6 3/4 inches to beat out Langford.

Members Of Spartan Varsity Squads Entering Tournament; Prominent Local Fighters Sign-up

Coach DeWitt Portal has found four more men off his squad who are desirous of entering tomorrow's preliminary rounds of the Junior Olympic boxing and wrestling tournament. These men have hopes of proving their right to the various county-wide titles which will be at stake in this meet.

Paul Gerhart, freckled southpaw lighthheavy, has decided to have a try for the crown. Gerhart will be remembered for several hair-raising battles he participated in early in the winter season. The red-head believes in entering the ring with one thought in mind and that is to finish the bout as early as possible. This is one lad who furnishes the crowd with plenty of excitement. He has shown quite a lot of improvement and may be a tough man to get by.

Another lighthheavy, John De Mattei, has entered. DeMattei is a conscientious trainer and has grasped the boxing game rapidly. Inexperience held him back during the regular season. He has gained the respect of the other boxers by his willingness to mix at any time. One bout stands out in the memory of the writer. After being knocked around considerably in an early bout with Armand Zollezzi, DeMattei accepted the chance to meet him again and this time, by absorbing the knowledge that he had gained from his first match with the hard-hitting Zollezzi, he held the stocky left-hander to a very close decision.

Zollezzi, mentioned above, is another of the title aspirants. He has made the middleweight weight limit of 165 pounds and appears to be one of the brightest hopes of DeWitt Portal. Zollezzi plugs along punching at body for a while and then all of a sudden his opponent begins to wilt. This boy's left hand punch is sure to cause some misery in the tournament.

Quintin Flores, flashy featherweight, who has been inactive for some time, surprised Portal by asking for an entry blank. This lad can fight plenty if in the mood and should help the Spartan prospects considerably.

Signed entries have been received from several top-notchers. Earl Booker, one of the best amateur fighters in the country, is expected to have a try at the lightweight crown, along with Dick Wenzler, Stanford ace who reached the finals in the intercollegiate. Jack Jurich, a Golden Glove winner, will be on hand to attempt to garner the 108 title. Hal Toussint, another top-notch local amateur, is another lightweight who must be taken into consideration.

Dick Bowen, representing the San Jose Bears, will be a tough man in the middleweight class as will Owen McCusker, giant Santa Clara football star, in the unlimited division. Sims DeVueve, Stanford captain and Pacific Coast Intercollegiate lighthheavy champion will be entered and should be one of the favorites in his division.

With equally high class men entering the wrestling competition, the tournament is figured to be the biggest of its kind ever held in San Jose.

There will be a few preliminary matches tomorrow afternoon, but the more important bouts will begin at seven in the evening. Coach Portal has asked that those interested come in after the picnic at the beach. The wrestling will be held first and even though you are late you should get your money's worth by coming in any time up until the events are over. He also announces that tomorrow's afternoon preliminaries will be free to students not making the trek to Santa Cruz.
