Washington Square Squad Holds Final Drill; Locals Out To Win Places For Hawaiian Trip Against Leo Calland's Aztecs

Football will be served to San Jose fans for the last time this year as a Thanksgiving Day offering tomorrow morning when San Diego State's Aztecs take the field at 11:30 slight favorites to defeat San Jose State's Spartans.

The invaders, coached by Leo Calland, will enter the contest with a theoretical edge over the Spartans due to their 13-7 victory over Redlands the team that defeated San Jose 7-0 here on Armistice Day.

Coach DeGroot's Spartans held the last practice session to be held on San Carlos street turf this year, last night, and the Spartan mentor made it a good one, keeping his charges working until well after dark.

Charlie Baracchi, regular left end alling since before the Nevada game with a bad ankle, took it easy again last night, but will probably be able to flash for the last time before a local audience tomorrow.

Bob Bruning, another senior wingman, also has been favoring a bad leg, but will probably see some action.

Ray Abernathy, tackle and guard out since the Antioch game with a strained knee cartilage, has been taking light work-outs and may see some work against Aztecs.

The final squad to make the trip to Honolulu Friday will be chosen on the basis of performances against San Diego.

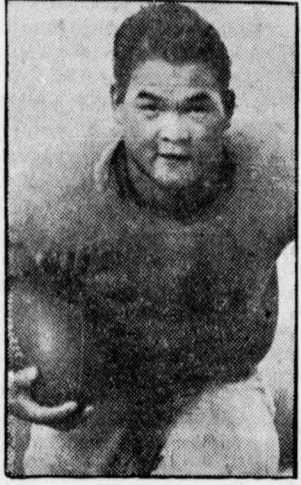

San Diego is expected to arrive late today by train and will sleep in their chartered car.

Nurses Hear DeVoss
Dr. J. C. DeVoss, head of the Psychology department, spoke on "Mental Hygiene in the Sick Room" before a group of nurses at their convention in San Jose last evening.

EL TORO HEADS WEAKER, I. AMAN GETS WISH

Ha, Ha, youse smart guys all thought it was a high-pressure publicity gag staged by the El Toro wags, but you were wrong. Yeah, the abduction of the very first El Toro to come off the press, which later became known as Mama Spangler's waif, was no gag a-tall, but the real McCoy.

SHAME ON DICKIE
One Dickie Bertrandias, who has no official connection whatsoever with the El Toro, was the kee-ri-minal, the snake-in-the-bushes-wit-shipp's-clodding-on, who so under-handedly snagged the urchin while El Toro's pants were down (figuratively speaking). He will get his ransom demands

HIDEO HIGASHI
San Diego State halfback and one of the most versatile men on the team. All-Conference halfback at Santa Ana J. C.

HOLIDAY CROWD TO VIEW FIRST GAME STUNTS

Tomorrow the rooting section of San Jose State college goes through its baptism of fire in trying out the first series of "big-time" card and game stunts in the history of the school, and the rally committee again emphasizes that only by whole-hearted student support could it be successful.

The Thanksgiving Day game in Spartan Stadium against the strong invading Aztecs of San Diego State is the last local appearance of the season for the DeGroot gridmachine, and a capacity holiday crowd is expected to watch the game and pass judgement on the initial efforts of the college in card-stunts entertainment.

STEP WILL SUCCEED
By following these suggestions, the rally committee believes that the pioneer step in promoting "big-time" stunts for the college will succeed.

The special section blocked out on the east side is for the exclusive seating of students, and all students.

Organizations On Campus To Hold Annual Banquet

Inaugurated to bring out ideas and opinions for the betterment of student government, and to bind together the variety of campus groups into a more unified community, the annual all-college organizations banquet will be held Wednesday evening, December 4, in the college cafeteria.

Presidents of all organizations on the campus are being contacted, in an effort to insure a representative gathering. They are requested either to attend themselves, or send some member of the organization. As many students as wish to come are invited, however.

Bill Moore, president of the associated students, will preside over the meeting, which will be devoted entirely to student talks. A short program of entertainment is being planned.

Tickets to the banquet are 50 cents, and all those who intend to go should notify the controller's office, or Dolores Freitas in the publication's office, by 5 o'clock December 2.

Noon Dance Today To Honor Prodigal Student Teacher

There will be a noon dance in the quad today, but not for you, you, and you. Or us either.

It's for Hugh Staffelbach, who is on the campus this week while the Oakland schools are vacationing.

Hugh, who is doing his student teaching this quarter, approached social affairs chairman Paul Becker yesterday with the complaint that he was not getting enough attention.

"I want a noon dance!" he bel-lowed.
So he is going to get it.

BARNEY CARMEN, San Diego State senior center who is also president of the Associated Men Students.

Moscow Choir To Be First Of Concert Series Performances

GUY TALBOTT TO SPEAK AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY TUESDAY ON FAR EAST

E. Guy Talbott, well known lecturer on world affairs, will be presented to the State college student body under the auspices of the "Behind the News" class, at a general assembly to be held at 11:00 o'clock Tuesday.

Recently returned from a tour of Japan, Korea, Manchukuo, and China, Dr. Talbott, will speak on "Ferment in the Far East."

MANCHUKUO CONTROL
Regarding the possession of Manchukuo, the speaker states that he saw no evidence of an independent state, and that Japanese are in absolute control of everything.

Dr. Talbott firmly believes that all the educated Chinese think China must solve her own problem; and that internal reconstruction and unification are prerequisite to settling the differences with Japan.

PACIFIC PEACE
His personal opinion is that "Peace in the Pacific" is primarily contingent upon a return to full power in the Japanese government of civilian leadership, as formerly represented by such men as Baron Shidehara and Dr. Nitobe.

As a student of international affairs, Dr. Talbott has visited practically every country in Europe and Asia and investigated their economic, trade and political conditions.

Noted Artists To Visit College In December; Iturbi To Follow

The appearance of the Moscow Cathedral Choir on December 5 in the Morris Dailey auditorium will be the first of the noted artists to be presented in the college Concert Series this year.

Jose Iturbi, well known Spanish pianist, and Nelson Eddy, American baritone, will appear on January 23 and May 12.

FORMER PERFORMANCE
The Moscow Cathedral Choir, famous Russian chorus of 20 voices, specializes in Russian church singing and has captured honors in every competition it has entered with other choral organizations.

Kapiton Zaporoshetz, the soloist and basso profundo of the choir, was a favorite of the late Tsar during his operatic days in Russia.

NICHOLAS AFONSKY
The other 20 members of the choir are well-known in their field, and their dynamic leader, Nicholas Afonsky, states:

"We wonder what effect our singing will have on America. We are going to do our best, and leave the rest to the judgement of the American audiences."

SEATS OBTAINABLE
"There are still some excellent seats obtainable at the controller's office and in the down town music stores," Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the college music department, states.

Season tickets for this series may be purchased for $2.50 for students, and any seat in the house at $3.00 for the faculty.

POLICE SOCIETY HONORS J. N. BLACK TONIGHT

J. N. Black, chief of police in San Jose since 1916 and instructor in the Police School of San Jose State college, will be honored tonight by Chi Pi Sigma, police fraternity, at a dinner to be held at 7:30 at O'Brien's.

Black, who conducts a class in criminal investigation, joined the city police force July 22, 1902 as a patrolman and worked his way up to the captaincy in 1907.

RAILROAD STRIKE
When the chief first joined the police force he was plunged into the middle of the San Jose railroad strike of 1894, and continued to handle important cases throughout his career.

"The case involving the most time, money, and ferreting out of information, which I have handled," Black stated, "was that of a prominent civil engineer, in 1928 who embezzled the bonds belonging to the city to the amount of $18,000 and then disappeared." Black handled this case personally, and finally tracked down his man in Chico, California.

OFFICER MURDER
The case of the shooting of John Buck, prowler car officer, was also under the supervision of Chief Black. The two men who committed this murder, were sent to San Quentin for life.

Black entered the office of chief during a time of many additions to the statutes, and has always maintained that if a law is in the books, it is there to be enforced.

America Honors BIRTHDAY OF Famed Humorist

By ALPHENI A. HARVEY Through the year 1935, culminating in his centennial birthday on November 30, America and American schools are celebrating the memory of Mark Twain, famous American humorist and author.

Most of the American magazines of the November issue have been dedicated to Mark Twain and his works.

MAGAZINE ARTICLES

"San Jose State students will find much valuable material and reading of interest in the magazines of the college library on the life and work of Mark Twain," Miss Joyce Backus, head of the college library, states.

As the editor in the "Scholastic" writes: "More deeply than anyone else who ever wrote on this soil, Twain lived the life of America in all its fullness, and his faults, as well as his glories, were the faults and glories of his countrymen."

VARIED PROFESSIONS

"As a journeyman printer, a river pilot, a soldier for two weeks in the Confederate Army, a silver miner, a gold prospector, a newspaper reporter, a lecturer, a storyteller, a publisher, and an author of international renown, he tasted a wider range of places, activities, and adventures than most men ever dream of."

As to the humor of Twain, Dr. C. J. Armstrong in his article in the "Democrat" states:

TWAIN'S HUMOR

"Mark Twain's laughter is tragic—rather than funny. It came from a broken heart, eased a wounded soul, and aimed to dispel the fogs of shams, oppressions and hypocrisies that envelop mankind.

"His humor pierced the armor of wrong, hatred and malice. It will be a happy day when he makes us serious as well as laugh."

FAMOUS STORIES

Mark Twain, or Samuel Langhorne Clemens as he was known in private life, is mostly remembered for his books "Tom Sawyer," "The Prince and the Pauper," "A

Punch And Judy Sets Designed By Student Art Class On Display

Designed after the drawings of George Cruikshank, an 18th century artist, a complete set of Punch and Judy puppets, designed by Mrs. Carolyn Berry's student class in puppets, is being shown in the Art wing the remainder of this week and through next week.

The puppets vary from a foot and a half to two feet in height, and the heads are constructed of clay with a paper and paste covering.

"We hope to produce a Punch and Judy show soon," said Mrs. Hayes. "Though the Punch and Judy characters are popular in France and Italy, the children of this country do not know them at all."

Ronald Linn Scheduled As Speaker At Kappa Delta Pi Initiation

"Meeting Problems on the Job" will be the subject of a talk by Ronald Linn, principal of the Evergreen school, and former President of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity, at the initiation to be held by the society, Monday, December 2, at 7:30 in room 155 of the Home Economics building.

Ronald Linn will be introduced by Roger Troutner, president of Kappa Delta Pi. Songs of the society will be sung during the evening, and refreshments will be served which have been planned by a committee headed by Jerry Green.

Just Among Ourselves

Note: This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

BY DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

We were $148 short on our collections for the Community Chest. That was about $350 better than last year, but still short of our budget. Bill Moore suggested that we make up the difference in an entertainment or two, so we put in a pledge for the whole amount.

It was a great encouragement to the other workers to see the college come up with a promise to meet a community obligation. While we are so concerned with our internal problems, we are inclined to forget just how important for good a college can be in the community. Our attitude on community welfare is really a measure of the value of an education.

If we don't show a high quality of citizenship, how can the public believe that the education we encourage has any value to humanity? Many thanks to all who could help and did, and to all who wished they could help but really couldn't. It was a grand lesson in cooperation, in good will, in true neighborliness. The Chest went over the top down town by about $100, first time in four years.

IS IT NECESSARY?

I doubt if we are quite holding our own in the liquor situation. This is hardly a matter for surprise as it would be strange if some of our young people didn't get hooked when the public has so heartily approved domination by the liquor interests. The conditions around the campus have become much worse since our nation turned over to a large and vicious group the right to attack young men and women in such an insidious way.

I suspect conditions will get worse still before they can be improved and before parents and the other decent citizens can take action to control or permanently abolish the industry. At the meeting of the Bay Counties Peace Officers Association at Oakland last week, just about this same opinion was expressed. Those police chiefs know the situation and they are truly interested in helping the nation's young people. They find, however, that they are powerless to do anything about it at the present time as they are badly in the minority and are getting no help from the public. The only thing a young man or woman can do these days, and it is the proper thing to do at any time, is to take a good look at the situation, decide whether he wants to use his brains for thinking or not, and handle his own affairs. One fine looking young woman was so drunk at our party Friday night that she wasn't able to stand up. I don't know whether she was a student or not, but she was a young woman and helpless.

Come to the game tomorrow if you can. I am sure it will be a good one. I hope you all have a pleasant Thanksgiving vacation.

GOBBLE, GOBBLE!

Which makes me think of turkey dinners. I had dinner Monday night with the Spartan Stags, the fellows who are living on 10c a meal over at the "Y." They didn't look as if they had been starved at any time, but the meal they put up last night would have been a credit to any board. Turkey, cranberries, sweet potatoes, oysters in the dressing, thick gravy, peas, carrots, radishes, celery, apples

DEMI-TASSE

By CHARLES LEONG

Ideas are like the one about prosperity—always around the corner but never quite met face to face. We would like to meet it check check. If this river of thought doesn't start flowing pretty soon, we be forced to quibbling old Chinese proverbs.

Speaking of rivers, on this day we'll quote a poignant and frequently-told tale from the ancients. It's a celestial masterpiece of woolcott-whimsy school.

Tsu, the venerable old one who wrote delicate couplets of leaping frogs which leaped into ponds, and singing crickets, floating down the river one lovely night. It was the River of a Thousand Ripples. And Tsu, a bit light-headed from sips of crystal wine, drifted dreamily with the ripples, contemplating on life and time.

The deft versifier was amused with the night and the moon. Yes, the moon. It was a chaste white thing which smiled on him.

Tsu gazed at the ripples and the moon seemed to beckon to him. He wanted to caress it. He leaned lightly over the edge of the boat, touched the water, and reached for the moon. Like a skillful tempter the soft reflection of the moon was just out of the reach of the poet.

A bit too far over the boat; the boat tipped, and the eager lover of the moon, Tsu, fell into the waiting water and perished.

Like many an ancient tale, this story of the tragic martyr's loveliness may just be a myth. However . . .

There are many, many columnists who believe themselves to have a flair for verse, slight as it maybe. Perhaps they too could try to approach the greatness and immortality of the celestial versifier of leaping frogs and crickets by following his example.

SPARTAN SPASMS

By MURDOCK & BISHOP

FRIDAY AFTERNOON at exactly 4 o'clock, the palatial Dollar Liner President Hoover will back away from Pier 42 in San Francisco and a select group of San Jose State football players will be off on their great adventure.

A trifle apprehensive, perhaps, about that dread malady—mal de mer—but considerably excited about the whole affair, this trip will be a pretty big thing to most of the boys because, for the majority, it will be the first "deep water" voyage and the first visit to the islands.

Of the playing personnel, only Captain Laughlin has been in Honolulu before, having made a trip to the Orient on the President Grant with an orchestra some years back.

WE WARRENT that none of the boys will be disappointed in Honolulu. The town has a funny way of living up to advance notices, and no one can deny that advance notices about Hawaii are a bit to the prolific side.

They'll arrive at dawn with the sun coming up behind Diamond Head, and from that moment until the time they sail the charm of the place will rest with them.

It may even rest, like it did with Cal last year, so much that the boys will forget about football and get bounced into the middle of next week.

As evidence of this fact, we have before us a friendly warning from Bill Jones, former San Jose State student and now teaching and helping coach at Kamehameha School, which institution that Spartans will probably play

The undefeated Junior "B" five, led by that venerable hardwood artist, Ralph Johnson of Modesto, upset the hapless League "A" juniors last night, 21-16 in the first round of the Intra-mural basketball championship tourney.

The second round will get underway today with the Frosh "A" team, Intra-mural cage crown favorites, meeting the championship-bound Junior "B's". The Soph "A's" will meet the Junior "A's" on the south court.

The boxscores:

| JUNIOR "A"   | JUNIOR "B"      |
|--------------|-----------------|
| Hill .....   | 4 Mendell ..... |
| Tormey ..... | 0 Sauer .....   |
| Welch .....  | 9 Everett ..... |
|              | Johnson .....   |

in place of McKinley.

HE STATES that, "The San Jose State varsity is going to have a tough time winning if only by a few points. These boys play football such as is seldom seen in the Far Western Conference. This Kamehameha team that you are meeting on December 12th has rolled up scores that make the showing that the Spartans made against McKinley seem very poor indeed."

He continues by pointing out that, "Many teams come here but few have gone back to the coast with a clean record. For one thing, many teams make the trip here a lark so that when they arrive, they are not in physical shape to play 60 minutes of football in this humid climate. Believe me, condition will show."

FEW CAN DENY that Mr. Jones' words are words of wisdom. The Spartan squad of eighteen or nineteen men, which will be announced following the San Diego State game tomorrow, will consist of three ends, three tackles, three guards, one or two centers, and two backfields.

TEN GRIDDERS TO END CAREERS IN SPARTAN STADIUM THANKSGIVING

Ten seniors will wind up their grid careers before San Jose fans tomorrow morning against San Diego State.

Seven of the men involved will complete their allotted span of eligibility while three others, although they have more competition left, have indicated that they will graduate this year.

Six seniors are in the starting line-up. They are Captain Laughlin, and Charlie Baracchi, ends; Harry Hardiman, right tackle; Al

Jim Stockdale, speedy left half, also completes his eligibility and Gil Bishop, full; Lloyd Jackson, tackle; and Bob Bruning, end; are winding up their careers although possessed with another year's competition.

Laughlin, Baracchi, Azevedo, Hardiman, Pura, Watson, and Stockdale rank among the best football men ever to play for San Jose, and their absence will present Coach DeGroot with a big problem next year.

DUNKERS BEAT DOLPHINS 5 to 2

Sparta's water polo squad brought to a close a successful first year by whipping the Dolphin Club from San Francisco by a score of 5-2 in a spirited dunking spree last night in Spartan plunge.

Captain Draper, center back, and Gene Gear, right forward, scored two apiece and Jerry Tuxford, left back, tallied once for the Spartans.

Ernie "Dutch" Guskar put in both goals for the Frisco invaders.

The closely fought first half ended in a 1-1 deadlock.

Slavin is a 175 pound end who transferred to San Diego from Santa Ana J. C. this year. He plays end on offense and halfback on defense.

McMichael is a 160 pound junior halfback and fullback. He is credited with one of the longest scoring runs in the nation this year, a 96 yard gallop with an intercepted pass against LaVerne.

Traditional WAA Christmas Dinner Set For De Anza

Since 1922, when the first W.A.A. Christmas banquet was held in Society Hall in the old Science wing, the traditional event has been one of the highlights of the year in women's activities.

The banquet will again be held at the Hotel De Anza, Monday, December 9 at 6:30 p.m., with the customary Christmas menu of turkey, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie being served.

RESERVATIONS

Reservations for blocks of tickets may be made at the Women's Physical Education office or with the ticket salesman, the freshman women P. E. majors, and the members of W.A.A. executive board. Tickets are priced at 80 cents.

Tickets will be on sale by campus salesmen only until Wednesday, December 4 at 1 o'clock. On Thursday and Friday, December 5 and 6, they will be on sale in the women's P. E. office and in front of the Morris Daily auditorium.

FACULTY ATTEND

Many of the faculty members have attended as many as five or ten banquets and vow that they wouldn't miss one in the future, while a great many senior women plan to make this their fourth attendance at the Christmas dinner.

Lillian Brown, general chairman, has announced the appointment of the following chairmen: entertainment, Ruth Wright; decorations, Nancy Walker; place cards, Roberta Culbertson; tickets, Betty Moore and Lillian Radivoj; flowers, Helen Maxwell; gifts, Edith Norton and Catherine Millhone.

Turkey Menu Served In College Cafeteria

A Thanksgiving luncheon was served in the college cafeteria yesterday noon, featuring the New England boiled dinner, mock German turkey and dressing, colonial string beans, and beef julienne soup.

Lucille Kable and George Connolly, members of the cafeteria managing class, were in charge of the luncheon. Small cardboard turkeys, that the home economics majors may have children make for school dinners, were used for holiday decorations. Fresh vegetables on the tables added color to the Thanksgiving atmosphere.

Fans Will See Stunts

dents are urged to occupy these seats.

A series of four huge colored pictures, made by the manipulation of the orange and blue cards, are tentatively scheduled, and the rally men emphasize the point that white shirts for men and white blouses and dresses for co-eds must be worn to give the desired contrast and effect.

CARD DIRECTIONS

For those who are shy of the supposed intricacies of shuffling the human made pictures, the committee points out that the handling of the cards is simple. Clear directions are printed on every card.

As an added attraction for the entertainment of the crowd, the rally committee promises several spectacular eye-filling pyrotechnic stunts during half-time to vie with the card stunts in showmanship.

Art Department GIVES EXHIBIT Featuring Horses

Continuing the series of art subjects that are shown in alphabetical order, a group of drawings and paintings with the horse as the central subject is being exhibited in the hall of the Art wing through this week and next.

"The display illustrates the different manner in which the horse has been treated in art. Some artists have been inspired by the grace and rhythm of the subject, while others have emphasized the solidity or awkwardness of the animal," said Mr. John French who is in charge of the series of exhibits.

Dean Dimmick Speaks To Freshman Eristics At Special Noon Meet

"In College you have to stand on your own two feet, but when you fall there is always someone there to catch you."

Such was the statement made to Freshman women by Dean Helen Dimmick at a special meeting of Freshman Eristics held yesterday noon in room 1 of the Home Economics building. At the same meeting, Miss Clara Hinze, of the Social Science department, spoke on "College Traditions," and Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, of the Speech department, gave several dramatic readings.

PROFESSIONAL SECURITY

"Enthusiasm is the key to professional security," said Miss Dimmick. "Mental security can only be acquired by careful adjustment to associates, groups, and instructors. If a student maintains his enthusiasm throughout college, sophistication will follow naturally, and upon its heels social security."

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT

According to Miss Hinze, "Personalities and pioneering are the two chief traditions of San Jose State." Miss Hinze then recalled the advancements on the campus during her teaching career here. The acquisition of the Health Cottage, the student Cooperative store, the placing of the bell in the tower, and the fact that the music building was used as a hospital in 1918, were all part of the sketch review presented by Miss Hinze.

Proof Service To Be Extended By Studio

Extending their service at San Jose State for a week longer than was originally intended, in order to enable students to make their choice of proofs, the La Torre photographers will continue to occupy a desk in the publication's office until Friday, December 6.

During this time students may call from 8 to 5 for any proofs they have not yet seen, and make their choice of poses to finally appear in the yearbook.

The photographers plan to temporarily close this service today, however, for the Thanksgiving holiday, and open again on December 2.

AL CHURCHMAN, 60 minute, 234 pound tackle from San Diego State is the largest lineman in the Southern California Conference. He will be playing his last game for San Diego here tomorrow.

Speech Students, Faculty Members At Teacher Meets

Students and faculty members of the Speech department will take prominent parts in the two western speech teachers' conventions in San Francisco this week, it has been revealed.

The San Jose Players will present "Les Precieuses Ridicules," by Molnar, at 10 o'clock this morning before the English and Drama Teachers association of California in the Commerce High school auditorium in San Francisco.

GILLIS TO SPEAK

Mr. Hugh Gillis, director of the Players, will speak on "Drama Directing" as guest of honor at the association's banquet to be held in the William Taylor hotel at noon today.

VERSE CHOIR

Miss Elizabeth Jenks, head of the Speech department, will address the Western association of Teachers of Speech Friday morning, also at the William Taylor hotel. Her subject will be "The Social Value to Elementary School Children of the Reading of Poetry."

The Verse Speaking choir will present a program Friday night at the same convention, and "Les Precieuses Ridicules" will be repeated.

Science Seminar FEATURES TALK By H. L. Brubaker

A student can construct satisfactory equipment for photomicrographic work for practically nothing, according to Mr. H. L. Brubaker, Science department store room manager, who spoke at the Science Seminar, Monday afternoon.

Brubaker, introduced by Dr. Gayle Pickwell as a "pure amateur, in the work because he liked it," told students that with the bellows of an old camera, an insulating core of a flash light battery, a rubber stopper, ring-stand and clamps and a little spare time that equipment suitable for doing work in the field could be made.

The problems of photomicrographic technique and methods of overcoming them were given.

Alpha Pi Omega Will Honor Pledges At Dance

Honoring the eight pledges of Alpha Pi Omega, the fraternity is giving an informal dance Saturday night at the Campbell Women's Club, with Charlie McClelland's 9-piece orchestra playing from 9:30 to 1:00.

Horace Peterson is general chairman of the affair, for which only 50 bids are being issued. The pledged being honored are: Howard Kocher, Dick Lane, Jim MacGowan, Charles Plomteau, Burnham Smith, Norman Wagner, Don Walker, and Jess Wilson.

Dr. Holliday Discusses Humorist In Article

"Abe Lincoln freed the negro, but Mark Twain freed the white man."

Thus states the article "How Mark Twain served America," by Dr. Carl Holliday that appeared in last Friday's edition of the New York Sun.

Christmas Seals Sales To Provide Hospital Supplies

Students who purchase Christmas seals this year will assist in providing an x-ray machine for the Santa Clara county hospital that will be available to San Jose and Santa Clara county students, Miss Elizabeth McFadden, head of college health department, announced yesterday.

MACHINE NEEDED

The contemplated x-ray machine has been greatly needed in this county, but heretofore finances for its purchase have been lacking. Miss McFadden pointed out in urging that all students of the college assist in this worthy project by buying their Christmas seals this year. The seals will go into the mail Friday, and will be on hand at the college.

SPEARS AID DRIVE

Miss Margaret Twombly, of the Health and Hygiene department, and the Spartan Spears held a meeting Tuesday night, finishing their annual job of getting letters sent out for the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis Association. The health office, with the cooperation of the students, has volunteered its time and help this year, as in the past.

NOTICE

All pre-nursing students meet in room 210, Science building at 10 o'clock December 3.
