La Torre To Be Voted On By State Students For 1937 Style

In an effort to find out just what students of San Jose State want in the way of a yearbook next year, with the 1936 La Torre, an entirely new idea here, still before them, Robert Rector, editor of the yearbook next year, asked for an expression of student opinion today.

A prepared ballot is printed in the Daily today, so that students may vote for the type of book they would like next year. Fill it out and drop it into the box in the publications' office. This ballot gives students an opportunity to choose for themselves the kind of book they want, and next year's effort will be largely determined by the results of the balloting today.

Robert Rector, in explaining the choice of books said:

"In former years, the La Torre, subsidized by student funds, and

MacQuarrie Lauds Excellent Work Of Late Chas. Crothers

While many of you may not have been aware of it, San Jose State College lost one of its very best friends in the death of Charles F. Crothers last Monday morning. Mr. Crothers was an old time resident of San Jose, always interested in the welfare of the community and especially of its schools. He was a regent of the old Normal School, and for many years president of the Board. He had charge of the reconstruction of the property after the earthquake of 1906, and the fine architecture of our main building may be attributed largely to his appreciation of good architecture.

In 1921 when the Normal School was changed into a college and control of it was centered in the State Board of Education, Mr. Crothers became a member of the local advisory board and has ever since acted as its president.

Two years ago he was active in the organization of the State College Communities Association. He became the president of that organization and had much to do with the success of its efforts in securing for the State Colleges an

MOORE EXPRESSES APPRECIATION TO STUDENT BODY

I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to the entire student body and especially to the council for the wholehearted support and cooperation which has been shown me during the last year.

I have received real pleasure in working with and for the Associated Students, and I feel a deep appreciation for the honor and trust placed in me. I can only say that I look upon this last year as one filled with rich and valuable experiences.

To say a word about my successor, Paul Becker, I feel that the students have chosen a man well worthy of their trust. It is a certainty that he will carry out his duties with consideration for the best interests of the school.

Again I wish to express my gratitude and in so doing I will simply say "Thank you."

—Bill Moore.

Tour Results In Job For Student

Fulfilling one of the main purposes of the annual verse choir tours which is to acquaint administrators with the value of such activities, Blanche Corriveau, one of today's graduates, has been appointed music and speech instructor for the Sebastopol grammar school for the coming year.

Miss Corriveau's work with the choir during its program in Sonoma county was brought to the attention of educational authorities who arranged for the interviews which resulted in her appointment.

Since her registration at San Jose State in 1932 Miss Corriveau has been an active member of the San Jose Players as well as director of the Japanese Verse Choir and member of the varsity verse choir.

Former Student Awarded Special Commendation

At the recommendation of E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, Barton L. Collins, member of the San Jose police force and a former student and graduate of the State college police school, was awarded a special commendation by Chief of Police J. N. Black.

Heinrich, who visited the San Jose police force recently, praised Collins for his efficient handling of traffic and other police problems in downtown San Jose.

Collins graduated from San Jose State college in 1935. He was a member of the football team while a student.

Graduation Exercises Take Place Today At Four In Quad

As a conclusion to their college careers, 387 seniors are to receive their diplomas, credentials, and degrees at four this afternoon in the quad.

December, March, June, and August graduates will file past President T. W. MacQuarrie as he hands them their diplomas and wishes them success.

"With Great Distinction" will be the honor granted to the 15 students who maintained the highest scholastic averages during their four years here. The next 30 will be granted the honor "With Distinction."

Last La Torres Available Today At Controller's

For the last time, copies of La Torre will be available to students in the Controller's office today, according to Kathryn Epps, La Torre editor.

Clearing of the remaining copies left over from the week's distribution will be the purpose of the staff tomorrow. Anyone wanting a yearbook should come early in the afternoon, as there is a possibility of a shortage.

FIRST TIME

The 1936 La Torre, with its full page division pictures, its snapshots of campus life and functions, was well received this year by the thousands of students who got books absolutely free for the first time in the history of the college.

A maroon and gold color theme on the cover, and neat arrangements of abstract decorations throughout the book made it attractive as well as a good pictorial record of the year.

AGAIN, NO DOUBT

To the great number of students who were able to get a La Torre this year, the new regime seemed highly satisfactory, thus assuring the success of the experiment.

Everyone seemed agreed that the La Torre editor had made the most of the small appropriation at her disposal and put out a book that was worthy of the effort, and a pioneer in its own right.

INCOMING PREXY BECKER HIGH IN PRAISE OF 'BILL'

I wish to thank each and every member of the Associated Students for placing in me their confidence and trust for the coming school year. I can only say that when I take over the duties of my office, I shall do so with determination to further the interests of the student body.

My chief hope is that I shall be able to fill the position with all the faithfulness and trustworthiness displayed by my predecessor, Bill Moore.

—Paul Becker.

W.A.A. COUNCIL EATS

Twenty-five officers and members of the Women's Athletic association council attended the last W.A.A. social function of the year when the annual installation banquet was held Tuesday night at Sevin's on the Alameda.

The dinner, presided over by Doris Shields, president of the organization last year and newly reelected, featured speeches by all new officers and council members as well as their installation. Carmelita Gilcrest, in charge of arrangements, formally installed the president for the coming year, after which the new officers were installed by Doris Shields. The officers included Mary Wilson, secretary, and Doris J. Smith, athletic manager. Members recently elected to the council include Mavis Crowell, Jean Hughes, Betty Moore, Frances Scott, Mary Wilson, Lillian Brown and Doris Shields.

Short, one-sentence speeches were given during the dinner by all members present, as well as longer speeches given by Miss Marjorie Lucas and Mrs. Maud Knapp, faculty advisers.

M'Donald Granted Leave Of Absence

Hovey C. MacDonald, instructor in the men's physical education department, has been granted a year's leave of absence while he resumes his connections with the Northern Life Insurance Company.

Formerly head of the department, Mr. MacDonald resigned in 1935 because of pressure of other duties, retaining his position as instructor in physical education. He coached some of the best basketball teams in the history of the college during his career.

Summer Session Advised By West

Suggested as a good way to earn credits and make graduation in the regular four year period possible, registrar Joe H. West advises students to take advantage of the summer session from June 29 to August 7.

Several special features in all departments should make registration in this session of interest to many.

Bulletins giving complete information regarding fees, courses of instruction, guest instructors, number of credits to be earned, and special projects may be obtained in the Registrar's office.

Unlike last year, the session will not be divided into two sections this year, but will be given as one six weeks session.

LEHMANN ELECTED PEACE HEAD

This Year's President Will Lead State College Organization On Second Term

Unanimously re-elected president of the College Council For Peace, Lloyd Lehmann will continue his office as head of the council for next year, it was decided at an election meeting held yesterday in room 25 of the Home Economics building.

The other officers elected as heads of the council are Norman Dalkey, vice-president; and Erma Benjamin, secretary. Mrs. Sibyl Hanchett and Mr. Guy G. George volunteered as faculty advisers, replacing Miss Elsie Toles, who is unable to continue the office because of lack of time. Miss Toles will remain an active member of the council.

OPINIONS ASKED

In an effort to derive an opinion of the standing which the College Council For Peace has arrived at during its organization on the campus, President Lehmann asked for various attitudes which were expressed by the members present.

"The attitude toward campus peace groups in the past has been that they have been willing to do almost anything for publicity," stated Mr. Ralph Eckert in voicing his opinion, "the present council is gaining prestige because of its constructive program."

RASPBERRY HUE

Miss Toles and Mrs. Hanchett both expressed the opinion that the council is gaining in respect and prestige; while Miss Carolyn Leland, Y.W.C.A. campus secretary, stated that the off-campus public has a tendency to regard the Peace Council as having a "touch of the pink".

Preceding the business meeting, Arthur Edsinger spoke to the group on the menace of the Black Legion.

Freshman Omitted In Orientation Recognized

Omitted by error from the list of persons who received honor certificates in freshman recognition activities last Thursday, Miss Theodora Quinby, with an average of 2.724, has been given her certificate in private.

Honors were given to freshmen for the first time this year in the last orientation meeting. Freshmen are not allowed to participate in Recognition day, so they substituted their own day under the advisal of Dean Charles Goddard.

Campus To Vote Today On New La Torre Style

(Continued from Page One) sold for three dollars, really represented an investment of five dollars. This year the book represents a radical departure from those of former years. Financed entirely from student body funds and distributed to the entire student body, the cost of the book has been cut down to about one dollar and twenty cents a copy.

"It would seem that there are three possible ties open for next year—first: that we put out a book essentially the same as this year, distributed without further cost to everybody; second: that we increase the La Torre appropriation at the expense of other activities to approximately $2 per book for which we can put out a book of the type of former years, which will be possible considering the large number to be issued; or third: that we revert to the former system of a subsidized book with the book for sale to a more limited number of students.

We will try to put out a book which will suit as many students as possible," he said. "I hope everyone will help us by expressing his opinion today."

La Torre Ballot

I favor adopting the following plan for next year's La Torre:

- Same plan of book as this year's.
- Larger La Torre appropriation on same plan as this year.
- Subsidized book to be sold as formerly.

Pegasus Triumphs! Marjorie Carey Tells Of Coming Marriage

Marjorie Carey, winsome member of Pegasus, the literary honor society, maintained the pen-wielders' almost 1000 batting average in marriages when she revealed yesterday her coming marriage to Leonard Dana, a former State student.

Miss Carey is the latest Pegasusian to carry on the now firmly established tradition of an engagement while a member of the society.

Former member Robert Wright started the procession by taking the marriage vows one early summer night a year ago, and then followed in quick order Pegasusians Richard Hiatt, Barton Wood, and Ethel Mae Ruhlen. A month ago the club president popped out with a confession of honorable intentions towards a certain miss. Dorothy Root, another member, recently announced her engagement to a Livermore youth.

And now member Marjorie Carey, who by the way was a recent Phelan contest winner, steps forth sporting a diamond practically large enough to replace the lighthouse beacon in San Francisco bay.

Headed by the intrepid Ray Wallace of the "Let 'Em Eat Cake" column, the few remaining bachelors of the society are endeavoring to find means to rout romance from the halls of Pegasus.

San Jose State Loses A Friend In Crothers

In all matters which pertained to our welfare, Mr. Crothers showed a vital and intelligent interest. We found it necessary to confer with him many times, and I personally have visited him in his office so many times that I began to feel it was a part of our campus. The college has suffered a loss in his passing. The whole community will long await a man who showed such a wholesome combination of fine public spirit, manly character, and enthusiasm for what is good. His monument will be found in the deep appreciation of his worth in the hearts of his friends.

The whole college, faculty, students, alumni and friends extend to Mrs. Crothers deepest sympathy.

—Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie.
