

BAND ASSURED SOUTHERN TRIP

67 MUSICIANS TO LEAVE FOR SAN DIEGO WITH TEAM FRIDAY

COUNCIL APPROPRIATES

Bandsmen, Accompanied By Mr. Eagan, Will Leave For South In Special Cars; To Return Sunday Evening

San Jose State's band, 67 strong, is going to San Diego. That is the news that thrilled the bandsmen late yesterday afternoon after it had been announced earlier in the day that the trip was cancelled. The band will accompany the Spartan grid squad when it goes south to play the San Diego State Aztecs in a game marking the opening of a new stadium in the southern city Saturday.

LEAVE FRIDAY

Leaving San Jose at 9 a.m. Friday morning on special cars, the bandsmen and football players will be gone for three days. They expect to arrive back in San Jose at 5:58 p.m. Sunday.

Funds for sending the State musicians to San Diego will be made up from the band's regular allotment of $300, an additional sum of $300 volunteered by the student council, and money subscribed by members of the band, it was explained last night by Adolph Otterstein, head of the San Jose State music department.

"With $600 already at their disposal, it would be a shame if they didn't get to go," Mr. Otterstein declared.

"The band has done good work this year," he added. "A trip like that will help to pep them up a lot."

Savings effected by omitting uniform repairs and similar incidental expenses, as well as private subscription, he said, make the trip possible. It was announced that

—OUR BAND— —AN ASSET—

The band gets the trip it well deserves, and how happy some 67 members are today. First the news came that the journey was cancelled for lack of theater engagements in the Border city; then later the word was heard that the trip was assured.

Our Spartan band has been working hard all year to give us the fine half-time entertainments at the football games, and for this perseverance it will entrain Friday enroute for the fair city of San Diego to help cheer the varsity team on in its game with the Aztecs next Saturday.

We have heard many congratulatory comments on the wonderful display by this group of musicians at the games, and also words of praise have been said for the card stunts under the direction of Bob Free. Townspeople and students alike have been unanimous in good words for the keen interest shown by these special groups to help make every football encounter have real "big game" spirit.

Let's all be at the S. P. station at 9 o'clock Friday morning and give the team and band a rousing send-off.

He Can't Lose! Prof Wins Prize As Sharpshooter

Again Dr. Earl W. Atkinson, shooting prof from San Jose State college, proved his supremacy by winning the Junior Commerce Trapshooting handicap, during the Associated Sportsmen of California, Inc., Annual Trapshoot, held at the San Jose Gun club grounds last Sunday.

He won the handicap with a score of 24 out of 25 in a final shoot-off with four other members who had equalled his score.

Aside from being high gun in the handicap Dr. Atkinson took high honors in the class B shoot. This shoot resulted in another tie and he was forced to participate in another shoot-off which he again won with a score of 25 out of 25.

In the final event, called the Miss'n Out, in which each shooter moves back one yard after each shot, Dr. Atkinson dropping back twenty-seven yards before missing was awarded the first prize, a dozen solid cork decoy ducks.

Dr. Atkinson proved himself a good trapshooter last year, when he won the State Handicap Championship Title, at the California State Shoot held at Del Monte.

He won the title with a score of 100 hits out of 100 shots. He also attended the Grand Pacific Championship Trapshoot held at Portland in August and made a score of 770 out of a possible 800. This score entitled him to several trophies, chief among which was a pedigreed Irish Water Spaniel.

'Bury The Dead' Anti-War Drama, To Be Presented

College Peace Council Co-Sponsors Of Program

Co-sponsoring an Armistice program for the benefit of San Jose's public, the United Veterans' Council of Santa Clara County and the College Council for Peace of San Jose State college will present "Bury The Dead", an anti-war drama, in the civic auditorium on Sunday, November 8 at 8:00 p.m.

"Bury The Dead", recently produced with great success in the cities of the bay region, will be dramatized by the Theatre Union of San Francisco with a cast of thirty players.

APPROPRIATE

"Gruesome and startlingly impressive" were the words used by Louis H. Rossi, president of the Veterans' Council, in describing the drama. "Inasmuch as the Veterans' Council has customarily dedicated Armistice Day to the cause of peace, I consider the coming production very appropriate," stated Mr. Rossi.

With 35 auxiliary veterans organizations advancing their colors on the stage of the civic auditorium, the program will commence with joint religious services of all churches under the direction of Father Henry Walsh, past district chaplain of the American Legion.

ALL INVITED

"Bury The Dead" will constitute the latter part of the program and will be entirely free to all students and to the general public, according to Lloyd Leh-

Dr. Nakahara To Speak On Races

Dr. Nakahara, Japanese dentist, will address Mr. James O. Woodruff's class in race and race relations, on "What the second generation Japanese thinks of the race situation in California" Wednesday at 11 o'clock, Woodruff revealed today.

Dr. Nakahara's talk will be conducted in the form of an interview with Mr. Woodruff and the class asking questions, and Dr. Nakahara answering them.

Dr. Nakahara is a resident of San Jose.

He is a graduate of the University of California, a member of the American-Japanese club, and greatly interested in race cooperation.

Mr. Woodruff announced that all those who are interested are welcome to attend.

Collection Of Funds Starts On Campus Immediately

Uncle Benny Melzer was officially appointed by the San Jose State college student council last night to lead the campus drive this year for Community Chest funds.

"We'll take your dimes and dollars, Folks," Uncle Benny declared when informed of his appointment; "But you can save your old buttons for the church collection."

"The Community Chest, of course, is no joke," Paul Becker, president of the student body, explained after the council meeting. But, he agreed, the students might as well have some fun out of the drive.

SURPRISE ATTACK

Working on the theory that a surprise attack is worth more than a battalion of artillery, the new drive leader extracted a contribution from each member of the council and a stray Spartan Daily reporter found hiding under a table in the council room.

In addition to the appointment of Melzer to head the Chest drive, the council confirmed the transfer of $300 from the emergency fund to help send the college band to San Diego Saturday.

Explaining the plan of the Patrons' Association to establish more student houses similar to the Varsity House on Reed street and to offer two new scholarships, Mrs. C. C. Gilliam asked that the council appoint a member to a coordinating council composed of representatives of the association, the faculty, the students, and the junior chamber of commerce.

Officers Elected At Pre-Nursing Meeting

Ruth Wright was elected president, June Hess vice-president and Esther Chow, secretary at the first meeting of the Pre-Nursing Club held recently. The club has a much larger membership this year than in previous years and will be one of the most active organizations on the campus this year.

Miss Alice Hanson is the adviser for the group, which meets every Monday noon, and Ann Jewell is reporter.

Water Polo Team Downs Palo Alto 4-2

Al Wempe Leads Junior Poloists In 4 To 2 Victory

Undefeated Sequoians Next On Schedule For Locals

With Al Wempe playing the leading role the San Jose junior water polo team defeated the Palo Alto high school varsity 4 to 2 in a fast moving contest played last night in the Spartan pool.

Wempe scored three points in the first half and came back to score the final tally near the end of the second period of play. George Whisler and Jim Wylie, forwards, scored the two goals for the Palo Alto contingent.

The game was featured by brilliant guarding on the part of Leonard Goodwin, and Bob Garcia who saved many points for the locals. Both teams were playing without the services of star men. Frank Savage, regular forward for the Spartan team, was forced to watch the game from the sidelines because of an ankle injury incurred early in the week. Four of the first string Palo Alto men were out of the game with colds.

Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock the junior team will journey to Redwood City to face the undefeated Sequoia high school team in what the bleacher coaches predict will be a fast, rough, and hard fought game with the Redwood City boys a slight favorite over Coach Charlie Walker's waterdogs.

According to reports the Redwood team has three outstanding men in the persons of Herb Frehn, back, Kenneth Courter, forward, and Dick Savage at goal. These players have led their team to victories over five strong teams including the Olympic Club and Dolphin club.

The other game on the schedule for this week pits the Spartan varsity against the Menlo junior college seven Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the local pool.

WRESTLING SEASON OPENS WITH GAPS IN LIGHTWEIGHTS

By HAROLD WISE

With gaps showing in the 118, 125 and 135 pound classes, active practice for this year's varsity wrestling team has begun, under the direction of Coach Eugene B. Grattan.

Although the intercollegiate season does not begin until the winter quarter, Coach Grattan is putting his men through the paces in hopes of finding likely candidates to fill the holes created by the loss of Numerino Davin, 118; Captain-elect Bob Roumasset, 135; last year's captain Arthur Philpott, 165; and Bruce Allen, 175.

NEWCOMER SHOW

Of the new candidates now in participation, Ivan Nelson, 165, and James MacQuire, 175, seem to show the most promise, according to the catch-as-catch-can mentor. The heavy-weight honors will be contested by Glenn DuBose and Wendall Hanson, both of whom won letters last year and are now pastiming with Dud DeGroot's football squad.

Henry Puckett, a freshman, but no green horn when it comes to wrestling, will be a strong participant in the 118 pound class. George Wenglein and Martin Olavarri at 145 pounds and Melvin Rush at 165 are other returning veterans.

At the present time the team is practicing between five and six o'clock every day. Coach Grattan urges all interested to report as soon as possible and check out equipment. There is an especial need for those in the lighter weights. A long practice season is ahead, so the new candidates will be well coached before the intercollegiate season opens next January.

Squad Prepares For Southern Tilt Minus Two Aces

Wattenbarger, DuBose Badly Injured, Out For Two Weeks

Not heart-broken in the least by the 20-0 loss at the hands of the powerful Santa Clara Broncos, rated one of the strongest outfits in the nation, the Spartan varsity will settle down this afternoon to practice sessions leading to the San Diego State game next Saturday at the Border city.

MANY INJURIES

But with the good showing made by the local warriors came a swollen list of injuries. With several members of the squad on the injured list prior to the Santa Clara game, two more bad breaks came when Glenn "Pop" DuBose, ace guard, and Lloyd Wattenbarger, outstanding wingman, were carried from the field in Saturday's encounter.

DuBose, who was taken from the game in a dazed condition, needed five stitches to close up wounds on his cheek and chin, and he will be out of the lineup for about ten days. Wattenbarger, who was a shining light in the Pacific affair and who again was outstanding while in the Bronco fray, received a badly injured knee and will probably not see action for a good two weeks.

Bob Drexel came out of the game with an injured knee, while Bob Stone and Owen Collins both received a "charley-horse". They should be in shape for the San Diego game.

Gene Rocchi, Jack Hilton, Bill Lewis and Toney Merino, all fleet backs, have not been up to par as the result of leg injuries, but all hope to be in perfect shape for the coming game.

Pre-Nursing Students Invited To 'Play Night'

Featuring deck tennis, shuffle board, volleyball, and ping-pong, a Play Night will be held tonight at the Women's Gym by the Pre-Nursing Club from 7 to 9.

All registered pre-nursing students are invited and should sign up by noon today at the main bulletin board in the Administration building.

The committee is headed by Dorothy Potts, assisted by Ann Jewell. Refreshments will be served.

Cross Country Team Listens To ASPIRING MR. ROSS Who Just Happens To Be All Wet

San Jose State's first cross-country team is gathered in a huddle around its new coach—Glen E. "Tiny" Hartranft.

"Tiny" is sitting on the edge of a bench, his long legs nearly enshrouding his six foot four inch frame. His head is buried in his arms and he's not feeling well as he listens to a bit of inspiring oratory.

"Turkey" Ross is the center of attraction, standing in the middle, waving his arms in circles and doing all the talking.

AT SPARTAN FIELD

All of this, incidentally, is taking place in the Spartan field house prior to Friday afternoon's meet.

"Cecil Cole is slick as a whistle," he begins. "He'll loaf the first part of the race and open up on the second half," continues the very serious Ross. "Young, Anderson and Broadbent will follow in that order."

"Tiny" is counting on his fingers, a half grin breaking over his face. "Well boys," he says to his first cross country team. "This means we have to fight like the devil for fifth place."

STRUTS PROUDLY

In the meantime, Ross is sticking out his chest, proud of his scouting activities, although we already know that he used to go to San Mateo. Beside him, "Tiny" is still counting on his fingers.

Finally he says, "We can't make it, fellows," and turning to Ross remarks, "Thanks for your inspiring talk, Mr. Ross."

Mr. Ross is very modest and doesn't say a thing.

AT SAN MATEO

The following and second scene is taking place in San Mateo.

The coaches and officials are sitting in a car as "Bud" Buyers, a freshman from Paso Robles is thundering across the finish in a brilliant, record-smashing time of 12:58.6. The final result finds State trailing by one point.

Mr. Ross, who also happens to be a cross country runner, comes in about thirty minutes later. A judge is reporting that he found Mr. Ross on a rock trying to catch his breath but he is smiling as he hears of "Bud's" record.

NOT HIS RUNNING

"Ain't I good," he says, proudly, obviously not referring to his running. "I got the whole team feeling so bad that they went and nearly trimmed all them powerful San Mateo fellers."

The whole team stares at Mr. Ross, not knowing whether to call him a liar or just keep on thinking he is one.

FROSH UNDISMAYED BY BRONCO DEFEAT; TREK TO SANTA ROSA

Undismayed by the 32-0 set-back by Santa Clara's "greatest" freshman team last Saturday, Coach DeWitt Portal's frosh gridders were again back to a rigid training grind last night in preparation for their first out of town game when they meet Santa Rosa Junior College Friday night.

Santa Rosa J. C. recently held the College of Pacific Frosh to a scoreless tie after outplaying the Tigers throughout the game. The young Spartans hold a 7-6 victory over Pacific.

TOUGH GAME

"We're not taking this Santa Rosa bunch too lightly", stated Portal. "They cleanly outplayed Pacific, even if neither team succeeded in scoring." "We expect a hard battle," he continued.

Concerning the Santa Clara game, Portal had no alibies to make. He complimented the Broncos on their strong play and also his own boys for the spirited battle they put up.

BASKETBALL

A pack of hungry Wolves in search of fresh meat last night tracked down the Fowlers and overcame them to the tune of 22 to 14 in the intramural casaba tournament.

Bill Gordon, playing for the losers, lead the scoring with 12 digits.

Mr. Stone Gives Illustrated Lecture

Showing approximately 100 slides illustrating the "Charm of England", Mr. George E. Stone, photography department head, conducted the Science Seminar in Room S210 yesterday afternoon.

In the lecture accompanying the slides, Mr. Stone told his audience that there was much in common between the American people and the English.

WE'RE TEMPERAMENTAL

"Despite the fact that we are the offspring of the British Empire," stated the speaker, "we are inclined to be irritated by them. This is because of the temperamental difference of the two peoples. An American is always in a hurry. The Englishman always takes his time."

In discussing typical British business methods the speaker said that the system of money was another thing that added to the general slowness of the English. "During my three months in the country I knew only one Englishman who could figure the complicated system in his head—and he was a German."

Commenting on the tourists' comfort in the British Isles, Mr. Stone said that highways in that country were in excellent condition. "In all the traveling I did I came upon only one mud-puddle."

"It is difficult learning to drive on the left side of the road and the whole highway system is without organization which makes slow driving."

Mr. Stone showed slides during his talk which illustrated different types of architecture used in construction of the old English Cathedrals. In several instances he brought out the use of Gothic, Norman and other types of building styles in the same cathedral.

"It is pertinent to the subject of cathedrals that it took the English such a long time to build one of them that in the course of construction the styles of architecture would change," the speaker said.

Mr. Stone visited the British Isles for three months in 1931. After his travels in England, where he took more than 1000 pictures he went to Italy and southern France. While in the southern countries he took many pictures and had used them in making lecture tours through the state of California.

Council For Peace Presents War Drama

The author of "Bury The Dead" was the twenty-three year old football scenario writer, Irwin Shaw. The play had a sensational run of several months on Broadway and two presentations in the east bay to its credit.

"The play should advance the aims of the College Council for Peace in promoting an intelligent opposition to war and a constructive attitude toward the promotion of peace," Lloyd Lehman, adding that the executive of the College Council for Peace considers "Bury The Dead" as typical of students' horror of war.

Condemn Roosevelt's Policy, Republican Hands Off Plan

Holding the first debate of the year on the San Jose State Quad Monday at noon, Spartan debaters met a University of San Francisco squad to argue the resolution, "That the New Deal should be continued."

The debate, a no-decision contest, was spent in general criticism of the republicanistic laissez faire philosophy of government by the San Jose team and condemnation of the "New Deal in business" policy of the Roosevelt administration.

"WE NEEDED IT"

"We needed the New Deal," San Jose State's George Downing shouted at an assembled crowd of 400 students. "Twelve years of Republican 'do-nothingness' made it imperative that quick action be taken to save the country."

"Our fathers fought for something more than the right to govern and to have religious freedom—they fought for the right to live."

Protesting that the people of the United States were not getting their money's worth, James Mace, upholding the negative for the University of San Francisco, condemned wanton waste of public money.

"We do not have true prosperity" he said. "We have something that has been bought with money that will shackle the children—the men of the future for decades to come."

DICTATORSHIP?

Not content with the present form of government which he considered "bureaucratic", Harry Sloan of the University of San Francisco suggested a return to a republican laissez faire system. "First it is bureaucratism, then government in business—ultimate dictatorship with the choice of communism or fascism."

Speaking for the affirmative, Ervin DeSmet of San Jose State college ridiculed the weakness of the Republican party platform—contended that the New Deal should be continued insofar as the new dealers could handle their own program better than the republican element.

The San Franciscans stated that the country had been faced with an unbalanced budget for the last three years of the present party's power and that it was their intent to pay for their extravagance by use of excessive taxation.

"They take your money in the form of hidden taxes just to keep another bureau," Debater Sloan said.

Frank Hamilton of San Jose State college acted as chairman; Ralph Eckert, debate coach, was time-keeper.

Plans Made To Accept Gifts Of Holliday

Arrangements are being completed with Mrs. Carl Holliday as to the acceptance of the collection of books willed to the college by the late Dr. Carl Holliday.

His personal library of over one thousand books is to become the property of the college under two conditions; first the collection is to be kept in a separate group in the library, and secondly, is to be known as the Holliday collection.

Difficulties involved in the housing of such a large collection of books separately has slowed up the settlement of the property thus far, but a decision is expected within the next three weeks.

Cossack Choir Thrills Crowd In Civic Auditorium

Like a great organ, the voices of the Don Cossack Russian male chorus blended into sonorous notes and sweet and melodic tones during their concert Sunday night at the Civic auditorium.

Presenting solemn church music in their first group, the giant Russians demonstrated unusual A Cappella singing under the direction of Serge Jaroff, tiny but dynamic conductor.

In its second group, the chorus sang folk songs of its native land, including the well-known Volga Boat song. "The Nightingale" was especially lovely as sung by these ex-officers of the imperial army. The melody was carried by tenors who reached notes far higher than can the average soprano.

In the third part of their program, the Cossacks presented soldier songs, punctuating them with shrill whistles and excited yells. Two members of the chorus offered a whirling, leaping Russian dance, delivered at an unbelievable speed.

The profound depths and great heights reached by the basses and tenors as well as the harmonious whole as played forth by Jaroff's sensitive hands brought a demand for encores by the enthusiastic audience.

Band To Accompany Team To San Diego

It had previously been thought on the strength of verbal assurances by Morris Gross, San Jose State graduate manager, that it would be possible to finance the band trip by a series of theater engagements and radio broadcasts.

NO ENGAGEMENTS

That hope was dispelled, however, with the receipt yesterday by San Jose Manager Gil Bishop of a letter informing him that all efforts to secure theater engagements for the Spartan musicians had failed.

"We realize that your organization would add color to the event... and hope that you will be there," the letter concluded.

Mr. Thomas Eagan and Mrs. Adolph Otterstein will accompany the band on the long trip.

Kindergartener's Meet

Meeting as a whole instead of in groups of four, as it did last year, the kindergarten primary group will hold its first party of the year in Room 1 of the Art building Thursday night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, faculty sponsor of the affair, will be assisted by the other supervisors.
