

Record Attendance Expected On Friday At Off-Campus Hop

Bob Mallet To Be Chief Feature Of Program

Hoping to cheer the student body through the last week of finals, the social affairs committee is centering all of its energy in completing plans for what they hope will be the largest student body dance in school history this Friday night.

With the unique distinction of being the first off-campus student body dance the campus has ever seen, the hop will have its setting in the municipal auditorium which will hold a large crowd.

EXPECT 1200

Harold Kibby, social affairs chairman, hopes to have nearly 1200 students attend the dance, which will begin at nine o'clock.

Stewart Mauss and his 12-piece orchestra with a girl vocalist will join with Bob Mallet, red-headed "two-million dollar personality" entertainer in furnishing continuous music and fun for the final social affair of the quarter.

Kappa Phi Party Will Be Wednesday

A Toyland Party to be presented by the Kappa Phi club, and scheduled for Friday, has been postponed because of the Christmas play and the student body dance, and instead will take place next Wednesday.

Any member or pledge of the Kappa Phi club who attends the affair is required to bring a toy with them with which to swell the Spartan Daily toy pile.

The affair is completely in charge of the pledges of the organization under the supervision of Doris Arnold, vice-president. The committee consists of Marjorie Tamblin and Jane Hoyt.

All-College New Year's Eve Party Plans Laid

Serpentine, noise-makers, confetti, hats, and all that goes with it, will make the all-college party on New Year's Eve one of the greatest social functions of the school year.

Plans have been completed to have the gala affair in the men's gymnasium on December 31st from 8 until 1. The party will be sponsored by the Associated Student Body with the aid of the Social Affairs Committee, the YW and YMCA, Spartan Spears, and Spartan Knights, campus service organizations.

FIRST TIME

Since this is the first time the calendar has been so arranged to have students at school over the holiday, consequently this is the first time in the history of San Jose State than an all-college party has been planned.

Although the New Year's Eve affair will consist of games, entertainment, and dancing, it will

Dr. James DeVoss Speaker At College Chapel Today Noon

The Little Theater will be the scene for another All-College Chapel to be held at noon today. Dr. James E. DeVoss, head of the San Jose State college Personnel department, and leader of numerous civic and church circles will be speaker.

Dr. DeVoss will speak for five minutes on an inspirational subject.

No active participation is required of those who attend chapel, the fifteen minute period being devoted to quiet music and a devotional talk.

Carmella Carmon, chaplain of the Kappa Phi club, invites all students and faculty members to attend the chapel. The Kappa Phi club along with the YWCA and YMCA sponsor the chapel.

Debate Team Will Meet Santa Clara In Wage Argument

The San Jose State college debate team closes its activities for the quarter this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in Room 165 when it meets a team from Santa Clara University on the resolution "that the federal government be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours in industry".

San Jose State will uphold the affirmative, and will be represented by Alfred Britton, a San Jose boy, and Frank Leeds, whose home is in Buenos Aires. This will be their first debate.

Debating the negative for Santa Clara will be Eugene Adams and James Doherty.

In view of the tense strike situation on the Pacific coast and industrial troubles in the eastern part of the United States, issues debated today are pertinent, according to Ervin DeSmet, debate manager.

Everyone is invited to attend.

take the place of the regular second quarter registration dance. Stags, couples, and all groups or parties are welcome to the "very" informal get-together.

The music has not yet been arranged, but a well-known peninsula dance band will be secured for dancing, and plans call for something really good and novel in the way of entertainment and games for the entire crowd.

APPROVED

The idea of the first all-college party has met with high approval from members of the faculty who hope to see the affair continued in years to come.

Encouraging as many of the students as can attend, Paul Becker, Associated Students president, said, "Since we will all be here for school, we might as well have a good time and come to the party that promises to be full of fun, entertainment, and plenty of noise for everyone."

Upper Class Party Called Off By Head

Due to lack of interest and an excess of work, the junior-senior get-together planned for Thursday has been called off by the committee.

According to co-chairman Cal Sides, the end of the quarter rush was conducive to lack of interest on the part of both class members.

The plan will probably be continued next quarter at the early part of the semester. John Holtorf, junior chairman, expressed a hope that the plan would materialize then.

Fat In The Fire

By JIM BAILEY

One gentleman, slightly inebriated, was forcibly and convincingly ejected from the Spartan stadium last game time for the crime of buying candy and distributing it among those seated about him. Cal Sides, in charge of things that day, procured the aid of a couple of cops for this. My goodness Cal, we must protect the innocents from bad example. Tsk, tsk! But you forgot to eject some of the naughtier ones who were dissipating on coca cola!

A fool and his money are some party. —Ling Po.

At this time, with finals well nigh atop us, we hear the professors announcing exams and giving the students some advice in regard to preparation: "Read over your class notes and see if you can make any sense out of the pictures you have drawn. —Thank to Junior Collegian.

Since I am attending this institution in the capacity of a student it is only logical that I am on our side, but I am willing to concede that the professors have their grievances too. For example, we discover that according to the faculty the only difference between a student chewing gum in the class room and a cow munching its cud is . . . the cow has a thoughtful look on its face.

A man's faults are many, Gals have only two: Everything they say And everything they do.

As a sort of rebuttle to the cow episode above, the students extend the following conversation overheard in a local class room the other day: "Is that your cigarette butt under the table?" "Why no Prof., you saw it first."

Thermometer All Wrong—Jackie Must Come Back

A broken thermometer caused Jack Bronson, freshman student, to miss three days' of school under the illusion that he was a sick boy.

Bronson did not feel quite up to par upon arising one morning and his temperature was immediately taken. After remaining in his mouth for the proper interval, the instrument was removed and inspected. It registered an even 101. Jack was hurried into bed and considered an extremely sick boy.

Worried parents continued to take Bronson's temperature with hopes of improvement, but the instrument continued to register exactly 101. For three days Jack remained in bed, with his temperature always the same. Jack, in the meantime, had a swell time doing nothing and feeling fine. His temperature did not seem to correspond with his health.

Suspicion finally crept into the minds of the elder members of the Bronson family and they in turn took their temperatures. Two tries, and the instrument registered 102 and 103 respectively. Closer inspection revealed the thermometer to be broken. Jack returned to school.

Spartans Choose All-opponent Eleven

Santa Clarans Dominate Poll On First Team

Dougherty, Blaisdell Highest In Esteem Of Staters

By DICK EDMONDS
Phil Dougherty, Santa Clara center, was the outstanding man to play against San Jose State this fall if the poll taken shortly before departure for Honolulu can be taken as an indication.

The husky Bronco center was only one of the six Santa Clarans to qualify for first team positions in the estimation of the Spartan gridders. Five Broncos were placed on the second team with seven others being given honorable mention.

Next in line in the favor of the Staters was Blaisdell, Redlands backfield star who polled only two votes less than did the pivot star. Following is the 1936 all-opponent squad:

ENDS: Frame, San Diego State, and Finney, Santa Clara — The former got 30 votes, two more than the Bronco wingman who was acting captain against the Spartans. Frame was partially responsible for the San Jose defeat as he recovered the fumble which enabled the Aztecs to score the decisive touchdown.

TACKLES: Artoe, Santa Clara, and Sievert, Humboldt State—Artoe was given a big edge in the tackle department, even over the other more experienced Bronco tacklers who were in the game. Sievert was a big factor in the impotency of the Spartan attack as State fell in a stunning upset at Eureka. San Jose blockers were unable to put this big lad out of the play at any time.

GUARDS: Rodgers and Bassi, Santa Clara—Not much of a race here. A significant factor is that the Spartans rated Rodgers above Bassi, while Bassi is the boy that is getting the all-Coast and All-American mention. However, Art Cohn, well-known Oakland scribe, is another who thinks the former the better guard of the two.

CENTER: Dougherty, Santa Clara—He scored 38 points, while his nearest rival could poll only 13 votes. This in itself speaks for the esteem the Spartans hold for this lad who is getting a lot of mention for all-Coast.

QUARTER: Falaschi, Santa Clara—Not much of a surprise here although two other backs rated higher in the San Jose opinion. Nello undoubtedly deserves the rating with his blocking and efficient signal-calling.

HALFBACKS: Blaisdell, Redlands, and Meneweather, Humboldt State—The former, as mentioned above, drew more votes than any other back. While he was pretty well bottled up in the local clash, his play had the potentiality to cause the Staters to name him the most dangerous back of the year. Blaisdell will get a lot of votes when the time comes for the selection of the All-small college eleven. His running mate, Meneweather, a slightly-built Negro back of some 155 pounds, terrorized the State team throughout that uncomfortable afternoon at Eureka. His passing and running left an impression on Spartan gridders that will remain for a long time.

FULLBACK: Peterson, San Francisco—This lad rated second in the favor of the Spartans as

Novice Boxers Get Big Opportunity Dec. 3 In Spartan Gym

With the last football game on tap, the trip to Honolulu, and Thanksgiving vacation breaking into things the way they do, the novice boxers might stand to lose some of the limelight. Regardless of these other activities and how much they mean to the rest of the State students, the novice tournament tomorrow is still the high spot to Coach Portal's boxing classes.

These first-nighters are in dead earnest about things and the way they get mad at the punching bag and at everything else in general shows it. They mean business. It's their big chance and each entrant in the tournament seems more determined than the next one to show that he has the stuff to land on top.

Flying leather will be the order of the evening and from advance reports you better plan on being at Spartan gym early tomorrow evening or you might not get a seat.

HOCKEY

Winding up an interesting season, inter-class hockey ended yesterday noon. The Freshman Majors and Sophomores proved to be the outstanding teams, chalking up two winning games and tying one game. Juniors won one and lost one and the Freshmen lost two games.

The teams were headed by the following girls: Freshman Majors, Frances Fischer; Juniors, Dorothy Tonietti; Sophomores, Joan Hughes; Freshman, acting captain, Rita Gambori.

PING PONG

ARCHERY

The first round of a large inter-class tournament will be held today on the San Carlos street turf. Women students who are high scorers from the various archery classes are expected to compete. A Junior Columbia round which consists of seventy-two arrows shot at 40, 30, and 20 yards.

VOLLEYBALL CLUB

The newly organized volleyball club will meet Friday noon, ac-far as the backs were included. His brilliant plunging and kicking exhibition in the opener here was probably the best seen on the local gridiron in several years.

Here are the lads who were rated second team by the Spartans:

Ends: Coughlan, Santa Clara, and Smith, Santa Clara.

Tackles: Schwartz, U.S.F., and Ijams, Pacific.

Guards: Johnson, Pacific, and Shearing, U.S.F.

Center: Cechini, Pacific.

Quarter: Martinovich, Pacific.

Halfbacks: Barlow, Santa Clara, and Glass, San Diego State.

Fullbacks: Pavelko, Santa Clara.

Soccerites Lose Two Close Tilts On Southern Trip

By "STU" FOOTE

Maybe it was the long ride in the school chariot, or perhaps it was that sunny Southern California spring-like weather, but in any event, State's shin-kickers lost both tilts played over the Thanksgiving holidays at Los Angeles with U.C.L.A. and L.A.J.C. The results of both games were 2-1.

Playing the Bruins first, on Friday, State quickly took the lead when Dick Main, with the help of Martin Olavarri, booted a goal right thru the arms of the U.C.L.A. goalie. It looked then as if the locals were in for a Roman holiday as the southern university seemed awed by the Spartans' sudden scoring play.

Pleasant as old Sol was, State was not allowed to bask in his rays for long. Captain Sheppard of U.C.L.A. rallied his men and in the second quarter, they managed to break thru San Jose's backfield to tie up the ball game.

CLOSE GAME

After that scoring drive, both elevens settled down to serious business and it looked very much as if the game would end in a tie. However, late in the final period the tie was broken as the Bruins put over another goal. Despite desperate last minute drives by State, the game ended with the locals on the short side of the score.

The next day, taking on the Jaysees, State saw themselves again denied victory after a game played closely resembling Friday's tilt. State again scored first, but lost as the juniors came from behind in the second half to ring up two points.

Saturday's game was marked by the number of men injured on both sides, fortunately, none seriously. However, both encounters were played cleanly, and the locals were loud in their praise of Southern California sportsmanship.

HOLTORF SHINES

Perhaps the brightest spot of the games as far as State is concerned, was the excellent playing of John Holtorf at goalie, a position he was almost utterly unfamiliar with. Substituting for Karl Drexel, who was unable to make the trip due to an injured back, Holtorf came thru with flying colors.

According to Coach Charlie Walker, the southern California games mark the end of the season. A dinner by the team will be held next Tuesday in honor of Coach Walker and Captain Ray LaClergue.

According to an announcement made by Betty Moore, volleyball club head.

Chuck Malbon and Jeanne Morehead were winners of the Badminton club's mixed double tournament, after two heated games played yesterday afternoon. Upon defeating Dick Rundle and Janice Hildebrandt, Malbon and Morehead are now the mixed doubles "champs" of the club.

Basketball Season Opens

Powered by one of the greatest scoring machines in the history of basketball, Stanford's high-scoring, three deep Coast conference championship unit descends upon the Spartans this Saturday night in a blaze of color to open the local 1936-37 basketball season.

Upon unassuming Angelo 'Hank' Luisetti falls the winter season spotlight when he steps upon the floor of Spartan pavilion in the battle of the Cardinal and Gold and White.

DESELLE LEADS

Captain Mel DeSelle, a brilliant floor-man—typical Ralph Noddin product from Campbell Hi, leads a tentative starting five, composed of two vets, a sophomore, one junior college transfer and a guard whose brilliant playing last season was cut short by illness.

Mel DeSelle and Bill Crawford, who make up the flashy forward combination are the two returning vets while tall Ivor Thomas, basket-shooting partner of the Thomas & Thomas frosh quintet fame will undoubtedly get the call over Irv Groskopf for the important center position.

PROMISING SOPHS

Each of the two promising sophomore aspirants, however, will see plenty of action against John Bunn's Cardinal-clad hard-wood artists.

Temporarily entrenched in the guard berths are Frank Carroll, lately of Marin Junior college and plucky Ralph Johnson who last winter was forced to the sidelines in mid-season. Dennis Mann, the smooth-playing Santa Cruz guard prospect who was cut from the squad last season is expected to see plenty of action when acting coach Gil Bishop inserts the reserves in an attempt to stem the flowing tide of Cardinal points—Bunn hopes.

STACKED CARDS

Although stacked up against a prize package of Cards, the Spartans will not be at full strength for the opening tussle. Lloyd Wattenbarger, Bill Lewis and Walt McPherson are on the football pleasure trip to Hawaii and will not be available until after the Christmas holidays.

Orchesis Christmas Presentation, Juggler Of Notre Dame, Will Be Staged Thursday, December 10

Annual Dance Program To Take Place In Little Theater

The old French legend, "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame", is used as the theme for the annual Christmas program which will be given by Orchesis, college honorary dance group, in the Little Theater December 10 at 8:15.

The dancing is a version of the supreme sacrifice made by Jean, the juggler, when scorned by the boisterous revelers in the Cathedral square. Turning for solace to the figure of the Madonna, the dance reaches a dramatic climax.

GIVEN MANY TIMES
"Le Jongleur de Notre Dame" has been given by many Orchesis groups throughout the United States. It was first given at the University of Wisconsin where Berta Ochsner, now a leading figure in American dance, composed the music and danced the title role.

Although the structure remains the same, different dancers and different situations greatly change the dance drama with each presentation.

HAS TITLE ROLE

June Raynor Wright, a member of Orchesis for three years, is dancing the title role of the Juggler. Ann Jewell, president of Orchesis, will be the Madonna. Other members of the cast are Jean Myers, Florence Churin, Charlotte Jennings, Evelyn Pinkham, Marie Fleck, Doris Smith, Elree Ferguson, Margery Mecabe, Betty Bruch, and Frances Scott.
